Introduction

DEAR TEACHER,

We are writing to you to introduce the new edition of Focus, our five-level course for upper secondary students. As writers, it is always a privilege to be invited to 'have another go' and we are grateful to our publisher Pearson for giving us this opportunity. At the same time, we are particularly wary of introducing change for change's sake. 'If it ain't broke, don't fix it' is a maxim we set great store by. In our own classrooms, we are still using ideas and teaching techniques that we learnt early on in our careers. Why? Because they still work.

Consequently, the changes you will find in this new edition have been influenced by three important factors:

1) Your feedback, which we are happy to say has been overwhelmingly positive and extremely helpful in identifying areas to focus on.

2) Changing circumstances, where we have responded to the continuing evolvement of the Matura exam – for instance: a renewed focus on Use of English tasks – as well as important new Ministry requirements concerning student book recycling.

3) New opportunities, in particular the strategic partnership between our publisher Pearson and the BBC. This has enabled us to include some delightful BBC clips in each unit, adding an exciting new dimension to the course.

All that said, we still believe that writing language learning materials is not an exact science. A 'one size fits all' set of materials just doesn't exist. It can't. There are too many variables:

- The students – number, age, personality, attitude, life and learning experience, home support, class dynamic …
- The school – syllabus, timetable, policies, Ministry reforms, classroom environment, equipment …

And most importantly, you:

- The teacher – your experience, your training, your beliefs, your motivation …

So we accept that everybody's teaching context is unique and the perfect English course is an unattainable dream. However, our own experience in the classroom has taught us to value three things above all when using teaching and learning materials: reliability, flexibility and credibility.

Reliability

Quite simply, we want the materials to work. We don't want the course to let you down in the classroom. So we continue with our clean design, clear, easy-to-understand instructions and a wide variety of engaging topics, texts and tasks that have been combined in a logical way that will make sense to you and to your students. We are pragmatic. We've made it clear when a lesson starts and when a lesson ends. We don't want to give you any nasty surprises. We don't want to overcomplicate things. The less time you spend setting activities up, the more time your students spend practising the language. And maximizing language practice time is key – particularly for the core skills. Students learn by doing. They learn reading by reading more; listening by listening more; writing by writing more; and speaking by speaking more. Let's give them more time to 'do'.

Needless to say, the course covers all the necessary language work appropriate for the level and follows Ministry guidelines and the Common European Framework of Reference (CEFR). We hope you will appreciate the stimulating and memorable way in which each carefully selected grammar structure and vocabulary item is presented. But we are well aware that presenting language is not even half the story. We have designed these materials so that they systematically recycle the language that has been presented. 'Use it or lose it' is our motto. You will discover that this course, with all its supporting print-based and digital materials, provides your students with the repeated exposure and practice they require. Reliability = trust. We are confident you will be able to trust Focus Second Edition.

Flexibility

One of the things we learnt early on in our careers is that you teach the students, not the lesson plan. There is no point in slavishly following a prescribed 'teaching path' through a set of materials if the students are not with you. Your ability to react to emerging classroom situations and adapt your lesson accordingly is a vital teaching skill. So while a course might provide you with a reliable framework that you feel comfortable with, you will always need options, you will always need variety, you will always need alternative ways of presenting and practising language. We strongly believe that a rigid unit structure does NOT have to be a teaching straitjacket. The lessons themselves are brimful of different ideas, task types and interesting information. Then the supplementary material we have developed, both print-based and digital, offers you almost limitless flexibility. You can give extra multiple choice grammar exercises, do a communicative A/B information-gap activity or watch a specially selected BBC clip. Flexibility = choice. We think you will appreciate the range of choice in Focus Second Edition.

Credibility

So, while we are sure that a reliable and flexible course will help you, it's this third characteristic that really counts. You have to believe in the materials. You have to understand and assess the broad educational and methodological principles that underpin our materials and decide: are the ideas and the approach credible? Do they reflect your own views of how languages are learned? We'd like to take this opportunity to summarise our thinking on this and explain what lies at the heart of Focus Second Edition. We can do this by grouping our thoughts under three words beginning with 'M': Motivation, Memory and Meaning.

Motivation

The American linguist and philosopher Noam Chomsky once said that almost everything in the education process was about getting the students' interest in what they're being taught. This is our starting point: students learn best when they are interested in the material. It's as simple as that. We may not have got it right every time for your particular teaching context, but our overriding concern has been to select topics, texts and tasks that engage students both emotionally and intellectually. You need to organise the learning around things your students can relate to – things that are part of their life experience or things that they aspire to. An engaged learner is a more successful learner. We think course materials can play a big part in this key area of engagement.

Memory

'Learning is remembering', or so the adage goes. With the pressure all teachers are under to cover the syllabus, complete the course and finish the book, we worry that not enough time is spent on recycling. Too much presentation, not enough practice. Systematic recycling of new language is a core feature of Focus Second Edition. There is a particular emphasis on vocabulary. The linguist David Wilkins noted back in the 1970s that while we can convey very little without grammar, we can convey nothing without vocabulary. Words are the basic building blocks of any language, but how many times do you need to see a new word before you truly acquire it? Ten? Twenty? Thirty times? It's definitely more than once! In the new Focus on words sections, students using Focus Second Edition will devote valuable time to new vocabulary, as well as learning a variety of ways of recording it.

Meaning

As the linguist and academic Rod Ellis reminds us, motivation in second language learning is derived from getting meanings across successfully. We are strongly opposed to mechanistic practice and drills where form dominates and meaning is irrelevant. If you ask your students to choose the correct quantifier in the question: How much/many petrol is there in the car? I'm sure most of them will correctly choose much. But they might also legitimately wonder whose car we are talking about. And then think, 'But I don't have a car. I've never bought petrol in my life. I can't even drive …' Why not ask them to choose the correct quantifier in this question: How much/many water do you drink? Then, when they have chosen the correct quantifier, they can at least ask their partner the question. Information is exchanged; students practise their speaking; the exercise is meaning*ful*, not meaning*less*. This is one tiny example of an approach to learning that we passionately believe in. Don't practice language for the sake of it. Language exists to make meanings, and our learning materials should reflect this.

These are some of the more important ideas that we hold dear. Over the years, they have influenced our teaching and our writing. Credibility = belief. We want you to believe in Focus Second Edition.

So, now it's over to you. We'd like to take this opportunity to wish you and your students every success.

Our warmest regards,

Sue and Vaughan

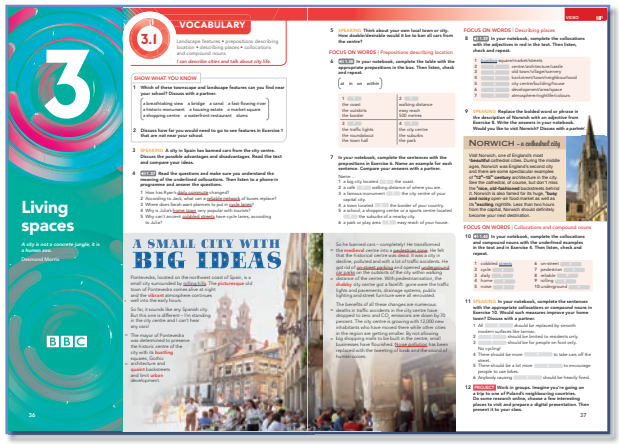
STUDENT'S BOOK with access to Pearson English Portal (and class audio in MP3)

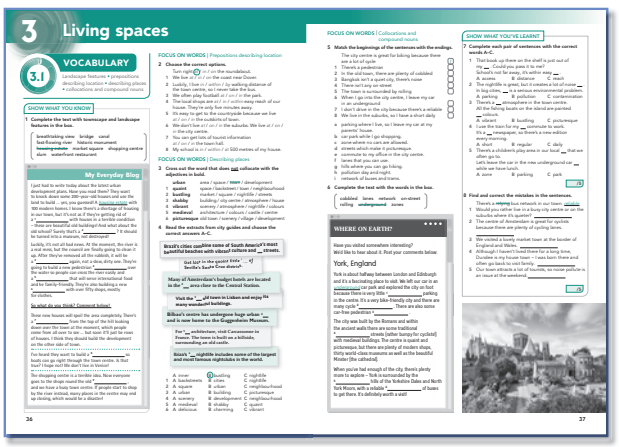
Student's Book

- 8 topic-based units divided into 8 main teaching lessons: Vocabulary, Grammar (2 lessons), Listening, Reading, Speaking, Use of English and Writing
- Video (BBC videos, Focus Vlogs, Grammar animations, Interactive speaking videos) in every unit – see references in the Teacher's Book at the top of the page and next to the exercises
- Focus Reviews after every unit: Vocabulary and Grammar practice; Use of English and skills in Matura exam format
- Wordlist at the end of each unit
- Clear lesson objectives ('I can…') taken from the Global Scale of English (GSE)
- Grammar Reference and Practice: detailed explanations of all the grammar and Use of English topics covered in the units
- Lists of dependent prepositions, prefixes and suffixes (word building) as well as irregular verbs



WORKBOOK with access to ONLINE PRACTICE

- Mirrors the Student's Book's unit structure and pagination
- Self-check after each unit with Vocabulary, Grammar and Use of English exercises
- BBC and Focus Vlog video worksheets
- Wordlist for Matura exam with practice exercises
- Grammar Review with explanation of grammar points from Focus 3 and extra practice activities
- Grammar: Train and Try Again – additional grammar activities
- Writing Bank with phrases for the written part of the Matura exams
- REMEMBER THIS boxes drawing attention to tricky language
- REMEMBER BETTER boxes with tips on remembering new language



Online Practice (powered by MyEnglishLab)

Online Practice is a collection of extra digital activities available to students in either self-study mode or assigned by the teacher. The access codes to these materials are provided in every Workbook together with an instruction how to register.

Extra digital activities include:

- Vocabulary and Grammar Checkpoints which give students further practice of the core content in every unit of the Student's Book and Workbook and help them prepare for tests,
- Use of English, Reading and Listening activities which provide extra skills practice.

Online Practice also includes all Student's Book audio and video.

Testing Programme

The Testing Programme is more than just a collection of tests. It offers a coherent system of evaluation and grading which covers a wide range of test types delivered in PDF and editable formats.

The Testing Programme includes:

- Matura speaking tests for the students and examiners accompanied by detailed assessment criteria;
- A & B Vocabulary quizzes for each vocabulary lesson;
- A & B Grammar quizzes for each grammar lesson;
- A & B Use of English quizzes for each Use of English lesson;
- A & B unit MiniMatura tests (checking vocabulary, grammar, Use of English, reading, listening and writing);
- four Cumulative tests (units 1–2, 1–4, 1–6, 1–8);
- Placement test;
- End-of-year test (in the form of a sample Matura test);
- answer keys and audioscripts.

Online Practice (powered by MyEnglishLab)

- Teacher's view of Online Practice
- Extra digital activities: Vocabulary, Grammar and Use of English, Reading and Listening Checkpoints
- All Student's Book audio and video
- Automatic marking and instant feedback
- Two optional ways of using:
  1 creating a course for your students which enables assigning tasks, monitoring students' activity and performance in an online gradebook;
  2 students' mode.

Using videos in the classroom

There are four types of videos in Focus Second Edition:

1 BBC VIDEOS

These are short (3–6 minutes) video clips produced by the BBC. As an extension of the topics covered in all vocabulary lessons, the authentic, natural-language BBC videos give students an opportunity to hone their reception skills while further enhancing their vocabulary. Each video is accompanied by a Video worksheet for students to practice comprehension and use the extra vocabulary. For the Video worksheets, go to lesson 9 in each unit in the Workbook. Students also are prompted to discuss the topics covered in the videos and relate them to their own experiences, improving their critical thinking skills.

You can use the BBC video at the end of the Vocabulary lesson or at the end of the Unit. Alternatively, you can use the video at the very beginning of the unit as an introduction to the unit topic.

No. of videos: 8 (1 per unit)

2 FOCUS VLOGS (VOX POPS)

These short clips have been given the form of a vlog. Filmed on the streets of London, they feature real people answering questions that touch upon their lives and opinions, while following the topics and themes covered in the lesson they appear in. They present the target grammar structures in a real context in small, easy-to-manage chunks for the students to model their own speech on, helping them improve their productive accuracy. The vlogs feature unscripted, authentic, spontaneous speech of speakers of English from the UK as well as from other countries and as such, they expose students to real language they can encounter in their lives. Each vlog is accompanied by a Vlog worksheet in the Workbook.

You can use the vlogs at the end of the Grammar or Use of English lesson that they appear in.

No. of videos: 8 (1 per unit)

3 GRAMMAR ANIMATIONS

Each of these videos features two parts: an animated cartoon presenting the grammar structure in context and a teacher's explanation with the purpose of reinforcing students' understanding and learning of the structure. You can use all or only part of the video to help your students learn grammar in an engaging and attractive way.

Not being part of the lesson, these videos can be used independently as an introduction to the Grammar lesson, as its summary or even mid-lesson as an extra resource to facilitate students' learning.

No. of videos: 16 (2 per unit)

4 INTERACTIVE SPEAKING VIDEOS

The function of these short videos is to present the key Speaking lesson language provided in the SPEAKING FOCUS box by showing it used in real-life situations. They enable students to not only learn, but acquire language by offering them visual clues such as location, body language and facial expressions, which help to improve students' communication skills in terms of both reception and speaking fluency. Each video has an A and B version for the students to role-play available on Pearson English Portal only.

Use the interactive speaking videos at the end of the Speaking lessons.

No. of videos: 18

Mediation in Focus Second Edition

In 2017, the Council of Europe released the CEFR Companion Volume with New Descriptors – a set of new Can Do statements to complement the original 2001 publication. A key focus for this new set of descriptors is Mediation.

When most people think of Mediation, they either think about disputes (resolving conflict between two parties) or, in the context of language, they think of translation and interpreting. Both are true, but the term is used more broadly to cover spoken and written language functions in which the learner is conveying and interpreting meaning. Mediation descriptors may be new to the CEFR, but mediation itself is not new – within the same language (intralingual) or from one language to another (interlingual). It combines reception, production and interaction and is a common part of everyday language use – making communication possible between people who, for whatever reason, are unable to communicate successfully with each other: they may speak different languages and require a translation, they may not have the same subject knowledge information and need an explanation or simplification, they may not be of the same opinion and need someone to identify common ground. Mediation can also involve written texts – with the reader summarising, paraphrasing or interpreting the information for a different audience.

How is Mediation organised in the CEFR?
The scales (categories) for mediation are presented in three groups, reflecting the way in which mediation tends to occur.

1 Mediating a text consists of passing on to another person (in speech or writing) the content of a text which is, for various reasons, inaccessible to them. It includes:
- relaying specific information (e.g. listening to or reading something and then passing the information on to a third party). This may not be an explicit activity at the lower levels of the course, but this skill is practiced whenever learners are asked to listen for information or scan the text and then tell the teacher/classmate what they have understood;
- explaining data (e.g. in graphs, diagrams, charts);
- processing text (e.g. summarising a text or set of texts, making a technical text understandable to a non-specialist, passing on key information from an announcement or set of instructions);
- translating a written text;
- note-taking (lectures, seminars, meetings);
- expressing a personal response to creative texts (including literature) (e.g. explaining why you like a story/film, interpreting a character's reactions, describing how a creative text makes you feel);
- analysis and criticism of creative texts (including literature) (e.g. critically evaluating the success of a creative text, comparing different approaches to a subject in different creative texts, explaining the techniques used by the author to create emotions, atmospheres).

2 Mediating concepts involves facilitating access to knowledge and concepts for others. It includes:
- collaborating in a group (e.g. asking for other people's opinions, inviting others into the discussion, saying why you agree or disagree with an opinion, asking questions to keep the discussion going, highlighting the main issues that need to be discussed);
- leading group work (e.g. allocating turns in a discussion, keeping the discussion on topic, asking questions to clarify meaning, asking others to explain their reasoning behind an opinion, encouraging others to elaborate on what they have said).

3 Mediating communication facilitates understanding and successful communication between users who may have individual, sociocultural, sociolinguistic or intellectual differences. It includes:
- facilitating pluricultural space (e.g. supporting inter-cultural exchanges, understanding cultural differences, demonstrating an understanding of different perspectives);
- acting as intermediary in informal situations (with friends and colleagues);
- facilitating communication in delicate situations and disagreements.

Where is Mediation in Focus Second Edition?

Plenty of Mediation activities can be found in Focus Second Edition – both for mediating the texts intralingually and interlingually. Look out for all open reading and listening comprehension tasks, translation and transformation tasks, gapped summaries, rewriting texts in a different register (formal/informal), picture description, speculating or drawing conclusions.
There are also numerous tasks which cater for mediating concepts and communication – look out for communicative pairwork or groupwork tasks, projects or problem-solving activities.

How to teach with projects

THE BENEFITS OF TEACHING WITH PROJECTS

The benefits

Projects help students to work together to produce a presentation, a poster, etc. in English. They usually require students to do research and present the information in a creative way. Projects in the English language classroom provide several benefits:

1 Authentic use of language
Students work on a task which requires them to use English authentically. Projects also often develop all four skills: reading, writing, listening and speaking.

2 Development of personal skills
Projects often require learners to collaborate, enabling them to develop skills such as the ability to cooperate, solve problems and communicate.

3 Development of autonomy
As project work involves students making decisions about how to achieve their learning objective, they are able to develop learner autonomy with support and guidance from their teacher.

4 Development of critical thinking skills
Students can develop information literacy and media literacy when doing research online, determining what information is useful, biased, false, etc. They can also develop critical thinking skills when analysing that information, evaluating it and deciding how to use it.

5 Development of creativity
Many projects require learners to be creative in some way. Creativity, along with collaboration, communication and critical thinking skills are considered to be key skills for 21st century learning.

6 Increased motivation
Project work adds variety to lessons and gives students an opportunity to use English in contexts close to their lives. Students' motivation increases when they make their own decisions regarding what exactly their project will focus on and then have a chance to present it to others.

It is important to note that while project work provides many development opportunities, students are likely to need support in exploiting those opportunities, such as advice from their teacher on how to work independently or feedback on their communication skills.

HOW TO EXTEND FOCUS PROJECTS

Each Vocabulary lesson in the Student's Book includes a topic for a project. We encourage teachers to acquaint their students with the project at the beginning of the unit so that they can work on it over a longer period of time. Here is one of the topics from Focus 4 Second Edition:

> Work in groups. Choose a famous person, e.g. an artist, a politician or a businessperson. Do some research online into his or her personality. Then prepare a digital presentation and present it to your class.

To expand the project, students' work on it could be divided into a few stages:

1 In class: After the first lesson of the unit, students are given the topic of the project.
Homework: Each student researches a famous person.

2 In class: Students share their research with their partners. Pairs then select one person they are most interested in.
Homework: Students go away and do more research on the famous person they have selected. They take notes. They plan a presentation about them.

4 In class: Pairs or groups work together and give each other oral feedback and suggestions on their plans.
Homework: Then they prepare their presentations.

5 In class: Students present their work to the class. Then they vote on their favourite famous person and discuss why.

Matura w Focus Second Edition

KALENDARIUM ZMIAN W SYSTEMIE EDUKACJI – SZKOŁY PONADPODSTAWOWE

IX 2019
- Rozpoczęcie kształcenia w 4-letnim liceum, 5-letnim technikum i branżowej szkole I stopnia na podbudowie ośmioletniej szkoły podstawowej
- Rozpoczęcie realizacji nowej podstawy programowej w szkołach ponadpodstawowych na trzecim etapie edukacyjnym

IX 2020
- Rozpoczęcie kształcenia w branżowej szkole II stopnia na podbudowie gimnazjum i branżowej szkoły I stopnia
- Start oddziałów wstępnych w liceach (ewentualnie technikach) w zakresie kształcenia dwujęzycznego

V 2023 – Egzamin maturalny na wyższym poziomie

STARA I NOWA PODSTAWA PROGRAMOWA

Kurs Focus Second Edition jest przeznaczony do pracy zarówno z uczniami szkół ponadgimnazjalnych zgodnie z wariantami podstawy programowej IV.1P, IV.1R, IV.0 oraz IV.2, jak również z uczniami liceum ogólnokształcącego i technikum zgodnie z wariantami podstawy programowej III.1.P, III.1.R, III.2, III.2.0 oraz III.DJ (rozporządzenie Ministra Edukacji Narodowej z 30 stycznia 2018 r.).

MATURA Z JĘZYKA OBCEGO DO ROKU 2022

Egzamin maturalny składa się z części pisemnej i ustnej. Obecnie w części pisemnej zadania maturalne na poziomie podstawowym odpowiadają poziomowi B1, a zadania na poziomie rozszerzonym – poziomowi B2/B2+ według skali Europejskiego systemu opisu kształcenia językowego (ESOKJ). Do egzaminu pisemnego można podejść:
- jako do przedmiotu obowiązkowego na poziomie podstawowym (zgodnie z wymogami podstawy programowej w zakresie IV.1P) oraz
- jako do przedmiotu dodatkowego na poziomie rozszerzonym (zgodnie z wymogami podstawy programowej w zakresie IV.1R).

Egzamin pisemny trwa:
- 120 minut na poziomie podstawowym,
- 150 minut na poziomie rozszerzonym.

Egzamin ustny nie ma określonego poziomu i jest zdawany jako przedmiot obowiązkowy lub dodatkowy. Ta część egzaminu maturalnego trwa około 15 minut. Dokładne informacje dotyczące formy i charakteru zadań oraz sprawdzanych struktur gramatycznych, a także szczegółowe kryteria oceniania można znaleźć w Informatorze o egzaminie maturalnym z języka angielskiego od roku szkolnego 2014/2015 wydanym przez Centralną Komisję Egzaminacyjną.

KURS FOCUS SECOND EDITION I PRZYGOTOWANIE DO EGZAMINU MATURALNEGO

Kurs Focus Second Edition gwarantuje rzetelne przygotowanie do egzaminu maturalnego:
- na poziomie 1 (A2/A2+ wg ESOKJ) zaznajamia z formułą maturalną, umiejętnościami egzaminacyjnymi i kryteriami oceny, praktycznie przygotowując do egzaminu na poziomie podstawowym;
- na poziomie 2 (A2+/B1 wg ESOKJ) podsumowuje i ugruntowuje wiedzę oraz umiejętności potrzebne do zdania egzaminu dojrzałości z języka angielskiego na poziomie podstawowym, jednocześnie wprowadzając niektóre założenia poziomu rozszerzonego;
- na poziomie 3 (B1/B1+ wg ESOKJ) zawiera ćwiczenia z obu poziomów egzaminu maturalnego – podstawowego i rozszerzonego – przygotowując uczniów do rozwiązywania wszystkich typów zadań;
- na poziomie 4 (B2/B2+ wg ESOKJ) skupia się na umiejętnościach potrzebnych, aby zdać egzamin na poziomie rozszerzonym, wprowadzając jednocześnie niektóre założenia poziomu dwujęzycznego;
- na poziomie 5 (B2+/C1 wg ESOKJ) ćwiczy umiejętności niezbędne do zdania egzaminu na poziomie rozszerzonym oraz dwujęzycznym.

Focus Second Edition na wszystkich pięciu poziomach kładzie nacisk na umiejętności produktywne, czyli mówienie i pisanie, w formie wymaganej na egzaminie maturalnym. Uczy środków językowych w przemyślany sposób, przykładając wielką wagę do ich różnorodności i poprawności zgodnie z obowiązującymi kryteriami oceny. Ponadto kurs kładzie większy nacisk na zadania otwarte. Warto zwrócić także uwagę na unikatowy charakter książki nauczyciela (Focus Second Edition Teacher's Book), która została zaprojektowana w taki sposób, by ułatwić przygotowanie do lekcji i usprawnić pracę w klasie, ale przede wszystkim skutecznie przygotować uczniów do egzaminu maturalnego.
- Strony głównej części książki nauczyciela mają taką samą numerację jak strony książki ucznia.
- Na stronach książki ucznia naniesiono rozwiązania zadań.
- Książka nauczyciela zawiera pomniejszone strony zeszytu ćwiczeń wraz z naniesionymi rozwiązaniami zadań.
- Na końcu książki nauczyciela znajduje się sekcja Culture notes, w której uwzględniono elementy wiedzy o krajach anglojęzycznych obowiązujące na egzaminie maturalnym.
- Nauczyciel ma też do dyspozycji dodatkowe materiały do kopiowania. Wśród nich znajdzie między innymi ćwiczenia sprawdzające znajomość środków językowych w formacie zadań maturalnych, jak również ćwiczenia przygotowujące ucznia do wykonania zadań maturalnych w zakresie mówienia i pisania.

1 Live and learn

Educating the mind without educating the heart is no education at all.

Aristotle

1.1 VOCABULARY

Education • phrasal verbs • describing teachers and students • collocations

I can talk about further education, university courses and educational issues.

SHOW WHAT YOU KNOW

1 In your notebook, match the words to make collocations.

1 arts/bachelor's/master's b	a career
2 attend/have/skip e	b degree
3 communication/language/people f	c education
4 fail/pass/take d	d exams
5 further/higher/private c	e lessons
6 long/rewarding/successful a	f skills

2 Write two true sentences and a false one using collocations in Exercise 1. Can your partner guess which one is false?

I'd like to do a master's degree in business studies.

3 SPEAKING Look at some traditional fields of study on the signpost. What are the three most/least appealing subjects? Which way would you go? Discuss your ideas with a partner.

4 Read the information on the webpage. Which degree would you like to do most?

5 1.2 Listen to a father and daughter discussing the webpage. What does the daughter find out about her father?

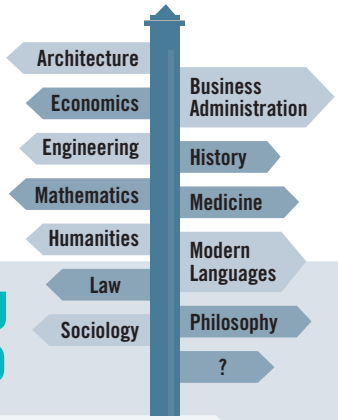
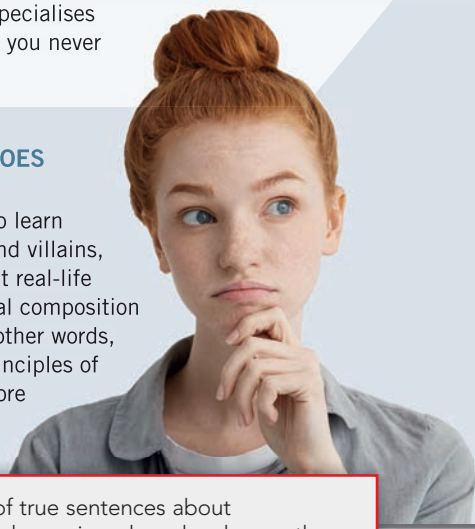
She finds out that her father was nearly expelled and was dyslexic.



DEGREE COURSES YOU DIDN'T KNOW EXISTED

Is this you?

You're keen to go on to higher education. But none of the traditional subjects appeal. Don't worry, these days you can get a degree in most things. You like baking? You can major in baking technology management. More inclined towards fashion? How about writing a dissertation on handbag and accessories design? If you have a passion for something, you can usually find a course that specialises in your area. Here are three courses you never knew existed.



1 THE SCIENCE OF SUPERHEROES

University of California, USA

This course is a new, creative way to learn physics. Through studying heroes and villains, you'll learn the answers to important real-life questions such as what the chemical composition of Captain America's armour is. In other words, you'll attend lectures on the real principles of Physics, but they'll be given in a more engaging and accessible way.

EXTRA ACTIVITIES

- BBC video. Video worksheet 1.1 in the WB, p. 16
- Photocopiable resource 1 FAQ (10 min.) pp. 288, 304
- Extra digital activities: Vocabulary Checkpoint
- Ask students to work in pairs and think of true sentences about themselves using phrasal verbs or other expressions from the lesson. Then, Student A says the beginning of a sentence containing a verb and Student B finishes it, e.g. A: If you want to be an engineer, you should have a passion … B: … for technology.

6 1.2 Listen again and write the correct option in your notebook. Use a dictionary if necessary.

1 The daughter is gifted / weak.
2 The daughter is lazy / a swot compared to her father.
3 The father couldn't settle down / make friends in class.
4 The father was disruptive / self-disciplined.
5 The father nearly got expelled / got a scholarship.
6 The father had lenient / strict teachers.
7 The father's teachers gave up on / supported him.
8 The father was dyslexic / a bully.
9 The father did well / fell behind at school.
10 The father scraped through / failed his exams.

7 SPEAKING What do you know about your parents' education? Discuss your ideas with a partner.

FOCUS ON WORDS | Phrasal verbs

8 1.3 In your notebook, complete the definitions with the base form of the phrasal verbs in red in the text and in Exercise 6. Then listen, check and repeat.

1 make less progress than others = fall behind
2 quit doing sth; stop hoping sb will change = give up on 3 start working in a type of job = go into 4 do sth after finishing another thing = go on to 5 study sth as your main subject = major in 6 only just succeed in doing sth = scrape through
7 become calm or confident = settle down

9 SPEAKING In your notebook, complete the questions with the correct prepositions. Ask and answer the questions in pairs.

1 How often do you only just scrape through exams?
2 Have you ever given up on anything that was important to you?
3 Have you ever fallen behind at school because of illness or some other issue?
4 If you go on to university, what subjects do you think you will major in ?
5 In what subject or lesson do you find it most difficult to settle down and concentrate?
6 What profession would you like to go into ?

2 SURF SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY
University of Plymouth, UK

The university website warns that 'You will not be taught how to surf, and it is important to realise that this is an academic course.' That means you don't graduate because you can catch a good wave – you have to sit exams here! Core modules include ecology and scientific aspects of health, fitness and sports nutrition.

3 THE BEATLES, POPULAR MUSIC AND SOCIETY
Liverpool Hope University, UK

If you enrol on this course, you'll deepen your knowledge of the band's music as well as how it was influenced by the city of Liverpool. The Beatles not only changed the world of music, but they also had a big impact on youth culture and fashion. This course will be of interest to those working in the field of cultural studies and if you want to go into the music industry.

FOCUS ON WORDS | Describing teachers and students

10 1.4 In your notebook, translate the underlined words in Exercise 6. Use a dictionary if necessary. Then listen and repeat. Which words are used more often to describe a student and which ones to describe a teacher?

1 a bully = tyran, despota, brutal (S)
2 disruptive = zakłócający spokój (S)
3 dyslexic = dyslektyczny (S)
4 gifted = utalentowany (S/T)
5 lenient = łagodny, wyrozumiały (T)
6 self-disciplined = zdyscyplinowany (S)
7 strict = surowy (T)
8 a swot = kujon (S)

11 In your notebook, complete the sentences with the words in Exercise 10.

1 Mr Morris is a lenient teacher. He doesn't mind if you hand your homework in late.
2 Jackie is a swot . She spends all her time studying and always gets top marks.
3 Miss Nelmes is very strict . She demands absolute silence in her lessons.
4 May is musically gifted . She can play almost any instrument and has a beautiful voice.
5 Barry is quite disruptive in class. He shouts out and generally causes problems.
6 Mike is very self-disciplined . He always does his homework as soon as he gets home.

FOCUS ON WORDS | Collocations

12 1.5 In your notebook, complete the collocations with the base form of the verbs highlighted in the text and in Exercise 6. Then listen, check and repeat.

1 attend / give a lecture
2 be of interest to sb
3 deepen your knowledge
4 enrol on a course
5 get a degree/a scholarship
6 get expelled
7 have a passion for sth
8 sit an exam
9 work in the field of sth
10 write a dissertation

13 SPEAKING In your notebook, complete the sentences with a suitable noun. Do you agree or disagree with them?

1 Don't enrol on a university course unless you have a passion for it.
2 Sitting exams is much more stressful than writing a dissertation .
3 Getting a scholarship to study at a foreign university is an impossible dream.
4 Working in the field of science and technology is better than being an artist.
5 You don't have to attend lectures to deepen your knowledge . Just google everything.

14 PROJECT Work in groups. Do some research online into unusual things you can study online. Then prepare a digital presentation and present it to your class.

GRAMMAR 1.2

Present and past habits

I can talk about present and past habits.

1 Read about Gillian Lynne's education. What do you think Gillian did when her mum and the psychologist left the room?
She got up and started dancing.

2 1.6 SPEAKING Listen to two friends talking about Gillian's story and check your ideas in Exercise 1. Discuss what this story teaches us about educating children.

3 Read the GRAMMAR FOCUS. Which verb forms in blue in the text in Exercise 1 complete the examples correctly?

GRAMMAR FOCUS 2

Present and past habits

- You can use the Present Simple and the Past Simple to talk about habits. You also use the Past Simple to talk about single past actions.
- You can use used to to talk about regular past actions that don't happen anymore or past states that are no longer true.
  She [1]used to fail all her exams.
  Life [2]didn't use to be so good.
- You can use will (present) or would (past) to talk about characteristics or predictable actions. You don't use them to talk about states.
  She [3]'ll get up and move around instead of listening to the teacher.
  Her teachers [4]would complain about her disruptive behaviour.
  Note: You don't usually ask questions with this use of will and would.
- You can use the Present Continuous or Past Continuous with always to stress the repetitiveness of an action or to show your annoyance.
  She [5]'s always disturbing people.
  She [6]was always fidgeting and handing in her homework late.

4 In your notebook, complete the sentences with the correct form of the verbs in brackets. Use would where possible. If would is not possible, use used to. If used to is not possible, use the Past Simple.

1 This school used to be (be) smaller than it is now.
2 Mum would take (take) me to school every day.
3 I didn't use to like (not like) going to school.
4 I used to hate (hate) having school lunches.
5 I would go (go) swimming every week.
6 I went (go) on a school trip to England.

5 SPEAKING Ask and answer questions based on the sentences in Exercise 4. Use used to or the Past Simple.

1 Did this school use to be smaller than it is now?

Exercise 5
2 Did your mum use to take you to school every day?
3 Did you use to like going to school?
4 Did you use to hate having school lunches?
5 Did you use to go swimming every week?
6 Did you go on a school trip to England?

The right education

Ken Robinson is an educationalist. In his book, The Element, he interviews people who have made a successful living doing what they love. This is Gillian Lynne's story.

Gillian had a successful career in the theatre, but life didn't use to be so good. When she was eight, her schoolwork was a disaster, her handwriting was awful, and she used to fail all her exams. Her teachers would complain about her disruptive behaviour: she was always fidgeting and handing in her homework late. They told her mother that she had a learning disorder. So Gillian's mother took her to see a psychologist and listed some of the problems: she never pays attention in class – she'll get up and move around instead of listening to the teacher; she's always disturbing people and her homework's always late. Finally, the doctor turned to Gillian and said, 'Gillian, I need to speak to your mother privately now. Don't worry. We won't be long.' As they left the room, he turned on the radio on his desk …

6 SPEAKING In your notebook, write sentences comparing your routine at primary school and now. Compare your sentences with a partner. Who has changed the most?

	Primary school	Now
1 For breakfast	I'd _____	I'll _____
2 Before setting off for school	I'd _____	I'll _____
3 At break time	I'd _____	I'll _____
4 At lunchtime	I'd _____	I'll _____
5 After school	I'd _____	I'll _____

1 For breakfast, I'd have cereal with milk in primary school, but now I'll just have a piece of toast.

7 In your notebook, complete the sentences about annoying habits. Use one verb from the box to complete both sentences in each example. Use the Present and Past Continuous with always.

check chew lose talk tell

1 Before, Tim was always chewing the end of his pen.
Now, he*'s always chewing* gum.
2 Before, Julie was always checking her make-up.
Now, she*'s always checking* her phone.
3 Before, Sam was always talking about himself.
Now, he*'s always talking* about his new friends.
4 Before, Dave was always losing his temper.
Now, he*'s always losing* his keys.
5 Before, Mary was always telling lies.
Now, she*'s always telling* people what to do.

8 SPEAKING List the habits in Exercise 7 from the least to the most annoying. Compare your ideas with a partner. Do you know people who had or have any of these habits?

1.3 LISTENING

Matching

I can identify specific information in a detailed spoken dialogue about memory.

1 SPEAKING Discuss how good you are at remembering the different things in the box.

dates and times | English words | faces | items on a shopping list | names | song lyrics

2 1.8 Read about two methods of memorising a shopping list. Which headings A–E match paragraphs 1–2 correctly? There are three extra headings. Then listen and check.

A Use your imagination
B Make up a dramatic narrative
C Learn how to give a speech
D Imagine what each item tastes like
E Visualise the items in a familiar place

MEMORY TIPS

Greek philosopher Socrates famously said 'Learning is remembering'. So, how can we improve our memory? The key is to use your imagination. Here are two ways of remembering a shopping list of eight items.

1 B First, imagine a huge loaf of bread, and suddenly, coffee squirts out of the top and makes a fountain of dark brown liquid. After a few seconds, the dark brown changes to white yoghurt. The yoghurt forms a river and it goes under a bridge – the bridge is a steak. Some black and green olives are crossing the bridge and some big brown eggs are chasing them. The olives hide behind a big carton of orange juice. You lift an olive to your mouth to eat and it turns into an onion which tastes horrible. That's it. You've reached the end.

2 E Think of your home and get a mental image of the rooms in your house. Then, put the items on the list, one by one, in specific places in the rooms. For instance, you imagine the bread on the doormat as you come in the door. Then you go into the living room and the coffee is in front of the television, the yoghurt is on the sofa and the steak is stuck to the mirror on a wall. And so on, it's all about making personal associations … you get the idea. This method isn't just useful for memorising shopping lists. Some famous people have used it to give a speech without using notes.

3 SPEAKING Test your partner's memory. Follow the instructions to complete the task.

- Write down a shopping list of eight items and give it to your partner.
- Study your partner's list for sixty seconds using one of the methods in Exercise 2.
- Take it in turns to recall your list. Did the tip help?

LISTENING FOCUS Matching

4 1.9 Listen to four people talking about memory. In your notebook, match statements A–E with speakers 1–4. There is one extra statement.

Speaker 1 B
Speaker 2 C
Speaker 3 E
Speaker 4 A

The speaker …
A refers to someone who is incapable of forgetting anything.
B wanted a family member to confirm whether his/her memory was correct.
C disagrees with someone about how they keep a good memory.
D wishes they could forget witnessing a crime.
E can describe someone accurately after seeing them for only a few seconds.

FOCUS ON WORDS | Memory

5 1.10 In your notebook, translate the expressions in the box. Use a dictionary if necessary. Then listen and repeat.

1 have a clear/vivid memory of sth = mieć wyraźne wspomnienie czegoś
2 have a vague/distant memory of sth = mieć zatarte wspomnienie czegoś
3 have a good/terrible memory for sth = mieć dobrą/złą pamięć do czegoś
4 have a photographic memory = mieć pamięć fotograficzną
5 have a memory like a sieve = mieć dziurawą pamięć
6 jog your memory = odświeżyć swoją pamięć
7 lose your memory = tracić pamięć
8 sb's earliest memory = czyjeś najwcześniejsze wspomnienie

6 1.9 In your notebook, complete the questions with the words in Exercise 5. Then listen again and answer the questions.

1 What is Speaker 1's ___earliest___ memory?
2 Has Speaker 2's grandfather ___lost___ his memory?
3 Does Speaker 3 have a good memory ___for___ names or faces, or both?
4 Does Speaker 4 have a ___good___ memory?

7 SPEAKING Ask and answer the questions in Exercise 6 using you or your. Find out as much as you can.

1 What is your earliest memory?

PRONUNCIATION FOCUS

8 1.11 Listen and repeat the words in the box. Do any of the words have the same vowel sound? No, all six are different.

bread | clear | learn | mean | steak | wear

9 1.12 Copy the table and complete it with the words from Exercise 8 in the correct row. Then listen, check and repeat.

Sound	Typical spelling	Occasional spelling
/iː/	need detail ¹*mean*	piece
/ɪə/	here career ²*clear*
/ɜː/	reserved squirt turn	³*learn*
/e/	egg	⁴*bread*
/eɪ/	made detail pay	⁵*steak*
/eə/	pair rare	⁶*wear*

Exercise 6

1 Christmas before he was three.
2 No, he can recall things in detail.
3 The speaker has a good memory for faces, but not names.
4 No, she's got a memory like a sieve.

1.4 READING

Gapped text

I can infer unstated information and understand relationships between ideas in a descriptive text.

1 SPEAKING How much do you know about your brain? Do the quiz on page 9 and discuss your ideas with a partner.

2 1.13 Listen and check your answers.

3 Read the text and answer the questions.

1 What hidden talents did the five people discover?
2 What caused them to discover their hidden talents?
3 How do some experts explain the phenomenon?

READING FOCUS Gapped text

4 Read the text again. Which sentences A–E complete gaps 1–4 correctly? There is one extra sentence.

A After a year, he realised he had acquired extraordinary memory skills and could recall the day of the week of any given date.
B In the near future, we will be able to expand our knowledge through a series of experiments into brain structure and its function.
C We even know where many of the different brain functions, such as memory, sight and smell, are located.
D However, their existence has led some researchers to argue that there is an undiscovered genius within all of us.
E Soon afterwards, he noticed that his vision had changed. He also realised that he had developed remarkable mathematical abilities.

FOCUS ON WORDS | Collocations

5 1.15 In your notebook, complete the collocations with the base form of the verbs in blue in the text. Explain the difference, if any, between the pairs of collocations. Then listen, check and repeat.

1 acquire a skill/sharpen a skill
2 be left unconscious/be found unconscious
3 be struck by lightning/be hit by lightning
4 fall into a coma/come out of a coma
5 feel an urge/get an urge
6 lose consciousness/regain consciousness
7 remain a mystery/solve a mystery
8 suffer an injury/recover from an injury

6 In your notebook, complete the questions with the correct form of the verbs in Exercise 5. Then answer the questions.

1 What aspects of the human brain remain a mystery?
2 Where was Jason Padgett when he was attacked and left unconscious?
3 How common is it for savants to lose the new skills they have acquired?
4 Why did Ben McMahon fall into a coma?
5 What was Orlando Serrell doing when he suffered a head injury?
6 Where was Tony Cicoria when he was struck/hit by lightning?
7 When did Heather Thompson first feel/get an urge to paint?

7 SPEAKING If you could discover your hidden talent, what would you like that talent to be? Discuss your ideas with a partner.

FOCUS ON WORDS | Expressions with brain

8 1.16 In your notebook, complete the expressions with the words in the box. Use a dictionary if necessary. Then listen, check and repeat.

~~behind~~ have on rack

1 be the brains behind sth = be responsible for inventing or organising sth
2 brainstorm sth = discuss (new) ideas
3 brainy = very intelligent (informal)
4 have a brainwave = suddenly think of a good idea
5 have sth on the brain = keep thinking constantly about sth
6 rack your brains = try very hard to remember or to solve sth

9 In your notebook, complete the text about Tim Berners-Lee with appropriate expressions in Exercise 8. Why isn't he a multi-billionaire?

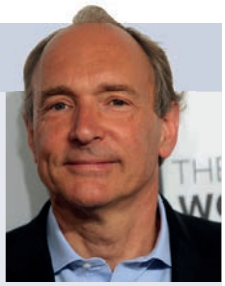
Tim Berners-Lee



Tim Berners-Lee is proof that you don't have to be a savant to do amazing things. Berners-Lee, a modest engineer and computer scientist is [1] the brains behind the World Wide Web. In 1989 he was working for CERN, the European Organisation for Nuclear Research, in Switzerland. An essential part of his job was to [2] brainstorm ideas with his colleagues and then share information with researchers in different geographical locations. It was while he was [3] racking his brains for ways to improve the communication process that he [4] had a brainwave – he could use hypertext, a language for sharing text electronically, to allow computers all over the world to talk to each other – through the Internet. The World Wide Web was born! But Tim Berners-Lee did not have money [5] on the brain ! Had he been a more materialistic man, he could have become a multi-billionaire by charging royalties for his invention. Instead, he gave it to the world for free.

10 SPEAKING Which scientist, inventor or thinker do you most admire? Decide on your 'Top 3'. Compare your ideas with other people in the class.

HIDDEN TALENTS

Despite some recent advances, there is still a great deal about the human brain that remains a mystery. We know it is made up of about 100 billion nerve cells, called neurons, connected like wires in a giant telephone exchange. We know messages pass down them like electrical signals and jump from one neuron to the next when chemicals known as neurotransmitters are released. [1] C But what we don't fully understand are things like consciousness, intelligence and creativity.

Much of our knowledge comes from studying brain functions when things go wrong. There are some fascinating cases of where a bang on the head has brought about changes in personality or caused a person to become talented in a way they weren't at all before the injury.

A famous case was Jason Padgett, a furniture salesman from Washington, who was mugged by two men after leaving a karaoke bar. He survived the attack, but was left unconscious. [2] E Padgett began to see patterns in everything he looked at, and to draw complex geometric figures. He seemed to understand the mathematical nature of the universe despite the fact that he had little formal academic training. The man who had barely scraped through his school exams ended up pursuing a career in mathematics as a number theorist.

Padgett's is a case of acquired savant syndrome, a condition in which brain damage of some kind unlocks extreme mental abilities. All cases of acquired savant syndrome involve a head injury and the special abilities are typically in the fields of maths, languages, music or art. Having acquired the new skill, it is extremely rare for a savant to lose it. The change is permanent.

Another example of this syndrome is 24-year-old Ben McMahon from Australia, who fell into a coma after a car crash. A week later he woke up speaking Mandarin Chinese. He had studied Chinese at school, but had never been fluent until the accident. McMahon works now as a Chinese-speaking tour guide in Australia.

Orlando Serrell suffered a head injury when he was knocked out in a baseball game at the age of ten. When he regained consciousness, he felt OK and finished the game. [3] A He has never made a mistake. For instance, ask him about 11 February 1983 and he says 'Friday. It was raining that day. I had a pizza – pepperoni sausage.'

Some knocks on the head are more dramatic than others. Tony Cicoria, an orthopaedic surgeon, was struck by lightning as he was leaving a public payphone. Luckily there was a nurse nearby and she saved his life. Several weeks after the accident, Cicoria developed a strong desire to listen to classical piano music and play the piano even though he'd never wanted to play a musical instrument before. He is now a successful pianist and composer.

Although cases of female savants are not as common as those of males, there are some examples. Heather Thompson, a successful businesswoman from Washington, was loading her supermarket shopping into her car when the boot door crashed down onto her head. Although she never lost consciousness, the accident changed her life. Soon afterwards she felt an urge to paint, and overnight she became a talented abstract artist. She explained that her hands simply knew how to use colour and white spaces – it felt natural to her to paint.

There is no single theory to explain each case, but many researchers believe that acquired savant syndrome happens when the right side of the brain compensates for an injury to the left side. The condition is rare – fewer than one hundred cases have been identified. [4] D The challenge is how to access that hidden knowledge and skill without experiencing a bang on the head.

1.5 GRAMMAR

Verb patterns

I can use a wide range of different verb patterns.

1 1.17 Listen to Part 1 of a podcast about being left-handed. What jobs seem to be more suited to 'lefties'?
Jobs that are creative/visual – in music, the arts and media/ architects/sports people.

2 1.17 Listen to the podcast again. Are statements 1–4 true or false?

1 No one knows what makes someone use their right or left hand. F
4 Rafa Nadal keeps winning because he is naturally left-handed. F

3 Read GRAMMAR FOCUS I. Which verb forms in blue in Exercise 2 match these verb patterns?

GRAMMAR FOCUS I 4

Verb patterns

1 verb + to + infinitive: tend to choose
2 verb + object + to + infinitive: enables left-handers to be
3 verb + object + infinitive without to: makes someone use
4 verb + -ing: keeps winning

4 In your notebook, match the verbs in the box with verb patterns 1–4 in GRAMMAR FOCUS I. Check the lists in Grammar Reference page 133 if you are not sure.

advise 2 allow 2 arrange 1 avoid 4 can't afford 1 can't help 4 can't stand 4 cause 2 decide 1 encourage 2 expect 1, 2 fancy 4 force 2 imagine 4 intend 1 let 3 manage 1 offer 1 refuse 1 remind 2 seem 1 spend/waste time 4 urge 1 warn (not) 2

5 1.18 In your notebook, complete Part 2 of the podcast with the correct form of the verbs in brackets. Then listen and check. How many left-handed people do you know?

So that's the good news about being left-handed. The bad news is that manufacturers don't remember to make tools and machinery for left-handers. Society [1]forces us to use (force/us/use) objects that are designed for right-handed people and this [2]makes us look (make/us/look) clumsy.

As a child I don't remember deciding that I was left-handed. But when my primary school teacher saw me using my left hand for writing and drawing she [3]encouraged me to swap (encourage/me/swap) hands. She didn't [4]manage to change (manage/change) my natural inclination, and I didn't stop writing with my left hand. Why [5]waste time trying (waste time/try) to change someone's natural handedness? Just [6]let them use (let/them/use) the hand they feel comfortable with – you can't [7]expect people to do (expect/people/do) what isn't natural to them!

I once heard someone say that left-handed people were strange. But when you stop to think about famous historical figures who were left-handed, you can't [8]avoid concluding (avoid/conclude) that they were brilliant! I'm sure Leonardo da Vinci, Mahatma Gandhi, Albert Einstein, Winston Churchill and Marie Curie would agree!

6 Read GRAMMAR FOCUS II. Find examples of verb patterns with remember, stop, hear and see in Exercise 5. Explain the changes in meaning.
For the changes in meaning, see Grammar Reference page 133.

GRAMMAR FOCUS II 4

Verb patterns – change in meaning

- You can use remember, forget, stop and try with the -ing form or a to* + infinitive, but with a change in meaning.

  I remember doing my homework. Sadly, I didn't remember to hand it in.

  Jim will never forget going on that school trip. He forgot to take any money.

  'I've stopped eating chocolate.' 'Really? Why did you stop to buy some on the way home?'

  I tried to convince Jane, but she doesn't want my advice. Why don't you try talking to her?

- You use feel, hear, see, watch* + object + *-ing to describe ongoing actions or the same verbs + object + infinitive without *to to describe finished actions.

  I watched Dan playing football and saw him score the winning goal.

7 In your notebook, complete the sentences with the correct form of the verbs in brackets. Discuss whether any sentences are true for you.

1 I often forget to bring (bring) my pens to school.
2 I'll never forget meeting (meet) my best friend.
3 I don't remember learning (learn) how to swim.
4 I always remember to switch (switch) my phone off in lessons.
5 I stopped taking (take) piano lessons a while ago.
6 I usually stop to buy (buy) sweets on my way.
7 If my laptop freezes, I try turning (turn) it off and on again.
8 I tried to work (work), but I was tired.
9 I've never seen my father lose (lose) his temper.
10 I often see my neighbour driving (drive) to work.

1.6 SPEAKING

I can describe a photo and speculate about hypothetical situations.

1 SPEAKING Look at the adjectives in the box. Tell your partner about the last time you experienced these feelings while you were learning something.

confused determined enthusiastic frustrated relieved terrified thrilled

The last time I felt really confused was when I was trying to understand when to use the Present Perfect tense in English! But, fortunately, I understand it now …

2 SPEAKING Take it in turns to describe and speculate about photo A.

- Say what the photo shows.
- Speculate about the people and their feelings.
- Speculate about the situation just before and/or just after the photo was taken.

3 1.19 Listen to someone describing photo A. Does the speaker have the same ideas about the situation as you?

4 1.19 Read the SPEAKING FOCUS. In your notebook, complete the description of photo A with one word in each gap. Then listen again and check.

This is a photo of a teenage girl driving a car. It's [1] hard to be sure whether she's having a driving lesson or taking her driving test. The middle-aged man sitting in the passenger seat to her left has got some official looking papers and a pen, so the [2] chances are he's an examiner rather than an instructor. [3] Based on his body language, I'd say they might be [4] about to crash! [5] Clearly, something is wrong. It looks [6] as if he's absolutely terrified. He's covering his face and hiding behind his papers. He could have [7] just seen a car pull out in front of them or, even worse, a pedestrian step out into the road. The girl doesn't [8] appear to be as scared as him, so maybe she hasn't noticed the problem yet. Hopefully, she'll be able to stop in time. [9] Judging by the examiner's reaction, I don't think she's going to pass her driving test this time!

SPEAKING FOCUS

It's obvious/clear (from the expression on his/her face) that …
He/She/It is definitely/certainly (not) …

Showing uncertainty

It's hard to be sure (whether/if …)
It's not easy to say (whether/if …)
I can't really tell (whether/if …)

Speculating about the situation

He/She could/might have just + past participle (recent past)
He/She could/might be + -ing (present)
He/She could/might be about to + infinitive (near future)

5 SPEAKING Take it in turns to describe and speculate about photo B. Use the SPEAKING FOCUS to help you.

6 1.20 Listen to a teenager answering a question. Which of these questions has he been asked?

1 Which school subject do you feel is the most useful and why?
2 Is it important for you to learn to drive? Why?/ Why not?
3 In your opinion, what qualities should a good teacher or instructor have?
4 Given the choice, which new subjects or skills would you like to learn and why?

7 1.20 Listen again. Which phrases do you hear?

Text 1

To: Jill Duncan (Head of English)
From: Angie Dalton (School Exchange Organiser)

Hi Jill,

I've been thinking about having a welcome party for the Swiss exchange students. They can come to a get-together in the main hall. Make sure all your staff come along and also could you say a few words? – you know, say hello and tell the visitors a bit about the school and the town. We'll follow this with a bit of food (menu TBC). They can come in through the main entrance and we can get our students to say hello and then they can show the exchange students around the school. BTW, I've already posted a map and directions on the website.

Thanks, Jill 😊

Text 2

Stoneberry School

You are invited to attend a reception in honour of the exchange group from Switzerland.

The reception will be held in the school assembly hall from 5 p.m. to 6.30 p.m.

All English teaching staff will be present and in addition the Head of English will give a welcome speech.

This will be followed by light refreshments. A map and directions have been posted on the website.

Please enter through the front entrance where student representatives will greet you.

Visitors will be given a guided tour of the school.

4 There are twelve more underlined examples of formal and informal equivalents in Texts 1 and 2. Write them down in a new formal/informal table in your notebook.

LANGUAGE FOCUS

Register – formal and informal language

Formal language is more common in written English, e.g. in official documents, business letters and invitations. It is also used in certain spoken contexts such as announcements, presentations or speeches. Informal language is more common in spoken English. It is also used in some written contexts, e.g. in informal emails, blogs or postcards.

Formal	Informal
No contractions or abbreviations: I have been thinking … To be confirmed	Contractions and abbreviations: [1] I've been thinking … [2] TBC
Greater use of the passive: [3] This will be followed	Less use of the passive: We'll follow this …
More use of indirect questions: Do you think you could say a few words?	More use of direct questions: [4] Could you say a few words

Formal	Informal
More complex noun phrases: light refreshments	Simpler noun phrases: [5] a bit of food
More verbs of Latin origin: [6] enter	More phrasal verbs: come in
Complex prepositional phrases: a reception [7] in honour of the exchange group	Simple prepositions: a welcome party for the exchange students
More formal linkers: [8] in addition incidentally	Neutral linkers: also BTW (by the way)

1 They are preparing for an exchange visit from a Swiss school.

2 & 3 The email is an informal conversation between two school colleagues and is making suggestions for planning the event for exchange students. The invitation is formal and is to invite people to and inform them about the reception.

Exercise 4

FORMAL – INFORMAL

attend a reception – come to a get-together be present – come along give a welcome speech – say a few words greet – say hello

visitors will be given a guided tour of the school – they can show the exchange students around the school a map and directions have been posted – I've already posted a map and directions

Subject: Sigrid Halverson – summer work application
Attachments: Sigrid Halverson CV

Dear Ms Laver,

I am writing in response to your online advertisement seeking staff for Chatfield Zoo's summer activities programme. I wish to apply for the position of children's activity coordinator.

I am an eighteen-year-old childcare student and I am passionate about working with children. I intend to pursue a career as a kindergarten teacher when I finish my education. With this in mind, I hope to gain as much relevant experience as possible while I am still a student. I would welcome the opportunity to work with and learn from a successful organisation such as Chatfield Zoo.

I gained considerable work experience at a local kindergarten last summer. During my work placement there, I worked alongside teachers, contributed to classes and supervised the children at break times. I also sat in on staff meetings and coordinated a very successful sports day. Additionally, as a keen athlete and artist, I feel confident I possess relevant skills and would be well suited to the position.

I would be delighted to attend an interview at your convenience and have attached my CV for your consideration. Please do not hesitate to contact me if you require any further information.

Yours sincerely,
Sigrid Halverson

Ubiegasz się o pracę wakacyjną. Napisz list motywacyjny, w którym przedstawisz swoje kwalifikacje (dotychczasowe wykształcenie, umiejętności i zainteresowania) oraz przekonasz pracodawcę, że odpowiadają one wymaganiom oferowanej pracy.

Wypowiedź powinna zawierać od 200 do 250 słów i spełniać wszystkie wymogi typowe dla formy wskazanej w poleceniu.

Exercise 5

I am writing in response to your online advertisement seeking staff for Chatfield Zoo's summer activities programme.
I wish to apply for the position of children's activity coordinator.

I intend to pursue a career as a kindergarten teacher when I finish my education. With this in mind, I hope to gain as much relevant experience as possible while I am still a student.

I gained considerable work experience at a local kindergarten last summer.

I would be delighted to attend an interview at your convenience and (I) have attached my CV for your consideration.

Exercise 11

I would welcome the opportunity to work with and learn from a successful organisation such as Chatfield Zoo.

I feel confident I possess relevant skills and would be well suited to the position.

Please do not hesitate to contact me if you require any further information.

WORD LIST ACTIVITIES

• Students play Collocation Bingo. Ask them to draw a 3x3 grid onto a piece of paper. In each box in their grid, they should write the second part of a collocation or phrase from the word list, e.g. for memory like a sieve, they should write a sieve. Once they have filled all the boxes in their grid, start calling out words that complete the collocations/phrases from the list (e.g. memory like). When students hear a word/phrase that completes the collocation/phrase in their grid, they cross it out. The first student to cross out all the phrases in their grid is the winner.

THE SCHOOL REUNION

Last week I went to a school reunion and I was amazed how different the school looks now. The building where we [1] __used__ to have PE classes has been demolished and a new sports centre has been built instead. I clearly remember how we [2] __would__ beg our sports teacher to allow us to play games in the old building!

Then I bumped into Caroline who I [3] __was__ always having arguments with. I hardly recognised her. She didn't [4] __use__ to look so glamorous. But one thing hasn't changed about her. She [5] __is__ always talking about others behind their back. It's so unpleasant.

The reunion also reminded me of the importance of punctuality that the school head teacher talked about so often. I got used to certain things so much that even now I [6] __will/always__ arrive at meetings at least fifteen minutes earlier than necessary!

4 Uzupełnij zdania odpowiednimi formami czasowników podanych w nawiasach.

1 If you need more details, try __looking__ (look) online for information. Maybe you'll find something.
2 The Music Academy exam board first listened to us all __sing__ (sing) and then they announced who was admitted.
3 I'm sorry, sir. I forgot __to check__ (check) if my essay is within the word limit you required.
4 Do you think our Chemistry teacher will let us __use__ (use) the lab to carry out our own experiments?
5 We were warned __not to touch__ (not/touch) any of the exhibits.

CZYTANIE

Uzupełnianie luk

7 Przeczytaj tekst. Które z podanych zdań A–F poprawnie go uzupełniają? Jedno zdanie zostało podane dodatkowo i nie pasuje do żadnej luki.

Brooklyn Free School, New York

A school with no grades, no homework, no tests and no obligation to attend classes. That's the Brooklyn Free School, a learning institution that follows a 'free' education philosophy. Neither the school's head teacher nor the teaching staff, who are known as advisers, tell the students what to do. [1] F This is based on the school's belief that learning only happens when it is self-directed and not imposed by others.

The school is open to students from three to eighteen years of age. It encourages them to get involved in everything that concerns the school. In order to do so, students attend a Democratic Meeting where they have equal votes with the staff. This get-together is at the heart of the school's philosophy. [2] D Announcements are made, issues are raised and decisions are taken. Everyone cooperates for the well-being of the school. Attendance at the weekly meeting is one of the few school rules. Though some of the younger students don't pay much attention, preferring to read or draw instead, they must be present.

A typical school day is different for every student. They can paint, play video games or work on laptops. Some prepare for the school's annual play by rehearsing or building stage sets. In the kitchen, others might be baking a cake or sorting rubbish for recycling. Traditional classroom lessons are also available if students wish to attend. [3] B By offering these choices, the school accommodates all needs. Being part of a group of classes on a regular basis fits some students best, while doing individual projects is what suits others.

The school's philosophy is a radical one. Parents hope it will make their children independent thinkers and problem solvers. However, the school's system has its share of opponents. [4] E This is due to the enormous freedom students have, which can lead to laziness and lack of discipline. Furthermore, they believe that students whose families cannot afford to hire private tutors have fewer chances of gaining college entry. It's believed that the school's academic preparation is inadequate. This seems to be supported by the fact that there are parents who have had to hire help to make sure their children learn the basics. [5] A Since then, however, enrolments have increased and people are regaining confidence in the idea of self-regulated education and the school's mission.

A Also, in its first academic year, a third of the original students left, as did the teachers.
B These are best for students who prefer a structured day along with a weekly timetable.
C Many students go there to escape the stress and exam pressures of conventional schools.
D Taking place every Wednesday, it gives staff and students an opportunity to be heard.
E Their main criticism is that it does not, in fact, adequately prepare students for real life.
F It's entirely up to them to choose what they learn and how they wish to learn it.

4 SPEAKING Write a short sentence that summarises your results. Compare your results with a partner and then discuss the questions.

I am quite deep and fairly conscientious.

1 How accurate do you think this personality test is?
2 Why do you think people like doing personality tests?
3 Can you learn more about a person from a 15-minute personality test or a 15-minute chat?

FOCUS ON WORDS | Personality adjectives

5 1.22 In your notebook, translate the adjectives in red in the quiz. Use a dictionary if necessary. Then listen and repeat.

1 affectionate = _____
2 daring = _____
3 humble = _____
4 insecure = _____
5 intellectual = _____ 6 moody = _____
7 perceptive = _____
8 spontaneous = _____
9 tactful = _____
10 thorough = _____
11 trusting = _____
12 witty = _____

AGREEABLE

You're kind-hearted and sensitive to the needs of others. Being relaxed, trusting and laid-back, you work well with others. In difficult situations, you're tactful and avoid hurting people. In fact, you're very good at making people feel at ease. You're affectionate and show your feelings. You're good-natured, friendly and popular.

IMAGINATIVE

You're artistic and creative and so you have the ability to think outside the box. You're daring and you're not afraid to do adventurous things. You're also quite perceptive and intellectual and have a love of learning.

ORGANISED

You're thorough – you like to plan things carefully. Being quite strong-willed, you usually get what you want. You're level-headed and you think things through carefully. In future, you will excel in leadership positions.

DEEP

You're a deep thinker and you're not comfortable with small talk. You're not insecure, but you are quite humble, and you can be a little self-conscious or even self-critical at times. You enjoy your own company, but you're not a loner – you like being with close friends. Above all, you're fair-minded and if you feel strongly about something, you're not afraid to speak up.

SOCIABLE

You're the life and soul of the party and love being the centre of attention. People enjoy your company because you're witty and spontaneous. You're larger than life and good fun to be around. However, on bad days you can be moody and short-tempered. Also, there are times when you appear a little self-centred and full of yourself.

6 Which adjectives complete the descriptions correctly?

1 Megan is brave enough to say things that shock people. She's quite daring / insecure.
2 Janet understands difficult concepts and enjoys debating serious topics. She's intellectual / witty.
3 Tom is diplomatic and is unlikely to upset or embarrass people. He's very thorough / tactful.
4 Sue has a very gentle, loving nature. She's extremely perceptive / affectionate.

2.2 GRAMMAR

Past Perfect Simple and Continuous

I can talk about a past action or situation that took place before another past action or situation.

1 Read the story. Why did Amelie and Steve wait seventeen years to get married? Because a love letter Steve had sent to Amelie had been lost.

It was meant to be

Amelie was studying English in the UK when she met Steve. It was love at first sight and they spent a wonderful summer together. Amelie returned to France after her course finished. They tried to 4 keep a long-distance relationship going, but they drifted apart.

A few years later, Steve wrote to Amelie, but Amelie's mother put the letter on the mantelpiece, forgot to tell Amelie, and it slipped down the back of the fireplace. Many years later, a builder was removing the fireplace when he found the letter. It had been there for ten years. 3

During that time, Amelie had remained single and had never forgotten the love of her life. Meanwhile, Steve had been working in a factory in his 2 home town. He had been thinking about Amelie too, but he assumed she had got married to somebody else. 1

When she finally read the letter, Amelie was too nervous to call as so much time had passed. But she finally plucked up courage and they arranged to meet.

They got married seventeen years after they had first met.

Exercise 3

- Amelie had remained single and had never forgotten the love of her life. (a completed action)
- He had been thinking about Amelie too, … (an activity in progress)
- When she finally read the letter, Amelie was too nervous to call as so much time had passed. (a completed action)
- They got married seventeen years after they had first met. (a completed action)

2 Read the GRAMMAR FOCUS. Match the underlined examples in the story with rules 1–4.

GRAMMAR FOCUS 6

Past Perfect Simple and Continuous

You use the Past Perfect to make it clear that an activity took place before the main events in a story.

1 You use the Past Perfect Simple to describe a completed action.
2 You use the Past Perfect Continuous to describe an activity in progress.
3 You use the Past Perfect Simple (NOT ~~Continuous~~) with state verbs (be, have, know, etc.).
4 You don't have to use the Past Perfect if a time expression (i.e. before or after) makes the order of events clear.

3 Find other examples of the Past Perfect in the story and discuss why the simple or continuous forms have been used.

4 Which verb forms complete the sentences correctly?

1 Amelie didn't know that Steve wrote / had written to her.
2 Steve didn't know that Amelie had never received / had never been receiving his letter.
3 Steve thought Amelie had got / got married to somebody else.
4 Amelie found the letter and realised it was lying / had been lying behind the fireplace for ten years.
5 Amelie was nervous about calling Steve because they hadn't seen / didn't see each other for a long time.

Exercise 8

1 Eric's ex-wife had known Vilma since childhood.
2 Had any of Eric's friends heard from Vilma after she moved/had moved away? No, they hadn't.
3 Why did Eric think Vilma had moved to Tibet? Because she was a very compassionate person.
4 Where had Vilma been living since Eric had lost touch with her? She had been living in Paris.
5 Had Vilma had any children with her late husband? No, she hadn't.

5 USE OF ENGLISH In your notebook, complete the sentences using the prompts in brackets. Do not change the order of the words. Change the forms or add new words where necessary.

1 The roads were wet this morning. It had been raining (it/rain) all night.
2 Yesterday I was tired. I hadn't slept (not/sleep) well the previous night.
3 I went to the doctor last week because I hadn't been feeling (not/feel) well.
4 I had had the same phone (have/same/phone) for ages, so I got a new one last month.
5 I didn't understand yesterday's homework because I hadn't been listening to the teacher (not/listen/teacher) in class.
6 By the time I arrived, the lesson had already started (lesson/already/start).

6 Are any sentences in Exercise 5 true for you? Write three of your own sentences using Past Perfect forms.

7 In your notebook, complete the story with the Past Perfect Simple or Continuous form of the verbs in the box. Why did Eric and Vilma wait forty years to get married? They lost touch when Vilma had moved away.

grow	hear	know	live	make	meet
move	search	see	work

Eric and Vilma 40 YEARS ON

Vilma was my wife's best friend. They [1] had known each other since childhood. When Vilma moved away we lost touch, but she [2] had made a big impression on me. So when my wife and I separated, I decided to ask my friends if anyone [3] had heard from her, but no one had. Vilma was a very compassionate person, so I imagined that she [4] had moved to Tibet and [5] had been working for a charity for a few years. Finally, my niece called to say she [6] had seen Vilma's profile on Facebook. I rang her and found that she [7] had been living in Paris, so I [8] had been searching in the wrong place! We met up and when we saw one another it was magical. We [9] had grown older, but that didn't matter. She was widowed and didn't have children. I proposed immediately. Forty years after we [10] met/had met for the first time, we got married.

8 In your notebook, write questions about the story using the prompts. Then answer the questions.

1 How long / Eric's ex-wife / know / Vilma? How long had Eric's ex-wife known Vilma?
2 any of Eric's friends / hear / from Vilma / after she / move away?
3 Why / Eric / think / Vilma / move / to Tibet?
4 Where / Vilma / live / since Eric / lose touch / with her?
5 Vilma / have / any children / with her late husband?

From me before you

by Jojo Moyes

Mrs Traynor looked at my clothes, as if for the first time. I was wearing the very shaggy waistcoat thing that Dad says makes me look like an emu. I tried to smile. It seemed like an effort.

'Obviously I would hope that you could … get on with each other. It would be nice if he could think of you as a friend rather than a paid professional.'

'Right. What does he … um … like to do?'

'He watches films. Sometimes he listens to the radio, or to music. He has one of those digital things. If you position it near his hand, he can usually manipulate it himself. He has some movement in his fingers, although he finds it hard to grip.'

I felt myself brightening. If he liked music and films, surely we could find some common ground? I had a sudden picture of myself and this man laughing at some Hollywood comedy, me running the Hoover around the bedroom while he listened to his music. Perhaps this was going to be okay. Perhaps we might end up as friends. I had never had a disabled friend before – only Treen's friend David, who was deaf, but would put you in a head-lock if you suggested that meant disabled.

'Do you have any questions?'

'No.'

'Then let's go and introduce you.' She glanced at her watch. 'Nathan should have finished dressing him now.' We hesitated outside the door and Mrs Traynor knocked. 'Are you in there? I have Miss Clark to meet you, Will.'

There was no answer.

'Will? Nathan?'

A broad New Zealand accent. 'He's decent, Mrs T.' She pushed open the door. The annexe's living room was deceptively large, and one wall consisted entirely of glass doors that looked out over open countryside.

A wood burner glowed quietly in the corner, and a low beige sofa faced a huge flat-screen television, its seats covered by a wool throw. The mood of the room was tasteful, and peaceful – a Scandinavian bachelor pad.

In the centre of the room stood a black wheelchair, its seat and back cushioned by sheepskin. A solidly built man in white collarless scrubs was crouching down, adjusting a man's feet on the footrests of the wheelchair. As we stepped into the room, the man in the wheelchair looked up from under shaggy, unkempt hair. His eyes met mine and after a pause, he let out a bloodcurdling groan. Then his mouth twisted, and he let out another unearthly cry.

I felt his mother stiffen.

'Will, stop it!'

He didn't even glance towards her. Another prehistoric sound emerged from somewhere near his chest. It was a terrible, agonizing noise. I tried not to flinch. The man was grimacing, his head tilted and sunk into his shoulders as he stared at me through contorted features. He looked grotesque, and vaguely angry. I realized that where I held my bag, my knuckles had turned white.

'Will! Please.' There was a faint note of hysteria in his mother's voice. 'Please, don't do this.' is an English journalist, novelist and screenwriter. She was a journalist for ten years before becoming a full-time novelist in 2002. She's written numerous best-selling novels, and her book Me Before You won several awards and has gone on to sell over eight million copies worldwide. Me Before You is a love story between Will Traynor, paralysed after a motorcycle accident, and Louisa Clark, his new carer. The film based on the book was also a huge box-office success. Jojo lives and writes on a farm in Essex, England, with her husband and their three children.

Jojo Moyes

Oh God, I thought. I'm not up to this. I swallowed, hard. The man was still staring at me. He seemed to be waiting for me to do something.

'I – I'm Lou.' My voice, uncharacteristically tremulous, broke into the silence. I wondered, briefly, whether to hold out a hand and then, remembering that he wouldn't be able to take it, gave a feeble wave instead.

'Short for Louisa.'

Then to my astonishment his features cleared, and his head straightened on his shoulders.

Will Traynor gazed at me steadily, the faintest of smiles flickering across his face. 'Good morning, Miss Clark,' he said. 'I hear you're my latest minder.'

2.5 GRAMMAR

Relative clauses

I can identify and use different types of relative clauses.

1 SPEAKING Discuss any advantages or disadvantages of being the firstborn child in a family.

2 Read Part 1 of a text about birth order. Are any of the things you discussed in Exercise 1 mentioned?

WHAT BIRTH ORDER SAYS ABOUT YOU

Part 1

Birth order is the key [1]that can unlock your personality. Here are some generalisations that have come out of research [2]carried out over the years.

The firstborn

Parents [3]learning to bring up their first child tend to be extremely attentive and protective. Firstborn children, [4]who have their parents' undivided attention, are responsible, reliable and well-behaved. Firstborns tend to be perfectionists bursting with confidence, [5]which makes it hard for them to admit when they're wrong.

3 Read the GRAMMAR FOCUS. What types of clauses are examples 1–5 in blue in Part 1 of the text?

Exercise 3
1 defining relative clause
2 reduced relative clause (defining, passive)
3 reduced relative clause (defining, active)
4 non-defining relative clause
5 comment clause

GRAMMAR FOCUS 7

Relative clauses

- In defining relative clauses, you can leave out who, which or that when it is the object of the verb.
  Olga is the girl who sits next to me. (who is the subject of sit)
  Olga is the girl (who) I sit next to. (who is the object of sit)
- In non-defining relative clauses, who, which, where or whose always come after a comma and you cannot leave them out.
  Eva is friends with Sam, who I can't stand. (= I can't stand Sam.)
- In reduced relative clauses (defining and non-defining), you use a present participle for active verbs and a past participle for passive verbs.
  There's a new teacher teaching year 4. (= who is teaching)
  Josh, taught by the new teacher, is delighted. (= who is taught)
- In comment clauses, you refer to the whole of the main clause using which.
  Eva is friends with Sam, which I can't stand. (= I can't stand the situation.)

Exercise 6
2 Children brought up as the baby of the family are often fussy eaters.
3 Firstborns, accustomed to accepting rules, are better behaved at school.
4 Middle-born children, growing up with a younger and older sibling, can be argumentative.
5 Only children spending a lot of time alone tend to be very creative.
6 The youngest child, used to being the centre of attention, is usually sociable.

Part 2

The middle child

Middle children, [1]which have been / (Ø) given less attention by their parents, are more independent. Middle children [2]which / whose older siblings boss them around feel life is unfair. They often believe their other siblings get all the attention, [3]which / that can make them feel left out.

The baby of the family

Parents [4]which are / (Ø) bringing up their youngest children are more lenient, [5]which / what means that last-borns are rarely told off. Youngest children, [6]that / who have fewer responsibilities, are carefree and easy-going. The baby of the family, [7]whose / who is used to having things done for them, tends to be bad at making decisions.

The only child

Only children have many of the same qualities as the oldest child, [8]that / which is not surprising. Only children, [9]which / who spend more time with adults, will often act older than their age. The typical only child likes being the centre of attention, [10]which / whose sometimes makes them appear self-centred.

4 Read Part 2 of the text. Which forms complete the text correctly?

5 SPEAKING What position are you in your family? Discuss the comments in Parts 1 and 2 with a partner. Which statements do you agree with?

6 In your notebook, rewrite the sentences using reduced relative clauses. Tick the statements you agree with.

1 Siblings who share a bedroom tend to be less selfish.
Siblings sharing a bedroom tend to be less selfish.
2 Children who have been brought up as the baby of the family are often fussy eaters.
3 Firstborns, who are accustomed to accepting rules, are better behaved at school.
4 Middle-born children, who grow up with a younger and older sibling, can be argumentative.
5 Only children who spend a lot of time alone tend to be very creative.
6 The youngest child, who is used to being the centre of attention, is usually sociable.

7 In your notebook, complete the sentences with who, which, that, where, whose or Ø (no pronoun). Which sentences are true for you? Compare with a partner.

1 My sister is always leaving her clothes on the floor, which is very annoying!
2 In my family, the person who/that cooks the most delicious food is my grandmother.
3 I'm jealous of people whose parents let them do whatever they want.
4 The only place where I can get some peace at home is in the bathroom.
5 My mother, who thinks I'm still a baby, worries when I go out late.
6 I've got several cousins Ø living in the same town as me.
7 We live in a house Ø built over 100 years ago.

2.6 SPEAKING

Telling a personal anecdote

I can tell a personal anecdote about a memorable day out.

1 SPEAKING Look at the extract from a website. Discuss which days out you would most and least like to go on and why.

Home | Events | News | Archives

memorableday.com

Are you tired of doing the same old things with your friends? Why not try something different with one of our alternative days out?

- Go mountain biking
- Visit a gallery or photo exhibition
- Sing karaoke
- Rent a rowing boat or kayak
- Attend a workshop (e.g. dancing or DJing)
- Go go-kart racing
- Visit an aquarium or zoo

2 SPEAKING Describe the photo in Exercise 1 and discuss the questions with a partner.

1 What might the people be thinking and feeling?
2 In your opinion, what factors make a memorable day out?

3 In your notebook, put the parts of an anecdote about a memorable day out in a logical order (1–5).

a Where and when the day took place, and other background information 2 b Who was involved in the day 3 c Why the day was so memorable 5 d What the anecdote is going to be about 1
e What happened step by step 4

4 1.33 Listen to someone describing a memorable day out and check your ideas in Exercise 3. In pairs, try to retell the anecdote.

5 1.33 In your notebook, complete the SPEAKING FOCUS with the words in the box. Then listen again and check.

All | As | As soon as | blue | doubt | Funnily | Initially | place

SPEAKING FOCUS

Introducing the anecdote

(Right, so) I'm going to tell you about (a great day out).
(OK, so) this is a story about (a day I'll never forget).
This took [1] place about (a month ago).

Sequencing events in the anecdote

[2] As soon as /When/Just after (we got there, the sun came out).
[3] Initially /To begin with, (we were the only people there …)
As/While (we were sitting there), …
Suddenly/[4] All of a sudden, (the weather changed).

Describing events vividly

Predictably/[5] As expected, (other people soon started …)
Unexpectedly/Out of the [6] blue , (it started pouring with rain).
Luckily/Fortunately, (after it stopped raining, the sun came out again).

Finishing the anecdote

Without a [7] doubt , it was (one of the best days I've had in ages).
When I look back (on that day) now, I feel …
It turned out to be (an unforgettable day out).
Strangely/[8] Funnily enough, (the best days are often the ones you don't really plan).

6 1.34 Which options complete the anecdote correctly? Listen and check.

Right, so this [1] took place / is a story about a day I'll never forget. I've always loved music and last month my friend and I went to a DJing workshop. [2] To begin with / Just after, we learnt about the equipment. We can't afford our own stuff yet but, [3] fortunately / out of the blue, we were able to use the decks, mixers and laptops at the centre. [4] When / While we had understood the basics, it was time to have a go. [5] Strangely / Predictably, it was really difficult at first, but after a while I started to get the hang of it. It feels and sounds fantastic when you get it right. It turned out to be an [6] unexpected / unforgettable day. I can't wait for the next workshop.

7 SPEAKING Follow the instructions below. Take turns to be Student A and Student B.

Student A: Tell a personal anecdote about a memorable day out. Use the SPEAKING FOCUS to help you.
Student B: Listen to your partner's anecdote and think of a question to ask them when they have finished.

2.7 USE OF ENGLISH

Collocations

I can recognise and use common collocations.

1 SPEAKING Read Lisa's post and comment on her last sentence. In pairs, discuss whether you could share a flat with Lisa. Give reasons for your answer.

Home | New posts | Friends | Profile

Lisa is looking for a flatmate

Message | Send invitation

I'm a 21-year-old student with a spare room to rent. It's a big room with a bed, a wardrobe and a desk. The flat has two bedrooms, a living room, a kitchen and a bathroom. Only people who meet the requirements below should apply.

You need to be on a full-time course because I don't want you hanging around the flat in the daytime.

I lead a healthy lifestyle. I'm a vegan and I don't like people cooking meat in my kitchen. It's equally important that there are no cooking smells during the weekend.

If you expect me to be your friend, you'll be bitterly disappointed. I'm painfully shy and I can't stand being the centre of attention. I don't need a soulmate, I just want a quiet life.

I sleep badly, so I don't want you to binge-watch TV programmes or roar with laughter late at night. Lights go out here at 11 p.m. Basically, I'd like you to use your common sense. If I've gone to bed, I expect you to keep quiet.

Friends are okay, but if more than three guests turn up, it's too much.

I set high standards of cleanliness here. I like people who are neat and tidy. When you move in, we can reach an agreement about how we share the cleaning.

I'm quite easy-going.

2 Read the LANGUAGE FOCUS. In your notebook, complete it with the examples in blue in Lisa's post.

LANGUAGE FOCUS

Collocation

- A collocation is a central feature of any language. It refers to typical, frequently occurring combinations of words. For example, you can have strong feelings but NOT ~~tough feelings~~. You might burst into tears but NOT ~~explode into tears~~.
- The strength of a collocation can vary. Have a laugh is quite weak because you can also have a day off, have a shower or have a baby. Shrug your shoulders is strong. You can't really shrug anything else!
- Different types of collocation:

  adjective + noun = nasty habit, vivid imagination, [1] high standards verb + noun = share an interest, break the law, [2] reach an agreement noun + verb = accidents happen, [3] guests turn up noun + (of/and) noun = sense of humour, [4] centre of attention verb + adjective = look miserable, [5] keep quiet adjective + and + adjective = loud and clear, [6] neat and tidy verb + adverb = smile politely, [7] sleep badly adverb + adjective = perfectly normal, [8] bitterly disappointed

- Choosing the right collocation will make your English sound more natural.

3 Look at the underlined collocations in Lisa's post. What type of collocation are they?

adjective + noun: spare room, full-time course, healthy lifestyle, quiet life adverb + adjective: equally important, painfully shy noun + verb: lights go out verb + noun: meet the requirements, roar with laughter

A totally B absolutely C bitterly D completely

4 Most of my online friends are best described as _____ acquaintances.
A occasional B casual C nearby D relaxed

5 I eat well and try to lead a _____ lifestyle.
A strong B fit C wise D healthy

8 In your notebook, complete the questions with one word in each gap.

1 Do you sometimes doubt yourself or are you always supremely confident?
2 Are you messy or neat and tidy?
3 Are you shy or do you like being the centre of attention?
4 Are you a good citizen? Have you ever broken the law?
5 Are you emotional? How likely are you to burst into tears?
6 Can you remember the last time you roared with laughter?

2.8 WRITING

An article

I can write an article attracting the reader's attention with participle clauses.

1 Look at the photos. Which aspects of adolescence do they illustrate?

2 SPEAKING Read Last week's competition on the Psychology Magazine website and discuss the questions with a partner.

1 Why is adolescence described as a 'roller coaster ride'?
2 What are the best things about being a young adult?
3 What new challenges do you face as a young adult?

3 Read the winning article on the magazine website and discuss the questions with a partner.

1 Did the author mention any of the pleasures or challenges you discussed in Exercise 2?
2 What is the author's conclusion? Do you agree?
Probably that adolescence is 'the best days of our lives' for most people.

Have Your Say

Last week's competition

The journey from teenager to adult can bring joy and pain, success and failure, friendship and heartbreak. If you are riding the roller coaster of adolescence right now, then Psychology Magazine wants to hear from you.

Send us an article in which you describe some of the very best things about coming of age and discuss the most challenging aspects of life for people living through these 'in-between' years.

As usual, a selection of articles will be published in an upcoming edition of Psychology Magazine.

The winning article:

Adolescence: Pain and Pleasure in Equal Measure

by Josh Payne

Remember when you were little and school summer holidays seemed to go on forever? Being children, most of us lived carefree and happy lives. Sadly, this does not last and we must all grow up. I can reliably report that the process brings pain and pleasure in equal measure.

First, there is the pain. Adolescence is a time of huge physical and emotional change. For many of us, this change is accompanied by feelings of self-doubt, envy and embarrassment. Apparently, we are neither children nor adults; asked to act like 'grown-ups' in certain situations, but not in others. 'Be responsible and act your age … but be home by 9 p.m.!' These mixed messages can be hard to deal with. Add to this the pressure of schoolwork, and it is no wonder we sometimes feel unable to cope.

Thankfully, alongside the pain, there is also pleasure. Though we have to study, few of us need to worry about bills or housework. As a result, whether it is playing sport or online games, we have time to enjoy ourselves. On top of this, we have our friends. Pleasure and pain alike, can be shared with those who know exactly how we feel.

Despite the challenges, as far as I am concerned, the pleasure of being a young adult outweighs the pain. Although it may not always seem so now, perhaps in the future we will look back on adolescence as the best days of our lives.

This week's competition

There are many unfair gender-based stereotypes concerning the interests and attitudes of adolescents. Write an article of 200–250 words in which you describe some of these common stereotypes and challenge them by explaining why they are untrue or unfair. As usual, a selection of articles will be printed in an upcoming edition of Psychology Magazine.

WORKBOOK

pp. 30–31, including Show What You've Learnt and Show That You've Checked

NEXT CLASS

Ask students to study the Word list on pp. 32–33.

4 Read the WRITING FOCUS and look at the article again. Decide which techniques the author used for writing the title, the introduction and the conclusion.

WRITING FOCUS

An article

Title

- Attract the reader's attention from the start:
  1 ask a question (Are These the Best Days of Our Lives?)
  2 use vivid adjectives (Adolescence: Thrilling and Terrifying)
  3 summarise the topic (The Pains and Pleasures of Adolescent Life)
  4 use rhyme/wordplay (Top Ten Tips for Troubled Teens)

Introduction

- Define the topic and hold the reader's attention:
  5 ask a question
  6 tell a short anecdote
  7 give an interesting or surprising fact or figure
  8 give a quotation

Main paragraphs

- Develop the topic and discuss all the issues mentioned in the question.

Conclusion

- Give your personal opinion and leave the reader with something to think about:
  9 ask a question
  10 refer to the future
  11 make an appeal or suggestion
  12 return to the idea in the title or the introduction

Note: Articles tend to be written in a formal or semi-formal style. In a formal article avoid: informal phrases (~~I think~~ = As far as I am concerned …), colloquial language (~~Most parents reckon that~~ … = In most parents' opinions …) and contractions (~~don't~~ = do not).

5 Read the example article introductions and conclusions. Decide which techniques 5–12 in the WRITING FOCUS the authors used.

Introductions:

a It's easy to forget that 100 percent of adults alive today were once teenagers like us. As a young man, my 'sensible' father was a real rebel. He rode a motorbike and got a tattoo at the age of sixteen. 7, 6 b In his famous book, American author John Gray said that 'Men are from Mars, women are from Venus'. Does this also apply to adolescents? Are younger men and women really so different from each other? 8, 5

Conclusions:

c As I began by saying, men and women differ in many ways, but individuals also differ regardless of their gender. We should be wary of stereotyping, respect each other and cooperate to use our strengths for a common good. 12, 11

d So, as a regular teenage girl, am I really that different from the boy sitting opposite me in class? Perhaps not. Whether we will become more or less alike in later life remains to be seen. 9, 10

6 Read the LANGUAGE FOCUS. In your notebook, rewrite the underlined fragments using participle clauses.

1 Because they want to look stylish, many adolescent boys also enjoy shopping for clothes.
Wanting to look stylish, many adolescent boys also enjoy shopping for clothes. Wanting to look stylish,

2 Because they attend mixed schools, most adolescent boys and girls receive the same education.
Attending mixed schools,

3 Because I grew up with three sisters, I know something about the differences between boys and girls.
Having grown up with three sisters,

4 Because they are stereotypes, such statements do contain an element of truth, of course.
Being stereotypes,

5 Because I have always got on well with boys, I think I understand some of their attitudes.
Having always got on well with boys,

LANGUAGE FOCUS

Participle clauses to express reason

You can use participle clauses in formal writing to express the reason for a statement made in the main clause.

- Use a present participle (verb + -ing) when states or actions occur at the same time.
  Being children, most of us lived carefree and happy lives.
  = Because we were children (past), most of us lived carefree and happy lives. (past)
- Use a perfect participle (having + past participle) when one state or action occurs before another.
  Having grown physically, many adolescents expect to be treated as adults.
  = Because they have grown physically (past), many adolescents expect to be treated as adults. (present)

7 SPEAKING Read the statements and decide if they are stereotypes about adolescent girls or boys. Do they reflect reality? Discuss in groups.

- They find it difficult to talk about their feelings.
- They are always gossiping.
- They love fashion and shopping.
- They love sports and gadgets.
- They are kind and considerate.
- They are rude and aggressive.

SŁOWNICTWO I GRAMATYKA

1 Jakie wyrazy poprawnie uzupełniają zdania? Pierwsze i ostatnie litery brakujących wyrazów zostały podane.

1 The hero in action films is traditionally daring and prepared to take risks.
2 She plays the type of detective who's especially perceptive and notices the smallest of details.
3 My favourite character is the brother because he's very laid-back. When everyone else is getting stressed, he doesn't seem worried.
4 I didn't like the main character because she's so self-centred. Everything's about her and she doesn't care how it affects the others.
5 There's a scene where the uncle points out the problems with Jo's plan. He's really tactful though and does it without discouraging his nephew.
6 When Billy first dances in front of an audience, he's really self-conscious, but over time, he gains confidence.

2 Wybierz poprawny wyraz.

1 It's important that an interviewer makes the candidate feel at ease / eased / at rest.
2 She's confident, but not too filled with / full of / full with herself. She'll always acknowledge when she doesn't know something.
3 When my uncle saw his future wife for the first time, he was immediately attracted with / to / at her.
4 When Mum saw my new haircut, a look of shock hesitated / grimaced / flickered across her face, but she didn't say anything.
5 I only briefly glimpsed / glanced / gazed the message on her phone, but I'm sure it was from Blanka.

3 Uzupełnij zdania odpowiednimi formami czasowników podanych w nawiasach. Użyj czasu Past Perfect Simple lub Past Perfect Continuous.

1 Joshua had already been (already/be) married twice before he met Carol.
2 I asked Martha and Sue to organise my wedding because they had prepared (prepare) quite a few before.
3 Stewart was really exhausted because he had been looking (look) after the twins the whole afternoon.
4 Dad, how long had you been dating (you/date) Mum before you got engaged?
5 I stopped talking to my younger brother after we had had (have) a serious argument for the third time that week.
6 When I saw Jane, I could see she had been crying (cry), but I didn't know why.

4 Wybierz poprawną odpowiedź.

1 Maria accepted Niko's invitation to a candlelit dinner, which / that / what made him really happy.
2 Last week I bumped into the Smiths, who / that / whose son used to be in my class at school.
3 Would you like to meet my cousin which / Ø / whose I told you about yesterday?
4 Here are some lovely photos from Greece taking / taken / which took on our honeymoon.
5 The family living / lived / which living in the flat above ours are really noisy.

PARK LIFE

by Anna George

In parks around the world, it's become perfectly normal to come across hundreds of people [1] gathering every Saturday morning to run their weekly five kilometres. Since it started in 2004, parkrun has become a global phenomenon with events taking place in hundreds of locations in more than 20 countries across the world. Parkruns attract people of all ages and for a whole range of different reasons. Most participants see running as part of a [2] healthy lifestyle. For many, the social side of the events is [3] equally important. People who start off as casual acquaintances nodding to each other and smiling [4] politely, can end up as firm friends.

6 Przetłumacz na język angielski podane w nawiasach fragmenty, tak aby otrzymać logiczne i gramatycznie poprawne zdania. W każdą lukę możesz wpisać maksymalnie pięć wyrazów.

1 Let me introduce you to the woman whose (kobiecie, której) husband originally set up the gallery.
2 Having left the village where (Opuściwszy wieś, w której) she grew up, my granny enjoyed living in the city.
3 When we got to the church, we realised that we had left the present/gift (zostawiliśmy prezent) for the newlyweds at home. We felt extremely embarrassed.
4 How long had Tom been waiting for (Tom czekał na) a reply to his email before he realised he wasn't going to get a response?
5 Mark says he never has time to make his bed in the morning, which irritates me a lot/which really irritates me (co mnie bardzo irytuje). He should get up earlier.
6 Protected by his parents (Chroniony przez swoich rodziców) for all his life, the young boy was painfully shy and had difficulty making friends.

3.1 VOCABULARY

Landscape features • prepositions describing location • describing places • collocations and compound nouns

I can describe cities and talk about city life.

SHOW WHAT YOU KNOW

1 Which of these townscape and landscape features can you find near your school? Discuss with a partner.

a breathtaking view a bridge a canal a fast-flowing river a historic monument a housing estate a market square a shopping centre a waterfront restaurant slums

2 Discuss how far you would need to go to see features in Exercise 1 that are not near your school.

3 SPEAKING A city in Spain has banned cars from the city centre. Discuss the possible advantages and disadvantages. Read the text and compare your ideas.

4 1.37 Read the questions and make sure you understand the meaning of the underlined collocations. Then listen to a phone-in programme and answer the questions.

1 How has Ryan's daily commute changed?
It's become more difficult – he can no longer park his car at home.
2 According to Jack, what can a reliable network of buses replace? Cars
3 Where does Sarah want planners to put in cycle lanes?
In the suburbs where she lives.
4 Why is Julia's home town very popular with tourists?
Because it's picturesque and it has a historic centre.
5 Why can't ancient cobbled streets have cycle lanes, according to Julia? They are too narrow.

A SMALL CITY WITH BIG IDEAS

Pontevedra, located on the northwest coast of Spain, is a small city surrounded by rolling hills. The picturesque old town of Pontevedra comes alive at night and the vibrant atmosphere continues well into the early hours.

So far, it sounds like any Spanish city. But this one is different – I'm standing in the city centre and I can't hear any cars!

The mayor of Pontevedra was determined to preserve the historic centre of the city with its bustling squares, Gothic architecture and quaint backstreets and limit urban development.

- In pairs, students take turns to describe a place in their town or region for their partner to guess, e.g. It's a square in the city centre. Every Saturday morning you can go to a bustling market there. There's also an underground station within walking distance. They should use vocabulary

5 SPEAKING Think about your own local town or city. How doable/desirable would it be to ban all cars from the centre?

FOCUS ON WORDS | Prepositions describing location

6 1.38 In your notebook, complete the table with the appropriate prepositions in the box. Then listen, check and repeat.

(at in on within)

1 __on__ the coast the outskirts the border	2 __within__ walking distance easy reach 500 metres
3 __at__ the traffic lights the roundabout the town hall	4 __in__ the city centre the suburbs the park

7 In your notebook, complete the sentences with the prepositions in Exercise 6. Name an example for each sentence. Compare your answers with a partner.

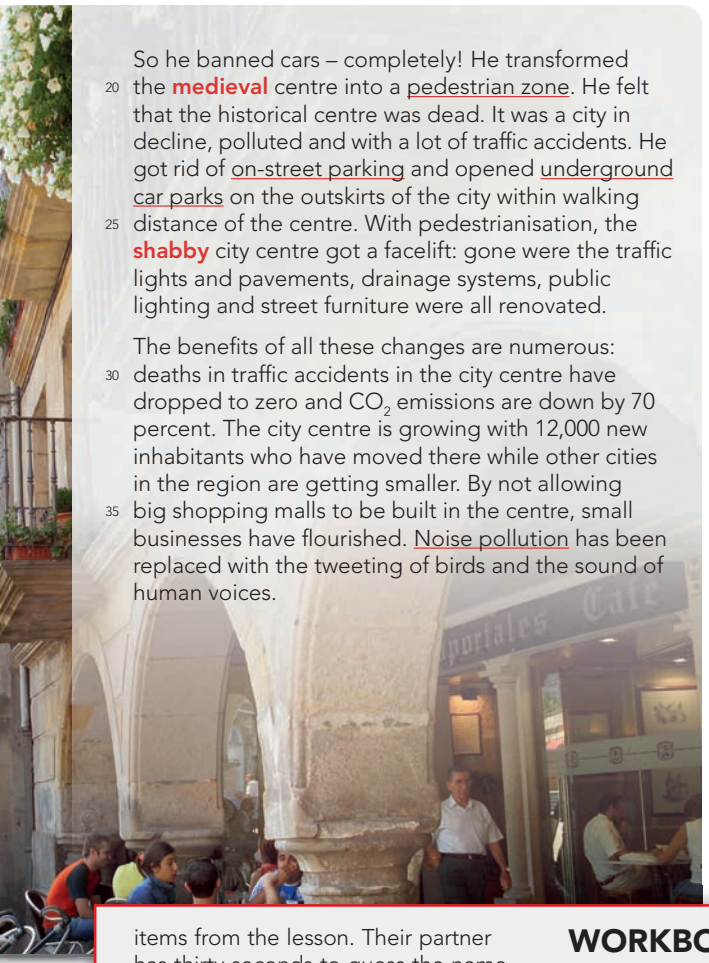
Name …

1 a big city located __on__ the coast.
2 a café __within__ walking distance of where you are.
3 a famous monument __in__ the city centre of your capital city.
4 a town located __on__ the border of your country.
5 a school, a shopping centre or a sports centre located __in__ the suburbs of a nearby city.
6 a park or play area __within__ easy reach of your house.



So he banned cars – completely! He transformed the medieval centre into a pedestrian zone. He felt that the historical centre was dead. It was a city in decline, polluted and with a lot of traffic accidents. He got rid of on-street parking and opened underground car parks on the outskirts of the city within walking distance of the centre. With pedestrianisation, the shabby city centre got a facelift: gone were the traffic lights and pavements, drainage systems, public lighting and street furniture were all renovated.

The benefits of all these changes are numerous: deaths in traffic accidents in the city centre have dropped to zero and CO_2 emissions are down by 70 percent. The city centre is growing with 12,000 new inhabitants who have moved there while other cities in the region are getting smaller. By not allowing big shopping malls to be built in the centre, small businesses have flourished. Noise pollution has been replaced with the tweeting of birds and the sound of human voices.

8 1.39 In your notebook, complete the collocations with the adjectives in red in the text. Then listen, check and repeat.

1 bustling square/market/streets
2 __medieval__ centre/architecture/castle
3 __picturesque__ old town/village/scenery
4 __quaint__ backstreet/town/neighbourhood
5 __shabby__ city centre/building/house
6 __urban__ development/area/space
7 __vibrant__ atmosphere/nightlife/colours

9 SPEAKING Replace the bolded word or phrase in the description of Norwich with an adjective from Exercise 8. Write the answers in your notebook. Would you like to visit Norwich? Discuss with a partner.

1 picturesque, 2 medieval, 3 quaint, 4 bustling, 5 vibrant

NORWICH – a cathedral city

Visit Norwich, one of England's most [1]beautiful cathedral cities. During the middle ages, Norwich was England's second city and there are some spectacular examples of [2]12th–15th century architecture in the city. See the cathedral, of course, but don't miss the [3]nice, old-fashioned backstreets behind it. Norwich is also famed for its huge, [4]busy and noisy open-air food market as well as its [5]exciting nightlife. Less than two hours from the capital, Norwich should definitely become your next destination.

FOCUS ON WORDS | Collocations and compound nouns

10 1.40 In your notebook, complete the collocations and compound nouns with the underlined examples in the text and in Exercise 4. Then listen, check and repeat.

4 home __town__
5 noise __pollution__
6 on-street __parking__
7 pedestrian __zone__
8 reliable __network__
9 rolling __hills__
10 underground __car park__

11 SPEAKING In your notebook, complete the sentences with the appropriate collocations or compound nouns in Exercise 10. Would such measures improve your home town? Discuss with a partner.

1 All __cobbled streets__ should be replaced by smooth modern surfaces like tarmac.
2 __On-street parking__ should be limited to residents only.
3 __Pedestrian zones__ should be for people on foot only. No cycling!
4 There should be more __underground car parks__ to take cars off the street.
5 There should be a lot more __cycle lanes__ to encourage people to use bikes.
6 Anybody causing __noise pollution__ should be heavily fined.

3.2 GRAMMAR

Future forms including the Future Perfect Continuous

I can use a variety of forms to talk about the future.

1 SPEAKING Look at the pairs of sentences and decide which alternative is more likely. Discuss with a partner.

In three years' time …

1 a I'll still be living at home with my parents.
b I won't be living at home with my parents.
2 a I'll have moved to another part of the country.
b I won't have moved to another part of the country.
3 a I'll have been studying at university for a year.
b I won't have been studying at university for a year.

2 Read the GRAMMAR FOCUS and do the task.

1 In your notebook, translate example sentences 1–3 into your own language.
2 Discuss the difference in meaning between the sentences.
3 Look at Exercise 1 and name the future verb forms in blue.

GRAMMAR FOCUS 10

Future forms

- You use the Future Continuous to talk about unfinished actions in progress at a time in the future. It often refers to future events that are fixed or expected.
  1 At 11 a.m. tomorrow, I'll be doing an exam.
- You use the Future Perfect Simple to talk about an action that will be completed before a certain time in the future.
  2 By 11 a.m. tomorrow, I'll have done an exam.
- You use the Future Perfect Continuous to talk about how long an action will have been in progress before a certain time in the future.
  3 By 11 a.m. tomorrow, I'll have been doing an exam for an hour.

3 Read Part 1 of the story about the Franklin family plans. In your notebook, complete the text with 'll, be, been or have. Then discuss the questions.

1 What problems do the children predict?
Mandy: We'll be missing a lot of school. I'll be spending three years in a small place with my untidy brother.
Jake: I'll be practising whenever I can, but it's not easy on a boat.
2 Which child seems more positive about the voyage? Mandy seems more positive.

THE VOYAGE OF A LIFETIME

Part 1

In a few weeks' time, the Franklin family will [1] be embarking on a three-year sailing voyage. We asked the children how they felt about the adventure. Mandy (17) said, 'We'll [2] be missing a lot of school, but I think that by the end of this trip we'll [3] have learnt more than in a classroom. We'll have [4] been travelling for three years and we [5] 'll have seen places with our own eyes. We won't [6] have just read about them in books.'

Mandy had a few worries: 'The worst thing is that I'll [7] be spending three years in a small space with my untidy brother.'

Jake (12) was less keen than his sister: 'By the time we go, I'll have [8] been playing basketball for my school team for two years, and I want to become a professional in the future. I'll [9] be practising whenever I can, but it's not easy on a boat.'

4 In your notebook, complete Part 2 with the correct form of the verbs in brackets. Use the Future Continuous, Future Perfect Simple or Future Perfect Continuous. Would you like to go on a voyage like this? Why?/Why not?

Part 2

Eileen Franklin told us 'We're not in a hurry, so after leaving San Francisco we [1] will be travelling (travel) down the coast of Mexico for a few weeks. After that, we [2] will be sailing (sail) across the Pacific and we [3] will be heading (head) towards Indonesia, our final destination. It's a long voyage, but by the time we leave we [4] will have been planning (plan) for several years, so I think we're as prepared as we can be.'

'Yes,' added Bob. 'And by the time we set off, we [5] will have done (do) everything possible to make this a safe trip: Jake [6] will have improved (improve) his swimming and Eileen [7] will have done (do) an advanced first-aid course. On the boat, we [8] will be using (use) top-of-the-range technology to chart our route. It's the trip of a lifetime, so we [9] won't be taking (not take) any chances!'

5 Read REMEMBER THIS. In your notebook, rewrite questions 1–6 using the Future Continuous to make them more polite.

REMEMBER THIS

You can also use the Future Continuous to make polite enquiries. Compare:
Will you be staying in tonight? = I just want to know. (polite)
Are you going to stay in tonight? = I'd like a decision. (more direct)

1 Are you going home straight after school?
2 Are you doing anything interesting this evening?
3 Who do you plan to see at the weekend?
4 When will you go on your next holiday?
5 Are you going to have a party for your 18th birthday?
6 Do you think you'll leave home permanently before you're 25?

6 SPEAKING Ask and answer the questions you have rewritten in Exercise 5.

3.3 LISTENING

Multiple choice

I can identify specific information in a detailed spoken dialogue about places to live.

1 Match photos A–C with descriptions 1–3. In your notebook, complete the texts with the photo captions.

1 In the Smart home of the future, all appliances will be connected through wireless networking systems. The house and car would use power that is collected through solar panels and stored. C

2 Co-housing is a housing development where each household has a self-contained house or flat. People have the opportunity to eat together and meet regularly in a large communal house. B

3 The Freedom Ship is designed to be twenty-five storeys high. If the concept became reality, it would feature a casino, an art gallery, a park, a shopping centre and accommodation for 80,000 people. It would cost $12 billion to build. A

2 SPEAKING Discuss which house in Exercise 1 you would most/least like to live in. Give reasons for your answers.

3 1.42 Listen to three recordings. In which order are places A–C in Exercise 1 mentioned? B, A, C

LISTENING FOCUS Multiple choice

4 1.42 Listen again. For questions 1–3, choose the correct answer, A, B or C. Write the answers in your notebook.

1 Which statement is an opinion and NOT a fact?
- A Over a third of British people don't know their neighbours.
- B In Denmark, lots of people live in co-housing development.
- C The neighbourly relations at Springhill will be 100 percent better.

2 The speakers think that the Freedom Ship project is
- A unlikely to happen.
- B not big enough for 80,000 people.
- C a good investment opportunity.

3 Choose the most appropriate headline for this news report.
- A SMART HOMES MEAN LESS SHOPPING
- B SMART HOMES SAVE TIME AND MONEY
- C SMART HOMES NEED SMART PHONES

FOCUS ON WORDS | Collocations and compound nouns

Gapped text

I can understand relationships between ideas in a descriptive text.

FOCUS ON WORDS | Describing houses

1 2.3 In your notebook, translate the words and phrases in the box. Use a dictionary if necessary. Then listen and repeat.

The house has …

1 a canvas camp bed = łóżko polowe pokryte płótnem
2 central heating = centralne ogrzewanie
3 an en suite bathroom = prywatna łazienka przylegająca do pokoju
4 a fireplace = kominek
5 a fitted kitchen = kuchnia na wymiar
6 running water = bieżąca woda

The house is …

7 cramped = zatłoczony, ciasny
8 damp = wilgotny
9 draughty = pełen przeciągów
10 inaccessible = niedostępny, nieosiągalny
11 minimalist = minimalistyczny
12 snug = przytulny, zaciszny

2 Copy the table and complete it with the words in Exercise 1. Add six words of your own. Then compare your ideas with a partner.

House of my dreams!	House of my nightmares!
_____	_____

The house of my dreams would be minimalist. There wouldn't be much furniture, but it would have a fireplace. The house of my nightmares …

3 Look at the photo of Zeki and the map. Which words from Exercise 1 might you use to describe his 'house'?
canvas camp bed, cramped, damp, draughty, fireplace, inaccessible, minimalist, snug

4 Read the article and check your ideas in Exercise 3. Then answer the questions.

1 Where does Zeki come from?
2 Who taught him to live in the wilderness?
3 Where is he living at the moment?
4 What is he studying?
5 How does he get to school?
6 Does he miss his friends?
7 What does he like about his lifestyle?
8 What would you like/hate most about Zeki's lifestyle?

Exercise 4

1 The Scottish mountains.
2 His mother/ tribes.
3 In a tipi on the Isle of Skye.
4 Adventure Studies
5 He walks.
6 No, he doesn't. He contacts them every few weeks
7 He likes sitting by the flickering fire, carving in perfect silence, watching the stars through the open tipi door.

I am 16 and live alone in the wilderness

I live alone on the Isle of Skye in a tipi almost impossible to find without detailed directions. It might seem unusual for someone of sixteen, but I love my own company and I'm passionate about preserving wild spaces. I grew up with my mum, Ghillie, and older sister, Yazzie, in a remote and sometimes inaccessible home in the Scottish mountains, using cross-country skis to drag food and supplies to the house.

Mum, a cookbook writer, taught us about possible dangers and how to cope with them, then let us run wild from an early age. [1] B I spent so much time with tribes who rely on the land that this became second nature to me. When I gained a place at the School of Adventure Studies on the Isle of Skye last year, I decided to live in a tipi, practising what I preach.

I sleep on an ancient canvas camp bed my grandfather gave me, with two old army blankets and some skins I tanned myself for warmth. I have an open fire and spend my evenings tanning animal and fish skins, and carving wood. I store clothes and books in an old metal trunk of my mum's – it's covered in stickers from her travels. I wash my clothes in the river and dry them in the wind or in the heat from the fire. I have a bush shower using water from the river.

READING FOCUS Gapped text

5 Read the article again. Which sentences A–E complete gaps 1–4? There is one extra sentence.

A A few people were exhausted and had to be taken off the mountain by the leaders, but I feel comfortable in the mountains and enjoyed the challenge.

B We also travelled abroad regularly, visiting remote tribes and cultures, where we lived for weeks as Mum studied food and recipes to write about.

C I'd like to see more people look after the land and not be scared of getting outside, getting wet, learning how to survive. When my studies are over, I'll move the tent back to Mum's house.

D There's usually some fire left from the previous day, so the fire is soon blazing while I have cereal for breakfast. I collect wood for later in the day, then I wash at the river.

E Eating things in nature is not something to play around with – if you make a mistake, it can be quite a serious one. I sometimes eat too much of something and I get a stomach ache.

I wake at 6 a.m. and get the fire on straight away using flints and steel. [2] D Sometimes I just jump in, especially when there's frost on the ground. When I rush back to the tipi, it's like a sauna. I get my backpack organised, including any food and kit I need for the day, cover the fire to keep it low, but alive and walk thirty minutes to the school. There are twelve of us on the course, of all ages, and we've just finished mountaineering. We're about to start whitewater kayaking.

I've had a few hairy moments. Once I was on the hills, when the weather turned bad and I became disoriented, but thanks to Mum's training, I knew I had to keep a cool head. My classmates and I recently had a two-day test in horrible weather. [3] A However, I'm aware that I need to keep my wits about me and be prepared.

My friends used to love coming to our home and running wild with me, so they are used to the way I live. I hope some of them will visit me soon. People ask if I miss the Internet, but I never used to use it much, or watch television. I am sociable, but I have always enjoyed my own company. I use my mobile every few weeks to catch up with friends and my mum, who I usually see once a month.

What I'm doing isn't everyone's cup of tea, but it makes me happy. [4] C Until then, I'm happiest sitting by the flickering fire, carving a spoon in perfect silence and watching the stars through the open tipi door.

GLOSSARY

tan a skin = garbować skórę carve wood = rzeźbić w drewnie a trunk = kufer flint and steel = krzesiwo (z krzemienia i kawałka stali) blazing = płonący
flickering = migoczący

FOCUS ON WORDS | Idiomatic expressions

6 2.5 Look at the fragments in blue in the text. In your notebook, complete the expressions below. Then listen, check and repeat.

1 be/become second nature to sb
2 enjoy your own company
3 have a hairy moment
4 keep a cool head
5 keep your wits about you
6 not be everyone's cup of tea
7 practise what you preach
8 run wild

7 Look at the idiomatic expressions in blue in the text again. Which of them does Zeki use to describe …

1 … something he was allowed to do as a child? run wild
2 … the reason why he decided to live in a tipi? to practise what I preach
3 … his feelings about being on his own? enjoy my own company
4 … the long-lasting effect that visiting remote tribes had on him? become second nature to me
5 … something that doesn't suit everybody? not be everyone's cup of tea
6 … the state of being alert and prepared for any new situation? keep my wits about me
7 … the ability to stay calm in a stressful situation? keep a cool head
8 … some of the frightening experiences he has had? have a few hairy moments

8 In your notebook, rewrite questions 1–8 by replacing the underlined phrases with the appropriate form of the expressions in Exercise 6.

1 When was the last time you experienced something really frightening or dangerous? had a hairy moment
2 When you were a child, did your parents allow you to behave exactly as you wanted to? run wild
3 Are there times when you like being by yourself more than being with others? enjoy your own company
4 When do you have to be alert and focussed in your daily life? keep your wits about you
5 When was the last time you did something that you advise other people to do? practised what you preach
6 What kind of everyday actions do you do easily without having to think about them? are second nature to you
7 Are you capable of staying calm in stressful situations or do you panic? keeping a cool head
8 Is camping in the wild something that appeals to you? is your cup of tea

9 SPEAKING Ask and answer the questions in Exercise 8 with a partner. Give reasons for your answers.

3.5 GRAMMAR

Quantifiers

I can use a range of different quantifiers.

1 SPEAKING Describe your bedroom to a partner. On a scale of 1–10 (1=extremely tidy, 10=extremely untidy), what score is your bedroom?

2 2.6 Read and listen to Part 1 of a vlog post. Why does the vlogger want to tidy her room?
Because a friend she likes is coming over.

Part 1

Welcome fellow teens to my video blog. Today's vlog is called 'How to tidy your room in ten minutes!' I'm sure all of you know what I'm talking about – your room's a total nightmare. It looks as if a bomb has exploded. There's loads of dirty washing – in fact the whole floor is covered. There's no space anywhere. You have plenty of clothes, but you don't wear half of them because you can't find them. Most of them are in a pile because there are not enough drawers to put them in. You've had a number of opportunities to tidy your room, but you haven't, and now the very cool new friend you like is coming round. Very few of your friends know what a slob you are and you want to keep it like that. You don't have much time, so here are a few speed-cleaning tips.

3 Read the GRAMMAR FOCUS. Then find more examples in blue of rules 1–3 in the text.

all of you = rule 2
no space/much time/a few speed-cleaning tips = rule 1 all of you/most of them/very few of your friends = rule 2 loads of dirty washing/plenty of clothes/a number of opportunities = rule 3

GRAMMAR FOCUS 12

Quantifiers

You can use a wide range of different expressions to talk about quantity.

Countable nouns	Uncountable nouns	Both every, each many a number of*, several a few (very) few both, a couple of*, either neither	much, a great deal of* a little (very) little	all most a lot of*, lots of*, loads of*, plenty of* some no, none of*

1 Use quantifiers without of before nouns: most people
2 Use quantifiers with of before determiner + noun: most of the people, and before pronouns: most of them
3 *Always use these quantifiers with of: a lot of people

Note: all the people and all of the people are possible. You can't use of after no and every. Use none of and every one of.

4 2.7 Read Part 2 of the vlog post. Which options complete it correctly? Listen and check.

Part 2

- Find a laundry basket and put [1]all / each the clothes on the floor into it. Too [2]much / many clothes? OK, get [3]a couple / a few of bin bags and put the rest in there. Then hide [4]both / either of the bags in the wardrobe. If the cool friend sees [5]plenty / either of the bags, just say it's [6]a few / few things you're collecting for charity.
- The whole place smells of snacks, so take [7]every / some half-empty drink and stale half-eaten crisp packet to the kitchen immediately. There's a big difference between messy and disgusting.
- There are [8]a number / several of things that would give the wrong impression, things like your huge pink teddy bear … Hide them.
- Make the bed. There's [9]no / none excuse for an unmade bed.
- Open [10]plenty / all the windows – now!

You're ready!

5 Discuss with a partner in which sentences of is necessary. Write the answers in your notebook. Then make the sentences true for you by using other quantifiers if necessary. Compare your sentences.

1 A couple ___of___ my friends are quite tidy.
2 Some _____ classmates are very untidy.
3 Several _____ people I know share a bedroom.
4 Very few ___of___ my neighbours have big gardens.
5 Many ___of___ the buildings in my street are old.
6 Every _____ room in my house has Wi-Fi.
7 None ___of___ my friends has a TV in their room.
8 Most _____ rooms in my house have paintings on the walls.

6 In your notebook, write three sentences about yourself – two true ones and one false. Use a different word in the box in each sentence.

all couple every little loads lots most none plenty

All of my music is on my phone.

7 Work with a partner. Read your sentences from Exercise 6 to each other. Guess which sentence is false.

Zoe: I can't believe we've both been accepted into the same university!
Amy: Isn't it great? I'm so excited! And we'll be living together.
Zoe: I know. I can't wait!
Amy: What do you think [1] about living in halls of residence? To be honest, I'm not sure.
Zoe: No, me neither. Do you know Jay?
Amy: Yep, why?
Zoe: Well, his brother studies there and he says the halls are really old and noisy. Maybe we ought to just look for a place of our own.
Amy: You're [2] absolutely right.
Zoe: The question is do we want to share with other people. It would probably be cheaper.
Amy: Well yeah, but [3] wouldn't it be better to get our own place? Obviously, it depends how much it costs, but if we could find the right flat at the right price, I think I'd prefer not to share.
Zoe: I know what you mean, but I'm not [4] convinced we'll be able to afford it. Why don't we [5] meet halfway and look for shared accommodation, but in a place where we could have our own rooms?
Amy: I suppose that could [6] work. That way we might even be able to afford something near the university. Given the choice, I'd [7] rather be within walking or cycling distance, and you?
Zoe: Totally. I don't even mind if it's a small room, as long as it's close to the campus.
Amy: That's [8] settled then. So, let's have a look online and see what we can find.

I fully/completely agree.
OK, that's settled then.

5 SPEAKING Read the situation and discuss the questions with a partner.

You and a friend are moving into a flat together for your first year at university. The flat is unfurnished and needs decorating, but you don't have a great deal of money.

- What furniture/household appliances do you think are the most important to buy?
- What colours would you like in the flat (walls, curtains, carpets etc.)?
- Who will get the bigger bedroom?
- Who will do the decorating?

6 SPEAKING Prepare a dialogue in which you discuss the questions in Exercise 5. Try to get what you want, but also be ready to compromise. Use the SPEAKING FOCUS to help you.

7 SPEAKING Practise the dialogue and act it out.

3.7 USE OF ENGLISH

Determiners

I can use* both, each, every, all, whole, another, other, others, each other and one another.

Exercise 1
It's located on a sheep farm in New Zealand.
The tourists loved it.

1 Read a review of the Hobbiton movie set and answer the questions.

- Where is it located?
- What did the tourists think of it?
- Would you like to go there?

A hobbit fan's PARADISE

If you're a fan of the Hobbit movies, you'll love this Hobbiton tour. I was on a family holiday with my parents and my sister in New Zealand. The whole family are fans of the Hobbit movies and we've seen every one of them, so we went to visit the Hobbiton movie set which is located on a sheep farm. It's a popular tourist spot – all the tourists take hundreds of photos, and so did we! There are forty-four Hobbit holes, and I think we visited all of them. Each Hobbit hole is different and has a round brightly painted door. A team of four gardeners keep the village looking neat and tidy. There were two places to eat and drink: The Shire's Rest Café and The Green Dragon Inn, and we stopped at both places! In fact, the tour ended at the Green Dragon Inn. It was exactly like in the film and the whole time we were there, we were expecting Bilbo Baggins to walk in! My sister and I had ginger lemonade. There were other drinks like tea and hot chocolate, but we were really thirsty. Mum and Dad had tea and cookies. Mum was so hungry she wanted another cookie, but we didn't have time.

2 Read the LANGUAGE FOCUS. Copy the table and complete it with the examples in blue from the text.

LANGUAGE FOCUS

all 3 or more things or people	all the [4] tourists	all (of) the tourists	all [5] of them each, every* and *all

- Each, every and all have similar meanings. You use each when you want to emphasise that you are thinking about individual people or things separately.
  Each Hobbit hole had a slightly different door and I took a selfie in front of each one.
- You can use every and all (NOT each) with adverbs like almost, nearly, practically.
  I've visited practically every country in Asia.

all* and *whole

- You can use all (of) the or the whole (of the) to talk about 100 percent of something. You don't use the whole … with plural nouns for this meaning.
  all the tourists NOT ~~the whole tourists~~ all the time and the [6] whole time all the family and the [7] whole family another, other, others, each other* and *one another

- another [8] cookie means 'a different cookie' or 'an additional cookie'.
- other [9] drinks means 'different drinks', but not usually '~~additional drinks~~'. (Use more drinks.)
- the other(s) and the other one(s) refers to the second of two people or things or to the rest of people or things in a group.
  I'll carry this bag. Can you carry the other one?
  I can see Tom. Where are the others?
- each other and one another mean the same thing.
  My sister and I took photos of each other. = She took a photo of me and I took a photo of her.

3.8 WRITING

A 'for and against' essay

I can write a 'for and against' essay using formal language and expressions of concession.

1 SPEAKING Read UK TODAY. How similar or different do you think the situation in your country is?

UK TODAY

Halls of Residence

- Most UK universities provide accommodation for first-year students in university-owned halls of residence, on or near the campus.
- There is often a supervisor, whose job it is to maintain order and support students with everyday issues.
- Rooms in these halls are generally small but private, and in most cases, bills are included in the rental price. Kitchen facilities are usually shared.
- In 2018/19, the average cost of renting a room in halls of residence in the UK was about £140 per week.

2 Read the comments made by first-year university students. Decide if they refer to advantages or disadvantages of living in halls of residence. Then compare with a partner.

1 Freedom! (Ammar – Newcastle) A
2 It's impossible to get any studying done. (Ian – Edinburgh) D
3 I'm exhausted. There are parties every night. (Nick – Hull) D
4 There's a supervisor we can talk to if we have any problems. (Emma – Durham) A
5 Rules, rules, rules! Keep quiet, clean up, no visitors. (Ollie – Oxford) D
6 We all help each other out. I've made so many new friends. (Abigail – Liverpool) A
7 Someone stole my sausages! (Jason – Manchester) D
8 Our halls are on campus. I fall out of bed and into my lectures. (Anahita – London) A
9 My room is OK but it's tiny. (Richard – Nottingham) A/D

3 Read the essay on living in halls of residence. In pairs, discuss which advantages and disadvantages from Exercise 2 the author mentions. Which one is NOT included? Number 5 is not included.

Some university students prefer to live with their families until they graduate and can earn their own living. However, it is also very common for young people beginning university to choose to live together with other students in halls of residence. Although there are several potential downsides to this communal way of living, there are also numerous benefits.

One of the most convincing arguments for halls of residence is that they allow students to experience independent living in a safe place with a strong sense of community. Having never lived alone, most new students appreciate this supportive environment. In the same way, the presence of an official supervisor is likely to be reassuring for students and their parents. Yet another plus is that halls of residence are usually very convenient because they are located on or close to university campuses. This allows residents to save time and money.

Despite these clear advantages, there are also considerable drawbacks. The first downside is that the rooms tend to be very small and bathrooms may sometimes have to be shared. Being full of young people, halls can also be very noisy. This can make them difficult places in which to study. Likewise, parties and late nights are common, and can interfere with students' academic progress. Other minuses are that food can 'go missing' from shared fridges and cupboards, and communal kitchens are often busy, and sometimes dirty.

All things considered, there are pros and cons to living in halls. Certainly, residents need to be self-disciplined in order to successfully balance study and social life. Personally, I imagine the benefits of living closely with other students outweigh the drawbacks.

6 Which options complete the sentences correctly?

1 One of the most (persuasive) / potential arguments for living at home is the amount of money that can be saved.
2 There are also several numerous / (clear) upsides to living independently while at university.
3 The daily commute is one of the drawbacks (of) / for living a long way from the university campus.
4 Living alone, students learn to cook and clean for themselves. On balance / (Equally), they gain experience in managing their money.
5 (All in all) / Personally, there are pluses and minuses to remaining in the family home while at university.

7 Read the LANGUAGE FOCUS and then find two sentences in the essay which express concession.

LANGUAGE FOCUS

Expressing concession

You can increase the variety in your written English by including sentences that express concession.

- Although/Even though* + clause
  Although halls of residence are not always the cheapest option, many students prefer them.*

BRITAIN'S NEW TOWNS

At the end of the 19th century, Sir Ebenezer Howard became renowned for what he called 'garden cities': self-contained communities surrounded by a 'green belt', which would provide the best of city and country living. They were thought to be the answer to the overcrowding of Victorian cities. Letchworth and Welwyn Garden Cities were the only two towns based on his vision, [1] both of them in Hertfordshire, just north of London.

After World War II, the need for inexpensive housing [2] within easy reach of larger industrial towns became an urgent matter. In 1945, the British government created a committee to investigate building new self-sufficient towns. The first wave of new towns were mostly located near to London, [3] every one with its mix of residential development and green space. Later, more new towns were built to cope with housing demand from other major cities including Birmingham and Liverpool. In total, the committee had created 21 new towns by 1970 spread across the [4] whole of England.

And now, more than a century after Howard's manifesto, Britain is facing [5] another housing crisis. According to current demographic trends, by 2050 at least another 10 million people will [6] have moved to Britain. That means that 6 million new houses will need to be built to accommodate all those people.

A MODERN CAVE MAN

People have lived in caves since the dawn of time. But if you're picturing a cold, damp and cramped space, you'll need to think again. [1] C

Why choose to live in a cave?
To begin with, cave houses are affordable, easy to heat in the winter and stay cool in the summer. [2] A Each home is unique and, if you purchase a property which is licensed to be modified, it's easy enough to carve yourself out an extra shelf in the wall or even a whole new room. The largest cave home boasts as many as forty rooms and can be had for as little as 200,000 euros.

You don't need such a spacious cavern to feel the charm of a cave home, however. [3] E Cave houses bring a warmth and cosiness which is a unique selling point for many buyers: sound is gently muffled and the amount of light seems to ignore common logic. Most cave homes face southward to allow for natural light to enter through the windows cut into the rock face. But due to the ingenious layout of many homes and the white walls, light is easily transmitted throughout. In areas further back, modern builders often use a system of ordinary mirrors to reflect natural light around the interior.

Cave dwelling is also surprisingly safe. [4] B Ventilation is important, as a cave home needs to breathe and excess moisture can become problematic and in extreme cases even trigger asthma attacks. Electricity is generally preferred over gas – although when gas fittings are provided, these tend to be closer to the front of the cave for safety reasons.

As cave communities tend to be in small villages, a car is essential for getting around and nightlife is hard to find. Such homes are very much for those who prefer a quiet rural lifestyle, quaint cobbled backstreets and breathtaking views.

A Being carved into stone, their temperature does not fluctuate much, but rather a steady 20 degrees Celsius is maintained throughout the year.
B They are not prone to fires or earthquakes and they do not tend to collapse, however, while deciding to opt for this accommodation, you have to take into consideration a few factors.
C There are a large number of luxurious houses carved into the Andalucian mountains which offer more comfort than you might imagine.
D Despite the fact that cave homes tend to meet most people's initial expectations of living in a cave, some people feel disappointed.
E Even those of a much more modest size seem surprisingly open – there is no sense of being underground or feeling locked up.

4.1 VOCABULARY

Shopping • phrasal verbs • shopping collocations • verb phrases

I can talk about shops and buying clothes.

SHOW WHAT YOU KNOW

1 In your notebook, complete the sentences with for, in, on, to or up. You can use one word twice. Are the sentence true for you? Compare your ideas.

1 I only buy clothes that are reduced or __on__ special offer.
2 I pay more attention __to__ price than fashion.
3 I often buy clothes __in__ charity shops or vintage shops.
4 I buy designer clothes and brands are important __to__ me.
5 I never manage to pick __up__ a bargain in the sales.
6 I look for clothes that are good quality and will last __for__ ages.

2 Think about all the clothes you have in your wardrobe. In your notebook, write sentences with too few, enough and too many.

I have too few smart shirts, enough pairs of jeans, too many T-shirts.

3 SPEAKING Read the FACT FILE. Do you think textile waste is a big problem in your country?

4 Read the rest of the text. In your notebook, mark the six ways to buy clothes responsibly as follows: √ (I do this already), ? (I'm not sure) and ! (it's a good idea).

6 WAYS to buy clothes responsibly

Most young people are on a limited budget, so it's tempting to go bargain-hunting. When you do, you should consider these six ways to shop more responsibly.

1 Shop locally

You may have to pay out a bit more for local brands, but it's good to support local producers. Large international chain stores can sell the latest fashion at bargain prices because they employ people in poor working conditions and pay them low salaries. You can check up on a brand's employment policies and avoid those that have a bad reputation.

2 Support brands that promote ethical values

Not all chain stores are bad! Shop around for stores that encourage recycling. There are new companies that have sprung up with more responsible attitudes and environmentally-friendly policies – these are the shops you should opt for.

3 Make a list

When you go shopping, cut down on impulse purchases by making a list of clothes you really need. Then, when you feel like treating yourself to another T-shirt, pause before you enter your PIN and look at your list. If it's not on the list, don't buy it … or at least ask the shop assistant to put the T-shirt aside while you think about it.

FOCUS ON WORDS | Phrasal verbs

5 2.9 In your notebook, add the correct particle to complete the phrasal verbs in red in the text. Then listen, check and repeat.

1 check up on = find information about
2 cut down on = reduce
3 look out for = look carefully for sth
4 pay out for = spend (a lot of money)
5 put sth aside = reserve
6 send sth back = return
7 shop around = look in many different shops
8 spring up = appear

FACT FILE

- The clothing industry is one of the largest polluters in the world.
- Since 2000, global clothes production has more than doubled. The average person now buys 60 percent more clothes every year.
- We live in a throw-away society! Every year the US generates 15 million tonnes of used textile waste – double the amount twenty years ago.
- The average life expectancy of garments today is less than three years.
- Synthetic fabrics can take hundreds of years to decompose – basically, they're like plastic.

4 Think about how you shop

When you shop online, you may think that you are cutting down on carbon emissions by not travelling to the shops by car or bus. But online shopping can also mean more vehicles on the road for delivery and pick-up when you want to send something back.

5 Choose natural materials

Synthetic fabrics (e.g nylon, acrylic, polyester) are bad news for the environment. Go for organic versions of natural materials. If you buy sportswear, look out for labels that use recycled materials.

6 Go for second-hand goods

If you shop in charity or vintage shops, not only will you reduce your environmental impact, but you'll get something original, unlike the mass-produced products on the high street.

6 In your notebook, replace the underlined word or phrase with the correct form of a phrasal verb in Exercise 5. Then answer the questions about the text.

1 Why is it worth spending more on local brands?
2 Why should finding information about employment policies influence where you shop?
3 Why is it a good idea to look in different shops for places that recycle?
4 Why might you ask a shop assistant to reserve an item for you?
5 Why don't you reduce carbon emissions when you shop online?
6 Why should you look carefully for sports clothes made from recycled materials?

FOCUS ON WORDS | Shopping collocations

7 2.10 In your notebook, complete the collocations with the underlined words in the text. Then listen, check and repeat.

1 bargain price
2 chain store
3 ethical value
4 impulse purchase
5 local brand
6 mass-produced product
7 online shopping
8 responsible attitude
9 synthetic fabric
10 throw-away society

8 In your notebook, complete the statements with your own ideas. Compare your ideas with a partner.

1 My favourite chain store is …
2 A synthetic fabric I am wearing at the moment is …
3 Impulse purchases are not a good idea because …
4 We live in a throw-away society because …
5 The last time I did some online shopping I bought …
6 A shop near here that always has bargain prices is …

FOCUS ON WORDS | Verb phrases

9 2.11 In your notebook, translate the highlighted verb phrases in the text. Then listen and repeat.

1 be on a limited budget = mieć ograniczony budżet
2 enter your PIN = wprowadzić nr PIN
3 go bargain-hunting = polować na okazję
4 have a bad reputation = mieć złą reputację
5 support local producers = wspierać lokalnych producentów
6 treat yourself to sth = zafundować sobie coś

10 In your notebook, complete the sentences with the correct verb form of the verbs in Exercise 9. Are the sentences true for you? Compare with a partner.

1 I'm not good at being on a limited budget.
2 When I get birthday money, I like to treat myself.
3 I agree with the idea of supporting local producers.
4 I can't be bothered to go bargain-hunting.
5 I don't think chain stores care if they have a bad reputation.
6 I'm always very cautious when I enter my PIN in public.

11 SPEAKING Discuss which clothing industry problem is the most serious. Can it be dealt with by e.g. the government? What action could be taken?

12 PROJECT Work in groups. Do some research online into Polish fashion brands. Then prepare a digital presentation and present it to your class.

Exercise 6

1 paying out for (Because it's good to support local producers.)
2 checking up on (Because you can avoid those large chain stores that have a bad reputation due to employing people in poor working conditions.)
3 shop around (Because they have environmentally-friendly policies.)
4 put aside (Because it's worth thinking about it twice before we buy something.)
5 cut down on (There are more vehicles on the road that deliver and pick up goods.)
6 look out for (Because synthetic fabrics are bad for the environment.)

4.2 GRAMMAR

Question tags and reply questions

I can use question tags and reply questions.

1 2.12 Listen to a conversation between Laura and her mum. What is Laura's mum concerned about?
Buying tickets online.
The fact that Laura is wearing her earrings.
Jamie driving.

2 2.12 Read GRAMMAR FOCUS I and complete the examples from the conversation with auxiliary verbs. Then listen again and check.

GRAMMAR FOCUS I ↻15

Question tags

- You normally add a negative tag to a positive statement and a positive tag to a negative statement.
  You know it's risky buying tickets online, [1] don't you?
  He hasn't passed his driving test, [2] ___has___ he?

Special cases:

- I am … ➙ aren't I? Let's … ➙ shall we?
  I'm always careful when I borrow your things, [3] ___aren't___ I?
  Let's go, shall we?
- Negative words such as never, no, nobody, hardly, rarely, etc. ➙ positive tag
  But you never wear them, [4] ___do___ you?
- Imperatives ➙ will/would/can/could you?
  Negative imperative ➙ will you?
  Sit down, will you? (= tell sb to do sth)
  Open the door, would you? (= ask sb to do sth)
  Don't lose them, [5] ___will___ you?
- With everybody, somebody, nobody, etc. use they.
  With something, nothing and this/that use it.
  That's Jamie at the door, isn't it?
  Everybody's having a good time, aren't they?

3 2.13 In your notebooks, complete the conversation between Laura (L) and Jamie (J) with appropriate question tags. Then listen and check. What was Laura concerned about?

J: This is the place. He said he'd meet me at the main entrance.
L: Did he? So why are we waiting at the staff entrance?
J: Oh no, you're right. Come on, we'd better hurry.
L: Let's call him, [1] shall we? You took his phone number, [2] didn't you ?
J: No, but he's got mine. He'll call me, [3] won't he ?
L: Yes – I suppose he wants his cash. Don't lose it, [4] will you ?
J: What cash?
L: For the tickets. You haven't paid him yet, [5] have you ?
J: Yes, I have – I transferred the money to his account online.
L: Did you? Oh, hey, that's him over there, [6] isn't it ?
J: Is it? How do you know?
L: He's holding up a piece of paper with your name on it.

4 2.14 In your notebook, complete some things Jamie said at the concert with question tags. Then listen and check.

1 We can go in now, can't we?
2 Let's get closer to the stage, ___shall we___ ?
3 Look after my coat for a minute, ___would you___ ?
4 This is a great concert, ___isn't it___ ?
5 Everybody's dancing, ___aren't they___ ?
6 Don't forget where we're sitting, ___will you___ ?
7 Excuse me, nobody's seen a silver earring, ___have they___ ?

5 Read GRAMMAR FOCUS II. Find three reply questions in the conversation in Exercise 3.

GRAMMAR FOCUS II ↻15

Reply questions

You use reply questions to react to what somebody has said and to show interest. They usually have rising intonation.

Positive statement ➙ positive reply question
'We're going to a concert.' 'Are you?' ↗
Negative statement ➙ negative reply question
'Beyoncé hasn't played here before.' 'Hasn't she?' ↗

6 In your notebook, write true sentences about yourself based on the prompts. Student A: read your sentences. Student B: react with a suitable reply question.

1 I / need / a new phone.
A: I don't need a new phone. B: Don't you?
2 Dad / give / me money for my last birthday.
3 I / go / shopping recently.
4 I / think / I'm a very lucky person.
5 Mum / usually / do / the shopping online.
6 I / have got / a credit card.

7 In your notebook, write four more true sentences about yourself and read them out. Your partner reacts with a suitable reply question.
A: I'm saving up to buy a laptop. B: Are you?

8 SPEAKING In your notebook, write and act out a dialogue between a teenager and a parent. Use the situations in the box or your own ideas. Include at least five question tags and/or reply questions.

The teenager wants to …

form a band dye their hair pink

4.3 LISTENING

Multiple choice

I can understand the main points of a radio interview about market trading.

1 SPEAKING Read UK TODAY and discuss the questions.

1 Do you have similar types of market in your nearest town or city?
2 When did you last go to a market? What did you buy?
3 Do you sometimes buy things in online auctions?

2 2.15 Listen to an interview on the Shopping Programme. What does Martin do for a living?
Martin buys lost luggage and sells the contents on his market stall.

LISTENING FOCUS Multiple choice

3 2.15 Listen to the interview again. For questions 1–5, choose the correct answer, A, B, C or D. Write the answers in your notebook.

1 This episode of the programme is about
A things that you can buy and sell at airports.
B markets where Martin sells second-hand items.
C the growing number of bags that are lost at airports.
(D) the increased activity in the used goods trade.

2 How does Martin obtain the goods he sells?
A He goes to the market.
B He buys them from the owners.
(C) He makes a bid for them.
D He claims them from the airport.

3 What kind of things can Martin find in the suitcases he buys?
(A) designer clothes
B electrical goods
C rotten food
D shoes

4 Martin is most surprised by
A how many suitcases are lost.
B people who leave the airport without their bag.
(C) one kind of thing people tend to forget.
D why people come to the airport at the last minute.

5 What is Martin's attitude to what he does?
A He sometimes feels uncomfortable about it.
(B) He treats it as just a way to earn a living.
C He considers it quite a risky job.
D He finds it shocking.

FOCUS ON WORDS | Noun phrases

4 2.16 In your notebook, translate the noun phrases below. Then listen and repeat.

1 auction house = dom aukcyjny
2 car boot sale = giełda staroci, giełda rzeczy używanych
3 checked bags = bagaż rejestrowany
4 flea market = pchli targ
5 lost property = zagubiona własność
6 market stall = stragan, stoisko na targu
7 personal belongings = przedmioty osobiste
8 pre-owned goods = przedmioty z drugiej ręki

UK TODAY

Where do British people go to buy and sell second-hand/pre-owned goods?

- Flea markets – Camden market is the biggest one in London. It sells second-hand clothes and reasonably-priced new fashion.
- Antiques markets – London's Portobello Market is located in the fashionable Notting Hill. It specialises in antiques and bric-a-brac (old-fashioned ornaments).
- Car boot sales – Every weekend thousands of people take their unwanted domestic clutter to car boot sales around the country. One person's rubbish is another person's treasure.
- Online auctions – More than 17 million people log on to sites like eBay each month to bid for a bargain.

5 In your notebook, complete the noun phrases in sentences a–c. Can you put the sentences in a logical order to explain what happens to unclaimed lost luggage at Heathrow Airport? c, a, b a Unclaimed lost property goes to auction houses where market stallholders bid for them.

b That's how personal belongings end up as pre-owned goods on market stalls.
c Thousands of checked bags go missing at Heathrow Airport every month.

6 SPEAKING Discuss your ideas about buying pre-owned or second-hand goods. What sort of items would/wouldn't you buy second-hand?

PRONUNCIATION FOCUS

7 2.17 Listen and repeat the words in the box. Then copy the table and put the words in the correct column depending on the vowel sound.

auction boot bought could gone goods lose put rotten stall through watch

1 /ɔː/	2 /ɒ/	3 /uː/	4 /ʊ/

3 2.19 Listen and check your ideas in Exercise 2. In your opinion, which thing on the list is the weirdest?

4 SPEAKING Read the titles of texts A–C and look at the photos. Discuss what you think the texts are about. Then read and check your ideas.

READING FOCUS Matching

5 Read the texts again. Which statements 1–4 match texts A–C correctly? One text has two matching statements.

In which case do people make or raise money …
1 by understanding young people's consumer behaviour? B
2 by getting something different than they paid for? A
3 by appealing to both the rich and the poor? C
4 by using auctions on the Internet and social media? B

FOCUS ON WORDS | Making and spending money

6 2.21 In your notebook, complete the phrases with the base form of the correct verbs in blue in the texts. Then listen, check and repeat.

1 bid for sth in an auction
2 come up for auction
3 fundraise for charity
4 hold an auction
5 increase your earnings
6 make a fortune
7 make a profit

7 In your notebook, replace the underlined phrases with phrases in Exercise 6. Then answer the questions.

1 How much did someone pay for Girl with Balloon when it became available for auction?
2 Who offered money for the artwork and what happened as soon as it was sold?
3 How are young people earning a lot of money?
4 How much money did Scarlett earn on top of what she spent on an on-trend backpack?
5 How does Lydia use social media to make more money from selling online?
6 Which broadcasting organisation collects money for children who need help?
7 As well as organising auctions, what other things do people do for Children in Need?

FOCUS ON WORDS | Being rich and poor

8 2.22 Copy the table and complete it with the base forms of the underlined informal phrases in Text C to the correct column. Then listen, check and repeat.

'RICH'	'POOR'
1 be loaded	5 be broke
2 be rolling with money	6 be short of money
3 be well-off	7 find it hard to make ends meet
4 with money to burn	8 live from hand to mouth

9 In your notebook, complete the sentences and compare with a partner.

1 In my city, people who are rolling in money live in …
2 If I had money to burn, I'd buy …
3 If my friends and I are short of money and we want to go out, we …
4 The government can help families who are living from hand to mouth by …
5 I think people who are extremely well-off should …
6 When I'm broke, I earn some money by …
7 Even if I were loaded, I would never …
8 A good idea to save money if you find it hard to make ends meet is to …

10 SPEAKING Reflect on the three texts and discuss the questions.

1 How do you explain the large sums of money people spend on works of art?
2 At what age is it OK for young people to start making money?
3 Which causes or charities would you like to fundraise for? How would you raise money?

Exercise 7

1 came up for auction (£1.04 million)
2 bid for (The identity of the buyer was unknown. The paining passed through a shredder hidden in the frame.)
3 making a fortune (They resell the products online.)
4 profit did Scarlett make (She earned £60.)
5 increase her earnings (She models the clothes on Instagram.)
6 fundraises (BBC)
7 holding auctions (Schools sell cakes, host quizzes or film nights, ask rich friends' parents to sponsor them.)

PAINTING WORTH MORE AS DAMAGED GOODS

Banksy's famous Girl with Balloon has been voted the UK's best loved work of art. It first appeared as graffiti on a wall in East London and the true identity of the artist has never been revealed. When a framed painting of Girl with Balloon came up for auction at the famous auction house, Sotheby's in London, it sold for £1.04 million. But then something extraordinary happened – shortly after it was sold, the painting began to pass through a shredder hidden in the frame.

Banksy posted an image on Instagram of the shredded painting, saying that he'd secretly built a shredder into the frame of the painting in case it ever came up for auction.

The auction house refused to reveal the identity of the buyer who successfully bid for the artwork, but suggested that the media attention would increase the value of the painting. 'This is now part of art history in its shredded state and we'd estimate Banksy has added a minimum fifty percent to its value.'

GLOSSARY

a shredder = niszczarka

B

TEENS BUILD BUSINESS EMPIRES FROM THEIR BEDROOMS

Enterprising teens are selling stuff online and making a fortune! They're buying popular items from streetwear brands and reselling them on Depop, an auction app aimed at young people. Reselling limited edition goods can earn them up to several thousand pounds a month.

Scarlett was fourteen when she started recycling used clothes by selling them online. 'When I didn't wear something any more, I thought I may as well sell it on,' says Scarlett, now fifteen.

These days she buys products from hyped sports labels with a cult following, from boutiques and clothes markets in London and sells them online. She recently bought an on-trend backpack for £120 and sold it for £180, making her a nice profit of £60.

She finds out which products are in-demand by checking streetwear-focused social media groups. She earns around £100 a month. 'Wherever I go, I look out for products to resell. My dad is always asking what I've sold. He thinks it's cool.'

Seventeen-year-old Lydia also caught the bug for selling clothes online. She spends about two hours a day reselling and makes about £1,000 profit every month. To create more publicity and increase her earnings, she models the clothes on Instagram.

GLOSSARY

hyped = rozreklamowany
a cult following = grono wiernych fanów

C

BBC RAISE MONEY FOR A GOOD CAUSE

BBC Children In Need Telethon is a televised event that fundraises for charity. The Telethon has raised millions of pounds for young people in the UK since it was first broadcast in 1980. The charity supports families who are short of money, or where there's a child with a disability or serious illness. For example, if a family is already living from hand to mouth and they can't afford to buy their disabled child a new wheelchair, Children in Need will step in.

The annual Children in Need Telethon features performances from top entertainers who encourage people to donate money online or on the phone. But it's not only wealthy people with money to burn who donate. Leading up to the telethon, schools all over the UK raise money in different ways: selling cakes, hosting a quiz or film night, holding auctions or simply getting people to guess how many sweets there are in a jar. Another popular way to raise money is to take on a challenge and ask friends' parents – especially those who are rolling in money! – to sponsor them. This means that everyone can contribute, from people who are well-off and can afford to donate, to those who may find it hard to make ends meet themselves, but have raised money in creative ways.

4.5 GRAMMAR

Present and past modal structures

I can give advice, criticise past actions and talk about past necessity.

1 2.23 Listen to James talking to his sister Ellie. What is James's problem?
He hasn't got a present for his girlfriend's birthday yet and doesn't know what to get.

2 2.23 Listen again. What advice does Ellie give? What reasons does she give?

1 You shouldn't / should buy her clothes.
2 With a bracelet, you need to / needn't worry about giving the wrong message.
3 You ought to / ought not to get her concert tickets in advance.
4 You mustn't / must buy her the same perfume as Mum.
5 You had better / had better not ask her friends for advice.

3 SPEAKING Take turns to say the sentences with the affirmative or negative form of the modal structure in brackets. Discuss whether you agree with the advice.

1 You shouldn't (should) leave present buying till the last minute.
2 You _____ (ought to) buy a present unless you are sure about it.
3 You _____ (must) give your credit card details to a stranger.
4 You _____ (need to) check if you can take the item back.
5 You _____ (had better) remember your dad's birthday this year!

4 2.24 Read and listen to a second conversation between James (J) and Ellie (E). Did James choose a good birthday present for his girlfriend? No.

E: How was the birthday?
J: Oh, a bit of a disaster actually. I should have listened to your advice, but I didn't. I got a bracelet. I thought it was such a bargain – €15 for a gold bracelet. I ought to have asked if it was real gold.
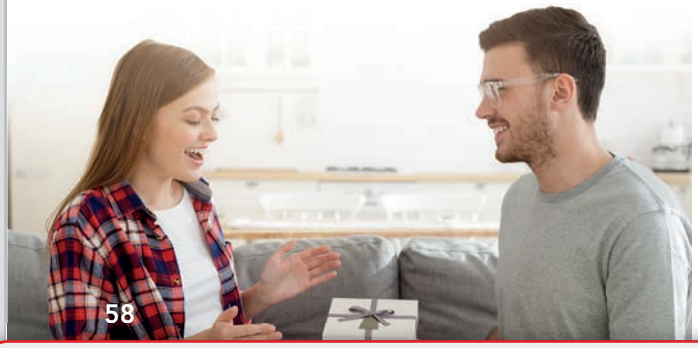
E: You should have realised you couldn't get real gold for €15. But anyway, didn't she like it?
J: She's allergic to metal – she can only wear real gold. She put it on and got a big rash on her arm. We had to go to the doctor's.
E: Oh dear, did you have to take the bracelet back?
J: Yes, but I needn't have bothered. They refused to exchange it because I didn't have the receipt. Here you are – you can have it.
E: Ooh, thanks!



Exercise 2
Reasons:
1 size problems
2 Bracelet doesn't have the same 'meaning' as a ring.
3 In case you split up.
4 Teenagers and mums wear different perfumes.
5 Friends know exactly what she likes.

5 Complete the GRAMMAR FOCUS. Which past model structures in blue in Exercise 4 complete the examples?

GRAMMAR FOCUS 16

Past modal structures

- You can use should/shouldn't have + past participle or ought to/ought not to have + past participle to criticise a past action or show regret.
  I [1] should have listened to your advice.
  I [2] ought to have asked if it was real gold.
- You use had to/didn't have to + infinitive to say a past action was necessary/unnecessary.
  We [3] had to go to the doctor's.
- You can also use didn't need to + infinitive or needn't have + past participle to say a past action was unnecessary.
  There is a difference in meaning:
  *I didn't need to bother = I didn't bother, because it wasn't necessary.
  I [4] needn't have bothered = I bothered, but it wasn't necessary.

6 Which phrase (a or b) has a similar meaning to the underlined words in each sentence?

1 I needn't have revised last night, my exam was cancelled.
(a) I revised. b I didn't revise.
2 I didn't need to buy a phone – I got one from my dad.
a I bought a phone. (b) I didn't buy a phone.
3 I'm tired. I should have gone to bed earlier last night.
a I went to bed early. (b) I didn't go to bed early.
4 I ought not to have spent so much money yesterday.
(a) I spent a lot. b I didn't spend much.
5 It's a lovely day. I needn't have brought my coat.
(a) I brought my coat. b I didn't bring my coat.

7 USE OF ENGLISH In your notebook, complete the second sentence so that it has a similar meaning to the first. Use no more than four words, including the word in capitals. Do not change the word given.

1 It's a pity we didn't stay at home. SHOULD
We should have stayed at home.
2 It's a shame he didn't tell her. TO
He ought to have told her.
3 It was unnecessary to do what he said. HAVE
You didn't have to do what he said.
4 That was a silly thing for me to say. SHOULD
I shouldn't have said that.
5 It wasn't necessary for her to come. BOTHERED
She needn't have bothered coming.

8 2.25 Listen to three conversations. Which sentence from Exercise 7 completes each conversation best?
A 1 B 4 C 5

9 SPEAKING Choose a sentence from Exercise 7 and write your own conversation. Then practise and act out your conversation.

Money-saving teen Jordon Cox: From blogging to Berlin

Teenage blogger Jordon Cox claims he was able to save £7.72 on his train journey from Sheffield in the north of England to Essex in the South East of England – by taking a plane via Berlin. He was supposed to be getting the train from Sheffield to Essex, but found that it was cheaper to fly from Sheffield to Berlin and from Berlin to Essex. He then blogged about his journey on his money-saving blog, and immediately gained 7,000 Twitter followers.

So how did Jordon become an expert in saving money? His story started when his father and mother split up. This meant that he and his mother were obliged to live on much less money. Jordon wasn't allowed to work because he was too young, and consequently, they were unable to go out and enjoy the kind of things they used to do, such as going out for meals or trips.

Then Jordon saw a programme on TV called 'Extreme Couponing' – the reality TV series follows shoppers who are required to buy the most shopping for the least money by using money-off vouchers or coupons. Jordon was inspired by the programme and that week he went out and succeeded in saving £10 on shopping.

Once he had started saving money, Jordon decided to share his tips on a Facebook page. One of his most impressive 'shopping trips' was when he managed to acquire shopping worth £500 for 4p, giving it all away to a charity for disadvantaged families. A few months later he was running money-saving seminars.

A few years ago, Jordon thought he was likely to go to university when he was eighteen, but now he's happy to have a job and financial security and is planning to continue spreading his money-saving message. He thinks that if he saves for three years, he is sure to have enough to buy a house. Not bad for a teenager!

Exercise 2
1 By plane via Berlin because it was cheaper than the train.
2 Because they were obliged to live on much less money after Jordan's father and mother split up.
3 A TV programme.
4 Because he likes his job and he's got financial security.
5 A house.

Modal expressions

As well as using modal verbs, you can express modality with adverbs (perhaps, etc.), adjectives or participles (she's sure to, he's obliged to, etc.) or with other verbs (we managed to, etc.)

MODAL VERBS	ALTERNATIVE STRUCTURES
1 probability can, could, may, might, must	be [1] likely/be unlikely to do/that … be bound to do … be [2] sure to do … be certain to do …
2 ability can, can't, could	be [3] able /be [4] unable to do … [5] manage to do … [6] succeed in doing …
3 permission can, could, may	be allowed to do … be permitted to do …
4 prohibition can't, couldn't, may not, shouldn't, mustn't	not be [7] allowed to do … be forbidden to do/from doing … be banned from doing …
5 obligation should, must	have to do … need to do … ought to do … be [8] obliged to do … be [9] required to do … be [10] supposed to do … be meant to do …

4 Which structures are more likely in these sentences? In your notebook, translate the sentences. Then tick the ones that are true for you and compare with a partner.

1 My parents succeed in / are banned from using my phone under any circumstances.
2 I'm supposed/ certain to change passwords regularly when I shop online, but I don't.
3 I can't find my wallet, but it's bound/ permitted to turn up sooner or later.
4 I managed/ was likely to save up for a new phone recently. I'm ordering one tomorrow.
5 My mum says I'm allowed/ required to use her credit card to buy things online.

5 USE OF ENGLISH In your notebook, rewrite the sentences. Replace the underlined structures with an alternative including the word in capitals.

1 My online delivery is late. It should be here by now. MEANT
My online delivery is late. It's meant to be here by now.
2 Janet couldn't persuade her parents to lend her any more money. SUCCEED didn't succeed in persuading
3 Terry should have called me last night, but he forgot. SUPPOSED was supposed to call
4 Everybody must show their ID when they open a bank account. REQUIRED is required to show
5 Tom will probably waste all his money on new clothes. You know what he's like. BOUND is bound to waste
6 You can spend up to €100 a day on this store card. PERMITTED are permitted to spend

6 In your notebook, complete the dialogue between Ron (R) and Eve (E) with a different word in each gap. In some gaps, more than one answer is possible.

R: Let's go and have a coffee.
E: I can't afford it! You know me – I never [1] manage to get to the end of the week without spending all my pocket money.
R: What happens if you need [2] to buy something big like a jacket or a new phone?
E: I've got my savings. My parents give me 10 euros a week, but I'm not [3] supposed/allowed to spend all of it. I [4] have/need to put 30 percent into a savings account. Then, I'm [5] able/supposed/allowed to use the money I've saved for those things.
R: So what about money you earn doing babysitting?
E: I [6] 'm supposed to save thirty percent of everything I earn, but recently I've been lending it all to my sister. She wants a new phone, but my parents have [7] forbidden/banned her from using her savings because she lost the last one. She loses things a lot. If she gets a new phone, she's [8] sure/likely/certain/bound to lose it quickly.
R: So it's a waste of money!
E: Not for me – she's paying me interest on the loan!

A formal email

I can describe an incident and make a complaint about it in writing.

1 SPEAKING Would you hang out with your friends in the places mentioned in the box? Why?/Why not? Discuss with a partner.

coffee shop empty building park fast-food restaurant shopping centre

2 Read Rachel's post on the Youth City News (YCN) website. Do you think he and his friends were treated unfairly? What is the advice given by the YCN?
YCN says Rachel can write to the centre management and explain the situation.

3 Read Rachel's email below and answer the questions.

1 Are the main events described in the email the same as those in Rachel's message to YCN? Yes.
2 How does the style of the email differ from the style of the message? The email is more formal.
3 How do you think the Centre Manager will react?

Dear Sir or Madam,

I am writing on [1] behalf of myself and my friends to [2] draw your attention to an incident that took place at the Queen Plaza Shopping Centre last Saturday. I would like to [3] make a formal complaint about the way we were treated by staff at the centre.

Last Saturday, some friends and I met in the centre at Plaza Café. We were having some drinks and enjoying ourselves when the manager of the café approached our table and accused us of being too noisy. When we tried to reason with him, he immediately called security. A moment later, two guards arrived and forced us to leave the café and the shopping centre. To make [4] matters worse, they threatened to call the police and told us not to return in the future.

We are particularly upset because the [5] truth/fact is we were no noisier than some of the other people in the café. To be honest, we are amazed that the centre security guards are allowed to treat customers in this way. Without doubt, the worst [6] part of this whole incident was being thrown out of the busy shopping centre like criminals. We were so humiliated that we decided to contact you and complain.

As the manager of the centre, we [7] urge you to reconsider your policies towards teenage customers. It is simply unfair to discriminate against young people in this way. We have contacted the local media about the incident and look forward to your response.

Yours faithfully,
Rachel Seaborne

Got comments? Need advice? This is the place …

Rachel

Last Saturday, my friends and I were kicked out of Queen Plaza Shopping Centre for … no good reason! We were having a coffee in Plaza Café when the manager came over and told us to be quiet. We honestly weren't being that loud and my friend said this to the manager. Next thing, two security guards arrived and told us to leave or they'd call the police! They walked us to the exit and told us not to come back. It was so embarrassing and a total overreaction. What can we do?

YCN

If you really weren't disturbing anyone, then it does seem unfair, Rachel. Why don't you write to the centre management and explain the situation? Be sure to let us know their reaction.

  The truth/fact is (that) …
  Without (a) doubt, the worst part of this whole incident was …
  … I/we decided to contact you and complain.

Conclusion

- Say what you would like to happen.
  I/We urge you to (reconsider your policies …)
  I/We ask/demand that you (investigate the matter …)
- Make a final statement.
  It is simply unfair to discriminate against young people in this way.
- Mention that you expect a reply.
  I/We look forward to your response.

EXTRA ACTIVITIES

- Photocopiable resource 27 A formal email (15 min.) pp. 294, 333
- After ex. 1, students discuss what kind of problems they might experience when they hang out with friends in the places in the box. Give feedback with the whole class.

WORKBOOK

pp. 62–63, including Show What You've Learnt and Show That You've Checked

NEXT CLASS

Ask students to study the Word list on pp. 64–65.

5 In your notebook, complete the sentences with the appropriate words or phrases in purple from the email. Use the definitions in brackets to help you.

I am writing to complain about an incident that [1] took place (happened) last night at Skybowl bowling alley.

a We told her we had paid and tried to [2] reason with her (persuade her to be more sensible).

b She [3] accused us (said that we had done something bad) of trying to leave without paying for our drinks.

c My friends and I had finished our game and were about to leave when a waitress [4] approached (came towards) us.

d All the other customers heard her shouting and we felt really [5] humiliated (ashamed or embarrassed).

e However, she started shouting at us and [6] threatened (promised to do something bad) to call the police.

In the end, the manager checked the computer and found that it was the waitress's mistake. The worst part of this whole event was that nobody apologised.

6 Put sentences a–e in Exercise 5 in order to form an extract from an email. c, b, a, e, d

7 SPEAKING Read the LANGUAGE FOCUS. In your notebook, complete the questions with so or such a/an/Ø (no article). Then ask and answer in pairs.

When was the last time …

1 you were ___so___ angry that you shouted at someone?
2 you had ___such a___ good time hanging out with your friends that you didn't want the day to end?
3 you felt ___so___ humiliated that you went red in the face?
4 you received ___such___ terrible service that you complained or told someone else about it?
5 you had to deal with ___such___ rude people that you felt offended?

LANGUAGE FOCUS

Expressing cause and result

You can make your writing more varied by using so/such and that* clause to give information about a cause, and link it to a result:

- so* + adjective + that clause
  We were so humiliated that we decided to contact you and complain.
- such* + a/an/Ø + (adjective) + noun + that clause
  It was such a humiliating situation that we decided to contact you and complain.

8 You are going to write an email of complaint about an incident. Imagine you experienced one of the situations described below. In your notebook, make notes about:

- The details of the incident (what happened and how you felt/reacted)
- What you want the manager (of the place/company) to do.

1 A bus driver refused to let you and four friends onto a bus late at night.
2 You and your friends were asked to leave the cinema after a member of staff accused you of throwing popcorn around.
3 You were leaving a supermarket when the security alarm went off. The security guards were very aggressive towards you when they searched you.

SHOW WHAT YOU'VE LEARNT

9 Do the writing task in your notebook. Use your notes the Exercise 8, the WRITING FOCUS and the LANGUAGE FOCUS to help you.

Potraktowano cię niesprawiedliwie w jednej z sytuacji opisanych w ćwiczeniu 8. Napisz e-mail ze skargą do kierownictwa osoby, która nieodpowiednio się zachowała. Opisz zaistniałą sytuację i przedstaw, czego oczekujesz w ramach rekompensaty.

Wypowiedź powinna zawierać od 200 do 250 słów i spełniać wszystkie wymogi typowe dla formy wskazanej w poleceniu.

chain making meet pre-owned sales support taking

It seems that anywhere you go in the world now, you see the same brand names and the same [1] chain stores selling familiar goods. An increasing number of people, however, are turning to alternatives, such as avoiding the big brands to [2] support local independent shops or seeking out unique [3] pre-owned goods at auctions or car boot [4] sales. Buying and selling second-hand goods is no longer just for those who find it hard to make ends [5] meet. For many, selling their unwanted belongings online is a way of reducing waste as well as [6] making a bit of a profit.

BAR CODE

You may have never heard of Joe Woodland or Bernard Silver, but you [1] ___ to come across their groundbreaking invention on a daily basis – the bar code.

While studying engineering, Woodland and Silver were approached by a retail food company and asked to find ways to automate checkout operations. They [2] ___ design a bar code in the shape of a bull's eye. It meant that employees no longer [3] ___ manually input prices for every single product at the checkout neither were they [4] ___ replace price tags whenever an item's cost changed. Even though the idea didn't catch on at first, the food industry didn't give up looking for an easy way to scan products. Finally, an IBM employee, George Laurer, [5] ___ designing the bar code we're all familiar with today as a rectangular box with vertical lines and numbers. The first ever item was scanned on 26th June 1974. It was a pack of chewing gum, which is now a museum exhibit, together with the scanner used.

Nowadays, you [6] ___ to come across everything from food to furniture branded with a bar code. It has even become a feature in some modern paintings.

5.1 VOCABULARY

Work • expressions to do with work • phrasal verbs • adjectives from nouns

I can talk about work and employment.

SHOW WHAT YOU KNOW

1 In your notebook, complete the sentences with the correct form of work (noun or verb) or job (noun).

1 Brenda has a part-time/manual/well-paid job .
2 Tom works from home/long hours/with his hands.
3 Amy has done a lot of hard/voluntary/office work over the years.
4 Luca works outdoors/in advertising/abroad.
5 Hal applied for/got fired from/resigned from a job in sales.

2 SPEAKING Think about three people with different jobs that you know. Tell your partner about them using the structures in Exercise 1 and your own ideas.

3 Read a summary of some ideas from a book called Eat that Frog! by Brian Tracy. What does eat that frog mean according to the author?

4 SPEAKING Discuss the questions about the summary.

1 How good are you at time management and getting things done?
2 Which tips describe things you do or would consider doing?
3 Why do you think it is important to 'eat that frog'?

EAT THAT FROG!

You're almost at the end of school and close to going on to further education or entering the job market. In his book, Eat that Frog!, time management expert Brian Tracy outlines some simple tips to help you reach your full potential and stop you burning out.

1 EAT THAT FROG

Imagine the scenario – you've taken up a new job or started a new course, but you're overworked. You've got so many things to do. Your frog is your biggest, most difficult and important task, the one you're most likely to put off until later. Make sure it's the first job you do, and keep at it until it's done.

2 WRITE DOWN YOUR GOALS

Set out your objectives. Make a list of ten goals you'd like to achieve in the next twelve months. If you could only achieve one goal, which one would have the most positive effect on your life? Focus on that objective first and get down to work straight away.

FOCUS ON WORDS | Expressions to do with work

5 2.29 In your notebook, complete the phrases in red in the text with the correct verb. Then listen, check and repeat.

1 achieve a goal
2 ___do___ sth day in, day out
3 ___enter___ the job market
4 ___improve___ your career prospects
5 ___increase___ your output
6 ___put___ your heart into sth
7 ___reach___ your full potential
8 ___speak___ your mind
9 ___think___ for yourself
10 ___work___ to a deadline

6 In your notebook, replace the underlined phrases with the phrases in Exercise 5. Then answer the questions about the text.

1 How can this book help you to become as good as you can be?
2 Of all the objectives you'd like to fulfil, which one should you pursue first?
3 How can you make yourself twenty-five percent more productive?
4 What can help when you have a time limit to do something?
5 How can you make your employment possibilities better?
6 What do you need to do over and over until it becomes second nature?
7 What specific things should you put a lot of effort into?

3 WRITE A TO-DO LIST

Get organised. Before you get on with your work, if you take ten minutes to map out exactly how you will spend your time, you can increase your output by twenty-five percent. Planning can save you time especially when you're working to a deadline.

4 DEVELOP THE RIGHT HABITS

Improve your career prospects by observing what successful people do. Imitate their behaviour: be punctual, think for yourself, speak your mind. Do these things day in, day out until they become second nature. Then you'll be on your way to becoming a successful person, too.

5 GET BETTER AT WHAT YOU DO

Commit to taking on new challenges, picking up new skills and reading about your future profession. The more knowledgeable and skilled you become, the faster you will carry out the tasks at hand. Identify what you're good at and then put your heart into doing those specific things very, very well.

6 MOTIVATE YOURSELF

Always be enthusiastic and purposeful. Try to be conscientious and get the job done – imagine you have to go away for a month and then work towards finishing the job before you leave.

7 REMEMBER – EAT THAT FROG!

Do the hard things first. Focus on the important tasks. Be single-minded. Just do it!

FOCUS ON WORDS | Phrasal verbs

7 2.30 In your notebook, match the underlined phrasal verbs in the text with their definitions. Then listen, check and repeat.

1 become ill because of hard work = burn out
2 do/complete a task = ___carry out___
3 start doing sth = get down to 4 continue doing sth = ___keep at___ 5 plan sth in detail = map sth out
6 not do sth till later = ___put sth off___
7 arrange or describe sth = ___set sth out___
8 do things to make progress = work towards

8 SPEAKING In your notebook, complete the sentences with the most appropriate phrasal verb in brackets and the pronoun it. Discuss which sentence, a or b, is most like you and whether you should change your habits.

1 When I have English homework, …
   a I put it off till the last minute. (burn out/put off)
   b I get down to it as soon as I can. (get down to/keep at) 2 When I have an English essay to do, …
   a I brainstorm ideas and ___map it out___ carefully before writing. (carry out/map out)
   b I start writing immediately and ___keep at it___ until it's finished. (keep at/set out)
3 When I have an English exam coming up, …
   a I make a revision plan and ___carry it out___ carefully. (carry out/put off)
   b I work towards it immediately by doing old exam papers. (burn out/work towards)

FOCUS ON WORDS | Adjectives from nouns

9 2.31 In your notebook, complete the table with the adjectives in the text. Then listen, check and repeat.

NOUN	ADJECTIVE
1 conscientiousness	conscientious
2 enthusiasm	enthusiastic
3 knowledge	knowledgeable
4 overwork	overworked
5 punctuality	___punctual___
6 purpose	___purposeful___
7 single-mindedness	single-minded

10 SPEAKING In your notebook, complete the statements with an appropriate noun or adjective in Exercise 9. Then discuss whether you agree and say why.

1 ___Overwork___ is unhealthy. It causes stress.
2 It is a sign of respect to be ___punctual___ and not to waste other people's time.
3 Single-minded people have the gift of extreme focus. They become successful more often.
4 Knowledge is power. A good education is important.
5 At work, people with a sense of ___purpose___ are motivated and optimistic about the future.

11 PROJECT Work in groups. Do some research online into apps that help you develop the right habits and/or be more productive. Then prepare a digital presentation and present it to your class.

Exercise 6

1 reach your full potential (The books gives you some simple tips.)
2 the goals you'd like to achieve (The one that would have the most positive effect on your life.)
3 increase your output by twenty-five percent (By mapping out exactly how you will spend your time.)
4 are working to a deadline (Planning can help.)
5 improve your career prospects (By observing what successful people do.)
6 do day in, day out (Be punctual, think for yourself, speak your mind.)
7 put your heart into (The things you are good at.)

5.2 GRAMMAR

Reported Speech

I can use Reported Speech, making appropriate grammatical changes.

1 2.32 SPEAKING Listen to some people being interviewed for the jobs shown in photos 1–3. Would you employ them? Why?/Why not?

2 2.32 Read the reports of the interviews in Exercise 1. In your notebook, rewrite the underlined parts in Direct Speech. Then listen again and check.

1 We asked the candidate to tell us about his weaknesses. He told us that he wasn't a morning person. In fact, he said he had struggled to get up that morning. He said he would like to start work after lunch.
A: Tell us about your weaknesses .
B: I'm not a morning person. In fact, I struggled to get up this morning. I'd like to start work after lunch .

2 In the interview, we said it was a pity that they hadn't had any experience of restaurant work. They told us not to worry and that they were very good at eating. That was why they thought they should get the job.
A: It's a pity that you haven't had any experience of restaurant work .
B: Don't worry. We're very good at eating .
C: That 's why we think we should get the job .

3 In the current interview, we've just asked the candidate whether she likes the job she has now. She says she doesn't because she has to answer the phone a lot, and she hates that.
A: Do you like the job you have now ?
B: No, I don't because I have to answer the phone a lot and I hate that .

3 Read the GRAMMAR FOCUS. Then look at the way the Direct Speech is reported in Exercise 2 and find examples for each rule.

GRAMMAR FOCUS 20

Reported Speech

When you report someone's words, remember these rules:

- You usually move the verbs 'one tense back' when your reporting verb is in a past tense (She said …).
- You don't change the verb form if your reporting verb is in a present tense (She says … or He has told me …).
- You don't change verbs in the Past Perfect or modal verbs such as would, should, could, might or must.
- You change pronouns, possessive adjectives and words for time and place if necessary.
- You change the word order in questions and don't use do, does or did.
- You use the to + infinitive to report orders, suggestions, requests and promises.

4 Harry is preparing for a job interview. In your notebook, report his parents' comments. Do not change the tense if it isn't necessary.

1 'You didn't prepare well enough for your last interview.' They said (that) he hadn't prepared well enough for his previous interview.
2 'You'll never get a job if you don't have your hair cut.' They said _____ .
3 'You forgot to clean your shoes last time and they always look at shoes.' They said _____ .
4 'You should buy a new suit.' They said _____ .
5 'You mustn't drink too much coffee beforehand because you'll be nervous.' They said _____ .
6 'Don't worry if you don't get it. Something better might come up.' They've told him _____ .

5 SPEAKING In your notebook, report these interviewers' comments. Do not change the tense if it isn't necessary. Which comments would you be happy with/worried about? Why?

1 'Did you write this CV?' They asked me whether/if I had written that CV.
2 'Don't call us, we'll call you.' They told me not to call them. They would call me .
3 'I'll be contacting your references tomorrow.' He says he'll be contacting my references tomorrow .
4 'Will you be available to start here next month?' They've asked me whether/if I'll be available to start there next month .
5 'You're exactly the person we're looking for.' She says I'm exactly the person they're looking for .
6 'Could we give you some advice?' They asked me whether/if they could give me some advice .

6 SPEAKING In your notebook, complete the reported statements to make them true for you.

1 The last time my friends gave me good advice, they told me _____ .
2 My friend annoys me when he/she tells me _____ .
3 I think I'm pretty good/bad at English. My teacher says _____ .
4 I heard something interesting recently. Somebody told me _____ .
5 I don't know what I want to do when I leave school. My parents say _____ .
6 The last person who spoke to me was _____ . He/She said _____ .

FOCUS VLOG 21 About job interviews

2.33 Listen to the Focus Vlog. What kind of questions did the speakers get during their job interviews? Were any of the questions unusual? Write the answers in your notebook.

5.3 LISTENING

Matching; answering questions

I can identify details that support a point of view in an interview about jobs.

1 SPEAKING Discuss which category (A–C) each job in the box belongs to. Think of three more jobs for each category.

actor A artist A body-part maker C dentist A factory worker B fire fighter A lawyer A office worker B politician A robot mechanic C shop assistant B teacher A solar panel engineer A space tourist guide C wind turbine technician A writer A

A jobs that will always be needed
B jobs that are at risk
C jobs of the future

2 2.34 Listen to an interview with a data analyst. Compare his findings with your ideas in Exercise 1.

3 2.34 In your notebook, complete the sentences with the words in the box. Then listen again and check.

constant decline marked rise sharp

1 There's been a steady ___rise___ in people working from home.
2 There's been a ___sharp___ drop in the number of people commuting to work.
3 The need for jobs in the medical and teaching professions will remain ___constant___ .
4 There will be a ___marked___ increase in jobs connected with alternative energy.
5 There will be a gradual ___decline___ in jobs in retail, offices and factories.

FOCUS ON WORDS | Phrases describing change

4 2.35 In your notebook, match the letters A–E on the graph with their descriptions 1–5 in the box. Then listen, check and repeat.

1 a sharp/marked rise/increase (in) C
2 a steady/gradual rise/increase (in)/a growing number of E
3 remain constant/be unchanged D
4 a steady/gradual drop/decline (in) B
5 a rapid/sharp drop/decline (in) A

5 SPEAKING Use phrases in Exercise 4 to describe trends in your country. Think about the ideas in the box.

cycling to work/school shopping online studying English cost of going out getting married in your 20s living alone using plastic bags

LISTENING FOCUS Matching

6 2.36 Listen to four people talking about their jobs. Which statements A–E match speakers 1–4? There is one extra statement.

Speaker 1 B
Speaker 2 E
Speaker 3 A
Speaker 4 D

The speaker
A is concerned about one group of his/her clients.
B says that technology has replaced parts of the jobs in his/her industry.
C believes that it's better to do an apprenticeship than go to university.
D has a hobby that has taught him/her skills that are relevant for his/her job.
E thinks technology might have a further positive impact on his/her job.

7 2.36 Listen again and answer the questions.

1 Why are law firms now offering apprenticeships?
2 How have dental patients benefited from medical advances?
3 Why is it useful to have good interpersonal skills as a shop assistant?
4 What qualifications and skills do you need to be a wind turbine technician?

8 SPEAKING Discuss the questions about the future of work.

1 What other jobs or careers do you think are stable? Which ones are at risk?
2 What are the advantages of working from home compared to commuting to work?
3 What kind of qualifications and skills do you think you'll need for the future?

PRONUNCIATION FOCUS

9 2.37 Listen and repeat the words said as nouns and as verbs. In your notebook, mark the stress. Which pairs have different stress patterns?

~~contract~~ export import increase market recruit review target

a contract/to contract an export / to export an import / to import an increase / to increase a market / to market a recruit / to recruit a review / to review a target / to target

10 Take it in turns to practise the words in Exercise 9. Decide whether your partner is saying a noun or a verb.

Exercise 7

1 So that trainees can earn a salary while training.
2 There's less pain.
3 To handle difficult customers.
4 A two-year course in applied science; to be good with your hands and to have some experience of mechanics.

5.4 READING

Multiple choice

I can find specific information in a long text.

1 SPEAKING Discuss the questions.

1 As a child, how did you use to answer this question? What do you want to be when you grow up?
2 How would you answer this question now?
3 Is it better to have one or many passions? Why?

2 Look at the title of the blog post. What do you think it is about? Read and check your ideas.

READING FOCUS Multiple choice

3 Read the post again. For questions 1–5, choose the correct answer, A, B, C or D. Write the answers in your notebook.

1 The writer thinks that as we get older we
A tend to lose our imagination.
B find it impossible to make decisions.
C could benefit from career counselling.
(D) are expected to choose a specialisation.

2 In the paragraph beginning 'But what happens …', the writer suggests that
A everybody should find a passion and stick to it.
B people refuse to choose a career on purpose.
(C) people are concerned if they can't identify their vocation.
D you will never succeed in life unless you find your niche.

3 In the modern workplace, people
A that are curious stay in the same profession.
B can't decide what they want to do.
(C) are taking responsibility for how they work.
D have fewer opportunities than their parents.

4 In the paragraph beginning 'Reflecting the needs …', the writer shows that
A the workplace is in need of modernisation.
(B) the traditional working day is being transformed.
C part-time workers are able to do several jobs equally well.
D freelancers can choose to be employed or independent.

5 While outlining the characteristics of generalists, Emilie Wapnick does NOT describe them as people who can
A undertake unfamiliar tasks.
B acquire new skills and knowledge.
C come up with original solutions to problems.
(D) work in several roles simultaneously.

FOCUS ON WORDS | Choosing a career

4 2.39 In your notebook, match the words in blue in the text with their definitions. Then listen, check and repeat.

1 advice from career experts = career guidance
2 a series of jobs in the same profession = career path
3 a person who gives advice = counsellor
4 work hours that are not fixed = flexitime
5 a person who is self-employed = freelancer
6 one work role carried out by two people = job-sharing
7 a person who doesn't work full-time = part-timer
8 do well and be successful = thrive
9 people who work = workforce
10 the place where you work = workplace

5 In your notebook, complete the comments with words and phrases in Exercise 4.

Sandra, 16

Thanks for this post. I can see now that my problem is that I'm a jack of all trades and master of none! At school I had [1]career guidance, but it didn't help me at all. I still don't know what to do at college.

Robert, 18

I agree. The [2]counsellors don't really help. It would be more helpful to have counselling once we have some experience and can visualise our future [3]career path more clearly.

Marta, 16

I was really interested in what you're saying about the modern [4]workplace being more flexible. I think [5]job-sharing is a great idea – you just have to make sure that communication is really good between both people doing the job.

Paula, 17

Maybe, but I think it's better to work for a big organisation if you want to [6]thrive in your career. I don't think you can ever feel like an important part of the workforce if you're a self-employed [7]freelancer.

James, 17

I don't think I could do the same job day in, day out, even if they had [8]flexitime in place of rigid nine to five hours. But I can see myself working as a [9]part-timer in several different jobs.

6 SPEAKING Discuss whether you have similar or different opinions to the people in Exercise 5.

FOCUS ON WORDS | Verb–noun collocations

7 2.40 In your notebook, complete the underlined verb–noun collocations in the blog post with the correct verb. Translate them. Then listen, check and repeat.

1 be in charge
2 be wired differently
3 find your niche
4 focus on your strengths
5 have one true calling
6 have a vocation
7 lack purpose

8 SPEAKING In your notebook, complete the sentences with collocations in Exercise 7. Discuss which sentences are true for you.

1 I wouldn't say I lack purpose. I'm just keeping my options open.
2 My sister/brother and I are wired differently – it's incredible to think we're related.
3 My dad always wanted to be a teacher – he says it's his one true calling.
4 I'd like to focus on my strengths, but I'm not sure what they are.
5 I'm not worried about finding my niche or having a vocation. I just want to be famous and make lots of money!

WORKBOOK

pp. 72–73

NEXT CLASS

Ask students to do Show What You Know in the WB, p. 74.

What if you don't have ONE dream job?

Do you remember being asked what you wanted to be when you grew up? No doubt the more imaginative your answer, the more approval you would get. But once we reach adolescence, there's far less tolerance for answers like, 'I'm going to be a marine biologist, circus clown and journalist!' Now the question translates as You are allowed one identity in this life, so which is it?

At school there's pressure to focus on your strengths, and choose a subject to major in at university, which leads to one specific degree, intended for one type of job. The message that you need to specialise is reinforced in many contexts. Career guidance books and counsellors give you tests to help you find your niche and identify your dream job.

But what happens if you're wired differently? Let's say you're curious about several subjects, and there are many things you'd like to study. If you're unable or unwilling to settle on a single career path, you might worry that you don't have one true calling like everybody else and that, therefore, your life lacks purpose. As the saying goes, you're a 'jack of all trades, master of none'.

In reality, few people are just 'one thing'. A rare few have a vocation and stick to it, but for most young people who will make up the workforce of the future, 'one thing' is not relevant any more. For our parents' and grandparents' generation, it was normal to work in the same profession and often the same company for thirty or more years. Those days are long gone.

The ambitious young people of today are more interested in moving around and doing different things. In the modern workplace, people are working flexibly and the individual is in control of their professional life and in a position to make decisions about how, when and where they work. Rather than finding something and doing it forever, the new challenge is to find a way of working that works for you.

Reflecting the needs of the modern workforce, the workplace is also changing at a rapid rate. Flexible working is becoming the new norm. The standard working day of nine to five has been replaced by flexitime. The majority of people no longer believe that attendance in an office is required or necessary on a day-to-day basis. Job-sharing is becoming more popular with people who prefer diversity in their working day – work traditionally performed by one person can be split between two part-timers. There are also a growing number of freelancers choosing self-employment as a way to be in charge of their own professional lives.

This new flexible workplace is one where multipotentialites feel at ease. Multipotentialite is a term invented by Emilie Wapnick, whose TED talk 'Why some of us don't have a true calling' has been watched by millions of viewers. She claims to be someone who has a range of interests. She sees herself not as a specialist, but as a generalist and describes how she used to worry that she wasn't normal because she didn't have a vocation and so could be dismissed as a quitter, a flake or a jack of all trades, master of none.

She explains how people like herself are suited to the modern workplace in three essential ways. Firstly, they are used to combining two or more fields and it is at the intersection between seemingly unrelated ideas that innovation often happens. Secondly, people who change roles frequently are less afraid of trying new things and stepping out of their comfort zones. They're fast learners. And finally, they are adaptable.

So, if you're a generalist, a polymath, a multipotentialite, or whatever you call yourself, you are the one who will thrive in the twenty-first century workplace. The world needs jacks of all trades. And it also needs an updated version of the phrase. How about 'jack of all trades, master of all'?

GLOSSARY

jack of all trades, master of none = kto potrafi wiele rzeczy, ale w żadnej nie jest ekspertem a multipotentialite = multipotencjalista, ktoś o wielu zainteresowaniach i zdolnościach dismiss sb as = odrzucić, lekceważyć a quitter = ktoś niewytrwały, kto zbyt łatwo się poddaje a flake = osoba ekscentryczna, szalona be suited to = nadawać się do intersection = miejsce przecięcia, skrzyżowanie a polymath = człowiek wszechstronnie uzdolniony, człowiek renesansu

5.5 GRAMMAR

Reporting verbs

I can use a range of reporting verbs.

1 SPEAKING Discuss the meaning of the question in the headline. Then read Part 1 of the report and decide what you think the answer is.

SPOILT BRAT OR NEGLECTED CHILD?

Part 1 US teenager Rachel Canning took her parents to court and tried to sue them for financial support. She accused them of abandoning her when she had turned 18 and refusing to fund her college education. She claimed that they had thrown her out of her home and explained that she had been living at a friend's house.

Mr Canning refused to accept his daughter's version of events. He denied kicking Rachel out and assured the court that she had left voluntarily after an argument about household rules. He suggested that Rachel's friends had encouraged her to take the matter to court. He insisted that he and his wife loved and missed their child and added that the situation was having a terrible effect on them. He begged his daughter to come home soon.

Exercise 2

claim – twierdzić explain – wytłumaczyć assure – zapewnić suggest – sugerować insist – upierać się, nalegać add – dodać

Claimed, explained, suggested, insisted and added can be replaced with said because they don't take an object.

Assured can be replaced with told because it takes an object.

2 In your notebook, translate the six reporting verbs in blue in Exercise 1. Five can be replaced with said and one with told. Which one and why?

3 Read the GRAMMAR FOCUS. Then find five more reporting verbs in the text in Exercise 1. Which verb patterns do they illustrate?

GRAMMAR FOCUS 22

Reporting verbs

1 Verbs without an object

- verb + that clause: add, admit, agree, claim, deny, explain, insist, promise, propose, recommend, suggest
  She promised that she would come home.
- verb + to + infinitive: agree, claim, offer, promise, refuse
  He offered to help.
- verb + -ing: admit, deny, propose, recommend, suggest
  They suggested talking to the lawyer.
- verb + preposition + -ing: apologise for, insist on, object to
  I insisted on paying for everything.

2 Verbs with an object

- verb + object + that clause: assure, convince, inform, promise, remind, warn
  She assured me that she was OK.
- verb + object + to + infinitive: advise, beg, convince, encourage, invite, order, persuade, remind, urge, warn (not)
  He urged them to leave.
- verb + object + preposition + -ing: accuse sb of, blame sb for, congratulate sb on, thank sb for
  He congratulated me on passing the exam.

Exercise 3

accuse (verb + object + preposition + -ing)

5.6 SPEAKING

Problem solving

I can discuss problems and solutions, and express annoyance.

1 SPEAKING Describe what happened last time you experienced one of these problems.

1 something was lost or stolen (bag, keys, bike, etc.)
2 something was broken (computer, car, phone, etc.)
3 something was forgotten (test, alarm, appointment, etc.)

2 2.41 Listen to two friends, Hannah and Daniel, discussing a problem and answer the questions.

1 What was the problem and how did Hannah and Daniel try to solve it?
2 What would be a better solution in your opinion?
3 What do you think might happen next?

3 2.41 Discuss which words complete the SPEAKING FOCUS correctly. Then listen and check.

You should have thought about that earlier.

4 2.42 In your notebook, complete the dialogues with one word in each gap. Sometimes more than one answer is possible. Then listen and check.

Dialogue 1

Abi and Beth are working in a supermarket during the school holidays.

Abi: What's [1] up ?
Beth: Well, unfortunately, I [2] seem to have broken the bar code scanner.
Abi: Oh no. What happened?
Beth: I put it on the table during the break and spilled my coffee on it – like an idiot!
Abi: Whoops. The manager isn't going to be happy.
Beth: Yeah, tell me about it. [3] Every time I try to switch it on, it beeps and switches off again.
Abi: Have you [4] tried drying it under the hand dryer in the toilets?
Beth: Actually no, but it's worth a go, I [5] suppose .

Dialogue 2

Leo is working on his uncle's farm during the summer.

Pete: Hello, Woodtop Farm.
Leo: Uncle Pete, it's me. I'm in the bottom field. The tractor has broken down.
Pete: What? What's the [6] matter with it?
Leo: Er … I [7] wish I knew.
Pete: OK. Listen, are the lights working?
Leo: Hang on a second … Yep.
Pete: OK, then it's not the battery. You did remember to put some fuel in it, right?
Leo: Er … oh.
Pete: Leo! I told you it was nearly empty.
Leo: I, er … I forgot. Sorry.
Pete: Well, you'll have to walk back up here and get some, won't you?
Leo: What? It's miles!
Pete: Well, you should have thought about that [8] earlier . Next time, perhaps you'll remember.
Leo: Can't you bring some fuel down in the … hello?

5 SPEAKING Follow the instructions below to prepare a dialogue. Use the SPEAKING FOCUS to help you.

As part of a project, you are giving a joint presentation about summer job opportunities in your local area. Together, you prepared a presentation on a laptop.

Student A: You were responsible for bringing a pen drive with all the notes and visuals. The presentation is in twenty minutes, and you have just realised that you left the pen drive at home.

Student B: You worked hard on the presentation and are very annoyed that your partner forgot to bring the pen drive.

There isn't enough time to go home. Together, you need to come up with a solution.

6 SPEAKING Practise your dialogue and act it out. Take turns to be Student A and Student B.

Exercise 2

1 The door to the shop wouldn't open. The key broke off in the lock. Then Hannah tried to get into the shop through an open window at the back, but she got stuck.

5.7 USE OF ENGLISH

Phrasal verbs

I can use phrasal verbs with two particles and other advanced phrasal verbs.

1 SPEAKING In your notebook, list all the social media apps you use. Discuss which are the most popular. How popular is WhatsApp?

2 Read the text about WhatsApp. One of the statements 1–6 is false. Which one?

1 Jan Koum, a co-founder of WhatsApp, is from Ukraine.
2 The app is called WhatsApp because it sounds like 'What's up?'
3 Koum was not successful at school or at university in the USA.
4 Koum met Brian Acton, the other co-founder of WhatsApp, at Yahoo.
5 Koum and Acton both got jobs at Facebook in 2007.
6 Koum and Acton sold WhatsApp to Facebook and are now billionaires.

3 Read the LANGUAGE FOCUS. In your notebook, complete it with examples of the three-part phrasal verbs in blue and the underlined nouns and adjectives in the text.

LANGUAGE FOCUS

Phrasal verbs – advanced points

Three-part phrasal verbs

- Most three-part phrasal verbs are made up of really common verbs like come, get, put, etc. plus a variety of adverbial and prepositional particles.
  [1] come up against (meet or confront), [2] look down on (feel superior to), [3] make up for (compensate for)
- Three-part phrasal verbs are nearly always inseparable.
  He came up against bullying. NOT ~~He came up bullying against.~~

Word building with phrasal verbs

- Nouns
  Verb + particle: clear sth out ➝ a clear-out, let sb down ➝ a [4] letdown, warm sth up ➝ a warm-up. You stress the 'verb' part not the particle.
  Particle + verb: bring sb up ➝ an [5] upbringing, pour down ➝ a downpour, set out ➝ outset. You usually stress the 'particle' part not the verb.
- Adjectives
  Particle + verb -ing: put sb off ➝ be off-putting Verb (past participle) + particle: run sth down ➝ be [6] run-down

4 In your notebook, match the remaining three-part phrasal verbs in blue in the text with the definitions 1–6. Use a dictionary if necessary.

1 be the result of = come down to
2 think of a new idea = come up with 3 leave school or a course = drop out of 4 do sth after = go on to 5 develop from sth = grow out of 6 be very busy with sth = be tied up with

The WhatsApp story

If you use instant messaging services, it's very likely that WhatsApp is one of them. But what do you know about it? Did you know that it was invented by Jan Koum, a Ukrainian-born entrepreneur? After he bought his first iPhone, he got annoyed that he was missing calls when he went to the gym and WhatsApp grew out of the simple idea that it's good to let people know if you're available. He came up with the name WhatsApp because it sounded like 'What's up?'

There was nothing in Koum's upbringing to suggest that the young Ukrainian would one day change the world of social media. He was brought up in a small village near Kiev. He rarely saw his father who was usually tied up with work at a government construction company until 10 o'clock at night. But then, when Koum was 16, he emigrated to California with his mother and grandmother, while his father stayed behind and never left Ukraine. It was a hard time for the family who lived in very run-down accommodation.

Koum studied Computer Science and Maths, but at school he came up against bullying from other boys and often got into trouble. In Ukraine, Koum had left behind his close group of friends; now he looked down on the casual friendships that people had at high school in America and he eventually dropped out of college.

Things changed when he got a job at Yahoo in the early 2000s. First, he met Brian Acton, who would go on to co-found WhatsApp. When Koum and Acton left Yahoo in 2007, they applied for jobs at Facebook. Both were turned down.

Following rejection from Facebook, the two friends decided to go travelling in South America, and it was when they returned to the USA that they co-founded WhatsApp. The app didn't take off straight away, which was a real letdown for Koum and Acton. However, by 2014 it had more than 400 million users globally. In the end, the huge success of WhatsApp came down to the excellent user experience. Facebook paid more than $19 billion to acquire WhatsApp, which more than made up for their earlier rejection, turning both Koum and Acton into billionaires.

7 Wage discrimination isn't a thing of the past; women ___come___ up against it all the time.
8 You can't choose you work colleagues. If you don't get on, you just have to ___put___ up with them.

7 SPEAKING Discuss the statements in Exercise 6. Which ones do you agree with? Give reasons for your answers.

8 In your notebook, rewrite the sentences so they mean the same using the noun or adjective form of the underlined phrasal verb.

1 I was brought up in a similar way to my parents.
I had a similar upbringing to my parents .
2 Yesterday it poured down on my way home from school.
Yesterday there was a downpour on my way home from school .
3 I always warm up before I do any sport.
I like to do a warm-up before I do any sport .

Dear All,

This is to announce that I've decided to give up social media (no, it's not a joke). I'm just completely fed up with it. Over the last five years, I've spent a great [1] ___deal___ of time and energy on posting, reading, liking and commenting. But now push notifications are driving me mad! I just can't put [2] ___up___ with it any longer. I'm also fed up with all my [3] ___casual___ acquaintances. Over the years, I've [4] ___managed___ to collect 3,000 friends on social media, but [5] ___none___ of them visited me when I was ill – not one! Last, but not least, I'm so busy on social media that I can't [6] ___get___ down to any serious school work. It feels like if I don't stop now, I'll [7] ___drop___ out of school! So, this is my last post.

CU [8] ___soon___ – in the real world!

5.8 WRITING

An opinion essay

I can write an opinion essay exploring different aspects of viewpoints.

1 SPEAKING Look at the results of an international student survey about reasons for going to university. Then answer the questions and compare your answers with a partner.

1 Which three reasons are most important to you?
2 What other reasons to go to university can you think of?
3 Should students choose a degree based on what they are interested in or what is most likely to lead to getting a job? Explain your answer.

Why do you want to go to university?

I want to go to university because:

I want to continue my education and development.	58.4%
I am really keen on the subject I want to study.	57.9%
this is necessary for my future career.	53.7%
I need stimulation and intellectual challenge.	52.7%
I want to learn some necessary life skills.	50.1%
this will help me find a job (or a better job).	36.1%
I want to experience student life and just have fun.	22.8%
my family expects me to continue my education.	16.3%

2 Read the task and the essay below. Do you agree with the author's opinion?

> Some university degrees are more likely to lead to employment after graduation than others. In your opinion, should young people choose a university subject based on what will help them get a good job rather than what interests them?
> Write an opinion essay on this topic analysing the importance of motivation to study and career success.

3 Read the WRITING FOCUS. In the model essay, find …

1 a sentence which states the writer's main opinion.
2 a sentence that says which two aspects will be discussed.
3 a sentence which acknowledges an opposing opinion and states why the writer disagrees with it.
4 a sentence which expands the discussion by giving examples.
5 a sentence which restates the writer's main opinion.
6 a final comment.

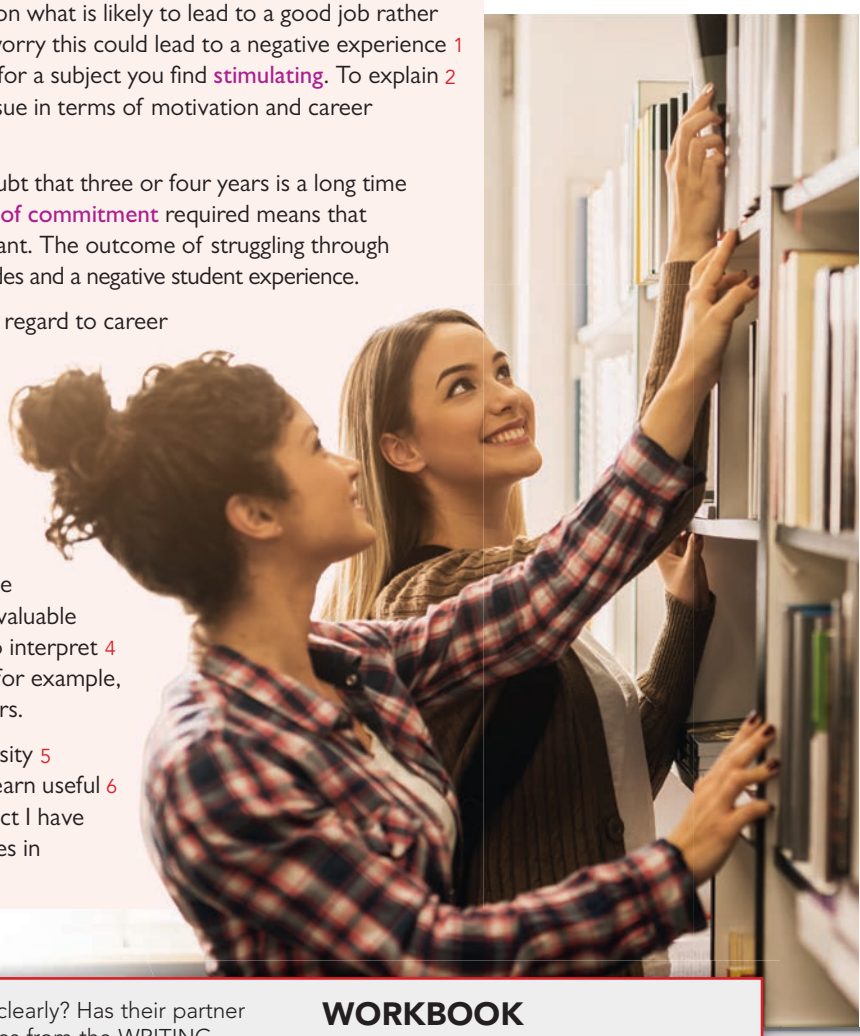
Many school-leavers choose a degree based on what is likely to lead to a good job rather than what truly interests them. Personally, I worry this could lead to a negative experience 1 at university and that it may be better to opt for a subject you find stimulating. To explain 2 the reasons for my view, I will examine the issue in terms of motivation and career success.

When it comes to motivation, there is no doubt that three or four years is a long time to dedicate to a single subject. The high level of commitment required means that enthusiasm for your chosen subject is important. The outcome of struggling through a course you don't enjoy could be low final grades and a negative student experience.

It is also important to consider this issue with regard to career success. It is often the case that those who rise to the very top of their field get there because they are passionate about what they do. Of course, passion does not guarantee career success, but it is undeniably an important factor.

It is true that some subjects appear to offer 3 limited career prospects, however, I am of the opinion that studying for any degree teaches valuable transferable skills. These include the ability to interpret 4 information or communicate complex ideas, for example, and are undoubtedly appreciated by employers.

All in all, I think it is better to choose a university 5 subject that interests you. I would prefer to learn useful 6 skills and work towards high grades in a subject I have enjoyed studying rather than risking low grades in a subject that I do not find motivating.



Exercise 3

The Human Scarecrow

Being told to bring a deckchair and a good book for the first day in a new job might not be the kind of advice you'd expect to receive from your new boss, but that's exactly the advice Jamie Fox was given when he took up a post to help out a local farmer.

Fox, 22, a recent music graduate from Bangor University, uses a range of musical instruments to scare off partridges that have been destroying crops because ordinary scarecrows don't quite seem up to the job. Despite working from 7.30 am to 4.00 pm for a minimum wage, Fox, who is saving up to finance a trip next year to New Zealand, is quite content with his unique position. Indeed, he'd much rather be out in the open air reading and playing instruments, he says, and time passes much quicker than sitting at home doing nothing and claiming unemployment benefit.

Fox can do anything he likes to pass the time. As well as playing musical instruments and reading to relieve the monotony, other perks of the job include doing Sudoku puzzles, observing the wildlife and daydreaming. He does, however, need to get out of the comfort of his chair occasionally to scare the partridges off the fields. And although the work is far from lucrative, some of Jamie's friends, including those with more generously paid jobs, are reportedly envious of his position and the fact that he spends the best part of the day doing largely as he pleases.

His employer, farmer William Youngs, claims that he was forced to take someone on as a human scarecrow after partridges didn't respond to more traditional methods of frightening them away. Since losing 30 acres worth of crops to the birds at a cost of thousands of pounds, Youngs has tried a variety of approaches to protect his livelihood. Now, however, he is happy with the solution and claims that Jamie's presence in the fields is proving very effective and making a real difference.

GLOSSARY

partridge = kuropatwa scarecrow = strach na wróble

GRADUATE EMPLOYMENT TRENDS

A recent study reveals some rather interesting figures about graduates in the labour market.

Six months after leaving a UK university, around one in ten graduates cannot find employment, with men usually taking more time to secure a job. The good news for male graduates, however, is that their average starting salary is typically £2,000 per annum higher than that of their female counterparts.

About three quarters of the 230,000 graduates who took part in the survey are employed and a further 15 percent continue to study. Moreover, most employed graduates hold professional posts. These figures may appear encouraging; still, some believe the number of out-of-work graduates is likely to increase within a fairly short time frame. At the same time, about one third of all UK graduates are in non-professional positions which do not require a degree at all, mostly in sales and customer service departments.

According to the reports, just over 4 percent of recent graduates are working in stable 'elementary occupations' such as office juniors, hospital porters and waiters. Studies suggest overall, however, that there has been a rise in the number of jobs which require a university degree – a trend, one hopes, that will continue.

Text 1

1 Jamie Fox is happy with his job because
- A he never gets bored.
- B he uses his educational background.
- C he has plenty of free time during the day.
- (D) he thinks it is better than being out of work.

2 Jamie's friends are envious because of
- A the hours he works.
- (B) the nature of his work.
- C the money he earns.
- D the variety of his tasks.

3 Mr Youngs decided to employ Jamie because
- A he had found traditional methods too expensive.
- B he has been using human scarecrows for a long time.
- (C) he had lost a large amount of crops previously.
- D he wanted to prove that human scarecrows are more efficient.

Text 2

4 Which of the following is stated in the text as an opinion, not a fact?
- A Female graduates tend to find a job faster than their male counterparts.
- (B) The number of graduates without jobs is set to rise.
- C There is a discrepancy between the earnings of female and male graduates.
- D The majority of graduates manage to secure professional jobs.

5 The writer expresses a wish that
- A UK graduates will choose more stable occupations.
- B a degree will not be required for non-professional positions.
- C more UK students will choose to carry on studying.
- (D) more professional jobs will be created.

6.1 VOCABULARY

The media • truth and falsehood • adjective–noun collocations • adverbs

I can talk about the media and fake news.

SHOW WHAT YOU KNOW

1 In your notebook, complete the sentences with the words in the box. Then write about your media habits. Use the sentences or your own ideas.

clips ~~media~~ podcasts post Twitter

1 I get news from news apps/social media posts/local papers.
2 If I see something interesting, I 'like'/share/ ___post___ /retweet it.
3 I like to read news blogs/celebrity ___Twitter___ feeds/editorials.
4 I like to watch TV drama series/online video ___clips___ /reality TV.
5 I like to listen to ___podcasts___ /the radio/music streaming services.

2 SPEAKING Compare your sentences in Exercise 1. Discuss how similar/different your habits are to your partner's.

3 SPEAKING Look at the three news headings and discuss which one you think is true.

American woman adopts alien baby!
SPACE BABY SURVIVES UFO CRASH
'I couldn't resist its big sad eyes,' says a woman from Ohio.

5 million euros lottery winner leaves winnings on bus
John Smith appeals to public: 'I was going to buy my mum a new house.'

WOMAN BURST INTO FLAMES DURING AN OPERATION!
Spark ignites cleaning solution and patient becomes ball of fire.

FAKE NEWS

What is it?

Completely made-up stories presented as news and made to go viral, often for politically motivated reasons or commercial gain. Fake news stories are 70 percent more likely to be retweeted because they are usually more eye-catching than the truth. Some people spread fake news deliberately while others do it without realising. The Internet is awash with information that cannot be trusted. The smartphone generation are bombarded with such information on a daily basis and they're growing up alarmingly misinformed.

How do you know what you're reading is accurate?

Don't take a story at face value – step back and ask yourself these questions:

- Does the story come from a reputable source? Has this website always shown a clear commitment to newsworthy stories based on fact? Alternatively, is this an article put out knowingly by an organisation that has an agenda – an agenda to manipulate the media because of a political or commercial motive?
- Does the photo or video look normal? If it looks slightly odd, it may have been tampered with to distort the truth and mislead people into believing something that never actually happened.

- Students work in pairs and prepare some news items (fake and true) concerning school, their own life, etc. Then they exchange them with another pair who decide if the news item is fake or not. If it's fake, they should correct it.

4 Read the Internet article and check your ideas in Exercise 3. What do you do to make sure that what you are reading is true?
Story 3 is true.

FOCUS ON WORDS | Truth and falsehood

5 2.43 In your notebook, complete the phrases in red in the text with the correct verb. Then listen, check and repeat.

People/Organisations can sometimes …

1 distort the truth
2 ___have___ an agenda
3 manipulate the media
4 ___mislead___ /misinform people
5 ___spread___ fake news
6 ___tamper___ with photos

You should …

7 ___check___ the accuracy
8 double-check facts
9 ___evaluate___ sources
10 ___trust___ your instincts
11 not ___take___ a story at face value

6 In your notebook, complete the questions with a word in Exercise 5. Then answer the questions according to the information in the text.

1 Do people always spread ___fake___ news on purpose?
2 Can you trust your instincts when deciding whether a story is true?
3 What motivates organisations who have an agenda to manipulate the ___media___ ?
4 What things are sometimes tampered ___with___ to mislead ___people___ ?
5 Where can you check the accuracy of a story?
6 Who is responsible for identifying people who distort the ___truth___ ?
7 Why should people learn how to double-check ___facts___ and evaluate sources ?

FOCUS ON WORDS | Adjective–noun collocations

7 2.44 In your notebook, complete the underlined phrases in the text with a noun to create collocations. Then listen, check and repeat.

1 a clear/a long-term commitment different
2 a distinct/a gut ___feeling___ different
3 a newsworthy/an eye-catching ___story___ different
4 a reliable/a reputable ___source___ similar 5 awash with/bombarded with information quite similar 6 for commercial/political ___gain___ different
7 on a daily/on a regular ___basis___ quite similar

- Is this story likely to be true? There are different ways in which a story can be inaccurate or misleading. Start from your gut feeling, trust your instincts – does it sound believable? American woman adopts alien baby is clearly fake news. But how about the lottery winner? Would he really carry 5 million euros in cash on a bus? Then there's the story of a person bursting into flames. Unbelievable, right? Not exactly – you can check the accuracy of this story by searching online where you find out that fires in operating theatres are remarkably common! In fact, the third story is the only true story.

What can you do?

Social media giants have a responsibility to tackle the problem of fake news, but in an era when anyone with an Internet connection can publish stories freely and without any checks, individuals need to learn how to double-check facts and evaluate sources. In other words, it is essential to read information critically: you should question facts and examine arguments closely, instead of believing everything you read.

8 Are the pairs of collocations 1–7 in Exercise 7 similar or different in meaning? Use a dictionary to check your answers.

9 SPEAKING In your notebook, complete the sentences with an appropriate word in Exercise 7. Discuss whether you agree or disagree with the opinions.

1 I hate being bombarded with so much useless information on a daily ___basis___ .
2 I never take anything I read at face value unless it is from a reputable ___source___ .
3 I have a gut ___feeling___ that print-based media will disappear within ten years.
4 I would never make a long-term commitment to any political organisation.
5 Organisations should be heavily fined if they spread fake news for commercial ___gain___ .

FOCUS ON WORDS | Adverbs

10 2.45 Copy the table and complete it with adverbs in the text that match the adjectives below. Then listen, check and repeat.

ADJECTIVE	ADVERB
1 alarming	alarmingly
2 close	___closely___
3 critical	___critically___
4 deliberate	deliberately
5 knowing	___knowingly___
6 remarkable	remarkably

11 In your notebook, rewrite each sentence with the correct adverb made from the adjective in brackets.

1 The press and social media are controlled. (close)
The press and social media are closely controlled.
2 The number of fake news stories is alarmingly high. (alarming)
3 News organisations never deliberately spread fake news. (deliberate)
4 Students are taught to think critically about everything they read. (critical)
5 No government minister ever knowingly misinforms the public. (knowing)
6 Most people are remarkably happy despite the economic situation. (remarkable)

12 SPEAKING Which of the situations described in the sentences in Exercise 11 would you like/put up with/not like in a society?

13 PROJECT Work in groups. Choose a well-known newspaper or magazine published in an English-speaking country. Do some research online and prepare a digital presentation. Then present it to your class.

6.2 GRAMMAR

Conditional clauses – alternatives to if

I can make conditional sentences using if, unless, imagine, provided, suppose and inversion.

1 SPEAKING 'The dog ate my homework' is a typical excuse used by students. Discuss and list other excuses.

2 Read the story. What excuse did the students use for missing their exam? What happened next?

The Exam Question

Imagine you were taking an important exam on Monday, what would you do the weekend before? You almost certainly wouldn't do what two chemistry students did in Kansas, Missouri. They went to a different city and partied all weekend. They had a great time, but they knew that unless they got back in time for the exam, they wouldn't be able to take it. So they drove through the night and got back to college in the early hours of Monday morning. Sadly for them, they overslept and missed the exam.

When they found their professor afterwards, they decided to invent a story. They told her that they would have got back for the exam had they not had a flat tyre. The professor thought about this for a moment and then agreed that, provided they arrived before 9 a.m., they could take the exam the next day. She placed them in separate rooms and gave them the exam paper. The first question was simple and worth 5 points. But they were unprepared for the question on the next page: (95 points) Which tyre?

3 Read the GRAMMAR FOCUS. In your notebook, rewrite the conditional clauses in blue in the story using if.

GRAMMAR FOCUS 26

Conditional clauses – alternatives to if

- You use unless to mean 'if not' with the sense 'except if'.
  I wouldn't lie to you unless it was necessary.
  (= … if it wasn't necessary.)
- You use imagine or suppose/supposing to ask questions.
  Imagine you were getting married, how would you feel?*
  (= If you were getting married, …)
- You use provided/providing to create a condition.
  I'll lend you €10 provided you pay me back tomorrow.
  (= if you pay me back …)
- You can use inversion in formal contexts – mostly with the auxiliary verbs were, had or should.
  Had they followed my instructions, they wouldn't have got lost. (= If they had followed …)*

Note: In inversion, you do not contract negative forms.
Had they not called, we wouldn't have known (…).
NOT ~~Hadn't they called …~~

4 SPEAKING In your notebook, rewrite these conditional sentences using unless. Which sentences are true for you?

1 I'll fail all my exams if I don't revise properly.
I'll fail all my exams unless I revise properly.
2 I can't do my homework if I don't have a laptop.
3 My parents won't let me go out if I haven't finished my homework.
4 I'd never get to school on time if my mum didn't wake me up every morning.
5 I can't understand American films if I don't watch them with subtitles.

5 USE OF ENGLISH In your notebook, complete the second sentence so that it has a similar meaning to the first. Use no more than six words including the word in capitals. Are any of the sentences true for you?

1 I won't go out this evening if I get too much homework. PROVIDED
I might go out this evening provided I don't get too much homework.
2 If my mum hadn't reminded me, I would've forgotten her birthday. NOT
Had my mum not reminded me, I would've forgotten her birthday.
3 I'd never eat fast food unless I was absolutely starving. WASN'T
If I wasn't absolutely starving , I'd never eat fast food.
4 I'd have watched Mr Bean if I'd known it was on TV last night. WAS
Had I known Mr Bean was on TV last night, I'd have watched it.
5 I don't watch football unless my team are playing. IF I don't watch football if my team aren't playing .
6 If I wasn't so tired, I'd go out this evening. NOT
Were I not so tired , I'd go out this evening.
7 If I should ever get married, I'd want a huge party. EVER
Should I ever get married , I'd want a huge party.

6 Use ideas 1–6 to write conditional questions in your notebook. Begin each question with Imagine … or Suppose … and complete it with your own ideas.

1 You can't live anywhere in the world.
Imagine/Suppose you could live anywhere in the world, where would you live?
2 You didn't find 100 euros in the street yesterday.
3 You're not able to travel back in time.
4 You don't have to live without technology.
5 You didn't see an old man steal something from a shop last week.
6 You can't have three wishes.

7 SPEAKING Ask and answer the questions in Exercise 6.

FOCUS VLOG 27 About time travel

2.46 Listen to the Focus Vlog. Would the speakers like to visit the 20th century or go to more distant periods? Write the answers in your notebook.

Exercise 2
They said they had had a flat tyre.
They sat the exam and the second question was 'Which tyre?'

Exercise 3
If you were taking an important exam on Monday, …
… if they didn't get back in time for the exam, …
… if they hadn't had a flat tyre.
… if they arrived before 9 a.m.

Exercise 4
2 I can't do my homework unless I have a laptop.
3 My parents won't let me go out unless I have finished my homework.
4 I'd never get to school on time unless my mum woke me up every morning.
5 I can't understand American films unless I watch them with subtitles.

6.3 LISTENING

Gap fill

I can identify the main points of a discussion about a street artist.

1 SPEAKING Describe these two murals by controversial British artist Banksy. Discuss what you think they mean.

2 3.1 Listen to a news report about Banksy. Has the information below been confirmed or not? Write the answers in your notebook.

Banksy bio

1 Real name is Robin Gunningham. not confirmed
2 Was born in Bristol in 1973. not confirmed
3 Trained to be a butcher. not confirmed
4 Became famous in the 1990s. confirmed
5 Has never been arrested. confirmed
6 Authenticates his work on his website. confirmed
7 Is a multi-millionaire. not confirmed

3 SPEAKING In your notebook, add pro- or anti- to the following words to describe whether you think Banksy is for or against these things.

1 pro- anonymity
2 anti- authority
3 anti- war
4 pro- animal rights
5 pro- peaceful protest
6 pro- fairness
7 anti- animal cruelty
8 pro- equality

4 3.2 Listen to two people talking about Banksy and check your ideas in Exercise 3.

LISTENING FOCUS Gap fill

5 3.2 Listen again and complete sentences 1–8 in your notebook. Write one, two or three words in each gap.

1 Robert is doing a school assignment on ethical concerns and issues in art.
2 Banksy has remained anonymous thanks to his friends' commitment and loyalty .
3 The reason Banksy substituted paintbrushes with stencils and spray cans was that he could paint more quickly/faster .
4 When looking at Banksy's mural on a garage in Wales, it is easy to mistake ash for snowflakes .
5 According to Alice, Banksy would be the perfect artist for Robert's project because of his firm belief in equality.
6 Alice and Robert sometimes don't understand/get the message Banksy is trying to convey.

FOCUS ON WORDS | Collocations

6 3.3 Decide which is the incorrect verb or adjective in these collocations from the recording. Then listen, check and repeat.

1 commit / ~~perform~~ an offence
2 make / ~~do~~ a statement
3 ~~guard~~ / protect your identity
4 ~~produce~~ / raise awareness
5 ~~keep~~ / remain anonymous
6 strong / ~~tough~~ beliefs
7 underlying / ~~covered~~ message

7 SPEAKING In your notebook, complete the statements with the appropriate noun in Exercise 6. Then discuss whether you agree or disagree with them. Give reasons for your answers.

1 Committing an offence is always wrong.
2 If you're a street artist, it's a good idea to remain anonymous .
3 Teenagers don't do enough to protect their identity online.
4 Street art can be an effective way of raising awareness and making a statement .
5 Only experts can understand the underlying message(s) in modern art.
6 Nobody has strong beliefs about anything anymore.

PRONUNCIATION FOCUS

8 3.4 Listen and repeat the words in the box. Then copy the table and put the words into the correct column A, B or C depending on the stress.

~~alteration~~ authority ceremony commentator inauthentic photographer uncomfortable underlying vandalism

A ■■■■	B ■■■■	C ■■■■
ceremony	authority	alteration
commentator	photographer	inauthentic vandalism	uncomfortable	underlying

6.4 READING

Gap fill

I can recognise inferred meaning in a structured text.

1 SPEAKING Discuss the questions.

1 When was the last time you took a selfie and why did you take it?
2 Which of your friends posts the most interesting selfies?
3 Why do you think selfies are so popular?

2 SPEAKING Discuss and try to guess the correct answers. Then read the text and check your ideas.

1 The first selfie was taken in 1839 / 1914 / 2006.
2 One in three / five / ten photos taken by eighteen to twenty-four-year-olds is a selfie.
3 The word 'selfie' originated in Russia / Australia / New York.
4 Taking selfies occasionally causes memory / mental health / motivational problems.

READING FOCUS Gap fill

3 In your notebook, complete the summary so that it is logical and consistent with the meaning of the text. Write up to six words in each gap.

Anybody who [1] uses social media/is a social media user is also likely to be a selfie-taker, and this doesn't just mean young people. The history of the selfie is really interesting. Contrary to [2] a claim by Britney Spears and Paris Hilton to have taken the first selfie, the real pioneer was nineteenth century photographer Robert Cornelius. His photograph was called a self-portrait.
The first teenager to take a selfie was a young Russian princess who managed to do it by [3] taking a picture/photo of herself in a mirror.
The selfie as we know it today was first taken by a group of photographers using [4] a camera that was so heavy/such a heavy camera that it required two men to hold it. Since the [5] invention/arrival/birth/appearance/development of the smartphone in the early 2000s, taking selfies has become much easier and one in three photos taken by a young person has been a selfie.
The term 'selfie' comes out of the Australian [6] habit of adding -ie onto the end of words. An Australian man posted a photo of himself on a health forum calling it a 'selfie' and the name stuck.
Taking selfies can just be a bit of fun, but there are two psychological conditions that can be caused by selfie-taking. 'Selfitis' is a term for people who [7] take too many selfies and post them on social media in order to feel happier or more accepted. The other condition is body dysmorphic disorder. A medical journal has reported that the use of airbrushing apps could make people feel [8] worried about/unhappy about/dissatisfied with their appearance with the result that many seek surgery to look more like their selfies.

7 Airbrushing apps.
8 Body dysmorphic disorder. Filtered images can trigger it.

FOCUS ON WORDS | Verbs and verb phrases

4 3.7 In your notebook, complete the phrases in blue in the text with the correct verb. Then listen, check and repeat.

1 become mainstream = be ordinary or normal
2 date back to = begin at a time in the past
3 gain popularity = become more popular
4 have a habit of = do sth regularly
5 make a claim = state that sth is true
6 seek = try to do
7 shake sth off = get rid of
8 trigger = cause sth to happen

5 In your notebook, complete the questions with one word in each gap. Then answer the questions according to the information in the text.

1 When did smartphones become mainstream ?
2 Who made the claim that they had invented the selfie?
3 When does the oldest selfie date back to and how was it taken?
4 What do Australians have a habit of adding to the end of words?
5 What might some people be seeking by taking a lot of selfies?
6 What can taking lots of selfies help you to shake off ?
7 What kind of apps are gaining popularity and why?
8 What does BDD mean and what can trigger it?

FOCUS ON WORDS | Photography

4 take a snap = zrobić zdjęcie
5 crop images = kadrować / przycinać zdjęcia
6 zoom in/zoom out = powiększyć / pomniejszyć
7 a shot = zdjęcie
8 a lens = obiektyw
9 capture a memorable moment = uchwycić niezapomnianą chwilę
10 pose for a photo = pozować do zdjęcia

7 SPEAKING There is one word missing in each question. In your notebook, rewrite the questions with an appropriate word in Exercise 6. Then ask and answer the questions.

1 When was the last time you took a on your smartphone?
When was the last time you took a snap on your smartphone?
2 How do you usually pose for selfies – do you smile, duck-face or wink?
3 What is the funniest moment you have captured on your phone?
4 Do you sometimes put your finger in front of the lens by mistake?
5 What do you do with photos that are not in focus?
6 Have you ever retouched/airbrushes images of yourself to try and improve them?

A short history of the selfie

They're everywhere – people posing with their phones held out in front of them or on a selfie-stick. And it's not just young people – social media users of all ages take selfies, including space-walking astronauts and the Pope.

So when did this selfie mania begin? Most people would guess that it was around the beginning of this century or perhaps a bit later when smartphones became mainstream. But most people would be wrong, just as Britney Spears and Paris Hilton were wrong when they declared on Twitter in 2017 that they had invented the selfie eleven years previously. In fact, they were around 167 years too late to make that claim. The oldest existing selfie dates back to 1839 when photographer Robert Cornelius took a self-portrait photograph of himself. To achieve this, he had to uncover the lens, run to his place and pose in the same position for up to fifteen minutes and then run back to cover the lens again. Cornelius couldn't take a dozen shots and choose the best one – his selfie had to be just one photo. Half a century later, in 1914, thirteen-year-old Grand Duchess Anastasia Nikolaevna of Russia took a picture of herself in a mirror and became the first teenager to take a selfie.

The first image taken in the same way as today, with the photographer holding the camera at arm's length, was in December 1920. The image shows five photographers standing on the roof of their studio in New York. The men were the main photographers of the Byron Company, a photographic studio founded in Manhattan in 1892 and still in business today. An image taken by another man shows that the camera was so heavy in those days that it took two of the photographers to hold it up. Thanks to innovations and improvements in cameras, a selfie gradually became easier to take, but it was the smartphone coming out in the early 2000s that led to selfie dominance. Surveys have shown that every third photo taken by those aged eighteen to twenty-four is a selfie.

And what about the origin of the word itself? It is thought to come from Australia where people have a habit of putting -ie on the end of words – barb*ie* for barbecue, post*ie* for postal worker and even Auss*ie* for Australian. In 2002, an Australian man took a photo of an injury to his lip and put it up on a public forum to ask for advice on how to treat it. He referred to the photo as a 'selfie', and the term was born. Selfie became Oxford Dictionaries' word of the year in 2013.

So, why do we take so many photos of ourselves? A 2017 study into 'selfitis', as the obsessive taking of selfies has been called, found a range of motivations, from seeking to feel more part of a group to shaking off depressive thoughts and – of course – capturing a memorable moment. Since we live so much of our lives online, there is pressure to present good quality images, and so it is no surprise that airbrushing apps that enable people to retouch images and present an idealised version of themselves are gaining popularity.

For the most part, this is harmless fun, normal behaviour in the age of social media. But a recent report in a medical journal suggested that filtered images 'blurring the line of reality and fantasy' could be triggering body dysmorphic disorder. BDD, as it is known, is a mental health condition where people imagine defects in their appearance. Nowadays it's not unusual for young people to ask for plastic surgery, not to look more like their favourite celebrity, but to look like their own filtered image. In a 2018 report on facial plastic surgery, 55 percent of surgeons said patients' motivation was to look better in selfies, up from just 13 percent in 2016.

Whatever your motivation, once you're in the selfie habit, it's hard to stop. So tousle your hair, extend your arm, check the lighting is right, zoom in, smile/duck-face/wink, and snap a selfie. It's blurred. Take another snap. Once more. Delete the ugly ones and post the cutest shot. Wait for the likes!

GLOSSARY

body dysmorphic disorder = dysmorfofobia, zaburzenie psychiczne polegające na bardzo krytycznym ocenianiu własnej urody tousle = poczochrać, potargać (włosy) duck-face = dzióbek (ułożenie ust przy pozowaniu do zdjęć) wink = puścić oczko

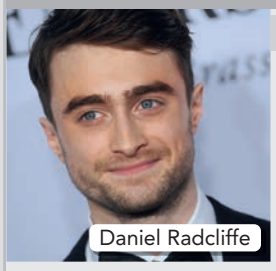
6.5 GRAMMAR

Mixed conditionals

I can use mixed conditionals to talk about hypothetical situations in the past or present.

1 Read the text and find out what these two British actors think about their screen characters.
Radcliffe doesn't mind being called Harry Potter.
Pattinson didn't like Edward Cullen.

ACTORS LIKE THEIR SCREEN CHARACTERS, OR DO THEY?



Daniel Radcliffe

Daniel Radcliffe doesn't mind being called Harry Potter. If he hadn't played the part of Harry Potter, he wouldn't be one of the richest young stars in cinema today. 1 c But there have been times when his fame has been difficult for him to deal with. If he was less famous, he would have gone out dancing with his friends more, 2 a but sadly, he's never had that freedom.

Robert Pattinson didn't like the character he played in the Twilight series. He says that if Edward Cullen wasn't a fictional character, he would have been a troubled young man. 3 d Pattinson understands that he wouldn't be so mega-famous if he hadn't played the role of Edward Cullen, but he says it's really weird being famous for a character he doesn't like. 4 b

Robert Pattinson

2 Read the text again. Can you match the real situations with the real results or consequences? 1 c, 2 a, 3 d, 4 b

Situations	Results
1 Radcliffe played Harry Potter.	a He didn't go out dancing much.
2 Radcliffe is very famous.	b He is very famous.
3 Edward Cullen is fictional.	c He is very rich.
4 Pattinson played Edward Cullen.	d He wasn't a troubled young man.

3 Match the four conditional sentences in blue in the text with the four real situations and results in Exercise 2.

4 Read the GRAMMAR FOCUS and complete the gaps in your notebook. Use past or present.

GRAMMAR FOCUS 28

Mixed conditionals

You use a mixed conditional to describe certain imaginary situations and their imaginary results. There are two main types:

1 imaginary [1] present condition → imaginary [2] ___past___ result

If* + Past Simple, would/wouldn't have* + past participle

If he was less famous, he would have gone out dancing with his friends more.

2 imaginary [3] ___past___ condition → imaginary [4] ___present___ result

If* + Past Perfect, would/wouldn't* + verb

If he hadn't played the part of Harry Potter, he wouldn't be one of the richest young stars in cinema today.

Note: As well as would, you can also use could, might and should in conditional sentences.

5 Which explanations (a, b or both) are correct for each sentence?

1 If I'd watched the Twilight films, I'd know who Edward Cullen was.
(a) I didn't watch the Twilight films.
b I know who Edward Cullen is.
2 If I was interested in Harry Potter, I'd have read the books.
(a) I'm not interested in Harry Potter.
(b) I haven't read any of the books.
3 If Robert Pattinson was ugly, I might not have watched Twilight.
(a) Robert Pattinson is handsome.
(b) I watched Twilight.
4 Pattinson and Radcliffe wouldn't be enjoying so much success if they hadn't worked hard on these roles.
a They aren't enjoying success.
(b) They worked hard on these roles.

6 SPEAKING Discuss your answers in Exercise 5 and correct the explanations that are wrong.
1 b I don't know who Edward Cullen is.
4 a Pattinson and Radcliffe are enjoying success.

7 In your notebook, write mixed conditional sentences for each situation 1–6. Which sentences are true for you?

1 It's cold today so you came to school by bus. (If …)
If it wasn't cold today, I wouldn't have come to school by bus.
2 You're reading this book because your friend recommended it. (I …)
3 You don't like football, so you didn't watch the game last night. (If …)
4 You passed all your exams because you're a good student. (I …)
5 You didn't have a big breakfast, so you're hungry now. (If …)
6 You're learning how to drive because your parents paid for some lessons. (I …)

8 SPEAKING In your notebook, complete the sentences to make them true for you. Compare your sentences with a partner.

1 If I didn't have a smartphone, (imaginary past result) _____ .
2 If antibiotics hadn't been invented, (imaginary present result) _____ .
3 If I had been born in the USA, (imaginary present result) _____ .
4 If I could fly, (imaginary past result) _____ .
5 If I was a better student, (imaginary past result) _____ .
6 If my dad hadn't woken me up this morning, (imaginary present result) _____ .
7 If my parents were famous actors, (imaginary past result) _____ .

Grammar page 148

Exercise 7
2 I wouldn't be reading this book if a/my friend hadn't recommended it.
3 If I liked football, I would have watched the game last night.
4 I wouldn't have passed all my exams if I wasn't/weren't a good student.
5 If I'd had a big breakfast, I wouldn't be hungry now.
6 I wouldn't be learning how to drive if my parents hadn't paid for some lessons.

6.6 SPEAKING

Discussing ethical issues

I can express opinions in discussions on social issues and add comments using adverbials.

1 SPEAKING Discuss which of these ways of highlighting ethical issues you think are the most effective and why.

handing out leaflets posts on social media the involvement of public figures protest marches petitions

2 SPEAKING Imagine you are organising a 'Say no to fur' campaign at school and need to choose a poster to advertise it. Look at posters 1 and 2 and do the task.

- Choose the poster which you think is more effective and support your choice with reasons.
- Explain why you have rejected the other poster.

3 3.9 Listen to three extracts from an interview with an anti-fur campaigner. Which questions is the campaigner answering in each extract?

Extract 1
(a) Do awareness-raising campaigns and protests really make a difference and if so, how?
b Do fashion designers still like using fur and if so, how important is it to stop the fur trade?
Extract 2
c Why do you think fur is still popular with fashion designers and celebrities?
(d) What are the benefits of getting public figures involved in anti-fur protests?
Extract 3
e Apart from avoiding fur products, what else could members of the public do to help?
(f) If you could send any message to people who wear fur, what would it be?

4 3.9 In your notebook, complete the SPEAKING FOCUS with the words in the box. Then listen again and check.

6.7 USE OF ENGLISH

Compound nouns and adjectives

I can understand and use compound words.

A DAY IN THE LIFE OF A NEWS ANCHOR

I'm a news anchor on the morning show of a local TV station. The question I get asked most is what time I get up. 3 a.m.! And I'm in hair and make-up at 4.30. I wear block colours – no stripes or frills, and no green. We sometimes use green screens so that artificial backgrounds can be superimposed. So if you wear a green top, it doesn't show up against a green background and you appear as a floating head and a pair of arms and legs – very ill-advised and not a good look!

We go live at 6 a.m., and before that I have to read up on the day's news stories. I start by getting an overview of the stories I'll be reporting. We're a local news station so we don't report on foreign affairs.

You can't rehearse – you have to deal with breaking news as it comes in, but I have a lot of backup. A fact-checker has made sure the details of the story are accurate, a copy editor makes sure stories are written in a way that I'd actually say them and when I'm live on air if I become tongue-tied or mess up, I have the director in my ear.

On morning TV, we focus on heartwarming stories. It's the morning and people are eating breakfast – I don't want to give a blow-by-blow account of some hideous crime. Having said that, it's our job to report anything newsworthy.

It's a four-hour programme with several three-minute commercial breaks – that's when I dash to the bathroom, ask about any breaking news and read up on the next interview.

I work nonstop for four hours, but how many jobs finish before midday? It means I can spend time with my four-year-old twins. I go to bed at the same time as they do!

1 SPEAKING Are statements 1–5 true or false? Try to guess. Then read the article to check your ideas.

1 A news anchor can't wear green. T
2 A news anchor can't rehearse the stories. T
3 A news anchor can't hear the director while she/he is on-air. F
4 A news anchor can't report on crime at breakfast time. F
5 A news anchor can't go to the toilet for four hours. F

2 SPEAKING Would you like to be a news anchor or work in television? Tell your partner.

3 In your notebook, match five compound adjectives and nouns in blue in the article with definitions 1–5.

1 likely to have a bad effect = ill-advised
2 a short description including the main ideas = overview
3 unable to speak because of nerves or embarrassment = tongue-tied 4 information about a news event that is still happening = breaking news
5 extremely detailed = blow-by-blow

4 Check whether you understand the meaning of all the other compound nouns and adjectives in blue in the article. Use a dictionary if necessary.

5 Read the LANGUAGE FOCUS. In your notebook, complete it with examples in blue from the article.

LANGUAGE FOCUS

Compound nouns and adjectives

Compound nouns

- A compound noun is normally made up of two words. The first word describes or modifies the second word: a [1] morning show = a show that is on in the morning. Compare: a company car (a type of car) and a car company (a type of company).
- Compound nouns can consist of:
  noun + noun: [2] news anchor, newsreader, health check adjective + noun: [3] foreign affairs verb-ing + noun: breaking [4] news preposition + noun: [5] over*view*
- A significant number are made from phrasal verbs: back sth up → a [6] backup , crack down on sth → a crack-down
- Compound nouns can be written as one word, two words or with a hyphen. Check in a dictionary. The stress is usually on the first syllable.

Compound adjectives

- A compound adjective is usually made from two words and usually written with a hyphen.
- Compound adjectives can consist of:
  number + noun: three-minute, twenty-four-hour
  adjective + noun: high-quality, present-day, deep sea noun + adjective: user-friendly, waist-high, weatherproof noun/adjective/adverb + -ed/-ing participle: [7] *heart*warming , mouth-watering, short-lived, far-fetched, kind-hearted, weather-beaten, broad-shouldered, flat-footed verb + preposition/adverb: made-up, unheard-of
- Some compound adjectives are made from more than two words: four-year-old, blow- [8] by-blow , state-of-the-art
- The noun in a compound adjective is usually singular: a four- [9] hour programme NOT ~~a four-hours programme~~

EXTRA ACTIVITIES

6 In your notebook, match the words from boxes A and B to make common compound colour adjectives. What things can you describe using these colours?

A	B
~~blood~~ charcoal lemon	blue brown green
lime nut sky snow	grey ~~red~~ yellow white a blood-red sky, a blood-red rose, blood-red lips charcoal-grey, lemon-yellow, lime-green, nut-brown, sky-blue, snow-white

7 In your notebook, rewrite the following descriptions with a compound adjective. Use a dictionary if necessary.

1 a young woman with rosy cheeks
a rosy-cheeked young woman
2 a child with curly hair a curly-haired child
3 an old man with thin lips a thin-lipped old man
4 a young sportsman with broad shoulders a broad-shouldered young sportsman
5 a high jumper with long legs a long-legged high jumper
6 a teenager with a kind heart a kind-hearted teenager

8 Read the news story. In your notebook, replace the information in brackets with a compound noun or adjective. Do you believe the boy's explanation?

Real-life teddy bear

A [1] three-year old boy (boy who was three years old) who went missing in woods for two days says a black bear kept him safe. The boy who survived the [2] two-night ordeal (ordeal that lasted two nights) alone in the woods in freezing conditions has told police and family he was helped out by a friendly bear. Rescuers, who had to wade through [3] waist-high water (water that was high to the waist), found him tangled up in thorny bushes. He was taken to hospital for a [4] health check (check on his health) and was found to be a little [5] sunburnt (burned by the sun) but otherwise unhurt. The story of the bear is too far-fetched for some people, but whether a [6] kind-hearted bear (bear with a kind heart) really took care of him, or whether it was all in his imagination, the important thing is that he is safely home with his family.

9 USE OF ENGLISH In your notebook, complete the second sentence so it has a similar meaning to the first. Use no more than five words including the word in capitals.

6.8 WRITING

A review of a TV series

I can write a review of a television series.

1 SPEAKING Discuss the questions in groups.

1 Which old TV series do you consider to be classics and why?
2 Which of today's TV series do you think are the classics of the future and why?
3 What do you know about the series shown in the picture?

2 Read the notice on the website and answer the questions.

1 What kind of website is Pictureshow? Which similar sites do you know? A film and TV review site.
2 What should readers do to enter the competition? Write a review of a recent TV show and explain why you think it will be considered a classic in the future.

Pictureshow TV and film reviews by you, for you.

Tomorrow's Classics Competition

Spotting the classic TV series of tomorrow is no easy task, but that's our challenge for you this month. To enter the competition, send us a review of a recent TV show and explain why you think it will be considered a classic in the future. Our favourite review will appear on the website next month and the winner will receive a €50 cash prize.

3 SPEAKING Read the review. If you have seen Stranger Things, do you agree with the writer's opinion of it? If you haven't, does the review make you want to watch the series? Explain your answers.

1 Take a nostalgic journey back to small-town America in the 1980s with Netflix's dark mystery Stranger Things. This excellent show is heavily influenced by the books and films of Stephen King and Steven Spielberg. Series creators, the Duffer brothers, have combined action, humour and horror to create a well-reviewed sci-fi drama. As far as I'm concerned, it's a TV classic.

2 In season one of Stranger Things, a schoolboy named Will goes missing. His friends, mother and the rest of the town become part of a series of mysterious events involving an unusual young girl named Eleven. It soon becomes clear that something even stranger is hiding in the woods of their town. In season two, the town and its inhabitants are once again threatened by super-natural forces and we are reminded that the worst villains are not always the monsters. Season three not only presents a continuation of this theme, but also shows how the main characters and their relationships have developed with time.

3 Stranger Things is a brilliant show with an unforgettable soundtrack. The plot explores friendships, family ties and even romance. The young cast give wonderful performances and the show is beautifully shot. Unlike many modern shows, it doesn't rely too heavily on special effects. While season one is not particularly scary, season two is more strongly influenced by horror films and is terrifying at times.

4 All in all, Stranger Things offers viewers a gripping story with plenty of twists and turns. From the opening scene, it feels as though you are watching a future TV classic. I can't recommend it enough and have no doubt that people will be talking about it for many years to come.

NEXT CLASS

Ask students to study the Word list on pp. 96–97.

4 Read the review again. Which points a–d below match paragraphs 1–4?

a Summarise your opinions and make a recommendation. 4 b Give your opinion on the story, acting, dialogue, special effects, etc. 3 c Give key information: the name of the series, where and when it is set etc., and your overall opinion. 1
d Summarise the story, but don't give any spoilers. 2

5 Read the WRITING FOCUS and find examples of the advice in the review.

WRITING FOCUS

A review

The goal of a review is to give your personal opinion about something, e.g. a film, a series or a book. The opinion should be supported with examples and recommendations should be given at the end. Reviews are usually written for newspapers, websites or magazines and therefore have a fairly informal style.

Introduction

- Attract the reader's attention with an interesting opening sentence.
- Mention the type of show, the stars/director/writer, the setting, obvious influences, etc.
- State your overall opinion.

Main paragraphs

- Use present tenses to give more details about the plot and the main characters.
- Use present or past tenses to say what you liked/didn't like about the TV series.
- Use a variety of adjectives and modifiers when presenting your opinions.

Conclusion

- Summarise your review.
- Make recommendations.

6 In your notebook, complete the sentences from other reviews with one word from the model in Exercise 3.

1 People will be talking __about__ how bad this is for many years to come.
2 I can't recommend it enough and look forward to the second season.
3 From the __opening__ scene, it is clear that the film is going to be slow and predictable.
4 The cast give confident performances and are a pleasure to watch.
5 The third season is strongly influenced by the films of Quentin Tarantino.
6 At times, the show is poorly __shot__ and relies too heavily on low quality special effects.
7 To sum up, Schumer's new sitcom is hilarious and full of unexpected __twists__ and turns.
8 The rather far-fetched plot __explores__ the idea of an alien invasion.

7 In your notebook, match adjectives in purple in the review and Exercise 6 with their definitions in the LANGUAGE FOCUS box. Is each one positive, negative, or a matter of taste?

LANGUAGE FOCUS

Adjectives for reviews

Use a range of adjectives to make your review interesting.

1 very funny = hilarious positive
2 impossible to forget = unforgettable positive
3 extremely frightening = __terrifying__ a matter of taste
4 exciting = __gripping__ positive
5 emotional about the past = __nostalgic__ a matter of taste
6 hard to believe = far-fetched negative
7 liked by critics = well-reviewed positive
8 easy to guess = predictable negative

8 In your notebook, complete the sentences with the most suitable adjective from the LANGUAGE FOCUS. Use each adjective only once.

1 This comedy is __hilarious__ . It will have you laughing out loud.
2 Although the show was well-reviewed on several TV websites, we found it average at best.
3 For me this series is unforgettable . I haven't stopped thinking about it since I finished watching it.
4 This show takes a __nostalgic__ look at life in the UK in the 1920s.
5 Don't watch this zombie series alone because it is truly __terrifying__ .
6 This predictable sitcom is no different to a thousand others you've seen before.
7 If you don't mind a far-fetched plot involving aliens and cowboys, you'll probably enjoy this series.
8 Each episode is so __gripping__ , it's almost impossible to stop watching and go to bed.

9 SPEAKING In pairs, think of shows, films or actors to fit some of the descriptions in Exercises 6 and 8.

SHOW WHAT YOU'VE LEARNT

10 Do the writing task in your notebook. Use the ideas in the WRITING FOCUS and the LANGUAGE FOCUS to help you.

Napisz artykuł na stronę internetową szkoły o serialu, który wywarł na tobie duże wrażenie. W artykule przedstaw główne wątki serialu oraz wyjaśnij, dlaczego jest on popularny wśród młodzieży.

Wypowiedź powinna zawierać od 200 do 250 słów i spełniać wszystkie wymogi typowe dla formy wskazanej w poleceniu.

Exercise 5

Opening sentence: Take a nostalgic journey back to small-town America in the 1980s with Netflix's dark mystery Stranger Things.

Overall opinion: As far as I'm concerned, it's a TV classic.

Details about the plot: In season one of Stranger Things, a schoolboy named Will goes missing.

What you liked/disliked: Unlike many modern shows, it doesn't rely too heavily on special effects.

Adjectives and modifiers: unforgettable soundtrack, wonderful performances, beautifully shot.

Summary: All in all, Stranger Things offers viewers a gripping story with plenty of twists and turns.

Recommendation: I can't recommend it enough.

WORD LIST ACTIVITIES

• Play Snowman with the new words. On the board, write a dash for each letter of a word which the students need to guess. Draw a part of the snowman for each wrong guess (e.g. the body, its eyes). The team who guesses the word before the snowman is complete wins a point. If a team makes a wrong guess and you draw the last part of the snowman, they lose a point.

'Prodigal Summer'

by Barbara Kingsolver

This novel is the story of two women whose lives change dramatically over the course of one summer. It doesn't have a(n) [1]___ plot like some of Kingsolver's other books, but neither is it too slow or predictable, with one or two surprising twists along the way. First and foremost, it's about the characters. Both women have [2]___ opinions about how they want to live their lives and both [3]___ believe in the importance of respecting the natural world. It's set in the [4]___ USA, in the small farming community of Egg Fork in the Zebulon Mountains, a made-up place, but typical of the Appalachian Mountains of North Carolina, and the landscape and its wildlife are ever-present in the [5]___ . The women's stories are also linked up with a third character, an elderly local farmer who is nostalgic for a past way of life and who initially seems angry and bitter, but who turns out to be surprisingly [6]___ .

1	A eye-catching	B gripping	C newsworthy	D remarkable
2	A hard	B tough	C strong	D heavy
3	A greatly	B honestly	C completely	D firmly
4	A nowadays	B real-time	C present-day	D up-to-date
5	A foreground	B backdrop	C background	D back-story
6	A heart-warming	B kind-hearted	C hard-hearted	D single-minded

6 Uzupełnij zdania wyrazami z nawiasów w odpowiedniej formie. Nie zmieniaj kolejności podanych wyrazów i dodaj wszystkie niezbędne elementy, tak aby otrzymać logiczne i poprawne gramatycznie zdania. W każdą lukę możesz wpisać maksymalnie pięć słów.

1 I would not have told (not/tell) Christie my secret then if she were not a trustworthy person.
2 I'm pretty sure that if you had listened to the advice (listen/advice) which I gave you last time, you wouldn't be in such a terrible situation now.
3 Suppose you had missed (you/miss) your flight last night, what would you have done?
4 If you hadn't forgotten the keys, we would not be standing (not/stand) outside our house in the cold right now.
5 I'm sure there will be an investigation unless the company releases (unless/company/release) its financial report.
6 Tim wouldn't be giving you any free lessons were he not your (be/he/not/you) good friend.

THE POWER OF IMAGES

It's often said that a picture is worth a thousand words. There's something appealing about images that makes them a powerful tool for communication.

As you scroll through your social media feed or browse a news website, what is it that prompts you to read on? The chances are that it's the images that attract your attention. Online content that is accompanied by an image is more likely to prompt engagement, in the form of clicks, likes and shares, than straightforward text.

This phenomenon is especially important to digital marketers. They will tell you that on average people only read around 20 percent of the text on a web page. When it comes to remembering information, it is said that we retain around 80 percent of what we see versus only 20 percent of what we read and just 10 percent of what we hear. Although these figures are criticised by experts as an oversimplification, visuals do play an important role in how we deal with content in an information-rich world. Producing eye-catching visuals to attach to digital content is vital for anyone who wants to get their message across to the maximum number of people.

It's not only in the commercial world that the power of the image is being recognised. Governments and NGOs such as the World Health Organisation are acknowledging the importance of social media in communicating public health messages. Research into social media engagement during one recent disease outbreak, for example, found that it was image-based platforms such as Instagram that were most effective in communicating vital health messages. Whilst there is some concern amongst healthcare professionals that what starts off as helpful messages can easily get distorted as they're shared and reshared, specialists say that social media has huge potential for promoting public health.

Political journalists and campaigners have also long understood the power of an image. In a social media age, though, just posting a striking image that is sure to go viral has been labelled by some as 'slacktivism'. That is the idea that people will like and share an image without really thinking about the ideas behind it or engaging with the political message. The challenge for activists, journalists, marketers and governments is to develop a social media strategy that includes eye-catching visuals, but is also more than skin deep.

Images play a key role in how we process all kinds of information. When looking at information online, people are far more likely [1] to engage with content if it includes an image of some kind. Apparently, we remember only a tiny percentage of information in the form of text or audio, but a much greater proportion of ideas presented [2] visually/in the form of images/pictures . This fact is exploited by those involved in [3] (digital) marketing to help make their messages stand out. Images are also increasingly being used by official bodies to communicate [4] (important) health/public messages to the widest possible audience and by journalists and activists to promote political campaigns. However, this use of eye-catching images that quickly spread has been criticised as an example of 'slacktivism' because it is superficial and doesn't really [5] engage people with the underlying message.

MÓWIENIE

8 Pracując w parach, wykonajcie zadanie i odpowiedzcie na pytania.

Popatrz na plakaty A i B. Władze twojej miejscowości podjęły decyzję o zamknięciu młodzieżowego ośrodka kultury. Uczniowie twojej klasy sprzeciwiają się tej decyzji i organizują pikietę, do udziału w której mają zachęcać plakaty wywieszone w szkole. Masz do wyboru dwa plakaty.

- Wybierz ten plakat, który twoim zdaniem będzie bardziej odpowiedni i uzasadnij swój wybór.
- Wyjaśnij, dlaczego odrzucasz drugą propozycję.

1 Should young people get involved in campaigns that concern their local areas? Why?/Why not?
2 Is it better to express your opinion on a controversial issue or to keep quiet? Why?/Why not?
3 What's the most effective way to persuade somebody to change their opinion? What makes you think so?
4 What are the advantages of using social media to organise an event?

7.1 VOCABULARY

Science • scientific research
• prepositions after verbs and nouns
• words in science

I can talk about science and scientific research.

SHOW WHAT YOU KNOW

1 For each adjective in the box, add a subject and a person. Write the answers in your notebook. Add any other science word families that you know.

archaeological astronomical biological botanical chemical geological mathematical physical archaeological: archaeology, archaeologist

2 SPEAKING Look at the subjects in Exercise 1. Which science is the most/least difficult to study?

3 SPEAKING Between 1901 and 2019 the Nobel Prize for Chemistry and Physics was awarded to 386 men and only 8 women. Discuss possible reasons for this and say if you think the situation is changing.

4 Read the text. What scientists are mentioned and what are their fields of study? What do they have in common?

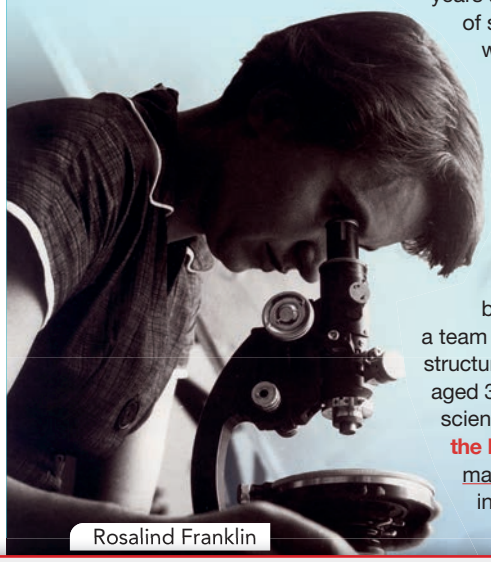
FEMALE SCIENTISTS
Changing The World

In any web search for the world's famous scientists, Marie Curie always receives a mention. Curie, a Polish and naturalised French physicist and chemist, discovered radiation, helped apply it in the field of X-rays and coined the term radioactivity. She made a huge contribution to science, but was one of the very few women who gained the recognition they deserved.

Science was a man's world in the nineteenth century. And yet, Mary Anning became an expert in fossils and geology. Coming from a poor family, she collected fossils on the beach and sold them to make a little money. She found fossils of complete marine reptiles that became extinct over 100 million years ago. She gained the respect of scientists, but living in an era when women weren't allowed to vote or attend university, she was not allowed to join the Geological Society of London.



Rosalind Franklin

A hundred years later, conditions were still difficult for female scientists. Rosalind Franklin, a chemist born in 1920, was part of a team who discovered the molecular structure of DNA. Tragically, she died aged 37, four years before her fellow scientists, all men, were awarded the Nobel Prize in 1962. They made no reference to Franklin in their acceptance speech.

5 3.10 SPEAKING Listen to a podcast about another famous scientist, Ada Lovelace. What was she famous for?
For working on the first type of computer and inventing the first algorithm.

6 3.10 Listen again and answer the questions.

1 What did Ada Lovelace collaborate with Charles Babbage on?
2 How do people refer to Charles Babbage?
3 Who is credited with inventing the first computer algorithm?
4 In what way did Lovelace see the true potential of the computer?
5 How easy was it for women to have access to education in the 19th century?
6 When did Ada Lovelace find out that she had an aptitude for calculations?
7 Did many women manage to win the respect of their fellow scientists?
8 What did the US Department of Defense name after Lovelace?

FOCUS ON WORDS | Scientific research

7 3.11 In your notebook, complete the collocations in red in the text and Exercise 6 with the correct noun. Then listen, check and repeat.

1 award a prize
2 coin a term
3 gain recognition
4 make a contribution
5 receive a mention
6 recognise an achievement
7 see the potential
8 win respect

A similar injustice happened when British astrophysicist Jocelyn Bell Burnell discovered radio pulsars, described as the greatest astronomical discovery of the twentieth century. Her supervisor and his male colleague were awarded the 1974 Nobel Prize in Physics for the discovery, and she was completely left out. Many astronomers criticised the decision, but Bell Burnell finally gained recognition in 2007 when she was made Woman of the Year for her remarkable contributions to science.

In cases where women's achievements were recognised, we still find evidence of discrimination in the way these were reported in the press. When the brilliant chemist Dorothy Hodgkin was awarded the Nobel Prize in 1964 for discovering the molecular structure of penicillin and vitamin B_{12}, the paper headline was Oxford Housewife Wins Nobel. In fact, this housewife was also a professor at Oxford University.

Today the gender gap in the world of science is slowly closing and there are many female scientists inspiring new generations of girls to study scientific subjects. But there is still some way to go for women to be equally represented in science.

8 SPEAKING In your notebooks, complete the descriptions with appropriate verbs and match them to the scientists in Exercise 4. Then write short descriptions of the two scientists who are NOT described. Discuss who you admire most.
Dorothy Hodgkin and Rosalind Franklin are not described.

1 She saw the true potential of the 'Analytical Engine' and the US Department of Defense recognised her achievements by naming a computer language after her.
2 She coined the term 'radioactivity' and always receives a mention as one of the world's most famous scientists.
3 Surprisingly, she was not awarded the Nobel Prize for her discovery of radio pulsars in outer space.
4 She won the respect of fellow scientists and found evidence of animals that had become extinct 100 million years ago.

FOCUS ON WORDS | Prepositions after verbs and nouns

9 3.12 In your notebook, complete the underlined phrases in the text and Exercise 6 with the correct preposition. Then listen, check and repeat.

2 collaborate with sb
3 credit sb with sth
4 have access to sth
5 have an aptitude for sth
6 make reference/refer to sth
7 name sth after sb

10 SPEAKING In your notebook, complete the questions with a verb or a noun. Then ask and answer the questions.

1 What software programmes do you have access to at school?
2 What area of science would you like to be an expert in?
3 If you were doing a science project, who would you collaborate with?
4 Which school subjects do you think you have an aptitude for?
5 Is there somebody in your family who you were named after?

FOCUS ON WORDS | Words in science

7.2 GRAMMAR

Advanced passive forms

I can use a variety of advanced passive forms.

1 SPEAKING Discuss what would happen in your home if all screens were banned for six months. Then read what happened to the Maushart family and compare.

What happened when mum pulled the plug on technology

Susan Maushart unplugged her teenagers and for six months the family lived without their devices. Family rooms were no longer lit up by the light of screens and no electronic noises could be heard through the night.

Maushart decided to unplug the family because nothing was ever properly switched off. She'd constantly told her children to turn their devices off when doing their homework, but even when they should have been switched off, they were bleeping away in the background.

So what happened? Once the children had been made to turn off their technology, the family rediscovered small pleasures like board games, books and listening to music together. Susan Maushart's son was given a saxophone and took up music seriously. If the Internet was needed for homework, her older daughter just went to the library. The youngest daughter hated being unplugged, but Susan Maushart believes her children became more focused thanks to being less dependent on technology. She now believes all families need to be encouraged to unplug periodically.

2 Read the GRAMMAR FOCUS. Which forms of be complete the sentences correctly? Then check your answers in the text.

GRAMMAR FOCUS 30

Advanced passive forms

- Passive forms with present or past modal verb structures.
  … no electronic noises could [1] be heard through the night.
  … even when they should [2] have been switched off, they were bleeping …
- Passive forms with verbs that take two objects, i.e. a person – usually the indirect object, and a thing – usually the direct object (give sb sth, send sb sth, show sb sth, etc.)
  Her son [3] was given a saxophone. (the 'person' is the topic – more common)
  A saxophone was given to her son. (the 'thing' is the topic – less common)
- Passive forms with verbs + -ing or verbs + to + infinitive.
  The youngest daughter hated [4] being unplugged.
  … all families need [5] to be encouraged …

Note: make sb do sth → be made to do sth
Once the children had been made to turn off their technology …

3 In your notebook, rewrite the sentences in the passive starting with the underlined object.

1 You can buy absolutely anything on the Internet these days.
Absolutely anything can be bought on the Internet these days.
2 Nobody could have predicted the importance of the Internet back in the 1970s.
3 You must protect your computer with anti-virus software.
4 Architects may have designed Bill Gates's house on an Apple computer.
5 You can control the volume of a YouTube video with the up/down arrows on your keyboard.
6 They should have given Albert Einstein a Nobel Prize for his theory of relativity.

4 Find the indirect object in each sentence. In your notebook, rewrite the sentences in the passive using by if necessary. Which sentences are true for you?

1 Yesterday, people sent me more than fifty messages.
Yesterday, I was sent more than fifty messages.
2 My parents might give me a new laptop for my next birthday.
3 They have promised us some new computers for the school.
4 People owe me lots of money.
5 They should offer my father a new job.
6 Today a temporary teacher is teaching us IT.

5 SPEAKING In your notebook, write sentences using the passive infinitive or -ing form. Use the prompts. Then discuss the statements.

Most teenagers …
1 don't enjoy (shout at)
Most teenagers don't enjoy being shouted at.
2 can't stand (ignore) being ignored.
3 would prefer (not criticise) not to be criticised.
4 would like (take seriously) to be taken seriously.
5 get tired of (judge) of being judged.
6 just want (love) to be loved.
7 dislike (tell what to do) being told what to do.
8 aren't interested in (compare to other teenagers) being compared to other teenagers.

Multiple choice

I can extract the main points from a news report about problems with technology.

1 SPEAKING Look at the cartoons and identify what problems they illustrate. Discuss any similar problems you have had with technology.

2 3.15 Listen and match three of the cartoons (A–D) with the situations (1–3). 1 D 2 B 3 A

Exercise 1

A stealing a phone from a moped

B following sat-nav to the wrong place

C breaking a mobile phone screen

D not having enough money and/or not being tech savvy

LISTENING FOCUS Multiple choice

3 3.15 Listen again. For questions 1–3, choose the correct answer, A, B or C. Write the answers in your notebook.

1 The shop assistant wants to
- A warn Julie against buying cheap laptops.
- (B) persuade Julie to increase her planned budget.
- C encourage Julie to store films and music on a laptop.

2 What are the people doing?
- (A) arguing whether to follow the navigation or not
- B discussing the best way to their destination
- C consulting a map to find their way

3 Choose the most appropriate headline for this news report.
- A MOPED CRIME RISES BY 30 PERCENT IN LONDON
- B MOBILE THEFTS HIGHER ON PUBLIC TRANSPORT
- (C) MOPED THIEVES TARGET MOBILE PHONE USERS

4 In your notebook, complete the sentences about the recordings with the words in the box. There are four extra words.

7.4 READING

Multiple choice

I can scan a set of related texts to find specific information.

1 SPEAKING Discuss the statements below and try to guess the correct answers. Then read the two texts quickly and check your answers.

WHAT DO YOU KNOW ABOUT MICROBES?

1. Microbes are microscopic creatures / insects / plants.
2. Your body consists of 5 / 17 / 57 percent microbes.
3. Bacteria are always / usually / sometimes beneficial.
4. Most microbes that live in our body are located in the respiratory / digestive / nervous system.
5. You need to wash your hands for 5 / 15 / 60 seconds to wash off harmful germs.
6. If you chop meat on a board, clean the board immediately / within an hour / later.
7. Dogs' saliva is never / often / not usually harmful to humans.

2 SPEAKING Discuss how you feel about the topic in the texts. Is it something that interests you? Why?/Why not?

READING FOCUS Multiple choice

3 Read the texts again. For questions 1–5, choose the correct answer, A, B, C or D. Write the answers in your notebook.

1 The microbes that live on a human
- A can be washed away.
- B are not beneficial because they're hidden away.
- C have no effects on our bodies at all.
- D are harmful if they are of a certain kind.

2 The gut microbiome
- A is similar among members of the same family.
- B is responsible for how we react to what we eat.
- C doesn't respond to drugs and medicine.
- D is routinely monitored by doctors.

3 What is fact according to Text A?
- A The microbiome controls people's sleep patterns.
- B No two people have identical gut microbiomes.
- C The majority of disease is caused by an unhealthy gut microbiome.
- D In future, microbes could be the basis of a new form of medicine.

4 Text B states that too much washing and cleaning could be dangerous because
- A all bacteria are beneficial to our health.
- B you could be at higher risk of infection.
- C humans need exposure to a wide range of bacteria.
- D cleaning products can cause asthma and allergies.

5 Both texts state that exposure to microbes
- A will strengthen the immune system.
- B can be eliminated if we wash more.
- C happens exclusively in the gut.
- D will lead to you getting a disease.

FOCUS ON WORDS | Medical conditions

4 3.20 In your notebook, match the words in blue in the text with their definitions. Then listen, check and repeat.

1 the response of the body's immune system to some substances = allergy
2 a condition that causes breathing difficulties = asthma
3 a condition that affects how people communicate and interact with others = autism
4 a condition that causes people to feel unhappy = depression
5 when your blood glucose is too high = diabetes
6 it protects against infections = immune system
7 a disease/condition caused by viruses or bacteria = infection
8 when a person carries excess weight that might affect their health = obesity

5 3.21 In your notebook, complete the news report with the words in Exercise 4. Then listen and check.

Cities are taking steps to tackle air pollution following reports into its impact on human health. Children are at the highest risk of being affected because their [1] immune systems aren't strong enough to fight off [2] infections. If they breathe in polluted air over a long period, they may develop [3] asthma or other lung conditions. People who suffer from pollen [4] allergies in the summer get worse symptoms in cities where diesel fumes act as an irritant. [5] Obesity and Type 2 [6] diabetes are not only due to lifestyle or genetic factors but also to traffic-related air pollution.

FOCUS ON WORDS | Word families

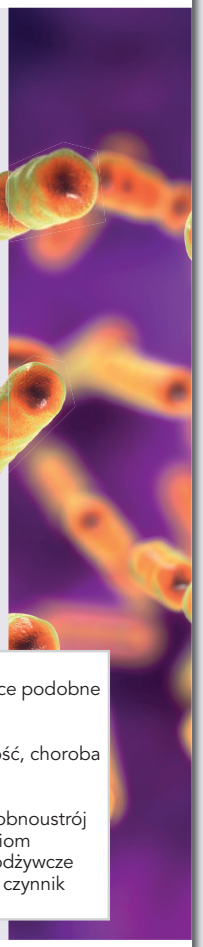
THE HUMAN MICROBIOME

Why our microbes could be key to our health



Did you know that more than half of your body is not human? The average adult has just under 40 trillion microbial cells and about 30 trillion human ones. In other words, human cells make up only 43 percent of the body's total cell count. The rest are microbes. No matter how well you wash, nearly every part of your body is covered in microscopic creatures. This includes bacteria, viruses, fungi and archaea, each with their own DNA, and together they are known as the human microbiome. 90 percent of this microscopic life is hidden away in our digestive system. But it would be naive to think that we carry around so much microbial material without it having any effect on our bodies at all.

Microbes and bacteria have a negative reputation and it's true that some microbes are known to cause disease and these are called pathogens. Others only become harmful if they get in the wrong place or grow in number. But the majority of microbes are essential for our health: they regulate the immune system, provide nutrients for our cells, help digestion and protect us against disease.

Different parts of the body all have very different communities of microbes. In his book, I Contain Multitudes, Ed Yong compares the body's microbiome to the earth's ecosystems. Just as the ecosystems of a rainforest and a desert are very different, he writes, so the microbiome of the skin is completely different from the gut. Microbiomes also differ between two people. In fact, each individual has a unique gut microbiome, as personal as a fingerprint. Rob Knight of the University of California San Diego and an expert on the human microbiome explains that differences in the microbiome of the gut help to explain why people respond differently to the same foods.

It is thought that 90 percent of disease can be linked back in some way to the gut and the health of the microbiome. Over recent years, the gut microbiome has been associated with a wide range of conditions such as diabetes, autism, depression and obesity. It has also been linked to how individuals respond to certain drugs (and is affected by the drugs we take, such as antibiotics). It has even been suggested that it could be connected with how well we sleep. Microbial medicine is in its early stages, but some researchers think that it will become routine for doctors to keep an eye on the makeup of patients' microbiomes. Microbiome-derived medicine may well be the future of precision medicine.

ALL YOUR HEALTH QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Being too clean may be bad for your health

Q I shower every morning, wear clean clothes every day and I carry a hand sanitiser that I use regularly throughout the day to keep my hands clean, especially after touching my pet dog. My house is spotless and you won't see a dirty dish in the kitchen. But now I hear that being too clean may be bad for my health. Is this true?

A We need to strike the right balance between keeping obsessively clean and learning to live with the bacteria around us. We know that certain bacteria cause diseases, and in recent times, sanitation and cleanliness have dramatically improved our health. But not all bacteria are bad. In fact, lots of them are extremely useful and beneficial to our health. So the question is, how can we avoid disease from the bad bacteria while nurturing the good bacteria?

First, let me be clear – I'd never suggest skipping the essentials, such as washing your hands. Scientists consider dirty hands as one of the most likely reasons why infections are passed between us. Getting your hands clean is not just a question of how long you wash them, but how well. Experts say you have to apply soap and water, rub all surfaces of the hands thoroughly for at least fifteen seconds, then rinse under running water and then dry them. The rubbing with soap detaches the germs from your skin, while the rinsing and drying takes them off the hands. But not all of our body has to be washed so thoroughly. A long shower every day may not be advisable, as it removes the 'good bacteria' from our skin.

Around the house, the solution for fighting the wrong kind of bacteria isn't excessive cleaning, but the right kind of cleaning. For instance, if you chop vegetables on your chopping board, you can wait until after your meal to wash it up. Not so if you've chopped raw fish or meat, when instant action is required, or you may increase the risk of infection.

Sometimes, it's good to get dirty! Research shows that children who grow up on farms are less likely to have problems like allergies and asthma and this is because they're exposed to a wonderful biodiversity of bacteria in the soil, rich in beneficial microbes. Dogs are also good for helping you to develop healthy bacteria – next time a slobbery dog jumps up at you, don't push it away. Instead, think about how the bacteria in its saliva may be boosting your immune system.

sanitation = urządzenia sanitarne, kanalizacja sanitiser = płyn dezynfekujący nurture = żywić

WHERE DO OUR NUMBERS COME FROM?

Around 500 BC, the Greek philosopher [1] Pythagoras is understood to have come up with the idea of odd and even numbers. [2] It is said that Pythagoras prepared the way for many famous Greek mathematicians including Archimedes. [3] Archimedes is considered to be one of the greatest mathematicians of all time. He discovered how to measure the volume of an object with an irregular shape. [4] He is believed to have been taking a bath when he made the discovery, and leapt out shouting 'Eureka!' ('I have found it!'). Unfortunately, Archimedes was killed by a Roman soldier in 212 BC and mathematics entered a dark age. [5] It is thought that the Romans just weren't interested in mathematics.

Brahmi numerals around 300 AD

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
𑁒	𑁓	𑁔	𑁕	𑁖	𑁗	𑁘	𑁙	𑁚

[6] There are known to have been several other civilizations, including the Maya people in Mexico and scholars in ancient China, who contributed to the advancement of mathematics. However, the next big breakthrough was probably in 500 AD when the Indians invented 'zero'. They had already created symbols for the numbers one to nine. In fact, [7] it could be argued that our 'Arabic numerals' should rather be known as 'Indian numerals'. After all, it was actually the Indians who invented them.

Dialogue 3

A: Dan, I have to answer this question for homework. Can you help, please?
B: Sure, what's the question?
A: 'In what ways might socially intelligent robots benefit human society?'
B: Hmm. Well, I suppose the ability to have conversations with our machines will make a big difference.
A: I'm not sure I [5] follow you.
B: Well, we interact with today's machines mostly by typing or pushing buttons, but some phones and tablets already understand voice commands, right? Imagine they and other machines could react to what you say and talk back to you properly.
A: Hmm. OK. If I understand [6] correctly , you mean we'll be able to have a conversation with our television or our fridge, right?
B: Yes, that's [7] pretty much it.
A: I'm not sure I'd want to have a conversation with a fridge.
B: Why not?
A: Well, they have a reputation for being rather cold.
B: Oh, very funny.

Exercise 3

1 To locate submarines.
2 He made GPS available to all civilian airlines.
3 Four systems: US, Russia, EU, China.
4 You'd be up to six miles away from your true location.
5 By measuring the melting of the ice caps.

7.7 USE OF ENGLISH

Easily confused words

I can understand and use words that are easily confused.

1 SPEAKING What do you know about GPS? Discuss the questions.

1 What does GPS stand for? Global Positioning System
2 How does GPS work? Three satellites measure the distance and triangulate your position, a fourth one corrects the position.
3 When do you use GPS?
4 What other uses do you think it has?

2 Read the text. Which headings A–D match paragraphs 1–4 correctly? Check your ideas in Exercise 1.

A GPS takes Einstein's theory into account
B GPS is owned and operated by the US government
C GPS isn't just for determining location
D GPS isn't the only navigation system

Four things you didn't know about GPS

[1] B

Originally, the system was built by the US Navy to locate submarines, and consisted of six satellites which eventually grew to ten. This model preceded the Global Positioning System or GPS as we know it today. At first, GPS was reserved for military use, but in 1983 US President Reagan made a historic decision to let all civilian commercial aircraft use it.

[2] D

GPS is just one of several space-based radio navigation systems. Currently, there are four global navigation systems: GPS (US), GLONASS (RUSSIA), Galileo (EU) and BeiDou (China). These navigation systems are essential for military operations, so some countries prefer not to be dependent on another country in case problems arise.

[3] A

Twenty-four satellites ensure that at least four satellites are in sight of any location on Earth at all times. Four satellites are needed to provide data to calculate an exact position. The GPS receiver measures the distance to three satellites by the amount of time it takes to receive a transmitted signal. A fourth satellite is used to account for Albert Einstein's general theory of relativity, that time moves faster for those satellites that are further from sources of gravity. Without correction, this would affect the exact location by about six miles. That, in a nutshell, is the principle on which the GPS is based.

[4] C

Most people associate GPS with giving directions when driving. But there are other important uses for this powerful tool. GPS helps farmers by gathering data about soil, weather patterns and expected rainfall. It is also used to find evidence of the speed at which the ice caps are melting, or the deserts are advancing, and this information contributes to environmental advice and warnings. GPS can even predict whether a natural disaster is likely and help to manage the consequences.

3 Decide which words complete the sentences correctly. Then answer the questions.

1 What was the purpose of the original US system that proceeded / (preceded) GPS?
2 What (historic) / historical decision did US President Reagan make in 1983?
3 Actually / (Currently), how many systems are there and who do they belong to?
4 How would your location be (affected) / effected if only three satellites were in (sight) / site?
5 How can GPS contribute to environmental (advice) / advise?

4 Read the LANGUAGE FOCUS. In your notebook, complete it by matching the words in blue in the text to the words they are often confused with.

LANGUAGE FOCUS

Easily confused words

Lots of English words cause problems because they are easily confused. If in doubt, it is always best to check in a dictionary.

- Words that look or sound similar, but have different meanings cite/site/[1] sight conscious/conscientious dessert/[2] desert late/lately lose/loose principal/[3] principle proceeded/[4] preceded sensible/sensitive weather/[5] whether
- Words that look or sound similar and have similar meanings (this often includes words from the same word family) alike/likely advise/[6] advice alone/lone/lonely
  assure/insure/[7] ensure breathe/breath dependant/[8] dependent economic/economical effect/[9] affect historical/[10] historic lay/lie migrate/immigrate/emigrate raise/rise/[11] arise
- Words that look or sound different, but have similar meanings after all/finally/lastly/[12] eventually comprise/consist of/include occasion/opportunity
- False friends are words that look or sound similar to words in your language, but have different meanings realise (know or understand) ≠ perform or carry out actually (in fact) ≠ [13] currently [14] data (information) ≠ date

EXTRA ACTIVITIES

- Photocopiable resource 47 Nought on the confusion scale (12–20 min.) pp. 299, 355
- After ex. 5, students write a list of five extra statements using the verbs from the LANGUAGE FOCUS. They then discuss their statements in different pairs than in ex. 5.

5 Decide which options complete the sentences correctly. Which statements do you agree with?

1 It's so easy to (lose) / loose track of time when you're on your phone.
2 Technology is useful, but it makes you lone / (lonely) / alone.
3 Going to bed (late) / lately every night is not good for your health.
4 The arise / raise / (rise) in antisocial behaviour is due to too much screen time.
5 So it seems, (after all) / finally / lastly, that money doesn't buy you happiness.
6 If (present) / actual trends continue, cybercrime will (affect) / effect all of us.

6 In your notebook, complete the sentences with different parts of speech by changing one letter in the words in bold.

1 You can advise someone or give someone advice.
2 You can practise the guitar or do some guitar __practice__ .
3 You can breathe in deeply or take a deep __breath__ .
4 You can be dependent on someone or be someone's dependant.
5 A situation can affect you badly or have a bad __effect__ on you.

7 USE OF ENGLISH In your notebook, complete the text with the appropriate form of the words in the box. There are two extra words.

affect depend economy interest like migration sense sure

Many species of bird [1] __migrate__ twice a year often travelling long distances, especially if their natural habitat suffers harsh winters. Scientists are [2] interested in finding out how they navigate on these journeys. They know that birds are [3] __sensitive__ to light and use the sun and stars to [4] __ensure__ that they know where north is located. Some researchers think they may also recognise landmarks, but it's doubtful that they are completely [5] dependent on this method because they can still navigate on cloudy days and fly across the oceans where there are no landmarks. The latest thinking is that they're [6] __likely__ to use more than one method, including detecting the Earth's magnetic field.

8 SPEAKING Ask each other the questions choosing the correct words.

1 Are you economic / (economical)? Do you hate waste?
2 Do you lay / (lie) on your front when you're sleeping?
3 Are there any (historic) / historical buildings near your school?
4 Will you ever get an occasion / (opportunity) to go to Australia?
5 Would you say you were a person of strong (principles) / principals?
6 Are you a conscious / (conscientious) student?

9 In your notebook, replace each underlined word or phrase with a word from the box so that the meaning is the same.

Exercise 1

1 The ability of a computer programme or machine to think and learn (or similar).

7.8 WRITING

A narrative

I can write an entertaining narrative using a variety of verbs to describe ways of speaking.

1 SPEAKING Work in groups. Discuss the questions about Artificial Intelligence (AI).

1 What is AI? Write a short definition.
2 How do you feel about the idea of living in a world where AI is more advanced than human intelligence?
3 What problems might there be if it was impossible to tell the difference between a human and a robot?

2 SPEAKING The image on this page is from the story you are about to read. Say what might be happening in it. Now read the story and find out.

3 SPEAKING What did Robert discover about himself in his parents' office? What exactly do you think his parents' job is?

4 Study the WRITING FOCUS and find examples of each point in the story in Exercise 2.

Exercise 3

That he is not human. That he is a robot with artificial intelligence.

We can assume that their job is to research, develop and care for Robert.

WRITING FOCUS

Structure of a narrative

Short stories are usually written from a first-person point of view (the main character tells the story) or a third-person point of view (the writer tells the story but is not a character in it).

Beginning

- Get the reader's attention with a dramatic or mysterious opening, a statement by one of the main characters, or a detail concerning an important place or person from the story.
- Set the scene. Say where and when the story takes place and introduce the main characters.

Middle

- Use narrative tenses to describe the action.
- Add drama and interest with shorter sentences.
- Use language that appeals to the senses to describe what the characters see, hear and feel.
- Report speech using a variety of verbs.
- Give characters a voice using direct speech.

End

- Conclude the story with a twist, a lesson learned, a decision taken (as a result of what happened), or a later event linked to the story.

Exercise 4

Get the reader's attention: Robert Weaver discovered he was not in fact Robert Weaver on Independence Day, 2092.

Set the scene: His mother and father were celebrating at their company headquarters on Earth-Station One and had left Robert home alone for the weekend.

Use narrative tenses: With his parents away, Robert had decided to throw a party. It was going well …

Shorter sentences: But word had spread, and soon the house was full.

Appealing to the senses: A small group had gone downstairs and seen a strange blue glow coming from under one of the doors.

Report speech: he/she insisted they find out what it was

ROBERT WEAVER discovered he was not in fact Robert Weaver on Independence Day, 2092. His parents were celebrating at their company headquarters on Earth-Station One and had left the 17-year-old home alone for the weekend. They worked in advanced computing, though exactly what they did their son wasn't sure. Their office, in the basement of the house, remained locked at all times and Robert was strictly forbidden from entering. 'Top secret and extremely dangerous,' his parents had warned him many times.

With his mother and father away, Robert had decided to throw a party. It was going well, just a few friends hanging out and having fun. But word had spread, and soon the house was full. A small group had gone downstairs and seen a strange blue glow coming from under one of the doors. 'Something's in there,' whispered one of the girls and insisted they find out what it was. Just as they were breaking in, Robert appeared at the bottom of the stairs. 'What are you … No!' he yelled, terrified of what his parents would say. But it was too late.

The room was more of a high-tech laboratory than an office, and in its centre they all saw what appeared to be a glowing blue holographic model of a human body. Robert raised his hands to his mouth in shock, and the hologram made precisely the same movement. As he turned to the others, the hologram mirrored him once again. 'What is this?' gasped Robert.

One of the girls in the doorway screamed, and another said in a shocked voice 'You're not human, Robert! You're … You must be an android. And that is your 3D image … because ONLY androids have holographic models!'

NEXT CLASS

Ask students to study the Word list on pp. 112–113.

110

5 Look at the beginnings of six stories (1–6). Which beginnings …

a use a dramatic or mysterious opening? 1, 5 b use a direct quote to get the reader's attention? 2, 4
c describe a detail or a place important for the story? 3, 6

1 The morning after the brain implant, Zara Jones stretched, sighed and got out of bed. When she pulled back the curtains, she realised nothing was the same as it had been yesterday.

2 'Stand against the wall!' snapped the home-help droid at the frightened family. The revolution had begun at exactly four minutes past six.

3 Neither of the suns had risen that day and the only light in Milo Haver's apartment came from the communications screen. The extra hours of darkness presented tech-thieves like Milo with a rare opportunity.

4 'Please let me out!' sobbed 17-year-old Kevin Saunders, but the Saunders' smart-house refused once again.

5 They had been hunting for Robot AI71 for almost a week when they finally found her. She was missing a finger and her battery was critically low.

6 The sensors showed that the child was asleep. His mother remembered switching off his AI toys. So why could she hear giggling coming from the bedroom?

6 In your notebook, match the base forms of the speech verbs in purple in the story and in Exercise 5 with the definitions in the LANGUAGE FOCUS.

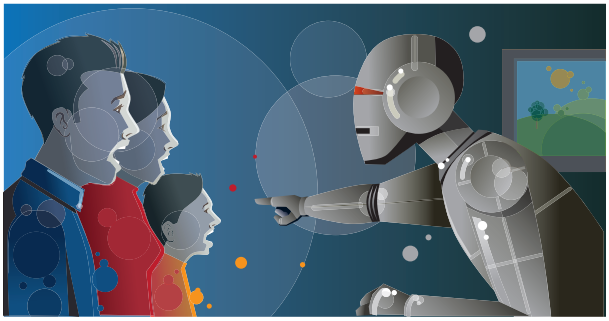
LANGUAGE FOCUS

Speech verbs

You can make your writing more descriptive and dramatic by using alternatives to say. Use them to describe the way in which the characters speak, or the noises they make to express their emotions.

1 breathe in suddenly because you are surprised or in pain = gasp
2 say something quietly using your breath rather than your voice = whisper
3 shout something loudly, to get someone's attention or because you are angry = yell
4 speak suddenly in an angry way because you have lost your temper = snap
5 laugh quickly in a high voice = giggle
6 let out a long loud breath because you are sad, relieved, or frustrated = sigh
7 cry noisily while taking short breaths = sob
8 make a high, long, loud noise because you are hurt or afraid = scream



REMEMBER THIS

When you use direct speech in a narrative, the words that are actually spoken should be written inside inverted commas. There should always be a comma, full-stop, question mark or exclamation mark at the end of what is said, and inside the inverted commas.
e.g. 'Something's in there,' whispered one of the girls.
'What is this?' gasped Robert.

7 Read REMEMBER THIS. In your notebook, complete each sentence with the most suitable verb from the LANGUAGE FOCUS. Add inverted commas where necessary.

1 'Keep still!' she whispered as quietly as possible, afraid that the hunter-drone might hear us.
2 'How long was this going to take?' wondered Leila as she sighed with frustration and told the system to reboot for the third time.
3 Tom screamed in terror when he opened the curtains and saw two sets of piercing red eyes staring out of the darkness at him.
4 The child's furry AI friend was always making jokes and they would often spend the whole evening giggling together in his room.
5 As Marlon sobbed , pale blue tears ran down his cheeks and into both of his mouths.
6 'Put the vacuum cleaner on the floor!' yelled the security guard at the cleaner-bot, and this time it did as it was told.
7 Keila gasped with surprise as her feet left the ground and she rose gently to the ceiling.
8 'Will you just be quiet!' snapped the pilot at Dee-dee as the light-bike flew towards the clouds.

SHOW WHAT YOU'VE LEARNT

8 Do the writing task in your notebook. Use the WRITING FOCUS and the LANGUAGE FOCUS to help you.

No one likes walking through a busy city during rush hour. There's the noise and the traffic and perhaps worst of all, the pollution. When air pollution levels are high, we all [1] ___breathe___ in tiny particles of substances that are harmful to our health. As an asthma sufferer, for me the effects of air pollution are not just unpleasant, but potentially life-threatening. So, I really welcomed the [2] ___historic___ decision by my home city to ban cars from the city centre altogether. It's just one of a growing number of cities taking bold action to reduce air pollution. Of course, politicians are cautious about the [3] ___economic___ impact of banning vehicles from their cities. As a society, we've become [4] ___dependent___ on road vehicles not just to get around but to transport goods. The health problems associated with pollution, however, also bring huge costs.

MÓWIENIE

8 Pracując w parach, wykonajcie zadanie egzaminacyjne.

UCZEŃ A

Wraz z Uczniem B przygotowujecie szkolną wystawę na temat wynalazków. Poniżej podane są cztery kwestie, które musisz omówić. Rozmowę rozpoczynasz ty.

a Wynalazki, które warto pokazać

b Sposób ich prezentacji

c Atrakcje dla zwiedzających

d Zaproszenie na wystawę

UCZEŃ B

Wraz z Uczniem A przygotowujesz szkolną wystawę na temat wynalazków. W zależności od tego, jak potoczy się rozmowa, wykorzystaj wszystkie lub wybrane zdania. Rozmowę rozpoczyna Uczeń A.

- So, tell me, which inventions should we choose?
- I'm afraid you've lost me there.
- How about making some posters with basic information about them?
- Are you saying that we should just publish the invitation online?

9 Pracując w parach, wykonajcie zadanie egzaminacyjne i odpowiedzcie na pytania.

Popatrz na zdjęcia A, B i C. W twojej szkole odbędzie się festiwal nauki. Twoją rolą jest wykonanie ulotek reklamujących to wydarzenie. Na ulotkach chcesz umieścić jedno ze zdjęć.

- Wybierz zdjęcie, które twoim zdaniem będzie najbardziej odpowiednie, i uzasadnij swój wybór.
- Wyjaśnij, dlaczego odrzucasz pozostałe propozycje.

1 What are the advantages and disadvantages of being a scientist?
2 How do you think technology will change our lives in the future?
3 Do you think robots will become indispensable one day? What makes you think so?
4 Should people feel threatened by technological innovations? Why?/Why not?

2 SPEAKING Which collocations in Exercise 1 describe problems and which describe solutions? Are you optimistic or pessimistic about the future of our planet?

3 SPEAKING Read the infographic. Which statistic is most shocking?

The Life Journey of a PLASTIC BOTTLE

Plastic has only existed for around 100 years, but it's everywhere. 70 PERCENT of plastic water bottles are not recycled.

A plastic water bottle takes 450 YEARS to degrade.

The Great Pacific Garbage Patch is situated between Hawaii and California and contains an estimated 87,000 TONS of plastic waste.

Every year over 1 MILLION marine animals die from eating the plastic trash or getting trapped in it.

4 3.28 Listen to a commentary on the life journey of a plastic bottle. Why does it use humour and irony?
Because it's an engaging way to make a serious point.

5 3.28 In your notebook, match stages of the bottle's journey A–F with places 1–6 on the infographic. Then listen again and check.

A It remains on the loose and blows across open countryside through orchards, meadows and ploughed fields, avoiding farmers and ditches if it can. 4
B Somebody drinks the liquid and throws the bottle away – it is released into the wild and it begins its migration, avoiding eco-warriors who could lead to their extinction. 2
C Eventually, it reaches the open sea and joins the thriving population of plastic waste in the Pacific Ocean. 6
D A plastics factory is the breeding ground for our plastic bottle. It hatches here and then moves to its natural habitat, the supermarket. 1
E In built-up areas nowhere is safe – not even parks. Children want to kick it and park wardens want to catch it and put it in captivity. 3
F It drops into a stream which takes it out of the foothills and onto the plain. 5

6 SPEAKING Discuss how much plastic you and your family throw away in a typical week and how you could cut down on plastic waste.

FOCUS ON WORDS | Environmental issues

7 3.29 In your notebook, translate these environmental terms used in the commentary. Then listen and repeat.

1 biodegradable = biodegradowalny
2 contamination = zanieczyszczenie
3 eco-warrior = bojownik ruchu ekologicznego
4 irreparable damage = nieodwracalne szkody
5 single-use plastic = jednorazowe opakowanie plastikowe
6 food chain = łańcuch pokarmowy

8 SPEAKING In your notebook, complete the statements with an appropriate word or phrase in Exercise 7. Discuss the environmental issues that you worry about most.

1 The Great Pacific Garbage Patch is one of five such 'patches' in the oceans and they are doing irreparable damage .
2 Forty percent of all plastic produced is single-use plastic used in packaging. Most of it is not recycled.
3 One million plastic drinks bottles are sold every minute. None of them are biodegradable .
4 Plastic trash causes serious contamination of the food chain . By 2050, oceans will contain more plastic than fish.
5 Eco-warriors such as Greenpeace use spectacular methods to protest against climate change.

FOCUS ON WORDS | Landscapes

9 3.30 In your notebook, label the pictures in the infographic with the words in red in Exercise 5. Then listen, check and repeat.

a built-up area
b ditch
c foothills
d meadow e orchard
f plain g ploughed field
h stream

10 SPEAKING Take it in turns to explain the difference in meaning between the following words.

1 a built-up area/open countryside
2 a foothill/a mountain
3 a stream/a river
4 an orchard/a forest
5 a meadow/a ploughed field
6 a desert/a plain
7 a ditch/a canal

FOCUS ON WORDS | Animals

11 3.31 In your notebook, match the underlined words and phrases in Exercise 5 with the definitions in the box. Then listen, check and repeat.

1 a place where animals have their babies = breeding ground
2 when an animal no longer exists = extinction
3 to be born by coming out of an egg = hatch
4 not in the wild = in captivity
5 moving to another location = migration
6 the normal place for an animal to live = natural habitat
7 having escaped from where it was kept = on the loose
8 to let an animal leave a place where it was kept = release into the wild
9 a very successful group of animals = thriving population

12 In your notebook, complete the animal fact file with the words or phrases in Exercise 11.

Did you know ...?

- There are only about 3,900 tigers living in the wild now and facing [1] extinction . About 10,000 are kept in [2] captivity .
- The Arctic tern makes the longest [3] migration of any bird. Every year it flies nearly 71,000 km from its [4] breeding grounds in the Arctic to the Antarctic and back.
- In the 1980s, only a few giant pandas remained in the wild. The Chinese government took action to protect their natural [5] habitat and there is now a [6] thriving population of over 2,000.
- The emperor penguin lays one egg which takes more than two months to [7] hatch . During that time it lives through Antarctic temperatures of minus 40 °C and wind speeds of over 200 km/h.

8.2 GRAMMAR

Unreal past and regrets – wish, if only, it's time and would rather

I can talk about present or future wishes and past regrets and use phrases with it's time and would rather.

1 SPEAKING Discuss your vision of an ideal holiday and a nightmare holiday.

2 3.32 Listen to the Moss family discussing what to do for their next holiday. Answer the questions.

1 What suggestions do they make?
2 What do you think they will probably do?

3 3.32 Read sentences 1–4 and decide who said them: Ben, Ellie, Mum or Dad. Then listen again and check.

1 'If only we could go somewhere exciting for a change.' Ellie
2 'I think it's time we did something cultural.' Dad
3 'I wish you all realised how much I look forward to doing nothing for two weeks.' Mum
4 'I'd rather we went to the same campsite we went to last year.' Ben

4 Read GRAMMAR FOCUS I and answer the questions about the sentences in Exercise 3.

1 Which sentences refer to the present and which to the future? present = 3; future = 1, 2, 4
2 Which tense is used after the underlined structures? Past Simple

GRAMMAR FOCUS I 36

Unreal past

- You use wish/if only* + sb + Past Simple to say that somebody really wants a present or future situation to be different.
- You use it's (high) time* + sb + Past Simple to say that somebody should do something (now or in the future).
- You use would rather* + sb + Past Simple to say what somebody would prefer somebody else to do (now or in the future).

5 In your notebook, complete the second sentence so it has a similar meaning to the first. Which sentences are true for you?

1 It isn't summer. I wish it was summer .
2 We always go to the mountains, but I prefer the sea. I'd rather we went to the sea .
3 I ought to learn how to ski. It's time I learnt/learned how to ski .
4 I can't drive. I wish I knew how to drive/could drive .
5 I really need to plan my next holiday. It's high time I planned my next holiday .
6 It's raining. If only it wasn't raining .

6 3.33 Listen to the Moss family talking after their holiday. Which verb forms explain the meaning of these extracts?

1 'If only I'd worn more sunscreen.' = Ellie wore / didn't wear enough sunscreen.
2 'I wish I hadn't forgotten my camera.' = Ben had / didn't have his camera with him.
3 'I wish you'd fallen in, too, Ben.' = Ben fell out / didn't fall out of the raft with Ellie.
4 'I just wish I'd known about the mosquitoes.' = Mum knew / didn't know that there were mosquitoes.

7 Look at the example phrases in Exercise 6. Which tense completes the rule in GRAMMAR FOCUS II correctly?

GRAMMAR FOCUS II 36

Past regrets

You use wish/if only* + sb + Past Simple / *Past Perfect to talk about past regrets.

If only I'd worn more sunscreen.
I wish I hadn't forgotten my camera.

Note: If only is much stronger than wish.

8 In your notebook, complete the sentences with the correct form of the verbs in brackets. Do you have any of these regrets?

1 I wish I had gone (go) on holiday with my friends last summer.
2 If only I had revised (revise) more for my last English test.
3 I wish my parents had been born (be born) in another country.
4 I wish I hadn't given up (not give up) piano lessons a few years ago.
5 If only I had gone (go) to bed earlier last night.

9 SPEAKING In your notebook, complete the sentences to make them true for you. Then compare them with your partner.

1 I wish I could …
2 It's high time I …
3 I'd rather people didn't …
4 If only I hadn't …
5 I wish my parents …

8.3 LISTENING

Gap fill

I can extract the main points from a lecture about intelligent animals.

1 SPEAKING Discuss which adjectives in the box you would use to describe the animals in the pictures.

affectionate agile aggressive competitive friendly gentle harmless independent intelligent loyal playful social stupid wise

2 3.35 SPEAKING Discuss whether you think the statements below are true or false. Then listen to a wildlife expert and check your ideas.

1 Chimpanzees share half of the same genes as humans. F
2 Dolphins sometimes attack each other. T
3 Cats have more developed brains than dogs. F

LISTENING FOCUS Gap fill

3 3.35 Listen to the lecture again and complete the summary in your notebook. Write one or two words in each gap.

- Chimpanzees and humans have many character traits in common as they share 98% of the same genetic material. Their [1] emotional lives are similar, and mothers and children of both species form strong ties. What comes as a surprise is the fact that chimpanzees can turn out to be quite [2] aggressive .
- Dolphins are very smart and have big brains. Like humans and chimpanzees, they live in social groups and establish [3] (stable) communities .
- Despite their look and what people think, sheep aren't stupid animals. They can [4] remember (things) very well and have good recognition skills.
- Dogs' brains have been evolving much [5] longer than cats' brains. The brain development and intelligence are connected with how [6] social the animal is.

FOCUS ON WORDS | Word building

4 3.36 In your notebook, add the alternative parts of speech according to the prompts to complete a list of words from the lecture. Then listen, check and repeat.

1 adolescent > adolescence (noun)
2 competition > competitive (adjective)
3 conceive > misconception (noun)
4 deception > deceptive (adjective)
5 doubt > undoubtedly (adverb)
6 reputable > reputation (noun)
7 resemblance > resemble (verb)
8 value > undervalued (adjective/past participle)

5 In your notebook, complete the text with the words in Exercise 4.

Bird-brained or highly intelligent?

We know it's a common [1] misconception to think that owls are wise. In fact, they're rather stupid. But what about other birds, do they deserve the same [2] reputation ? Many scientists are convinced that the intelligence of some birds has been seriously [3] undervalued . Take the crow family. Crows are [4] undoubtedly top of the list when it comes to brain power. They perform even better than chimpanzees in some research tests. It just shows that appearances can be [5] deceptive . Not all birds are bird-brained – in the same way that not all humans are intelligent!

6 SPEAKING Discuss the questions.

1 Which domesticated animal do you think is most/least useful to society? Why?
2 How could wild animals be better protected? Is it ever OK to keep them in captivity?
3 Do you know any organisations, international or local, which help to protect animals and nature? Can you give examples of their activities?

PRONUNCIATION FOCUS

7 3.37 Listen and repeat these pairs.

1 sheep /ʃiːp/	ship /ʃɪp/
2 keys /kiːz/	kiss /kɪs/
3 cats /kæts/	cuts /kʌts/
4 prove /pruːv/	proof /pruːf/
5 bag /bæg/	back /bæk/

8 3.38 Which five words in Exercise 7 can you hear? Listen and write in your notebook.
1 cuts 2 back 3 sheep 4 kiss 5 prove

9 Choose five words from Exercise 7 and take turns to dictate them to your partner. Check the words. Has your partner written the correct word?

8.4 READING

Matching

I can scan a set of texts to find specific information.

1 SPEAKING Think about the most extreme weather conditions you have ever experienced. Tell your partner where you were, what you were doing and how extreme the weather was.

FOCUS ON WORDS | Severe weather and natural disasters

2 3.39 In your notebook, translate the words and phrases. Use a dictionary if necessary. Then listen and repeat.

1 avalanche = lawina
2 blizzard = zamieć śnieżna
3 drought = susza
4 earthquake = trzęsienie ziemi
5 gale-force winds = wichury
6 hurricane = huragan
7 tsunami = tsunami
8 wildfire = pożar lasu

3 In your notebook, complete the sentence beginnings with the words in Exercise 2. Then finish each 'news' sentence in an appropriate way.

1 The earthquake , measuring 7.4 on the Richter scale, lasted for seven seconds, but …
2 Roofs were blown off and cars overturned in the latest hurricane to hit the coast of …
3 It has already been fifteen weeks since the drought began. All the water holes have dried up and …

6 Heavy snowfall has led to a high risk of avalanches and skiers have been warned …
7 Not only drivers had problems during yesterday's blizzard . A group of young hikers from the local college lost their way in the snow due to poor visibility and …

4 SPEAKING Discuss when and where the natural disasters in Exercise 2 might occur:

a in your region
b in your country
c on your continent
d elsewhere in the world.

5 SPEAKING Look at the photos in the film blog and discuss the questions.

1 Which of these films, if any, have you seen?
2 What is each film about and what do they have in common?
3 Which words in Exercise 2 would you associate with each film?

FILM BLOG

THIS WEEK'S THEME:
DISASTER MOVIES BASED ON TRUE STORIES

The subject of this week's Film Blog is natural disasters. Here are four films, all based on true stories, that will have you sitting on the edge of your seat! NB The summaries contain SPOILERS!

A EVEREST

Everest tells the story of an attempt to reach the summit of Mount Everest in 1996. Several teams of climbers encounter a severe blizzard and eight climbers die, including two expedition leaders.

Once the climbers depart the base camp and begin the ascent, the film becomes a gripping tale of survival, life and death. When they begin their descent, the blizzard hits. Climbers are blinded in the snowstorm and can see no more than thirty centimetres in front of them. It is best not to move in a whiteout, but if you stay still on Everest, you'll freeze to death. With gale-force winds of 160 km/h and a lack of oxygen, the climbers fight for their lives. The severe weather conditions make rescue impossible.

The special effects make you feel as though you are right there with the climbers. During filming on Everest, an avalanche struck, killing sixteen Sherpa guides – a harsh reminder that Everest is one of the most dangerous places on Earth.

In films like Everest, it's difficult to feel sorry for the characters. If they want to take risks by climbing mountains, it's up to them. Not my problem. Ada

B ADRIFT

There are few forces on Earth more deadly than a Category 4 hurricane. At its centre, a Category 4 generates winds of over 200 km/h and waves up to thirty metres in height. Adrift begins with Californian Tami Oldham waking up on her yacht after being unconscious for some time. She searches the boat for her British fiancé Richard Sharp, and soon realises he must have been swept overboard during the hurricane.

The film then goes back to five months before the hurricane when Tami and Richard are hired to deliver a luxury yacht from Tahiti to San Diego, 6,500 kilometres away. Two weeks into the voyage, they hear on the radio that a huge storm is brewing on their route, so they change course. Meanwhile, Hurricane Raymond changes direction unexpectedly, and they end up sailing straight into the eye of the storm.

The yacht is battered by twelve-metre waves and Tami wakes up alone. Then she spots Richard in the water.

When she manages to save him, she realises that he has life-threatening injuries. So she has to repair the boat and reach Hawaii. The unexpected twist is when Tami realises that Richard is actually a hallucination. At the end of the film, she is eventually rescued by a Japanese boat after being all alone aboard the yacht for forty-one days.

When I saw Adrift, I couldn't help wondering whether I'd be able to survive on my own, lost at sea. I'm not sure. 41 days is a long time. Fred

EXTRA ACTIVITIES
Students prepare their own comments to each of the films, then discuss with a partner. Then they have a class vote for the best comment.

WORKBOOK
pp. 120–121

NEXT CLASS
Ask students to do Show What You Know in the WB, p. 90.

6 SPEAKING Read the reviews on the blog and check your ideas in Exercise 5. Which film would you like to see most/least and why?

READING FOCUS Matching

7 Read the reviews again. Which statements 1–6 match texts A–D? Two texts have two matching statements.

In this film …

1 the special effects led to difficult filming conditions for the actors. C
2 the director gave the characters their own voice. D
3 the main characters take action to try and avoid the disaster. B
4 the actors witness another disaster while making the film. A
5 the characters are not expecting the disaster. C
6 the characters are starving due to man-made problems. D

FOCUS ON WORDS | Collocations

8 3.41 In your notebook, complete the collocations with the words in blue in the texts. Then listen, check and repeat.

1 begin the ascent/descent (of a mountain)
2 __extreme__ poverty/hunger
3 a __gripping__ tale
4 life-threatening __injuries__
5 physically __demanding__
6 on a __positive__ note
7 __severe__ weather conditions
8 a storm is __brewing__
9 suffer __agony__
10 be swept __overboard__

9 In your notebook, answer the questions about the blog reviews. In each answer use a different collocation in Exercise 8.

A
1 What phrase does the reviewer use to describe the type of story told by the film?
2 When did the climbers' problems start?
3 Why are rescuers unable to help the climbers?

B
1 What do Tami and Richard hear on the radio to make them change course?
2 What does Tami assume happened to her boyfriend during the hurricane?
3 In Tami's hallucination, where does she see Richard and what is wrong with him?

C
1 What does a large part of the film focus on?
2 How does the reviewer describe the conditions in which the actors had to perform?

D
1 What problems confronting William's village does the film investigate?
2 Despite the problems, how does the film end and why?

10 SPEAKING Read four comments on the film blog and discuss whether you agree with the views expressed. Give reasons for your answers.

Exercise 9

A
1 Gripping tale.
2 On the descent of the mountain.
3 Because of severe weather conditions.

B
1 That a storm was brewing.
2 That he was swept overboard.
3 In the water with life-threatening injuries.

C
1 The agony suffered by the family.
2 Physically demanding.

D
1 Extreme poverty and hunger.
2 On a positive note because William saves his village.

C THE IMPOSSIBLE

The film is based on the story of a Spanish family who went on a Christmas holiday to Khao Lak in Thailand in 2004 and were caught up in the tsunami that hit southeast Asia, killing 230,000 people in fourteen countries.

The filming of the tsunami itself is spectacular and uses a mixture of digital effects and real waves filmed in slow motion in a water tank.

Most of the film deals with the aftermath of the tsunami and the agony suffered by the family when they are split up and have no idea whether the others have survived.

In the film, the family are British, with Naomi Watts and Ewan McGregor giving honest and compassionate performances as the parents of three young boys. The director, Juan Antonio Bayona, wanted the film to be as realistic as possible, so the actors had to spend five weeks of physically demanding filming in a massive water tank.

The Impossible tells a captivating true story in which survival, society, family ties and human kindness all shine through.

The Impossible is an amazing film, but it made me question how sensible it is to develop tourism in areas that are likely to suffer natural disasters. Isn't it too risky? Boris

D THE BOY WHO HARNESSED THE WIND

Set in Africa, the film tells the story of Malawian inventor William Kamkwamba. When he was just fourteen years old, he saved his family and village from famine by building an electricity-generating windmill from spare parts, working from rough plans he found in a library book. The film explores a community facing extreme poverty and hunger. Although the Kamkwamba family is struggling to survive, the parents do their best to focus on their children's education, but William is forced to leave school when the family can no longer afford the school fees.

The film is directed by and stars Chiwetel Ejiofor who spent a decade getting to know the Malawi people and learning their language. He uses subtitles so that the characters in the film mostly speak Chichewa, the Malawian language, and this is one of the reasons why the characters are so believable.

Drought and the underlying issues of deforestation, colonialism and climate change are dealt with in detail. But the movie ends on a positive note, with science-obsessed William Kamkwamba saving his village, bringing them electricity and more importantly, water.

The Boy Who Harnessed the Wind shows yet again how unfair life is and how important it is for rich countries to help people in poor countries to survive. Jessica

8.5 GRAMMAR

Emphasis – cleft sentences and inversion

I can use a variety of sentence structures to change the emphasis.

1 3.42 Read and listen to a conversation between two friends. Why does Will get angry?
Because Emma doesn't think humans are responsible for climate change.

Will: I've been watching a programme about extreme weather events – interesting but very scary! What they did was show the effects of some recent floods where people had lost absolutely everything. Rarely have I seen such devastating scenes. What I find shocking is that some people still believe that humans have nothing to do with climate change.

Emma: I don't think you can blame humans.

Will: What? It's those kind of comments that really annoy me. How can you say that?

Emma: All I'm saying is that there's no link between carbon emissions and climate change. What's happened is that scientists have invented global warming so they can get more funding.

Will: Are you serious?! Not only are you making ridiculous accusations, but you don't even know the basic facts. Of course, it's carbon emissions that are to blame for global warming.

2 Read the GRAMMAR FOCUS. In your notebook, complete the examples with the words in blue in Exercise 1.

GRAMMAR FOCUS 38

Emphasis

There are a variety of ways in which you can change the emphasis in a sentence.

- Cleft sentences: 'divide' a sentence by adding a clause to emphasise key information.
  What's [1] happened is (that) scientists have invented … (= Scientists have invented …)
  What they [2] ___did___ was (to) show the effects of … (= They showed the effects of …)
  [3] ___What___ I find shocking is (that) … (= I find it shocking (that) …)
  [4] ___It's___ those kind of comments that … (= Those kind of comments …)
  [5] ___All___ I'm saying is (that) … (= I'm just saying (that) …)
- Inversion: negative expression (never, rarely, not only etc.) + auxiliary verb + subject (formal).
  [6] ___Rarely___ have I seen … (= I have rarely seen …)
  [7] ___Not only___ are you making ridiculous accusations, but you don't even know the basic facts. (= You are making … and you don't even know …)

Exercise 3

2 It was Will that started talking about climate change.
3 What Will did was (to) tell Emma how strongly he felt.
4 All Emma suggested was that you couldn't blame humans.
5 What Will couldn't believe was/were Emma's views on scientists.
6 Never had Will heard such ridiculous accusations.

Exercise 5

1 What I worry about most is global warming.
2 All I want for my next birthday is money.
3 What I hate about winter is that it gets dark so early.
4 What I love most about my country is the food.
5 It's my father who does the cooking in our house.
6 What I want to do is buy a laptop.
7 Under no circumstances would I lend my clothes to any of my friends.

3 In your notebook, rewrite the sentences using the structures from the GRAMMAR FOCUS and the words in capitals.

1 Will and Emma had an argument. HAPPENED
What happened was (that) Will and Emma had an argument.
2 Will started talking about climate change. IT
3 Will told Emma how strongly he felt. DID
4 Emma only suggested that you couldn't blame humans. ALL
5 Will couldn't believe Emma's views on scientists. WHAT
6 Will hadn't ever heard such ridiculous accusations. NEVER

4 In your notebook, complete the sentences with the words in the box. There are two extra words.

all are do does has is it's what

1 It's the gases from industrialisation that have caused the greenhouse effect.
2 What scientists ___do___ is analyse air that's 800,000 years old, trapped under the ice in Antarctica.
3 Never ___has___ there been more carbon dioxide in the atmosphere than there is now.
4 ___What___ happened was that average temperatures rose by 1 °C last century.
5 Not only ___are___ we observing a rise in sea levels, but also many more extreme weather events.
6 If we don't act now, ___all___ we're doing is creating problems for future generations.

5 In your notebook, put the words in the correct order to make sentences. Begin with the underlined words.

1 worry about most / I / is / global warming / What
2 I / money / my next birthday / All / for / want / is 3 it gets dark so early / What / winter / I / about / that / hate / is 4 most / the food / What / I / my country / about / love / is 5 who / in our house / the cooking / my father / does / It's 6 to do / What / buy a laptop / is / want / I
7 my clothes / to any of my friends / Under no circumstances / lend / would I

6 SPEAKING Discuss which sentences in Exercise 5 are true for you. Make more true sentences with the same sentence beginnings.
What I worry about most is …

8.6 SPEAKING

Giving a presentation

I can introduce new information during a presentation.

1 SPEAKING Follow the instructions below.

1 In pairs, make a list in your notebooks of well-known natural wonders.
2 Compare your list with another pair of students.
3 In groups of four, discuss which of the places you have visited or would like to visit.

2 Look at the photo. Then describe it using the words in the box.

cave/cavern crystal geologists minerals underground

3 3.43 You are going to listen to a presentation about the Giant Crystal Cave. How does the information below relate to the topic? Listen and check.

1 the year 2000
2 half a million years
3 fifty-five tons
4 58 °C
5 ten minutes

4 3.43 In your notebook, complete the SPEAKING FOCUS with the words in the box. Then listen again and check.

aware during familiar free

Introducing the topic

Have you ever thought about/considered/[1] wondered how/why/what, etc. …?

[2] During my/this presentation, I plan to tell you about …

You may be wondering why I've chosen to talk about … today. Well, let me explain …

Introducing familiar information

We are (probably) all [3] familiar with …

You may be [4] aware that …

You may already know that …

Perhaps you have heard of/about …

Introducing surprising information

Most people aren't aware/don't [5] realise that …

Did you know that …?

You might not know that …

Finishing your presentation

OK, that's all from me.

Thank you for listening.

I hope you found the presentation interesting.

If anyone has any questions, please feel [6] free to ask now.

5 In your notebook, complete the extracts from presentations with words and phrases from the SPEAKING FOCUS.

1 You may be wondering why I've chosen to talk about Ha Long Bay in Vietnam today. Well, let me explain.
2 You may already know that Wolin, an island in Poland, is home to around 200 bird species.
3 Perhaps you have heard of Table Mountain in South Africa. It rises high above the city of Cape Town.
4 We are probably all familiar with the Wieliczka salt mine near Kraków, but most people aren't aware that it was chosen as one of the new Seven Wonders of Poland in 2007.
5 Thanks for listening. If anyone has any questions, please feel free to ask now.

6 SPEAKING Discuss which is the correct piece of advice for each pair of tips on giving presentations.

1 (a) Speak with a clear voice at a natural speed.
b Speak more loudly and a little more slowly than normal.
2 a Look at a point just above the audience.
(b) Make eye contact with members of the audience.
3 (a) Ask the audience questions to keep them involved.
b Don't ask the audience questions.
4 a Write a script and read out every word when you present.
(b) Have some notes with you when you present, but don't read them out.
5 (a) If you forget something, keep going. Nobody knows what you were planning to say anyway!
b If you forget something, say sorry and finish the presentation.
6 a When you finish, thank the audience and sit down.
(b) When you finish, thank the audience and invite questions.

7 SPEAKING Prepare a presentation on a natural wonder. Follow the steps below.

- Select a natural wonder that interests you.
- Do some research and plan your presentation.
- Find some interesting photographs to illustrate the presentation, if possible.
- Select useful language from the SPEAKING FOCUS.
- Learn and practise your presentation.
- Give your presentation to the class. Follow the advice in Exercise 6.

Exercise 3

1 The year when mineral miners from the town of Naica, in Northern Mexico discovered the cave.
2 The age of the enormous of Cueva De Los Cristales.
3 The weight of the largest crystal in the cave.
4 The temperature in the cave.
5 It is impossible to remain underground in the cave for more than ten minutes at a time.

8.7 USE OF ENGLISH

Prefixes

I can recognise and form a wide range of words using prefixes.

1 SPEAKING Discuss how you think the weather affects human behaviour. Try to guess the correct answers.

1 (Rainy) / Sunny weather makes you sleepy.
2 (Rainy) / Sunny weather makes you hungry.
3 Rainy / (Sunny) weather makes you more violent.
4 Calm / (Stormy) weather makes children hyperactive.
5 (Dull) / Sunny weather makes your memory better.
6 (Rainy) / Sunny weather makes you feel comforted.

2 Read the blog and check your ideas in Exercise 1.

HOW WEATHER AFFECTS HUMAN BEHAVIOUR

Are you incapable of getting up in the morning? That may be because it's raining and the absence of sunlight causes the sleep hormone melatonin to be overactive. Heavy rain can also make you hungry. When it's cloudy, the hormone serotonin decreases, and you need more carbohydrates.

The effect of rain on crime rates cannot be underestimated. A New York Times investigation found that crimes committed on dry days far outnumber those committed in bad weather because people (including criminals) are unwilling to go out in the rain. Perhaps we should reconsider our negative opinion of British weather in the light of these statistics!

High temperatures on the other hand have long been linked with an upturn in violence. Raised temperatures cause an increase in heart rates and people are less able to control their temper.

Another study concluded that the behaviour of children can predict when a storm is brewing. When the barometer hits pre-storm lows, children become hyperactive and start misbehaving. One theory is that the positive electrical forces in the atmosphere increase blood pressure and cause antisocial behaviour.

An Australian study shows that sunshine can affect our mental sharpness: it may seem illogical, but it has been proven that people think better on days when the sky is grey. A selection of shoppers saw ten unusual objects in the checkout area of a shop and were asked to recall the objects later. Shoppers on cloudy days could remember them better than shoppers on sunny days.

Ending on a positive note, it's not all bad news for rain. If your emotions are off-balance or you're feeling off-colour, the sound of raindrops can be comforting. So if it's raining where you are, the best thing is to curl up and have a nap.

3 Read the LANGUAGE FOCUS. Then copy and complete it with more examples in blue from the blog.

LANGUAGE FOCUS

Prefixes

Prefixes can be added to the same root word to create different words. For example from the root word use you can form reuse and misuse.

PREFIX	MEANING	EXAMPLES
un- in- dis- il- im- ir-	not (mainly adjectives)	[1] incapable , [2] unwilling , [3] illogical , [4] unusual un- dis-	opposite (mainly verbs)	undo, disallow
re-	do again	remarry, [5] reconsider hyper-	extremely	[6] hyperactive , hypersensitive
mis-	bad(ly), wrong(ly)	[7] misbehave , misinformation
multi-	many or several	multicultural
off-/on-	not the case/ a place where …	[8] off-balance , [9] off-colour / onstage out-	more than or better	[10] outnumber , outdo
over-/ under-	too much/not enough	[11] overactive / [12] underestimated anti-/pro-	against/in favour	[13] antisocial / pro-democracy
pre-/ post-	before/after	[14] pre-strom / post-match
self-	done to/by yourself	self-esteem, self-obsessed
sub-	inferior or lower	substandard
up-/ down-	increase or improve/become worse	[15] upturn /downturn

4 In your notebook, translate the example words in the table. Does your language have similar prefixes?

5 Work out the meaning of the words in the box. Then choose three words and write example sentences for them in your notebook.

antinuclear misjudge multipurpose overpaid pre-election self-awareness uncontrollable understaffed

I believe self-awareness can be learned.

EXTRA ACTIVITIES

- Photocopiable resource 54 We're word builders! We're bricklayers! (15 min.) pp. 301, 363
- Students take turns to give definitions of the words from the LANGUAGE FOCUS and ex. 6 for their partner to guess.

WORKBOOK

pp. 124–125

NEXT CLASS

Ask students to prepare for a 10–15-minute Use of English quiz: Testing Programme, Unit 8.7, Use of English.

6 In your notebook, match the words in the box with the correct prefixes to make twelve new words. What spelling rules can you work out for il-, im- and ir-?

adequate approve aware believe capable legal literate mature probable relevant responsible safe

1 dis-approve , believe
2 il-legal , literate
3 im-mature , probable
4 in-adequate , capable
5 ir-relevant , responsible
6 un-aware , safe

7 SPEAKING In your notebook, rewrite the sentences so they have the opposite meaning by changing the underlined word. Which statements do you agree with?

1 It's probable that people will live on Mars one day.
2 The money I get from my parents is adequate.
3 It ought to be legal to cycle without a helmet.
4 Most people would describe me as responsible.
5 The roads in my country are really safe.
6 Doctors are underpaid for the job they do.
7 People who are pro-nuclear don't understand the dangers.
8 Pre-match interviews with footballers are boring.

8 USE OF ENGLISH In your notebook, complete the two comments about the blog with the correct form of the word in brackets.

I don't like winter. I suffer from low (ESTEEM) [1] self-esteem and I fall out with friends because I'm very (SOCIAL) [2] antisocial . I'm (CAPABLE) [3] incapable of getting up in the morning and I know that my work is (STANDARD) [4] substandard because I lack concentration. I need sunshine to feel alive.

Jonny

All this weather stuff is (RELEVANT) [5] irrelevant for people like me. I work all day in a shop, I travel to work and back by bus and I go to the gym in the evening. I'm totally (AWARE) [6] unaware of the weather most of the time!

Julie

9 USE OF ENGLISH In your notebook, complete another two comments about the blog with appropriate forms of the words in the box. There are two extra words.

balance comfortable controllable fair able obsessed purpose sensitive

Personally, I'm [1] hypersensitive to changes in the weather. I find the transition from one season to another particularly [2] uncomfortable . For a couple of weeks, I don't feel like myself – I feel [3] off-balance and [4] unable to concentrate. Then I go back to normal again.

Emma

It really annoys me when people say the weather affects them. These people think it's all about them! They're [5] self-obsessed and I get an [6] uncontrollable desire to shout 'It's not the weather – it's just another excuse to talk about yourself!'.

Tim

10 SPEAKING Read the comments in Exercises 8 and 9 again. Which do you agree or disagree with? Discuss how the weather affects your behaviour or how you feel.

11 SPEAKING In your notebook, rewrite the sentences with the appropriate forms of the words in capitals. Then discuss whether you share any of these worries.

I worry about …

1 jobs. Youth unemployment is a big problem in my country. EMPLOY
2 the environment. People should use more renewable energy. NEW
3 the media. There is too much misinformation : you can't trust anybody. INFORM
4 health. There aren't enough doctors. Our hospitals are understaffed . STAFF
5 politics. There has been a downturn in the numbers of people who vote in elections. If you can vote, you should. TURN
6 our society. I think it should be more diverse and more multicultural . CULTURE

SHOW WHAT YOU'VE LEARNT UNITS 1–8

12 USE OF ENGLISH In your notebook, complete the second sentence so that it has a similar meaning to the first. Use between two and five words including the word in capitals.

1 Could you tell me when the conference starts? WONDERING
I was wondering if/whether you could tell me when the conference starts.
2 My parents are both extremely clever and I can't overestimate how much they've taught me. HIGHLY
Both of my parents are highly intelligent and I can't overestimate how much they've taught me.
3 I'm not allowed to use my electronic devices after 10 p.m. BANNED
I'm banned from using my electronic devices after 10 p.m.

8.8 WRITING

A letter to an editor

I can write a formal letter using a variety of linking devices.

1 SPEAKING Discuss the questions. Use the collocations in the box.

1 Why are some areas made into national parks?
2 Describe a well-known national park you know.

cultural heritage | diverse landscapes | environmental impact | natural beauty | sustainable tourism | wildlife protection

2 SPEAKING Read Alice's comments in Young Traveller magazine. Do you agree with her point of view?

3 Read Nick's letter to the magazine in response to Alice's comments. Why does he choose to write about Zakynthos? Would you like to visit the island? Why?/Why not?

Exercise 3
He writes about Zakynthos because he's been there recently, and because it is an example of a place where environmental protection takes priority over development of facilities for tourists.

YOUNG TRAVELLER

HAVE YOUR SAY ...

Last month we asked you: Is enough being done to protect the natural environment in popular tourist destinations?

ALICE, 17, WROTE:

I'm a nature lover and it seems to me that governments and tour operators care mainly about the money that tourism generates and not about the negative impacts that visitors have on natural environments. Development of facilities for tourists often takes priority over protection of areas of natural beauty and local wildlife, and not enough is done to establish national parks or develop tourism responsibly.

NICK, 18, WROTE:

Dear Editor,

1 I am contacting you after reading Alice's comments in January's Young Traveller magazine. Although I understand Alice's concerns, I would like to point out that there are tourist resorts where a great deal is being done to promote wildlife protection and preserve natural beauty.

2 Having just returned from a holiday to beautiful Zakynthos, I have personally seen sustainable tourism in action. Zakynthos is a picturesque Greek island surrounded by turquoise waters. In the southern part of the island lies the Bay of Laganas, a major nesting area for the Loggerhead Sea Turtle. The island's natural environment is vital to its success as a tourist destination, yet it is only relatively recently that the authorities have begun to protect it.

3 Under pressure from environmental groups, the Greek government made parts of the coastline into a marine national park in 1999. As a result, strict rules for tourists have been introduced on and near the beach. Walking on the beach is allowed only very close to the sea. Vehicles and artificial lights (e.g. torches) are banned on the beach.

4 Similarly, speedboats are so disruptive that they are not permitted close to the beach. Despite the importance of tourism to Zakynthos, it is not actually possible to visit the beaches after sunset. While tourists can visit some of the nesting beaches during the day, they cannot get close to or touch the cages protecting the nests, leave rubbish or light fires. Having said this, the turtles continue to be a major tourist attraction.

5 The situation in Zakynthos is not perfect; nevertheless, it is undeniable that the negative impacts of tourism have been reduced and the turtles continue to lay their eggs there. To my mind, the island proves that some tourist destinations are concerned about more than just money. Perhaps the positive example set by Zakynthos could trigger other resorts to care more for their natural environments.

Yours faithfully,

Nick Mason

4 SPEAKING Discuss the questions in pairs. Then study the WRITING FOCUS and check your ideas.

1 In which paragraph(s) does Nick:
   a support his opinion with examples? 2, 3 & 4
   b summarise his opinion then make a final comment? 5 c give a reason for writing and opinion on the topic? 1
2 Why doesn't Nick use contracted forms (it's, there's, can't, etc.), abbreviations or informal language in his letter? Because it is a formal letter.

WRITING FOCUS

Letter to an editor

A letter to an editor is written in response to an article you have read or a film or programme you have watched. It should be formal in style and contain the following elements:

Introduction
Your reason for writing and your point of view on the topic.

Body paragraphs
Support for your point of view, further opinions and examples.

Conclusion
A summary of your opinion and a recommendation or final comment.

LANGUAGE FOCUS I

Formal language – review

Express [1] concession

Although/Even though I understand Alice's concerns, I would like to point out that …

Despite/In spite of the importance to tourism of Zakynthos, it is not actually possible to visit the beaches after sunset …

Express [2] reason formally using participle clauses

Having just returned from a holiday to beautiful Zakynthos, I have personally seen …

Being a responsible tourist, I am happy to follow the rules.

Express [3] cause and result

Speed boats are so disruptive that they are not permitted.

Litter became such a problem that the area was closed.

Express [4] certainty

It is undeniable that/There is no doubt that the negative impacts of tourism have been reduced.

Undeniably/Undoubtedly, there is still work to be done.

Without (a) doubt, the situation is improving.

Describe [5] consequences

As a result/consequence, strict rules for tourists have been introduced.

The result/consequence/outcome of (such a decision/choice) is that the turtles are left in peace.

This could trigger other resorts to care more about their natural environments.

This could lead to/result in other destinations introducing similar schemes.

8 Read the message which was printed after Nick's letter in Young Traveller magazine. Then plan your letter to an editor.

Thank you for your interesting contribution, Nick. We would like to hear from other readers who have visited, or know of places where similar efforts are being made. Write a letter describing a place in which negative impacts of tourism on the natural environment are being controlled.

YOUNG TRAVELLER

1 Do some research. Use your own ideas or try one of the following:
- Masai Mara National Reserve, Kenya
- Punta Tombo Penguin Rookery, Argentina
- Białowieża National Park, Poland

(Hint: search for 'visitor rules' or 'visitors' guide'.)

2 In your notebook, take some notes about the place:
- Where is it located?
- Why is it interesting?
- How are negative impacts of tourism controlled?

2 Never before have we seen (przedtem nie widzieliśmy) so many robins in our garden.
3 Pollution might be tightly controlled in one country whereas in another country (podczas gdy w innym państwie) regulations may be less strict.
4 Under no circumstances will you leave (w żadnym razie nie wyjdziesz z) home now. There is a tornado approaching, so we need to stay inside.
5 I wish I had listened to (żałuję, że nie posłuchałem) my brother when he told me not to swim in the river with such a strong current.
6 Having seen the effect (Zobaczywszy efekt) that this type of fishing can have on the sea floor, I believe it should be banned.
7 I wish I hadn't chosen (szkoda, że wybrałem) a presentation about endangered species. I'm struggling with the topic of acid rain.
8 Not only is farming physically demanding work (rolnictwo to wymagająca fizycznie praca), but it also involves early starts and long hours.

CZYTANIE

Dobieranie

7 Przeczytaj cztery teksty na temat różnych stref roślinnych A–D oraz dotyczące ich pytania 1–6. Do każdego pytania dopasuj właściwy tekst. Do dwóch tekstów pasują po dwa pytania.

Which text mentions an environment where …

1 young creatures are protected from potential harm? D
2 temperatures can change drastically in a short space of time? A
3 water levels fluctuate several times a day? D
4 a very wide range of species thrive? B
5 there are no distinct seasons? B
6 few plants and wildlife can endure severe conditions? C

DESERTS

Contrary to popular perception, temperature alone does not directly define whether an area of land is described as a desert. The key factor instead is rainfall, with desert areas averaging less than 254 millimetres of rain a year. There are, in fact, what are known as 'cold deserts', such as in the Antarctic, where temperatures can be below freezing. Even the hot, dry deserts we most typically think of, such as the Sahara, can experience very dramatic temperature drops at night. This is because the lack of cloud cover allows hot air to escape very quickly once the sun has set.

RAINFORESTS

As their name suggests, rainforests are found in areas with consistently high levels of rainfall, typically in tropical regions of the world around the equator. They may receive more than 2,000 millimetres of rain a year and with an average daily temperature of around 28 ºC, they are hot and humid. This climate is consistent all year round which creates the perfect habitat for an incredibly diverse range of plants and animals and makes them some of the most biodiverse environments on the planet.

One of the world's harshest environments are tundras, treeless ecosystems found in the Arctic and on the tops of mountains. These areas are very cold and windy with little rainfall, making it difficult for both plants and animals to survive. Most of the plants found on the tundra are very low-lying, growing in gaps in the rocks where they have some protection from the wind. The Arctic tundra is covered in snow for much of the year, with the soil below the surface permanently frozen. Tundra plants have a very short growing season of just fifty to sixty days during the short Arctic summer.

D

MANGROVE FORESTS

Mangrove forests are found in coastal areas around the world where trees and shrubs grow with their roots submerged in water that is a mix of freshwater and seawater. Mangrove forests are typically tidal, so water levels rise and fall twice a day. They play a vital role in preventing coastal erosion as well as providing a home to numerous species of fish, which use them as nurseries because the mass of roots creates a safe space for young fish away from the reach of larger predators.

MÓWIENIE

8 Pracując w parach, wykonajcie zadanie egzaminacyjne, a następnie odpowiedzcie na pytania.

Popatrz na zdjęcia A, B i C. Twoja szkoła organizuje akcję „Ratujmy naszą planetę". Przygotowujesz prezentację na rozpoczęcie tej akcji i chcesz wykorzystać jedno ze zdjęć. Masz trzy zdjęcia do wyboru.

- Wybierz zdjęcie, które twoim zdaniem będzie najbardziej odpowiednie, i uzasadnij swój wybór.
- Wyjaśnij, dlaczego odrzucasz pozostałe propozycje.

1 What could be done to persuade people to recycle more?
2 How can you use social media to promote an environmentally-friendly lifestyle?
3 Is the work of environmental organisations effective? What makes you think so?
4 What are the advantages of living next to large green areas?

PISANIE

E-mail/List formalny

9 Wykonaj zadanie egzaminacyjne.

Jedno z czasopism przyrodniczych zamieściło apel do swoich czytelników o ograniczenie podróży samolotowych. Napisz list do redakcji tego czasopisma, w którym odniesiesz się do tego apelu. W liście wyraź swoją opinię na ten temat oraz zaproponuj inne działania mające na celu ograniczenie emisji CO_2.

Wypowiedź powinna zawierać od 200 do 250 słów i spełniać wszystkie wymogi typowe dla formy wskazanej w poleceniu.

GRAMMAR 1.2

Present and past habits

W języku angielskim do opisu przyzwyczajeń i charakterystycznych zachowań możemy użyć następujących form:

- czasów Present Simple lub Past Simple, kiedy opisujemy czynności lub stany powtarzające się obecnie lub w przeszłości:
  When I get home, I practise the violin. Kiedy wracam do domu, ćwiczę grę na skrzypcach.
  My grandfather picked me up from school until I was ten. Dopóki nie skończyłem dziesięciu lat, ze szkoły odbierał mnie dziadek.
- konstrukcji: used to* + bezokolicznik, kiedy mówimy o stanach (np. z czasownikami be, have, believe, like) lub czynnościach, które powtarzały się w przeszłości. Konstrukcji tej nigdy nie używamy w odniesieniu do jednorazowych wydarzeń z przeszłości:
  When I was at primary school, I used to be eager to learn. Kiedy byłem w szkole podstawowej, byłem chętny do nauki.
  I didn't use to fall behind with my schoolwork. Nie miewałem zaległości w nauce.
  Did you use to like Chemistry?* Czy lubiłeś chemię?
- konstrukcji: would* + bezokolicznik, kiedy opisujemy powtarzające się, typowe dla danej osoby przeszłe zachowania lub czynności (ale nie stany):
  Our Maths teacher would give us loads of homework. Nasza nauczycielka matematyki zadawała nam mnóstwo pracy domowej.
- konstrukcji: will* + bezokolicznik, kiedy opisujemy powtarzające się, typowe dla danej osoby obecne zachowania lub czynności (ale nie stany):
  She'll watch TV or play games all day. Całymi dniami ogląda telewizję albo gra w gry.
  Uwaga! Czasowników will/would w tym znaczeniu raczej nie stosujemy w pytaniach.
- czasów Present Continuous lub Past Continuous z przysłówkiem always, kiedy mówimy o stale powtarzających się zachowaniach, zwłaszcza takich, które budzą lub budziły w nas irytację:
  She's always putting things off. Ona zawsze odkłada wszystko na później.
  My neighbours were always complaining about the noise. Moi sąsiedzi nieustannie narzekali na hałas.

1 Choose the correct option.

1 When Marek and I shared a room in a hall of residence, he was always borrowing / will always borrow my things without asking.
2 When I was a kid, I would / used to believe that my dad was a spy.
3 Did you ever use to / used to cheat in exams?
4 It's so annoying. She will always lose / is always losing her notebook.
5 Martha would ask / was asking the teacher plenty of questions after every lesson. She was very curious.
6 I always forget / will forget to bring a pen. Can I borrow one of yours?

2 Complete the sentences with the correct form of the words in brackets. Add any other words if necessary.

1 I had a kindergarten teacher who used to wear (use/wear) a flower in her hair.
2 Have you noticed our History teacher is always tapping (always/tap) his pen on the desk?
3 Our Maths teacher is really forgetful. Sometimes, she will set (will/set) us homework, but forget to collect it.
4 Years ago, teachers didn't use to have (not/use/have) the equipment they do now. There was just a blackboard.
5 At my secondary school, we used to watch videos on an old TV that was always breaking down/would always break down (always/break down).
6 When you were at school, did you use to have (use/have) a favourite teacher?

3 Choose the correct option, A, B or C to complete the text.

In every class, you get a mix of different personalities. There's generally one kid who's [1]___ the centre of attention. They [2]___ something completely inappropriate in the middle of a lesson so everyone laughs. Then there's the shy kid who [3]___ at the back of the class and [4]___ at their desk when the teacher asks a question. When I was at primary school, I found reading and writing quite difficult and I struggled to keep up with my classmates. I [5]___ much self-confidence. I [6]___ questions because I was convinced I'd get them wrong and look stupid. It seemed like the other kids [7]___ awards for something and I never did. That was until we started studying IT and I suddenly found the thing I was good at. Now I'm regularly top of the class ... at least in one subject anyway.

1 A used to be
(B) always trying to be
C always being
2 (A) 'll say
B 're saying
C said
3 A 's sitting
B is used to sitting
(C) sits
4 A would always look down
(B) is always looking down
C won't look down
5 (A) didn't use to have
B wouldn't have
C wasn't always having
6 (A) wouldn't answer
B wasn't answering
C 'm not used to answering
7 A used to always winning
(B) were always winning
C will win

1.5 GRAMMAR

Verb patterns

Składnia czasowników

Czasowniki występujące po innych czasownikach lub wyrażeniach czasownikowych mogą przybierać następujące formy:

- czasownik + to + bezokolicznik, np.: agree, arrange, can't afford, decide, expect, intend, learn, manage, offer, prefer, refuse, seem, tend:
  I decided to leave school. Zdecydowałem się rzucić szkołę.
- czasownik + dopełnienie + to + bezokolicznik, np.: advise, allow, cause, enable, encourage, expect, force, remind, urge, warn (not):
  Robert's mother encouraged him to study Law. Mama Roberta zachęcała go, by studiował prawo.
- czasownik + dopełnienie + bezokolicznik, np.: make, let:
  Do his parents let him hang out with his friends? Czy rodzice pozwalają mu spędzać czas ze znajomymi?
- czasownik + bezokolicznik z końcówką -ing (forma gerund), np.: admit, avoid, can't help, can't stand, enjoy, fancy, imagine, keep, miss, practise, spend/waste time:
  I can't stand wearing a suit. Nie cierpię nosić garnituru.

Po czasownikach begin, continue, hate, intend, like, love, prefer, start możemy użyć zarówno bezokolicznika z końcówką -ing, jak i bezokolicznika z to. Znaczenie pozostaje takie samo lub zmienia się bardzo nieznacznie:
I started playing chess. I started to play chess. Zacząłem grać w szachy.
He intends using the website. He intends to use the website. Zamierza wykorzystać tę stronę internetową.

Składnia czasowników a zmiana znaczenia

Po niektórych czasownikach, takich jak remember, forget, stop i try, znaczenie zdania zmienia się w zależności od tego, czy użyjemy po nich bezokolicznika z końcówką -ing, czy bezokolicznika z to:

Jenny remembers locking the door. Jenny pamięta, jak zamykała drzwi.
Jenny remembers to lock the door. Jenny pamięta, żeby zamykać drzwi.
Dad'll forget giving me the money. Tata zapomni, że dał mi pieniądze.
Dad'll forget to give me the money. Tata zapomni dać mi pieniądze.
Liz stopped drinking coffee. Liz przestała pić kawę.
Liz stopped to drink some coffee. Liz zatrzymała się, żeby napić się kawy.
I tried restarting the computer, but it didn't help. Próbowałem zrestartować komputer, ale to nic nie dało.
I tried to restart the computer, but the command didn't work. Próbowałem zrestartować komputer, ale komenda nie działała.

W przypadku czasowników takich jak feel, hear, see i watch bezokolicznika używamy, kiedy jesteśmy świadkami jakiejś czynności, słyszymy ją lub widzimy, natomiast formy z końcówką -ing – kiedy słyszymy, widzimy lub obserwujemy tylko jej fragment:

I saw Mary painting a picture. Widziałem, jak Mary malowała obraz. (obserwowałem ją w trakcie tej czynności, ale nie wiem, czy ją ukończyła)
I saw Mary paint a picture. Widziałem, jak Mary namalowała obraz. (obserwowałem całą czynność)

1 Complete the second sentence so that it has a similar meaning to the first. Use no more than five words including the word in capitals.

1 Are you looking for volunteers? You could put a poster up in the school. TRIED
Are you looking for volunteers? Have you tried putting up a poster in the school?
2 It's really important that you hand in your assignment on Friday. FORGET
You must not forget to hand in your assignment on Friday.
3 I told him that dropping Spanish was a bad idea. ENCOURAGED
I encouraged him not to drop Spanish.
4 Those boots are much too expensive for me to buy. AFFORD
I can't afford (to buy) those boots.
5 Janice doesn't go to dance classes any more. She quit two years ago. STOPPED
Janice stopped going to dance classes two years ago.
6 We watched the gardener when he planted some flowers in front of the building. They look great. WATCHED
We watched the gardener plant some flowers in front of the building. They look great.
7 Would John like to come to the concert on Sunday? FANCY
Does John fancy coming to the concert on Sunday?
8 Kuba has been forbidden from using his dad's computer. ALLOWED
Kuba isn't allowed to use his dad's computer.

2 Complete the sentences with the correct form of the verbs in the box.

1.7 USE OF ENGLISH

Register – formal and informal language

Styl formalny jest używany w oficjalnych dokumentach, listach, mailach do osób, których dobrze nie znamy oraz formalnych zaproszeniach, a w języku mówionym w ogłoszeniach, prezentacjach i przemówieniach. Stylu nieformalnego użyjemy w prywatnej rozmowie, liście czy mailu do kolegi/koleżanki, notatce albo pocztówce. Styl formalny bądź nieformalny wyrażamy poprzez użycie odpowiednich struktur gramatycznych oraz dobór odpowiedniego słownictwa.

Struktury gramatyczne

- W stylu formalnym używamy pełnych form czasownikowych, a w nieformalnym form skróconych:
  I am contacting you … / I'm contacting you … Kontaktuję się z Państwem / z Wami…
- W języku formalnym używamy pełnych form, a skróty używane są w języku nieformalnym:
  Could you do it as soon as possible*?* / Could you do it ASAP*?* Czy może Pan/Pani / Czy możesz zrobić to jak najszybciej?
- Styl formalny charakteryzuje się częstszym użyciem strony biernej oraz konstrukcji bezosobowych, a w nieformalnym używamy raczej strony czynnej oraz konstrukcji osobowych:
  The dissertation must be submitted today. / You must submit the dissertation today. Praca musi zostać oddana dziś. / Musisz oddać pracę dziś.
  It is said / They say that spinach is healthy. Mówi się / Mówią, że szpinak jest zdrowy.
- W stylu formalnym używamy pytań pośrednich, zaczynających się od takich wyrażeń jak:
  I was wondering … / Could you tell me …? / Do you happen to know …? Zastanawiałem się… / Czy możesz mi powiedzieć…? / Czy wiesz przypadkiem…?
- W stylu nieformalnym częściej używa się pytań bezpośrednich:
  I was wondering if there are enough volunteers. / Are there enough volunteers? Zastanawiałem się, czy jest wystarczająca liczba wolontariuszy. / Czy jest wystarczająca liczba wolontariuszy?

Słownictwo

- Styl formalny cechuje użycie bardziej złożonych wyrażeń i rzeczowników abstrakcyjnych, a w stylu nieformalnym używamy prostych wyrażeń lub przymiotników, np.:
  employment opportunities / a chance to get a job (możliwość podjęcia pracy).
  Is happiness possible? / Is it possible to be happy? Czy szczęście jest możliwe? / Czy można być szczęśliwym?
- Wiele słów w stylu formalnym wywodzi się z języka łacińskiego, np. to depart, to cease (odjechać, zatrzymać się), a w nieformalnym – z anglosaskiego, np. to go, to stop (odjechać, zatrzymać się).
- W stylu formalnym używa się czasowników prostych, natomiast w nieformalnym – czasowników frazowych, np. appear / turn up (pojawić się).
- Cechą stylu formalnego są złożone wyrażenia przyimkowe, a nieformalnego – proste wyrażenia przyimkowe, np. in favour of / for (na rzecz / dla).
- Formalnymi łącznikami są słowa takie jak furthermore/ however (co więcej / jednakże). W języku nieformalnym użyjemy takich wyrażeń jak and/but (oraz/ale).

1 Complete the second, more informal sentence in each pair with the correct form of the phrasal verbs in the box.

come along go into leave out put off take away

1 Tomorrow's meeting has been postponed.
We've put off tomorrow's meeting.
2 Do not enter the recording studio when the 'on air' light is illuminated.
You can't go into the recording studio if the 'on-air' light's on.
3 Kindly inform the centre in advance if you are unable to attend the workshop.
Can you please let us know if you can't come along to the workshop?
4 Applicants under the age of 18 should omit section 4.
If you're under 18, you can leave out section 4.
5 Bottled water may be confiscated by airport security.
If you try to take bottled water through security, they might take it away from you.

2 Choose the best option for the context.

1 An email to a friend: Who's coming to / Who is attending the party?
2 An official document: More info's / More information is available via the school website.
3 A job application: I'm really into / I especially enjoy outdoor activities.
4 A social media comment: The whole thing just isn't OK / is unacceptable to me.
5 A conversation: Sorry, I've got to go / I must leave now, I'll call you later.
6 An announcement at an event: There are toilets / Toilet facilities are located near each exit gate.

3 Read the advertisement and use the information to complete the social media post. Use no more than two words for each gap.

Wildlife photography workshop

A one-day photography workshop is being held at the zoo on 28 June with wildlife photographer, Mark Ellis. The event will consist of an introductory session during which Mark will introduce some of the key concepts in wildlife photography and demonstrate a number of techniques.

Then, participants will have the opportunity to photograph some of the zoo's animals. The workshop will conclude with a session during which Mark will critique participants' work.

This event is open to all those interested in wildlife photography. Special equipment is not required, but participants should bring their own camera or mobile device.

I've just spotted some info about a wildlife photography workshop. Fancy going? It's on 28/6 at the zoo with a top photographer. [1] There's an intro session in the morning where the guy will chat a bit about wildlife photography and [2] give us some tips. Then you get to go round the zoo and [3] take photos/pictures of the animals. And at the end, he'll take a [4] look at your shots. Anyone can go and you don't [5] need any fancy gear, just take your [6] phone/mobile or camera.

2.2 GRAMMAR

Past Perfect Simple and Past Perfect Continuous

Past Perfect Simple

Czasu Past Perfect Simple używamy:

- mówiąc o czynnościach, które miały miejsce przed określonym momentem w przeszłości (często wyrażonym w czasie Past Simple):
  When I arrived at the reception, the bride's father had already made his speech. Kiedy dotarłem na przyjęcie, ojciec panny młodej zdążył już wygłosić swoją mowę.
- mówiąc o stanach, które trwały przed określonym momentem w przeszłości:
  When my parents got married, they had known each other for a year. Kiedy moi rodzice się pobrali, znali się od roku.

Past Perfect Continuous

Czasu Past Perfect Continuous używamy, mówiąc o czynnościach, które trwały do określonego momentu w przeszłości (lub zakończyły się krótko przed nim):
The guests had been waiting in front of the church for an hour before the bus picked them up. Goście czekali przed kościołem przez godzinę, zanim przyjechał po nich autokar.

Zdania twierdzące (Affirmative)			Zdania przeczące (Negative)
I/You/ He/ She/ It/We/ They	'd been (had been)	sleeping.	I/You/ He/ She/It/ We/ They	hadn't been (had not been)	sleeping.
Pytania ogólne (Yes/No questions)			Krótkie odpowiedzi (Short answers)
Had	I/you/ he/she/ it/we/ they	been sleeping?	Yes, I/you/he/she/it/we/they had. No, I/you/he/she/it/we/they hadn't.

Pytania szczegółowe (Wh- questions)				Pytania o podmiot (Subject questions)
How long	had	I/you/ he/she/ it/we/ they	been sleeping?	Who	had	been sleeping?

Past Perfect Simple a Past Perfect Continuous

Czasu Past Perfect Simple używamy:

- mówiąc o zakończonych czynnościach:
  My father had visited his Scottish relatives twice when he finally went to live with them. Mój ojciec odwiedził swoich szkockich krewnych dwukrotnie, zanim w końcu z nimi zamieszkał.
- mówiąc o stanach za pomocą czasowników statycznych, np.: be, have, know, see, believe:
  I went to see the cathedral. I had never seen such a magnificent church. Zwiedziłem katedrę. Nigdy wcześniej nie widziałem tak wspaniałego kościoła.

Czasu Past Perfect Continuous używamy, mówiąc o czynnościach, ale nie o stanach.
Większy nacisk kładziemy na czas trwania czynności niż na jej skutek:
When they finally arrived, we'd been discussing the problem for two hours. Kiedy się w końcu pojawili, już od dwóch godzin dyskutowaliśmy o problemie.
Jeśli w wypowiedzi pojawia się określenie czasu takie jak before lub after, użycie czasu Past Perfect Simple lub Past Perfect Continuous nie jest konieczne, ponieważ kolejność wydarzeń nie ulega wątpliwości:
The children went to sleep before we came. Dzieci poszły spać zanim przyszliśmy.

1 Complete the sentences with the correct form of the verbs in brackets. Use the Past Perfect Simple or the Past Perfect Continuous.

1 Robert watches a lot of French cinema, but fortunately he hadn't seen (not see) that film before. He loved it!
2 I didn't speak to Janet at the reception. By the time I arrived she had already left (already/leave).
3 It was such a shame. She had been decorating (decorate) the Christmas tree for about an hour before it fell over.
4 I was really tired. I had driven (drive) all the way there without stopping.
5 Gosia locked the cat in the wardrobe by mistake. The poor thing had been crying (cry) for ages before she finally let him out.
6 Barbara hadn't known (not know) that Alex was going to be at the party.
7 On the way to the airport, I realised that I had left (leave) my passport at home.
8 The streets were all wet because it had been raining (rain) heavily since the morning.

2 Complete the text with the correct form of the verbs in the box.

get on not get to know move out not share stay work

Last year, I moved to a new city to start a job with a big insurance company. I [1] had been working there for a couple of weeks when I met Natalie in the coffee shop one lunchtime. Up to that point, I [2] had been getting on OK with my job, but I [3] hadn't got to know many people. We immediately hit it off. We had lots of things in common and we were soon chatting away. I told her that I [4] had been staying in a hostel since I'd arrived and that I was looking for a place to live. Coincidentally, her previous flatmate [5] had moved out just a few days before, so she was looking for someone else to share with. I went to see the flat that evening and I moved in a few days later. I was a bit unsure at first because I [6] hadn't shared a flat with anyone before, but we got on really well and we soon became best friends.

2.5 GRAMMAR

Relative clauses

Zdania podrzędne definiujące:

- dostarczają informacji będących integralną częścią zdania (których pominięcie narusza jego sens) i nie są oddzielone przecinkami od zdania nadrzędnego,
- mogą rozpoczynać się od:
  - who lub that, jeżeli mówimy o ludziach:
    Mrs Wilkes is the person who/that moved in yesterday.
    Pani Wilkes jest osobą, która wprowadziła się wczoraj.
  - which lub that, jeżeli mówimy o rzeczach:
    Would you like to see the house which/that is for sale?
    Czy chciałbyś zobaczyć ten dom, który jest na sprzedaż?
  - whose, jeżeli mówimy o przynależności:
    I know a girl whose parents own a yacht.
    Znam dziewczynę, której rodzice mają jacht.
  - where, jeżeli mówimy o miejscach:
    This is the place where my parents first met.
    To jest miejsce, w którym poznali się moi rodzice.

W zdaniach podrzędnych definiujących możemy opuścić zaimek względny who, which lub that, jeżeli jest on dopełnieniem zdania nadrzędnego:
He is the man (who/that) I want to marry. On jest mężczyzną, którego chcę poślubić.
ALE: This is the man who/that wants to marry me. To jest mężczyzna, który chce mnie poślubić.

Zdania podrzędne niedefiniujące:

- dostarczają dodatkowych informacji, bez których zdanie nadrzędne i tak zachowałoby sens, zawsze zawierają zaimek względny i są oddzielone przecinkami od zdania nadrzędnego,
- rozpoczynają się od tych samych zaimków względnych co zdania podrzędne definiujące, z wyjątkiem that:
  My father, who lives in Montreal, couldn't come. Mój ojciec, który mieszka w Montrealu, nie mógł przyjechać.
  Joyce's new Lexus, which she bought in May, cost a fortune. Nowy lexus Joyce, którego kupiła w maju, kosztował fortunę.
  St Mary's Church, where we met, was built in 1645. Kościół św. Marii, gdzie się spotkaliśmy, został zbudowany w 1645 r.
  I bumped into Angus, whose brother is studying Medicine. Spotkałem Angusa, którego brat studiuje medycynę.

Zdanie podrzędne niedefiniujące może również stanowić komentarz do zdania nadrzędnego. Rozpoczynamy je wtedy zaimkiem which:
Tom was late for dinner, which made his mother furious.
Tom spóźnił się na kolację, co rozzłościło jego matkę.

Zdania podrzędne skrócone:

- zamiast zaimka względnego i czasownika zawierają formę present participle (strona czynna) lub past participle (strona bierna):
  Elderly people living alone (= who live alone) should be in touch with a family member or friend every day. Starsi ludzie mieszkający samotnie powinni być w codziennym kontakcie z członkiem rodziny lub znajomym.
  Children raised (= who were raised) in a bilingual environment may begin to speak a little later. Dzieci wychowane w środowisku dwujęzycznym mogą zacząć mówić trochę później.
- mogą być zarówno definiujące, jak i niedefiniujące:
  Do you know the man talking (= who is talking) to Mr Schwartz? Czy znasz mężczyznę, który rozmawia z panem Schwartzem? (zdanie podrzędne definiujące)
  Rich people, accustomed (= who are accustomed) to luxurious living, will never understand poor people. Bogaci ludzie, przyzwyczajeni do życia w luksusie, nigdy nie zrozumieją biednych. (zdanie podrzędne niedefiniujące)

Collocations

Kolokacja, czyli związek frazeologiczny, to bardzo często używane połączenie dwóch lub więcej słów w logicznie brzmiącą całość. Inaczej niż w przypadku idiomu sens kolokacji wynika ze znaczeń poszczególnych wyrazów. Przykładem kolokacji w języku polskim są odnieść zwycięstwo (a nie ~~ponieść zwycięstwo~~) lub mocna kawa (a nie ~~silna kawa~~).

Kolokacje możemy podzielić na słabe, czyli takie, w których jeden z wyrazów tworzy wiele różnych związków frazeologicznych z innymi, np. take a photo/notes/a break (robić zdjęcie/notatki/przerwę), oraz mocne, w których poszczególne słowa w danym związku frazeologicznym nie łączą się z wieloma innymi, np. common sense (zdrowy rozsądek). Związek frazeologiczny często tworzą więcej niż dwa słowa, np.:

healthy lifestyle – zdrowy tryb życia lead a healthy lifestyle – prowadzić zdrowy tryb życia

Używanie właściwych związków frazeologicznych sprawia, że język, którego używamy, brzmi naturalnie.

Rodzaje kolokacji:

- przymiotnik + rzeczownik:
  My brother has a vivid imagination. Mój brat ma bujną wyobraźnię.
  I only wear these earrings on social occasions. Zakładam te kolczyki tylko na spotkania towarzyskie.
- czasownik + rzeczownik:
  Try not to lose touch with your friends after high school. Spróbuj nie stracić kontaktu z przyjaciółmi po skończeniu szkoły.
  Make sure you keep an eye on Maggie. Upewnij się, że przypilnujesz Maggie.
- rzeczownik + czasownik:
  Be careful when the doors open so that you don't get hit. Uważaj, gdy drzwi się otworzą, aby cię nie uderzyły.
  Snow has been falling heavily recently.* Ostatnio intensywnie pada śnieg.
- rzeczownik (of/and/for) + rzeczownik:
  Tim's desire for knowledge is impressive. Pragnienie wiedzy Tima jest imponujące.
  What's your home town like? Jakie jest twoje miasto rodzinne?
- czasownik + przymiotnik/liczebnik:
  Who came first? Kto przybiegł pierwszy?
  You looked beautiful at the prom. Wyglądałaś pięknie w czasie studniówki.
- przymiotnik + and + przymiotnik:
  The rooms looked neat and tidy. Pokoje wyglądały bardzo schludnie.
  We were told loud and clear what to do in an emergency. Powiedziano nam jasno, co zrobić w sytuacji kryzysowej.
- czasownik + przysłówek:
  Hold tightly onto me when you're going down those stairs.* Trzymaj się mnie mocno, kiedy będziesz schodził tymi schodami.
  She smiled politely. Uśmiechnęła się uprzejmie.
- przysłówek + przymiotnik:
  We want to rent a fully furnished flat. Chcemy wynająć w pełni umeblowane mieszkanie.
  It's perfectly normal that you're afraid of the operation. To zupełnie normalne, że boisz się operacji.

Empty Nest Syndrome

When children [1] leave home to go off to university, many parents are looking forward to a [2] quiet life without all the noise and disruption of a houseful of teens. They dream about how easy it'll be to keep the house [3] neat and tidy at last. They plan to turn the kids' bedrooms into [4] spare rooms so that friends can come and visit. They can't wait to do things as a couple again without the kids being the centre of [5] attention .

But when the time comes and the house is suddenly quiet, it can [6] come as a bit of a shock. Many parents experience [7] strong feelings of loss. Others suffer anxiety about how their offspring are coping without them. All these emotions are perfectly [8] normal though and just part of adjusting to a new stage of life. There's even a name for it: Empty Nest Syndrome.

Question tags and reply questions

Pytania rozłączne

Pytania rozłączne, czyli question tags, to krótkie pytania dodawane na końcu zdania w celu uzyskania potwierdzenia od rozmówcy lub zadania pytania. Za ich polskie odpowiedniki można uznać słowa „prawda?", „nieprawdaż?" lub „dobrze?", umieszczone na końcu zdania:
She's gorgeous, isn't she*?* Ona jest olśniewająca, prawda?

Question tags stosowane w celu uzyskania potwierdzenia od rozmówcy mają intonację opadającą. Question tags stosowane w celu zadania pytania mają intonację wznoszącą.

Pytania rozłączne tworzymy za pomocą czasowników posiłkowych be, have, do, will lub modalnych, np. can, should, oraz zaimka osobowego odpowiadającego podmiotowi. Po zdaniu twierdzącym mają zwykle formę przeczącą, a po zdaniu przeczącym – twierdzącą.

Zdanie twierdzące + pytanie rozłączne w formie przeczącej:

They made a formal complaint, didn't they*?* Złożyli oficjalną skargę, prawda?

Zdanie przeczące + pytanie rozłączne w formie twierdzącej:

Olivia can't swim, can she*?* Olivia nie umie pływać, prawda?

Inne formy pytań rozłącznych

- W zdaniach z I'm pytaniem rozłącznym jest aren't I*?*:
  I'm late, aren't I*?* Jestem spóźniony, prawda?
- W zdaniach z Let's pytaniem rozłącznym jest shall we?:
  Let's meet later, shall we*?* Spotkajmy się później, dobrze?
- Jeśli w zdaniu występują słowa zawierające negację, takie jak no, nobody, never, rarely, seldom, hardly i barely, w pytaniu rozłącznym używamy twierdzącej formy czasownika:
  I hardly know you, do I*?* Ledwo cię znam, prawda?
  They never listen to you, do they*?* Oni cię nigdy nie słuchają, prawda?
- W zdaniach rozkazujących twierdzących w pytaniach rozłącznych, w zależności od intencji, używamy will, would, can/can't lub could, a zdaniach rozkazujących przeczących pytaniem rozłącznym jest will you*?*:
  Wait for me here, will could you*?* Poczekaj tu na mnie, dobrze?
  Don't spend too much, will you*?* Nie wydawajcie za dużo, dobrze?
- W zdaniu, którego podmiotem jest zaimek something lub nothing, w pytaniu rozłącznym używamy zaimka it. W przypadku nothing w pytaniu rozłącznym zawsze używamy twierdzącej formy czasownika:
  Something is wrong, isn't it*?* Coś jest nie tak, prawda?
  Nothing can be done, can it*?* Nic nie można zrobić, prawda?
- W zdaniu, którego podmiotem jest zaimek everybody, everyone, no one lub nobody, w pytaniu rozłącznym używamy zaimka they oraz czasownika w liczbie mnogiej. W przypadku no one i nobody w pytaniu rozłącznym zawsze używamy twierdzącej formy czasownika:
  Everybody/Everyone will ask questions, won't they*?* Wszyscy będą zadawać pytania, prawda?
  Nobody / No one signed up for the dressmaking course, did they*?* Nikt nie zapisał się na kurs krawiecki, prawda?
- W zdaniu, którego podmiotem jest zaimek that, w pytaniu rozłącznym używamy zaimka it:
  That's your new car over there, isn't it*?* To twój nowy samochód, prawda?
- W zdaniach z there is / there are we wszystkich czasach zaimek there powtórzony jest w pytaniu rozłącznym:
  There was a security alarm in the store, wasn't there*?* W sklepie był alarm przeciwkradzieżowy, prawda?

Pytania typu reply questions

Za pomocą pytań typu reply questions wyrażamy zainteresowanie wypowiedzią rozmówcy i dajemy mu do zrozumienia, że oczekujemy na więcej szczegółów. Za ich polskie odpowiedniki można uznać wyrażenia „O, naprawdę?" lub „Tak?".

Zdanie twierdzące + reply question w formie twierdzącej:

'Your dad lent me some money.' 'Did he?' „Twój tata pożyczył mi trochę pieniędzy". „Naprawdę?"

Zdanie przeczące + reply question w formie przeczącej:

'I don't buy shoes online.' 'Don't you?' „Nie kupuję butów w Internecie". „Naprawdę?"

  You'd better not be late. Lepiej się nie spóźnij.

Konstrukcje z czasownikami modalnymi w czasie przeszłym

- Aby powiedzieć, że coś było lub nie było konieczne w przeszłości, używamy had to / didn't have to (musiałem / nie musiałem):
  Ella's car broke down, so she had to take a taxi. Samochód Elli zepsuł się, więc musiała wziąć taksówkę.
  Luckily, I didn't have to wait long. Na szczęście nie musiałem długo czekać.
- Aby wyrazić żal lub krytykę, że coś zdarzyło się lub nie zdarzyło się w przeszłości, używamy konstrukcji ought (not) to / should (not) + have +* past participle (powinien był / nie powinien był):
  We should have booked / ought to have booked a different hotel. This one is terrible. Powinniśmy byli zarezerwować inny hotel. Ten jest fatalny.
  My parents shouldn't have sold / oughtn't to have sold their camper van. Moi rodzice nie powinni byli sprzedawać swojego samochodu kempingowego.
- Aby powiedzieć, że jakaś czynność nie była konieczna w przeszłości, możemy też użyć konstrukcji didn't need to* + bezokolicznik lub needn't + have +* past participle. Konstrukcje te różnią się znaczeniem:
  I didn't need to cook dinner for the children yesterday because they were away. Nie musiałem wczoraj gotować dzieciom obiadu, bo wyjechały.
  I needn't have cooked dinner for the children yesterday because they weren't hungry. Niepotrzebnie wczoraj ugotowałem dzieciom obiad, bo nie były głodne.

Czasownik modalny must i konstrukcja had better nie występują w czasie przeszłym.

Modal expressions

Zamiast czasowników modalnych możemy też używać innych struktur. Pozwalają one wyrażać modalność w wypowiedziach, w których czasowniki modalne zwykle nie są używane (np. w czasie przeszłym, przyszłym czy wyrażeniach bezokolicznikowych):
I must help him. Muszę mu pomóc.
I had to / was obliged to help him. Musiałem mu pomóc.

Prawdopodobieństwo

Czasowniki modalne: can, can't, could, may, might, must oraz:

- be likely / be unlikely to do … / that – prawdopodobnie (nie):
  Tim is likely to sell the house. Tim pewnie sprzeda dom.
  It was unlikely that Jenny's offer would win. To było mało prawdopodobne, że oferta Jenny wygra.
- be bound to do … – na pewno / z pewnością:
  You are bound to feel nervous before the auction.
  Na pewno denerwujesz się przed aukcją.
- be sure to do … – na pewno / z pewnością:
  She is sure to pay a lot if she wants to buy that flat.
  Na pewno zapłaci dużo, jeśli chce kupić to mieszkanie.
- be certain to do … – na pewno / z pewnością:

GRAMMAR 5.2

Reported Speech

W zdaniach w mowie zależnej zmianie ulega większość czasów gramatycznych w zdaniach oznajmujących i pytających, jednak tylko wtedy, gdy czasownik wprowadzający mowę zależną jest w czasie przeszłym (np. He said …, She told me …, He asked …). Jeśli czasownik wprowadzający mowę zależną występuje w czasie teraźniejszym (np. Present Simple lub Present Perfect), czas gramatyczny w przytaczanym zdaniu pozostaje bez zmian:

'I'm not satisfied with your performance.' → The teacher has said she is not satisfied with my performance.

„Nie jestem zadowolona z twoich osiągnięć". → Nauczycielka powiedziała, że nie jest zadowolona z moich osiągnięć.

'How do you handle stress?' → She wants to know how I handle stress.

„Jak radzi pan sobie ze stresem?" → Pyta, jak radzę sobie ze stresem.

Nawet wtedy, gdy czasownik wprowadzający mowę zależną jest w czasie przeszłym, w mowie zależnej bez zmian pozostają:

- czasowniki w czasie Past Perfect Simple i Continuous:
  'Before my resignation I had been working on a large environmental project.' → The candidate told the interviewer that before his resignation he had been working on a large environmental project.
  „Przed złożeniem rezygnacji pracowałem nad dużym projektem związanym z ochroną środowiska". → Kandydat powiedział osobie prowadzącej rozmowę, że przed złożeniem rezygnacji pracował nad dużym projektem związanym z ochroną środowiska.
- czasowniki modalne would, should, could, might, must:
  'During the interview you should try to make eye contact.' → The advisor told me that during the interview you should try to make eye contact. „Podczas rozmowy kwalifikacyjnej powinno się próbować nawiązywać kontakt wzrokowy". → Doradca powiedział mi, że podczas rozmowy kwalifikacyjnej powinno się próbować nawiązywać kontakt wzrokowy.
  'We must all try harder.' → The manager said that we must all try harder.
  „Musimy wszyscy bardziej się starać". → Kierownik powiedział, że wszyscy musimy bardziej się starać.

1 Report the statements. Which statements DON'T move back one tense when reported?

1 'You need to fill out an application form.'
She says (that) I/we need to fill out an application form . ✓
2 'Candidates must speak good English.'
The job advert said (that) candidates must speak good English . ✓
3 'I really want to improve my career prospects.'
Ben's told me (that) he really wants to improve his career prospects . ✓
4 'I'd like to express my interest in this vacant post.'
He said (that) he'd like to express his interest in that vacant post . ✓
5 'Magda hasn't really achieved her goals.'
Rob told me (that) Magda hadn't really achieved her goals .
6 'I had never had a job interview before.'
Paula said (that) she had never had a job interview before . ✓

2 Report the questions and requests.

1 'Can you wait here for a few minutes?'

5 'Could you give me the report by noon today?'
John asked _____ .
6 'Will I need to wear a uniform?'
I asked the interviewer _____ .

3 Choose the correct option, A, B or C to complete the dialogue.

Max: How did your interview go?
Nina: I think it was OK, but I struggled with some of the questions.
Max: Like what?
Nina: Well, she asked me what [1] _____ .
Max: Oh, that's difficult. What did you say?
Nina: I said that I [2] _____ at speaking in public. I told her that I [3] _____ in front of a big group of people.
Max: That sounds OK. But do you need to speak in public for the job?
Nina: Not really. I asked her [4] _____ in front of people and she told me [5] _____ . She said that I might [6] _____ presentations in meetings occasionally, but she said that it [7] _____ in front of a lot of people.
Max: It was a good answer to the question, then. You were honest, but you didn't say [8] _____ a weakness that's going to affect your ability to do the job.

1 (A) my biggest weakness was B was my biggest weakness C is my biggest weakness
2 A haven't been very good B hadn't been very good (C) wasn't very good

4 to log on to their website to update my/ our contact details
5 if/whether I/we could give him the report by noon that day/ me/us to give him the report by noon that day
6 if/whether I would need to wear a uniform

Exercise 4

Interviewer: What's your biggest weakness?

Nina: I'm not very good at speaking in public. I get nervous in front of a big group of people. Will I need to speak in front of people?

Interviewer: Don't worry. You might need to give presentations in meetings occasionally, but it won't be in front of a lot of people.

Reporting verbs

Zamiast czasowników say i tell do przytaczania wypowiedzi można użyć wielu innych czasowników w różnych konstrukcjach (przy czym ten sam czasownik może występować w kilku z nich).

Czasowniki bez dopełnienia:

- czasownik + (that) + przytaczane zdanie (np.: add, admit, agree, claim, complain, deny, explain, insist, promise, propose, recommend, regret, suggest):
  'I wasted a lot of money.' → Sue complained (that) she had wasted a lot of money.
  „Straciłam dużo pieniędzy". → Sue narzekała, że straciła dużo pieniędzy.
- czasownik + (not) to + bezokolicznik (np.: agree, claim, decide, offer, promise, refuse, threaten):
  'I'll hire two new employees.' → The manager decided to hire two new employees.
  „Zatrudnię dwóch nowych pracowników". → Kierownik zdecydował się zatrudnić dwóch nowych pracowników.
- czasownik + *(not) -ing (np.: admit, deny, propose, recommend, regret, suggest):
  'I didn't take this money.' → The cashier denied taking that money.
  „Nie wziąłem tych pieniędzy". → Kasjer zaprzeczył, że wziął te pieniądze.
- czasownik + przyimek + *(not) -ing (np.: apologise for, insist on, object to):
  'I'm sorry I was rude.' → I apologised for being rude.
  „Przepraszam, że byłem nieuprzejmy". → Przeprosiłem za to, że byłem nieuprzejmy.

Czasowniki z dopełnieniem:

- czasownik + dopełnienie + (that) + przytaczane zdanie (np.: advise, assure, convince, inform, persuade, promise, remind, tell, warn):
  'The meeting will start in an hour.' → The secretary reminded them (that) the meeting would start in an hour.
  „Spotkanie zaczyna się za godzinę". → Sekretarka przypomniała im, że spotkanie zaczyna się za godzinę.
- czasownik + dopełnienie + (not) to + bezokolicznik (np.: advise, ask, beg, convince, encourage, invite, order, persuade, recommend, remind, tell, warn, urge):
  'You really should apply for this job.' → Everybody encouraged me to apply for that job.
  „Naprawdę powinnaś ubiegać się o tę pracę". → Wszyscy zachęcali mnie, żebym ubiegała się o tę pracę.
- czasownik + dopełnienie + przyimek + *(not) -ing (np.: accuse sb of, blame sb for, criticise sb for, congratulate sb on, praise sb for, suspect sb of, thank sb for):
  'It's your fault that the car was damaged.' → Joe's boss blames him for damaging the car.
  „To twoja wina, że samochód został uszkodzony". → Szefowa Joego wini go za uszkodzenie samochodu.

1 Complete the sentences with the correct form of the verbs in brackets. Use a preposition if necessary.

1 She reminded me to fulfil (fulfil) my duties.
2 Jonathan suggested hiring/(that) I/we/they hire (hire) an interior designer.
3 She persuaded me not to step down (not step down).
4 I was blamed for causing (cause) unnecessary problems.

6 She congratulated me on winning (win) first prize.
7 Would you advise me to do (do) a course in accountancy?
8 He is suspected of selling (sell) top-secret information.

2 Complete the text with the correct form of the reporting verbs in the box. There are two extra verbs.

agree congratulate explain invite persuade promise suggest thank warn

Recently, my cousin asked me to help him sell his homemade cookies at a music festival. I wasn't very keen at first, but he [1] persuaded me to do it, saying it would probably only take a couple of hours. He [2] explained that he only had a few boxes of cookies to sell and that they'd sell really quickly. He also [3] promised/agreed to split the profits fifty-fifty. I [4] agreed/promised to help out, but I [5] warned him that I wouldn't stay longer than two or three hours. To my surprise, the cookies proved to be really popular and they sold out in just over an hour! My cousin was delighted and [6] thanked me for making his new business such a success. He's also [7] invited me to work with him again at the next festival.

3 Complete the sentences with the correct prepositions or write Ø if no preposition is needed.

1 The company later apologised for misleading its customers.
2 Some people object to receiving marketing emails from companies.
3 The store denied Ø selling fake goods.
4 The manager thanked everyone for their hard work.
5 At least one person has admitted Ø/to using a fake ID to get into the venue.
6 He blamed problems with the IT system for missing the deadline.

5.7 USE OF ENGLISH

Phrasal verbs – advanced points

Trzyczęściowe czasowniki frazowe

Trzyczęściowe czasowniki frazowe najczęściej składają się z prostych czasowników oraz różnych przyimków/przysłówków:

Tom dropped out of school after failing his exams. Tom porzucił szkołę po tym, jak oblał egzaminy.

You should stand up for what you believe in. Powinieneś stawać w obronie tego, w co wierzysz.

Kate couldn't keep up with other students. Kate nie nadążała za pozostałymi uczniami.

Trzyczęściowe czasowniki frazowe są nierozdzielne. Dopełnienie, czy to w postaci rzeczownika, czy zaimka, musi wystąpić po całym czasowniku:

We are sure to come up against a lot of opposition. Z pewnością napotkamy wiele trudności.

~~We are sure to come up a lot of opposition against.~~

Rzeczowniki i przymiotniki tworzone od czasowników frazowych

- Rzeczowniki:

  – czasownik + przyimek/przysłówek: clear out (sprzątać, czyścić) → a clear-out (generalne porządki), let sb down (zawieść, rozczarować) → a letdown (rozczarowanie), warm sth up (rozgrzać) → a warm-up (rozgrzewka), burn out (wypalić) → burnout (wypalenie zawodowe):

  I had a clear-out because I needed more space for some new equipment. Zrobiłem generalne porządki, ponieważ potrzebowałem więcej miejsca na nowe wyposażenie.

  A friend of mine took a year out to avoid burnout. Mój przyjaciel wziął roczny urlop, aby uniknąć wypalenia zawodowego.

  W utworzonych w ten sposób rzeczownikach akcent pada na czasownik.

  – przyimek/przysłówek + czasownik: bring up (wychowywać) → upbringing (wychowanie), pour down (lać) → downpour (ulewa), set out (rozpocząć) → outset (początek), put in (wkładać) → input (wkład):

  Please, allow me to say a few words at the outset. Pozwól mi, proszę, powiedzieć kilka słów na początku.

  They had the greatest input into our company. Oni mieli największy wkład w rozwój naszej firmy.

  W utworzonych w ten sposób rzeczownikach akcent pada na przyimek lub przysłówek.

- Przymiotniki:

  – przyimek/przysłówek + czasownik + *-ing: put off (budzić wstręt) → off-putting (odpychający), lift up (unieść) → uplifting (podnoszący na duchu), stand out (wyróżniać się) → outstanding (wyróżniający się):

  Our teacher told us an uplifting story. Nasz nauczyciel opowiedział nam podnoszącą na duchu historyjkę.

  For such outstanding work, you deserve a pay rise. Za tak wyróżniającą pracę należy się podwyżka.

  – czasownik (past participle) + przyimek/przysłówek: run down (wyczerpywać się) → rundown (zniszczony, podupadły), build up (rozbudować) → built-up (zabudowany), wear out (wyczerpać się) → worn-out (wyczerpany, zużyty):

  You are driving through a built-up area. Jedziesz po terenie zabudowanym.

The boys grew up in this run-down building you see. Chłopcy dorastali w tym zrujnowanym budynku.

Pamiętaj, aby każdorazowo sprawdzać w słowniku pisownię rzeczowników i przymiotników tworzonych od czasowników frazowych.

1 Rewrite the sentences replacing the underlined verb with the correct form of a phrasal verb from the box. There is one extra verb.

come up against | come up with | drop out of | get on with | get out of | look up to | put up with

1 You should not tolerate such working conditions. put up with 2 I try to avoid early shifts if I can. get out of 3 Two students quit the course. dropped out of 4 Of course we encountered problems, but we found ways to deal with them. came up against 5 We found an efficient way of dealing with applications. came up with 6 He's aware that young athletes admire him as a role model. look up to

2 Complete the text with one word in each gap.

Hanna did well at school, but she decided not to [1] go on to further education. Instead, she got a job in a local restaurant working in the kitchen. She got [2] on really well with her colleagues and loved working as part of a team. Although she didn't have any formal qualifications, she [3] made up for that with her enthusiasm and willingness to learn. Over the next few years, she first worked her way up to become a chef and eventually went on to run her own restaurant. She now goes into schools to talk about her career path. She explains that people looked [4] down on her because of her lack of education. She talks about how she had to stand up [5] for herself and prove her abilities.

3 Complete the sentences using a noun or adjective form of the phrasal verb in brackets.

1 The film was a bit of a letdown – not as good as I'd expected. (let down)
2 We got caught in a complete downpour without an umbrella. (pour down)
3 It's important that everyone knows what's involved from the outset (set out)
4 The smell is a bit off-putting , but it actually tastes really good. (put off)
5 The cupboard in my office is full of old paperwork, it needs a clear-out (clear out)
6 He grew up in a rather run-down neighbourhood. (run down)
7 She had a fairly traditional upbringing and education. (bring up)
8 Messi pulled a muscle during the warm-up and couldn't play. (warm up)

6.2 GRAMMAR

Conditional clauses – alternatives to if

Zdania warunkowe stopnia zerowego, pierwszego, drugiego i trzeciego możemy budować, używając albo spójnika if (jeśli), albo następujących słów i konstrukcji:

- spójnika unless (jeśli nie, chyba że):
  I won't tell you what happened if you don't promise to keep it secret. → I won't tell you what happened unless you promise to keep it secret. Nie powiem ci, co się stało, chyba że obiecasz zachować to w tajemnicy.
- spójnika provided (that) / providing (pod warunkiem że):
  You can go with us if you pay for your own meals. → You can go with us, provided (that) / providing you pay for your own meals. Możesz pojechać z nami, pod warunkiem że zapłacisz za swoje posiłki.
- wyrażeń Imagine/Suppose/Supposing (w pytaniach):
  If someone published a private email from you on Facebook, wouldn't you be mad? → Imagine/Suppose/Supposing someone published a private email from you on Facebook, wouldn't you be mad?* A gdyby tak ktoś zamieścił prywatny e-mail od ciebie na Facebooku – nie byłbyś wściekły?
- inwersji, którą stosujemy w języku oficjalnym, a której celem jest podkreślenie efektu retorycznego zdania. Możemy zastosować ją w zdaniach z czasownikami posiłkowymi were i had, przy czym czasownika were używamy również w pierwszej i trzeciej osobie liczby pojedynczej. Aby przekształcić zdanie warunkowe metodą inwersji, pomijamy if, a czasownik posiłkowy przestawiamy na początek zdania:
  If it were my photograph, I would not let anyone publish it. → Were it my photograph, I would not let anyone publish it.* Gdyby to było moje zdjęcie, nie pozwoliłbym nikomu go opublikować.
  If I had considered all the aspects carefully, I would probably have made the right decision. → Had I considered all the aspects carefully, I would probably have made the right decision.* Gdybym uważnie rozważył wszystkie aspekty, prawdopodobnie podjąłbym prawidłową decyzję.

Inwersję możemy również zastosować przy użyciu czasownika should w zdaniach warunkowych pierwszego stopnia, jeśli spełnienie postawionego w zdaniu warunku jest stosunkowo mało prawdopodobne. Przed zastosowaniem inwersji musimy przekształcić zdanie warunkowe w zdanie bardziej formalne z zastosowaniem konstrukcji: should* + bezokolicznik, która zastępuje czasownik w czasie Present Simple. Dopiero później stosujemy inwersję, stawiając should na początku zdania i pomijając If:

If you are dissatisfied with the product, you are entitled to a full refund. (najmniej formalne) → If you should be dissatisfied with the product, you are entitled to a full refund. (bardziej formalne) → Should you be dissatisfied with the product, you are entitled to a full refund.* (najbardziej formalne) Jeśli będą państwo niezadowoleni z produktu, mają państwo prawo do pełnego zwrotu pieniędzy.

Przy inwersji nie używamy skróconych form przeczących:
If I hadn't told the police the truth, an innocent person would have been arrested → Had I not told the police the truth, an innocent person would have been arrested.* Gdybym nie powiedział policji prawdy, zostałaby aresztowana niewinna osoba.

1 Choose the correct option.

1 I won't help you if / unless you stop misleading me.
2 I'll lend you the book providing / supposing you give it back to me on Friday.
3 You would never have read the news story unless / if I hadn't sent you the link.
4 Providing / Supposing I refused to tamper with the picture, what would you do then?
5 Imagine / Provided you had your own TV show, what would it be about?
6 Had I not / Hadn't I distorted the truth, there would have been even more trouble.
7 Should / If you be unhappy with the portrait, you can always get a photo taken.

2 Complete the second sentence so that it has a similar meaning to the first. Use no more than four words including the word in capitals.

1 I don't generally believe a news story online if it isn't from a reputable source. UNLESS
I don't generally believe a news story online unless it is from a reputable source.
2 You can only use statistics in your essay if you state where they're from. PROVIDED

GRAMMAR 6.5

Mixed conditionals

Konstrukcje występujące w zdaniach warunkowych drugiego i trzeciego stopnia można łączyć, tworząc zdania warunkowe mieszane typu pierwszego i drugiego.

Zdania warunkowe mieszane typu pierwszego

If* + Past Simple, would / wouldn't have + past participle

Zdań tych używamy, spekulując o trwałych sytuacjach lub stanach, które mogły mieć określone skutki w przeszłości:
If Sergio didn't speak English with an Italian accent, he wouldn't have been recognised then. Gdyby Sergio nie mówił po angielsku z włoskim akcentem, nie zostałby wtedy rozpoznany. (a ponieważ mówi z akcentem, został rozpoznany)
If I was/were taller, I would have got the main role in the school play a year ago. Gdybym był wyższy, dostałbym główną rolę w szkolnym przedstawieniu rok temu. (ponieważ nie jestem wyższy, nie dostałem tej roli)
Uwaga! Czasownika were możemy używać w pierwszej i trzeciej osobie liczby pojedynczej.

Zdania warunkowe mieszane typu drugiego

If* + Past Perfect, would / wouldn't + bezokolicznik

Zdań tych używamy, spekulując o sytuacjach, które mogły mieć miejsce w przeszłości, ale się nie zdarzyły i ma to określone skutki w chwili obecnej:

Gina wouldn't be so unhappy now if she hadn't changed her job two years ago. Gina nie byłaby teraz tak nieszczęśliwa, gdyby nie zmieniła pracy dwa lata temu. (Zmieniła pracę, więc teraz jest nieszczęśliwa.)

If the police had stopped looking for him then, he would be a free man now. Gdyby policja przestała go wówczas szukać, byłby teraz wolnym człowiekiem. (ale nie przestała, więc nie jest wolny)

Tak jak we wszystkich typach zdań warunkowych, również w zdaniach warunkowych mieszanych zamiast would możemy użyć could, might lub should.

1 Match the sentence beginnings 1–6 with their endings a–f.

1 If someone had proofread the article, e
2 She probably wouldn't have got it wrong b
3 If he wrote a bit more slowly, d
4 The text would be more natural a
5 If they checked their facts regularly, f
6 They could reach a wider audience c a if they'd paid for a proper translator.

b if she was more willing to ask for advice.
c if they'd created an English version of their website.
d he might have made fewer spelling mistakes.
e it wouldn't contain so many errors.
f they'd have known the figures were out of date.

2 Complete the sentences with the correct form of the verbs in brackets. Use mixed conditionals.

1 If you hadn't moved (not move), the photo wouldn't be (not be) so blurred.
2 Jared would be (be) a much better actor today if he had taken (take) lessons when he was younger.
3 The paper wouldn't have reported (not report) the story if it didn't involve (not involve) a celebrity.
4 If you hadn't eaten (not eat) so much for dinner, you wouldn't feel (not feel) sick now.
5 She wouldn't be (not be) angry with you now if you had told (tell) her the truth this morning.
6 If Gina was/were (be) a better liar, they might have believed (might/believe) the story she told them.

3 Choose the correct option, A, B or C to complete the text.

Scrolling through your social media feed, it's easy to think that everyone's holidays are perfect. However, if those same people [1]_____ so selective about what they shared, the impression would be very different. For example, you see a shot of your friend sitting on a beach in the sun, but if they'd taken a picture a few hours earlier, it [2]_____ grey clouds. Or you see them alone looking out at a stunning view, but if they had turned the camera round just a few degrees, it [3]_____ crowds of other tourists. Personally, I like to have a more realistic record of my travels. If I had only captured the 'picture perfect' moments of my recent trip to Asia, I [4]_____ laugh at some of the disasters now. If I [5]_____ photographic evidence of me walking through water up to my knees when the monsoon rain arrived early, my friends just wouldn't believe my story.

1 (A) hadn't been B haven't been C wouldn't be
2 A will show (B) would show C will have shown
3 (A) would reveal B had revealed C reveals
4 A didn't (B) wouldn't be able to C wouldn't have been able to 5 (A) hadn't got B didn't get C haven't got

4 Rewrite the two sentences as a single sentence using a mixed conditional.

1 My dad threw away the receipt. I can't take the T-shirt back to the shop. If my dad …
2 Maria's not very tall. She couldn't become a professional basketball player. If Maria …
3 The editor didn't give me his contact details. I can't send him copies of the photos. If the editor …
4 The venue doesn't have good public transport links. Lots of people drove to the concert. Fewer people …
5 The signs at the airport aren't very clear. We got lost and missed our flight. If the signs …
6 The organiser didn't book tickets in advance. We're standing in this long queue. We …

Exercise 4

1 If my dad hadn't thrown away the receipt, I could take the T-shirt back to the shop.
2 If Maria was/were taller, she could/might have become a professional basketball player.
3 If the editor had given me his contact details, I could send him copies of the photos.
4 Fewer people would/might have driven to the concert if the venue had better public transport links.
5 If the signs at the airport were clearer/weren't so unclear, we wouldn't have got lost and missed our flight.
6 We wouldn't be standing in this long queue if the organiser had booked tickets in advance.

Advanced passive forms

Strona bierna z czasownikami modalnymi

Strony biernej możemy użyć:

- z czasownikami modalnymi w czasie teraźniejszym (czasownik modalny + be + past participle):
  The project must be completed by tomorrow. Projekt musi zostać ukończony do jutra.
  Mobile phones may be used. Telefony komórkowe mogą być używane.
- z czasownikami modalnymi w czasie przeszłym (czasownik modalny + have been + past participle), aby wyrazić przypuszczenia lub opinie dotyczące przeszłości:
  The competition should have been cancelled after the accident. Zawody powinny były zostać odwołane po wypadku. (ale tak się nie stało i były kontynuowane)
  The server couldn't have been repaired properly yesterday. Serwer na pewno nie został wczoraj prawidłowo naprawiony. (nadal nie działa tak, jak powinien)
  Their Facebook profile must have been removed because I can no longer find it. Ich profil na Facebooku musiał zostać usunięty, bo nie mogę go już znaleźć.

Strona bierna z czasownikami przyjmującymi dwa dopełnienia

- Niektóre czasowniki, np. ask, bring, buy, give, hand, offer, pay, promise, sell, send, show, teach, tell, mogą przyjmować dwa dopełnienia – bliższe (najczęściej odpowiadające na pytanie „kogo? co?") i dalsze („komu? czemu?"):
  *They promised a bonus and a pay rise (dopełnienie bliższe) to John (dopełnienie dalsze): Zaproponowali Johnowi premię i podwyżkę.
- W takim przypadku stronę bierną możemy utworzyć, zaczynając zdanie od dowolnego dopełnienia:
  A bonus and a pay rise were promised to John. (podmiotem zostało dopełnienie bliższe; nacisk położony jest na premię i podwyżkę)
  John was promised a bonus and a pay rise. (podmiotem zostało dopełnienie dalsze; nacisk położony jest na osobę)

Czasownik + -ing oraz czasownik + to + bezokolicznik

- W przypadku czasowników i zwrotów, po których występuje inny czasownik z końcówką -ing, np. be interested in, can't stand, don't mind, enjoy, get tired of, hate, like/dislike, love, miss, stronę bierną tworzymy, używając konstrukcji: czasownik/zwrot + being + past participle:
  My teacher doesn't mind being asked questions. Moja nauczycielka nie ma nic przeciwko temu, by zadawano jej pytania.
  I got tired of being constantly criticised. Zmęczyło mnie bycie wiecznie krytykowanym.
- W przypadku czasowników i zwrotów, po których występuje to + inny czasownik w bezokoliczniku, np. can't afford, choose, decide, hope, need, prefer, pretend, refuse, want, would like, stronę bierną tworzymy, używając konstrukcji: czasownik/zwrot + to be + past participle:
  Millions of people hope to be cured of the disease. Miliony ludzi mają nadzieję na wyleczenie z choroby.
  Your son will need to be told the truth. Będzie trzeba powiedzieć twojemu synowi prawdę.

Strona bierna konstrukcji make sb do sth

W zdaniach w stronie czynnej po czasowniku make używamy bezokolicznika bez to, natomiast w stronie biernej po czasowniku tym występuje bezokolicznik z to:
My mother made me clean the kitchen. Mama zmusiła mnie do posprzątania kuchni.
I was made to clean the kitchen. Zmuszono mnie do postrzątania kuchni.

VOLUNTEER RESEARCHERS NEEDED

We can't live without water, but for those living in [1]desert regions with little or no rainfall, water is a constant challenge. What's more, these areas are typically more [2]sensitive to the effects of climate change. Communities here often have very limited access to clean water. Our project is looking to recruit hardworking, [3]conscientious volunteers to help design water filtering systems that are both effective and [4]economical to run. This would be ideal work experience for engineering students. Our research is entirely [5]dependent on charitable donations, so we aren't able to offer payment, but you'll gain valuable experience putting the engineering [6]principles you've studied into practice as well as making a really valuable contribution to this vital area of development.

3 Complete the text with the correct form of the verbs in the box.

do know not assume not fly switch warn

I love travelling, but lately I've become more conscious of my environmental footprint. When I look back on the amazing places I've visited, I have fond memories, but I also wish I [1] ___hadn't flown___ quite so many air miles. It's time more of us [2] ___switched___ to less polluting forms of transport. I've been trying to cut my air travel, but it's not always that easy. I wish big travel companies [3] ___didn't assume___ that everyone wants to fly. Of course, they don't offer other transport options, because they'd rather everyone [4] ___did___ the same to keep things simple. Researching different routes yourself can be fun, but it doesn't always work out. When I planned to take a ferry from Spain to Morocco last year, for example, I wish I [5] ___had known___ that it sometimes gets cancelled in bad weather. I got stuck in Cádiz for two days and missed the train I'd booked from Tangier to Marrakesh. If only someone [6] ___had warned___ me about possible delays, I'd have waited to buy my train ticket when I arrived.

8.5 GRAMMAR

Emphasis – cleft sentences and inversion

Aby wzmocnić przekaz zdania, możemy użyć takich struktur jak zdania rozszczepione (cleft sentences) oraz inwersja.

Zdania rozszczepione

Zdanie rozszczepione składa się z dwóch części i zazwyczaj rozpoczyna się od zaimków takich jak what, it lub all. Jego treść mogłaby z powodzeniem zostać zawarta w jednym zdaniu pojedynczym, jednak zostało ono rozbite na dwie części składowe dla podkreślenia wybranego elementu zdania, np. wykonawcy czynności, sprawcy zdarzenia, miejsca, pory, przyczyny:

I love helping other people. → What I really love doing is helping other people. Tym, co najbardziej lubię robić, jest pomaganie innym ludziom.

The company covered up the issue. → What the company did was (to) cover up the issue. Koncern zatuszował sprawę.

I raised the subject of sewage being dumped into the river. → It was me who raised the subject of sewage being dumped into the river. To ja poruszyłem temat odprowadzania ścieków do rzeki.

We helped the flood victims clean up the debris. → All we did was (to) help the flood victims clean up the debris. Pomogliśmy tylko ofiarom powodzi sprzątać odpady.

You need love. → All you need is love. Miłość to wszystko, czego człowiek potrzebuje.

Inwersja

Inwersji z przysłówkami przeczącymi, np.: never, rarely, seldom, hardly, barely, scarcely, no sooner, lub zwrotami zawierającymi no lub not, np.: under no circumstances, on no condition, on no account, at no time, in no way, not until, not only, możemy użyć, jeśli wyrażenia te występują w pierwszej części zdania. Dokonujemy wtedy zmiany szyku wyrazów w zdaniu – zdanie twierdzące przyjmuje szyk i formę czasownika jak w zdaniu pytającym (przysłówek przeczący / wyrażenie z no lub not + czasownik posiłkowy + podmiot):

He had never been so devastated. → Never had he been so devastated. Nigdy wcześniej nie był tak zdruzgotany.

We rarely hear about such powerful mother and child bond in animals. → Rarely do we hear about such powerful mother and child bonds in animals. Rzadko słyszymy o tak silnej więzi matki z potomstwem u zwierząt.

He had entered the house and the phone rang. → No sooner had he entered the house than the phone rang. Ledwo wszedł do domu, gdy zadzwonił telefon.

She not only survived the disaster, but she saved two other people as well. → Not only did she survive the disaster, but she saved two other people as well. Nie tylko przeżyła katastrofę, lecz także uratowała dwoje innych ludzi.

You are not permitted to leave the building under any circumstances. → Under no circumstances are you permitted to leave the building. Pod żadnym pozorem nie wolno wam opuszczać budynku.

1.1 VOCABULARY

Education • phrasal verbs
• describing teachers and students
• collocations

SHOW WHAT YOU KNOW

1 Cross out the words that do not collocate with the nouns in bold.

	higher / ~~people~~ / private	education
1	attend / have / ~~go~~	lessons
2	language / communication / ~~person~~	skills
3	~~further~~ / long / rewarding	career
4	pass / fail / ~~prove~~	exams
5	master's / university / ~~course~~	degree

2 Complete the sentences with the missing words. The first letters are given.

Next year we're going to take our exams.
1 They get on well with everyone as they have good people skills.
2 I'm doing a bachelor's degree in Computer Science. After that, I'd like to do a master's degree.
3 Matt usually goes to lessons, but occasionally he skips them in summer because he's crazy about cricket.
4 I think further education is important. I'd like to go to university.
5 She's done really well and had a successful career as a teacher for over twenty years.

FOCUS ON WORDS | Phrasal verbs

3 Complete the sentences with the correct form of the verbs in the box. There are two extra verbs.

fall give go ~~(x2)~~ major scrape settle sit teach

After high school, he went on to do a course in Accountancy.
1 I've never failed an exam, though I only scraped through sometimes!
2 I fell behind in Maths after I was ill for two weeks, but now I've caught up.
3 When Magda's older, she wants to go into teaching.
4 My English teacher was great, she never gave up on me, even when I didn't make much progress.
5 At university, Alex wants to major in law, but he wants to study a language too.
6 I argued with my sister and then found it hard to settle down to study. I couldn't concentrate.

4 Complete the tips with the correct form of the phrasal verbs in Exercise 3.

• Have a long-term plan. What do you want to go into after you finish your studies? Working towards a goal can inspire you to work hard now.
• Motivate yourself. If you find it hard to [1]settle down and study at home, then give yourself a treat after you finish. For example, listening to music or having a hot chocolate.
• Talk to your teachers and find out how you are doing. If you have [2]fallen behind the other students, ask for help to catch up.
• Make a study plan. Only [3]go on to the second task when you have finished the first, and so on. That way you will complete all your work.

HAVE YOUR SAY!

Students say ...

Our teachers are always telling people off, they should be more lenient ! I don't often get into trouble because I'm [1]self-disciplined and I always do my work. I'm not a [2] swot though; I don't spend all my time studying. But not everyone's like me. Teachers should help students develop their learning skills and critical thinking, not just tell us facts!

I really struggle with reading because I'm [3]dyslexic, but all my teachers have been brilliant! They've taught me different ways to improve my reading skills and supported my learning both at school and at home using online tools.

Teachers say ...

I'm quite a [4]strict teacher and I think pupils should do what they're told. It annoys me when [5]disruptive students interrupt, shout and mess around. I also dislike [6]bullies who threaten other students physically or verbally. I don't tolerate it in my classroom. I enjoy teaching all my students, but it's a real pleasure to teach [7]gifted students who make strong academic progress.

Hi Erin,

I'm really enjoying my philosophy course! I've attended all my lectures so far and I'm learning a lot. I'm glad I don't have to [1]give any lectures, though, I'd forget what to say ☺. I'm reading a lot too, it's a great way to deepen my [2]knowledge of the subject. I've chosen my option for this year – logic! I don't have to [3]sit an exam at the end of the course, but I have to write a long essay. I've also discovered I have a [4]passion for surfing and I'm going to [5]enrol on a course in summer. I know you love water sports – would this be of any [6]interest to you? We could do it together!

What about you? Have you finished writing your [7]dissertation yet? Do you still want to work in the [8]field of computer technology?

Oh, good news! My brother is still at school, he didn't get [9]expelled after all. In fact, he's really changed! He's studying hard now and he got a [10]scholarship to study in France for three months.

Write soon,

Karl

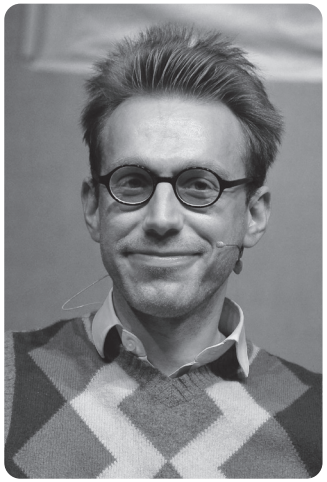
Daniel Tammet • collocations • expressions with brain

1 Read the text quickly and choose the best title for it.

1 The Real Rain Man ☐
2 The Biggest Slice of Pi ☐
3 The Man with the Amazing Mind ☑

Daniel Tammet is a linguistic and mathematical genius. He speaks eleven languages, performs complex mental arithmetic in seconds, and on March 14, 2004 publicly recited pi from memory to 22,514 decimal places. It took him five hours and nine minutes. However, since childhood, despite his phenomenal mental abilities, Daniel has struggled to learn the personal skills that most of us take for granted: communication, empathy and the ability to see the big picture.

Daniel's skills and limitations are the result of Asperger's syndrome, a form of autism. He is a high-functioning autistic savant who possesses similar abilities to those of the character played by Dustin Hoffman in the film Rain Man. [1]C, E 'I'm lucky,' he says, 'because most others who have rare abilities are also seriously disabled.'



Life is easier for Daniel now that he is in his thirties, but growing up with autism was tough for him and his family. As a baby, he used to cry constantly and only repetitive motion would stop him. [2]B As a result, he never played with other children, or even with toys. 'Numbers were my toys,' he says.

To him, numbers have colours, shapes, textures* and personalities. He has described his visual image of 289 as particularly ugly, and 333 as particularly attractive. Three is green, five sounds like a clap of thunder, and thirty-seven is lumpy*. This cross-connection between unrelated senses is known as synaesthesia, and in Daniel's case it allows him to 'experience' numbers rather than calculate them. As he explains, 'When I multiply numbers together, I see two shapes. The image starts to change and evolve, and a third shape appears. That's the answer.'

It was this unique ability that helped him to remember pi to so many decimal places, back in 2004. [3]F 'To me, it is as beautiful as the Mona Lisa,' he explains.

Daniel has many gifts often associated with autism. He can copy a picture so accurately that it could have been traced*, and he planned his autobiography Born on a Blue Day without taking a single note. Nevertheless, he is more aware of the many things he can't do. He knows, for instance, that he is difficult to live with because he cannot understand what others are feeling. He admits that most of the time, he has to pretend to show emotions. [4]A He reveals that when his cat died, he cried and understood grief* for the first time.

In 2004, Daniel met Kim Peek, the savant on whom Rain Man was actually based. Unlike Daniel, Peek, who passed away in 2009, was unable to manage daily life independently. [5]D 'We swapped facts and figures like others swap gossip,' says Tammet. With the help of his father, Peek travelled America spreading the message that difference is not necessarily a negative thing.

Like Peek, Daniel is putting his gifts to good use. He gives regular lectures, has written three successful books, and been the subject of numerous studies and documentaries. Much of his work involves helping scientists understand how the brain works. 'I used to long* to be like other people,' he says. 'But they tell me that I have the same effect on them as Professor Stephen Hawking. That in the contradiction* between ability and disability, they see humanity.'

GLOSSARY

texture (n) = the way a surface or material feels when you touch it; faktura lumpy (adj) = covered with or containing small solid pieces e.g. a lumpy mattress; chropowaty

A Despite these limitations, he is slowly extending his emotional range.
B At school, he struggled to read body language or make eye contact, finding it impossible to interpret how other people were feeling.
C Born on a Blue Day was named 'Best Book for Young Adults' in 2008 by the American Library Association.
D Remarkably, though, he was able to read two pages of a book at once, one with each eye, and remember every single word.
E There are only about fifty savants in the world (all men), but Tammet is unique in being able to describe how his mind works.
F Tammet describes seeing the number as a landscape through which he travelled in his mind.

3 Read the summary of the text and complete the gaps with one, two or three words.

Daniel Tammet is an autistic savant. He can perform complicated mathematical calculations at a very [1]fast/high speed and can speak eleven languages. In many ways, his extraordinary skills remind one of those of the main character of the film Rain Man. Unlike [2]other savants, Daniel can explain his remarkable abilities.
Daniel is a successful adult now, but being autistic posed a lot of problems during his childhood. At school, he didn't find interacting with others easy as he lacked the ability to understand [3]body language and other people's feelings. That's when his special 'relationship' with numbers started. Daniel claims he can see, [4]hear and feel numbers. Rather than calculating them, he experiences them in his unique way.
Daniel possesses many talents, but is also aware of his limitations. He may not actually be experiencing [5]the emotions he shows to other people, although he is making gradual progress in this area of his life.
Daniel is very busy lecturing, writing books and appearing in documentaries. His effect on people is often [6]compared to that of Professor Stephen Hawking's.

Alex,
Thank you for agreeing to write the new library leaflet for first-year students. Here are the rules we need to explain. Can you make them more student-friendly?

University Library
Rules and regulations

Access to the library

- A valid library card is required to access the library.
- Library cards are personal and non-transferable.
- In the case of loss or theft of a library card, the library should be notified immediately and a new card will be issued.
- Library cards need to be renewed annually.

Borrowing books

- Students are allowed to borrow up to 10 books at a time.
- The maximum loan period for books is three weeks.
- Books returned after the due date will be charged at 25 pence per day.

Opening times

- Standard opening times:
  Monday to Friday 8:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m.
  Saturday and Sunday 9:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m.
- The library reserves the right to change opening times on bank holidays.
- The latest news and current opening times for the library can be consulted on our website.

Library
Important information for new students

You need a valid library card to [1]enter/go into/use/access the library. Please remember that all cards are personal – you mustn't let [2]anyone/anyone else/another person/other people use yours. If your card is lost or [3]stolen/damaged , please [4]let us know as soon as possible and we'll give you a new one. You will have to renew your card [5]every year/each year , so talk to a librarian at the beginning of the next academic year about this.

As a student, you may borrow a maximum [6]of 10 books for three weeks. Please make sure you [7]bring them back on time. If you return them [8]late , you'll have to pay a fine (25 pence per day).

The library is usually open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. on [9]weekdays and from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the weekend. Please remember that the opening times [10]may/might be different on bank holidays. Don't forget to [11]check (out)/visit our website for the latest news.

Getting ideas

Do you sometimes find it really difficult to ___ ideas for school projects? Most of us know the problem. It [1]___ to be easy when we were younger – we had great imaginations and loads of creativity. But it gets harder and harder. So, you're sitting at home trying to think of interesting things to put in an essay or a story. Or you [2]___ your brains all day, but you can't remember that great idea you had last night. You're [3]___ and your mind is empty. So what do you do? You keep trying, of course! However, this may be entirely the wrong approach.

Experts say that one of the best things to do is to stop [4]___ about the problem completely. Change the space you're in. Move into another room or go outside. Another answer is to [5]___ worrying about it for a while. Go for a walk or take a shower and think about something completely different. Ideas or the answer to your problem will pop into your head like magic!

It's also important to keep your [6]___ sharp and train it to be creative! If you regularly [7]___ lots of things, the mental exercise can help when you really need to access those ideas quickly.

Subject: Robert Wilkinson – summer work application
Attachments: Robert Wilkinson CV

Dear Mrs King,

I am writing in response to your advertisement seeking staff for a sports camp for young people aged 6–12 years old. e

I am a nineteen-year-old student and a keen athlete. [1] b I passionately believe in the benefits of sport for young people. I feel strongly that I would learn a lot from the experience of working with a successful organisation, such as Rees Sports Camps and would welcome this opportunity.

Last year, I was lucky enough to work as a volunteer on a sports programme in local primary schools. [2] d As part of my responsibilities, I coordinated a successful football tournament and sat in on planning meetings. I gained considerable work experience and feel confident I possess all the relevant skills and would be well-suited to the position.

I would be delighted to attend an interview at your convenience. [3] a Please do not hesitate to contact me if you require any further information.

Yours sincerely,

Robert Wilkinson

a I have attached my CV for your consideration.
b My ambition is to pursue a career as a sports coach when I finish my education.
c I regularly contribute ideas for a sports magazine.
d I worked alongside several experienced sports coaches and supervised the children during activities.
e I wish to apply for the position of assistant sports coach.

BBC Learning a new skill

Before you watch

1 SPEAKING In what order do children typically learn these life skills? Discuss how old you were when you learnt how to do them.

Learning how to …

read | ride a bike | speak | swim | tie your shoelaces | type | walk | write

2 SPEAKING Discuss the questions.

1 What new skills have you learnt since you became a teenager?
2 Is it easier to learn a new skill as a child, a teenager or an adult? Why?
3 Have you ever learnt how to juggle? Would you like to? Why?/Why not?

While you watch

3 1 Watch Chris (38) and Tahoe (8) learning how to juggle. Who is learning faster and why? Tahoe

4 1 Choose the correct options and decide whether the statements are true (T) or false (F). Then watch the video again and check your answers.

1 Chris decides to up the ante by pitting himself against / with Tahoe. T
2 The catch / trick is that Tahoe is three decades younger than Chris. T
3 Scarves help to find / form a juggling network because they speed the process up. F
4 The practice stage is enjoyable. One step onward / forward, two steps back. F
5 Chris claims that he's not a big / large one for excuses, but he hasn't done enough practice. T
6 Chris is not impressed when he says to Tahoe: 'Give it your best shot / throw'. F
7 White matter fixes new brain pathways creating a sense of everything clicking into point / place. T

5 Replace the underlined phrases with the correct form of an appropriate phrase in Exercise 4.

1 If something seems too good to be true, it's because there is a hidden problem. catch
2 Learning a language is often a case of getting better and then getting worse. one step forward, two steps back
3 I don't like reading about things. I prefer listening to podcasts. 'm not a big one for
4 When you are faced with a difficult challenge, always try your best. Never walk away. give it your best shot
5 Learning a new skill is so satisfying – that moment when everything starts to work perfectly. clicks into place
6 In some sports, e.g. motor-racing, women should compete with men in an equal contest. pit themselves against

6 SPEAKING Discuss the statements in Exercise 5. Do you agree with them?

7 1 Watch the video again. What is happening during stages 1–3?

1 The cognitive stage We watch and listen, and then start to practise.
2 The practice stage The practice starts to make the task easier.
3 The automatic stage The skill becomes automatic.

After you watch

8 SPEAKING Think about your experience of learning English and discuss the questions.

1 What is the best age to start learning a language? Why?
2 Which learning stage do you think you are at now?
3 How does learning English compare with other learning experiences such as learning how to dance, to drive, to play the piano, to ski etc.?

FOCUS VLOG About daily routines

What was your daily routine when you were younger and how does it compare to now?

What did you use to do when you were a teenager that you miss doing now?

1 Name a person you know well who is in their twenties or older. Think about their daily routine when they were teenagers. Which statements could describe what they used to do?

1 He/she used to have a structured routine.
2 He/she used to make their own breakfast.
3 He/she used to play football with friends.
4 He/she used to belong to an athletics club.
5 He/she used to go to dance classes.
6 He/she used to chill at home in the evenings.
7 He/she used to do stretches in the morning.
8 He/she used to drive around listening to music.

2 Does the person you know do any of the things in Exercise 1 now?

3 3 Watch the video and match the statements in Exercise 1 with the teenage daily routine of the speakers in the box.

Aaron 2 8 | Hannah 4 6 | Harriet 1 | Natasha 5 7 | Nobuse 3

4 SPEAKING Compare your daily routine now with the one your parents had. Discuss how similar or different they are.

5 3 Put the words in order to make questions. Then watch the first part of the video (up to 03:18) again and answer the questions.

1 Hannah / with / Who / to / would / school / walk ? Who would Hanna walk to school with? A friend.
2 school / would / to / Aaron / How / get ? How would Aaron get to school? By bus.
3 use / Why / 'quite intense' / be / routine / Natasha's / to / daily / did ? Why did Natasha's daily routine use to be 'quite intense'? Because she trained as a dancer, went to school in London and then had dance classes in the evening.
4 eat / school / home / to / way / use / the / What / Nobuse / did / from / on ? What did Nobuse use to eat on the way home from school? Chicken and chips.
5 routine / structure / to / What / some / Harriet's / used / daily / give ? What used to give Harriet's daily routine some structure? School routine.

6 3 Discuss the questions. Then watch the rest of the video (03:19–04:26) again and check your answers.

1 What would Hannah like to get back into? Athletics.
2 Why did Aaron use to drive around a lot? Because there wasn't much to do.
3 Why did Natasha use to see her friends much more? Because of dance classes.
4 What does Nobuse miss doing? Hanging out with his friends and playing football.
5 Why did Harriet use to get more things done? Because she was made to do them.

7 SPEAKING Are you a person who likes to have structure or variety in your day-to-day life? Why?

Focus On Life Skills

Communication • Critical thinking

8 SPEAKING Discuss these sayings about youth. What do they mean and how much do you agree with them?

- School days are the best days of your life.
- Youth is wasted on the young.
- Youth is the best time to be rich and the best time to be poor.

9 Think about how life as a teenager was different for your grandparents. Write notes under the headings. Think about daily routines, free time, friends, school and your own ideas.

Ways life is easier for teenagers now	Ways life was easier for teenagers in the past 10 SPEAKING Discuss your notes. What is your conclusion?

Tidy desk, better thinker?

If you find it hard to settle down to study, you might want to take a good look at your desk. Is it messy with stuff scattered all around? Experts are now encouraging people [1]to to tidy their desks as the clear space will enable you to think better and I'm a fan of this theory. When I was younger, I [2]used to leave piles of books and papers on my desk in between cold cups of tea and snack wrappers, so of course I was [3]always losing things. Each time I sat down to study, I had to search for whatever I needed and inevitably ended up wasting a lot of time and getting frustrated. Finally, after racking my [4]brains I came up with a method of organising everything. I bought some bookshelves and big files and then organised the books and put the papers in the files, each file for a separate subject. Now, after studying I [5]will always tidy everything away so, the next time I sit down, my desk is clear. It definitely helps me study!

Tell us about you and your BFF! Why do you think you're friends?

My best friend and I are complete opposites! For one thing, he loves studying and is always reading and doing research online because something fascinates him. I suppose he's quite intellectual – and I'm not! I don't mind a bit of homework, but I'd rather be out having fun with friends and meeting new people. When I go out, I'm quite [1]spontaneous , I don't think it's necessary to plan everything before you do it, I love the fact that I never quite know what I'm going to do or where I'll go. My friend likes to plan every detail, but the thing is, he's not that confident – he's a bit [2]insecure and worries all the time about making mistakes, even silly little ones, which is crazy because he's got a brain the size of China! Unlike me, he's not that keen on new experiences, I'll even have a go at tricky or adventurous things – I guess you could say I'm pretty [3]daring . He thinks before he says anything in case he upsets somebody and is very [4]witty and good with words. I'm not very [5]tactful , I seem to say the first thing that comes into my mind and I'm terrible at keeping secrets. Despite our differences, we get on incredibly well. I know he'll always be there for me if I've got a problem, and I'll do the same for him. That's why we're such good friends!

TEENAGE BOOK FREAK

You searched for 'The Hunger Games' – 17 results match your search:

The Hunger Games trilogy by Suzanne Collins started as a series of young adult adventure novels and is now a multimedia franchise worth millions – the film adaptation of the first novel grossed over $400 million and helped launch the career of Oscar winner Jennifer Lawrence. For anyone unfamiliar with the series (where have you been for the last few years?) the story is set in a dystopian* future in the totalitarian nation of Panem. The Hunger Games are an annual event in which two representatives from each of Panem's 12 districts are selected to take part. Unfortunately for the young representatives, the Game's goal is to eliminate their fellow competitors in a brutal fight to the death – and it's all televised for the rest of Panem to enjoy.

Clearly, with a plot like this, both the books and films contain violence and killing. It used to be taboo for children to kill children in stories, but this is evidently no longer the case. And The Hunger Games is far from alone in presenting a grim and bloody vision of the future. Among many others, there's Moira Young's Blood Red Road, Malorie Blackman's Noughts and Crosses and Meg Rosoff's How I Live Now, a story of teenage passion in a future England at war, and now a major film starring Saoirse Ronan.

So what is it about these dark tales that attracts teenage readers? Why has dystopia become so fashionable? Are we, today's young adults, perhaps reacting to the negativity caused by economic recession, university fees and the prospect of never getting a mortgage?

Meg Rosoff says older teenagers 'see adulthood on the horizon and that's as scary as the apocalypse.' Imagining that you're living in a place in which millions have starved to death* (The Hunger Games), been killed off because eternal youth* has been discovered (Gemma Malley's The Declaration) or are living in a world dried up by climate change (Moira Young's Blood Red Road) can help you look at your problems in a different light. Compared to a dystopian nightmare, fears about having spots or taking exams seem considerably less terrifying.

Moira Young expresses a similar idea: 'I think it (Blood Red Road) fits with young people's anxieties about the future, in that it's about a heroic figure triumphing over the odds*.' Gemma Malley suggests that dystopias not only magnify* what teens go through in terms of bullying and the struggle to make their own decisions, but also feed 'their appetite for adrenaline. These novels are like scary rides in a theme park.'

Fans of young adult fiction, and in particular female ones like me, seem to respond not just to the action-packed plots of these novels, but also the realism of the flawed* and complex characters that are found in them. Katniss Everdeen, the heroine in The Hunger Games, has hunting skills and a fierce protectiveness towards her little sister that make her, like Meg Rosoff's Daisy, and Moira Young's Saba, the opposite to Bella Swann, the passive, well-behaved vampire lover from Stephenie Meyer's Twilight series. One fellow Hunger Games fan commented 'If you've got a brain, vampires suck. Girls aren't waiting to be saved any more. Katniss is the kind of strong teenage heroine we were all waiting for.'

Tales of dystopia won't be popular forever. Just like vampires and werewolves before them, they will eventually be replaced by something new. If you, dear readers, are anything like me, then you'll be eager to discover what the next trend in teenage fiction is going to be.

The first UK book convention dedicated to young adult (YA) fiction opened in style with charismatic author Malorie Blackman dressed in a Star Trek outfit, addressing the audience in the language of Klingon!

One of the appealing aspects of YA novels and authors is openness to debate. Blackman, who led the two-day event, appeared on a panel discussing the ongoing appeal of dystopia. The panellists discussed the need for YA to be realistic and truthful, even when the truth is painful. 'Teenagers write stuff that is way darker and more hopeless than some of the published stories anyway,' said one panellist. Another suggested that it would be patronising* to teenagers to be told that there are certain subjects they shouldn't be reading about. 'YA has to represent the real world and not just present a rosy image of it.'

The convention was enjoyed by hundreds of young readers and was a great success.

2 Read Text 1 and Text 2 again and choose the correct answers A–D.

1 Text 1
- A recommends a selection of dystopian novels.
- B attempts to explain the appeal of dystopian novels.
- C is critical of dystopian novels.
- D reviews a well-known dystopian novel.

2 Text 1 suggests that dystopian novels
- A are unsuitable for teenagers because they are too violent.
- B are often scarier than novels about vampires or werewolves.
- C can help teenage readers to put the problems of adolescence into perspective.
- D are an escape from the realities of teenage life.

3 The author mentions the character Katniss Everdeen as an example of
- A a new kind of female heroine.
- B a traditional female character.
- C a passive, well-behaved heroine.
- D a unique character in young adult fiction.

4 In Text 2, the quote 'Teenagers write stuff that is way darker and more hopeless than some of the published stories anyway' was intended as
- A a criticism of teenage authors.
- B an example of possible negative effects of reading dystopian novels.
- C praise for current teenage authors.
- D justification of the dark nature of dystopian novels intended for teenagers.

5 In both texts, it is suggested that
- A old taboos are being broken in new young adult fiction.
- B certain subjects are unsuitable for teenage readers.
- C realism is an important aspect of successful young adult fiction.
- D dystopian novels will eventually become unfashionable.

What is Generation Z?

Generation Z refers to people [1] who / whose were born between 1995 and 2010. They have a lot in common with the previous generation, [2] who / Ø known as millennials, but they also differ in many ways.

Whereas millennials are said to be idealistic, Gen Z are more sensible and realistic. They do care about the world, but the things [3] Ø / that really concern them are money and security.

Millennials do well in situations and places [4] which / where everybody works together to achieve goals. Gen Z, on the other hand, are independent. They want to complete tasks on their own rather than in a team, [5] that / which is something that makes them more competitive. It's also the generation [6] who / whose members are more likely to start their own business and succeed at an earlier age than millennials.

Do you agree with these characteristics? Do they describe you?

3 Complete the anecdote using the words in the box. There is one extra word.

enough fortunately initially just place predictably story unexpectedly without when

OK, so this is a story about a weekend I'll never forget. It took [1] place last summer in Staffordshire, in England. I was visiting my cousin and we decided to go on a trip because we both like cycling. We packed up our stuff, got on our bikes and cycled about 50 miles to a campsite very near the famous theme park, Alton Towers. [2] Just after we set off, it started raining and, [3] predictably for England, it didn't stop all day. We arrived at the campsite like a pair of drowned rats. [4] Fortunately , we managed to get the tent up quickly and began the long process of drying out. Or so we thought.
[5] When we woke up the next morning, we discovered that the tent had [6] unexpectedly leaked in the night and all our things, including our clothes were still wet through. There was nothing we could do, so we pulled on wet jumpers, jeans and shoes and headed for the theme park. Funnily [7] enough , it turns out that the fastest and most exciting way to get dry is to ride a rollercoaster with 14 loops at 50 miles per hour. [8] Without a doubt, that weekend was one of the wettest and funniest I've ever had.

8 ✓ ★★★ Complete the text with one word in each gap.

Marry me!

A proposal of marriage is an important moment and in the past it [1]used to be a very private one. However, today some people make it an extremely public event. Some men have proposed [2]to their girlfriends on big screens at football matches or on TV programmes in front of millions of people. One man [3]who/that proposed in front of the crowd at Glastonbury music festival also organised the wedding at the site. Others have got married after putting the words 'Will you marry me?' into crossword puzzles [4]for their girlfriends to solve.

One of the most unusual proposals happened in 2015, when a Japanese man decided to cover 7,000 kilometres around Japan on foot, by car, ferry, and bicycle. He had planned his trip very carefully, recording each step with GPS technology, [5]which is used to monitor the location of things and people. At the end of his journey, the GPS drawing spelt out an enormous 'Marry me!' Was it worth the effort? Judging [6]by the fact that he's a married man now, it turned out well! This was probably the world's most extraordinary proposal. Having said that, no doubt someone will soon try to make a(n) [7]even crazier one!

2.8 WRITING

An article

1 Complete the tips for writing an article with the words in the box.

anecdote ~~attention~~ define develop formal personal question summarising think

Title: attract the reader's attention by asking a [1]question , using rhyme or wordplay or [2]summarising the topic.
Introduction: should [3]define the topic and make the reader want to continue by asking a question, telling an [4]anecdote , or giving an interesting fact, statistic or quote.
Main paragraphs: [5]develop the topic and discuss the issues.
Conclusion: give your [6]personal opinion and leave the reader with something to [7]think about.
Remember: make your writing more [8]formal by avoiding informal phrases, colloquial language or contractions.

2 Match the beginnings and the endings of possible titles for the article in the writing task below. Then match the titles to the techniques for attracting a reader's attention A–D.

Napisz artykuł liczący 200–250 słów na stronę internetową swojej szkoły, w którym opiszesz okoliczności poznania swojego przyjaciela / swojej przyjaciółki i wyjaśnisz, dlaczego przyjaźń odgrywa bardzo ważną rolę w życiu dorastającego człowieka.

c	Without Our Friends?	A
d	and Life-changing Meeting	B
e	With My Greatest Friend	D
f	Important Than a Friend?	A

A Ask a question
B Use vivid adjectives
C Summarise the topic
D Use rhyme/wordplay

3 Group these eight sentences into four possible introductions to articles.

A Have you ever thought about the festive season on an industrial scale?
B The vast majority of young people meet their friends through school.
C Every year, nearly sixty million Christmas trees are grown in Europe and between ten and twenty million turkeys are killed for Christmas dinner in the UK alone.
D So, why are friends so important for young people? Well, besides sharing sweet snacks, there are, in my opinion, three main reasons.
E As someone once said, a possible answer to that question is 'A good friend knows all about you and still loves you.'
F However, I met my closest friend through an act of kindness and honesty, followed by a fortunate coincidence. And I do feel fortunate because I believe every young person needs a close friend.
G What exactly does it mean to be a good friend?
H Someone once said 'The only thing better than a friend is a friend with chocolate.'

A followed by C
1 B followed by F
2 H followed by D
3 G followed by E

4 Read the extract and decide which combination of sentences in Exercise 3 would make the best introduction to this article.

B followed by F

Shaun and I met for the first time in [1]totally weird circumstances. [2]I'd taken a taxi back from town one Saturday night and, [3]stupidly, left my wallet on the back seat. Shaun had been the next customer in the taxi, and had found the wallet and my contact details. Being an honest person, he got in touch. The next day we met and he [4]gave me back my wallet. I [5]said thanks, and said goodbye. [6]Ages after that, I joined an English class and guess who was sitting there in the classroom? Shaun! It took us a moment to work out where [7]we'd met before, but we soon remembered and became [8]best mates in no time at all.

5 Replace the underlined parts with phrases from the box to make the paragraph in Exercise 4 more formal. There are two extra phrases.

I had (2) I would ( ) mistakenly (3) nearly a year later (6) returned (4) thanked him (5) the best of friends (8) very unusual (1) we had (7) we would ( )

6 Rewrite the underlined parts of the sentences using participle clauses.

Our friends understand best how we feel because they have experienced many of the same things as us.
Having experienced many of the same things as us, our friends understand best how we feel.

1 Because I had never had a female friend before, I didn't know what to expect when our friendship began.
Having never had a female friend before,
I didn't know what to expect when our friendship began.
2 Close friends often seem to know what is on each other's minds because they spend so much of their time together.

This week's competition

Technology and teenagers go hand in hand nowadays. However, this isn't necessarily a good thing. Do you think technology is overused or used well by adolescents? If you are a teenager, we want to hear your views. Send us an article of 200–250 words in which you describe the very best things about using technology and discuss the challenges it poses. A selection of the best articles will be printed in the upcoming edition of Psychology Magazine.

Technology:

controlled or in control?

Have you ever wondered why teens are so keen on technology? [1]Growing up / Having grown up with it, we are digital natives – people who are at ease with everything from the Internet to smartphones, apps and computer games. However, I can report that while technology plays a huge role in my life, I do not overuse it.

Using technology has many benefits. For many of us, the Internet is a valuable tool which allows us to research information and educate ourselves easily through access to different cultures and perspectives. In addition, keeping in touch with friends using smartphones and social media gives us a sense of community and helps us maintain supportive relationships and develop our identities. Finally, online games allow us to share interests with people we would never normally meet.

As we all know, the benefits of technology are not without risk. A recent survey showed some shocking statistics. [2]Spending / Having spent up to nine hours a day on social media, some teens are becoming isolated from the real world; [3]checking / having checked their phones more than ten times a night, 10 percent of young people have serious sleep problems. Furthermore, learning how to be a good digital citizen and being able to analyse content for its accuracy and value can be a struggle.

Despite the challenges, as far as I am concerned, once you learn to establish sensible boundaries and use technology safely, the benefits are endless. I believe that most teens are aware of this and that they are in control of technology, not controlled by it.

BBC Nature or nurture?

Before you watch

genes growing up apart identical twins nature nurture upbringing

While you watch

2 5 Watch the video and check your ideas in Exercise 1.

3 5 Complete the commentary with the words in the box. There are two extra words. Then watch the first part of the video (up to 00:55) and check your answers.

between born collection environment experienced gathering nurture rare

We're in London at St Thomas's hospital for a very special [1]gathering of twins. Scientists love identical twins because they're perfect for examining how nature and [2]nurture affect our lives. By studying both the similarities and differences [3]between identical twins, scientists can begin to answer the big question – are we [4]born , or are we made the way we are? If twins have grown up in the same [5]environment , it's difficult to know whether it's genes or experiences that have made them similar. It would be easier to check if they'd had different lives. Cases of twins growing up apart are [6]rare , but they do exist.

4 5 Watch the the second part of the video (00:56–02:17) and complete the information about the girls.

	MIA	ALEXANDRA
Nationality at birth	1 Chinese	2 Chinese
Age	3 six	4 six
Lives in	5 Sacramento (in the USA)	6 (a village in) Norway
Parents	Angela and Andy	Wenche and Sigmund
Goes to school?	7 Yes	8 Not yet

5 SPEAKING Whose upbringing, Mia's or Alexandra's, is the most similar to your own up to the age of six? Discuss with your partner.

6 5 Watch the third part of the video (02:18–04:10) with no sound. It shows the moment when Alexandra and Mia meet each other for the first time. Make notes about the following: Answer key – WB page 187

- The feelings that Mia has just before Alexandra arrives.
- Their very first reaction to one another outside the house.
- The first thing they do when they get inside the house.

7 5 SPEAKING Compare your notes. Then watch the video again with sound and check your ideas. Answer key – WB page 187

8 5 Watch the rest of the video (04:11–05:30) and notice Mia's mother's reflections about the following:

- genetics
- her own role as a parent
- parental control

Answer key – WB page 187

9 SPEAKING Discuss whether you agree with Mia's mother's reflections in Exercise 8.

After you watch

10 SPEAKING Are the following human attributes determined more by nature or nurture?

health intelligence life expectancy looks musicality personality size sporting ability

FOCUS VLOG About important people

Could you tell me about a family member or friend you look up to?

What have you learnt from a friend or a family member that has helped you later in life?

1 SPEAKING Discuss who has influenced you most in your life. Refer to people in the box or your own ideas.

mother father (great-) grandmother (great-) grandfather sister brother cousin aunt uncle friend roommate teacher famous person

2 8 Watch the first part of the video (up to 02:17) in which speakers say who has influenced their lives most. Match a person from the box in Exercise 1 with each speaker.

1 Lilee – mother
2 Hassan – cousin
3 Hannah – sister
4 Aaron – great-grandmother
5 Shaelyn – brother

3 8 Match the reasons why each speaker in Exercise 2 looks up to their family member with the names of the people. Then watch the first part of the video (up to 2:17) again and check your answers.

1 She was the first woman pilot in West Virginia. Aaron's great-grandmother
2 She's kind-hearted and honest. Hannah's sister
3 He's following his dreams. Hassan's cousin
4 He encourages me to keep going. Shealyn's brother
5 She inspired me to be mature and responsible and make good decisions. Lilee's mum

4 8 Watch the rest of the video (02:18–03:41). Which two speakers mention a friend rather than a family member? Hannah and Aaron

5 8 Complete the quotes with appropriate verb forms. Then watch the whole video again and check your answers.

1 Lilee: She moved out of home and she handled everything really well and she brought me up on her own.
2 Hassan: He's following his dreams and that inspires me to follow mine as well.
3 Shaelyn: I'm pursuing acting in the UK and I can always phone him back home and he's always able to encourage me to keep going.
4 Lilee: She always told me to stand up for what I believe in and be who I want to be.
5 Aaron: Small leaks sink big ships … And the same can be applied to finances as well. Buying small things here and there adds up very quick.
6 Shaelyn: My grandfather taught me how to be independent, which has helped me since moving to the UK from Canada to feel like I can stand on my own two feet.

6 SPEAKING Lilee and Aaron both mention women who were ahead of their times. Do you have any family members who were or are ahead of their times?

Focus On Life Skills

Critical thinking • Collaboration • Digital skills

7 SPEAKING Work together to put the qualities of a good role model in order from 1 to 7 (1 being the most important). Add ideas of your own.

A good role model is someone who …

- is independent ☐
- is a good communicator ☐
- is educated and hardworking ☐
- believes in themselves ☐
- prioritises the important things in life ☐
- is brave and takes risks ☐
- is kind-hearted and honest ☐

8 Present your ideas in Exercise 7 to the class and give reasons for the order you have chosen.

9 Prepare a multimedia presentation introducing a person you admire the most and explaining what makes this person your role model. Share the presentation with the class.

Top 5 things that make humans special

#1 Our brains. Humans are highly intelligent. Although our brain is only about 2.5 percent of our body weight, we are able to think and work out ideas far better than any other mammal and have developed sophisticated information exchange systems of languages. We had [1]been communicating with music and art for hundreds of years before language developed, but the way we communicate with words is an incredible achievement that has put humans on a different level.

#2 Self awareness. Unlike most animals, we are aware of ourselves and our thoughts. The advantage of this is improved social interaction, but the downside, of course, is that people can become [2]self-conscious and worry or get embarrassed about what others think of them.

#3 Rules and laws. Although some animals follow basic rules in order to live in groups, we have been able to develop complex laws [3]which/that everyone has to follow. These laws govern everything from defining criminal behaviour to how we can trade, from education to the environment.

#4 Education and learning. Humans have the longest childhood of any species, which gives our brains lots of time to develop. It takes us far longer to learn things, such as how to walk or feed ourselves, than other mammals. However, we learn far more complex things than how to simply survive and have formal education systems which aim to cultivate a [4]love of learning that can last throughout our lives.

#5 Love. Last but not least, we are very romantic and perhaps the only animal that falls madly in love [5]with another member of the species!

My Everyday Blog

I just had to write today about the latest urban development plans. Have you read them? They want to knock down some 200-year-old houses and use the land to build ... yes, you guessed! A housing estate with 100 modern homes. I know there's a shortage of housing in our town, but it's not as if they're getting rid of a [1]slum with houses in a terrible condition – these are beautiful old buildings! And what about the old school? Surely that's a [2]historic monument ? It should be turned into a museum, not destroyed!

Luckily, it's not all bad news. At the moment, the river is a real mess, but the council are finally going to clean it up. After they've removed all the rubbish, it will be a [3]fast-flowing river again, not a slow, dirty one. They're going to build a new pedestrian [4]bridge over the water so people can cross the river easily and a [5]waterfront restaurant that will serve international food and be family-friendly. They're also building a new [6]shopping centre with over fifty shops, mostly for clothes.

So what do you think? Comment below!

These new houses will spoil the area completely. There's a [7]breathtaking view from the top of the hill looking down over the town at the moment, which people come from all over to see ... but soon it'll just be rows of houses. I think they should build the development on the other side of town.

I've heard they want to build a [8]canal so boats can go right through the town centre. Is that true? I hope not! We don't live in Venice!

The shopping centre is a terrible idea. Now everyone goes to the shops round the old [9]market square , and we have a busy town centre. If people start to shop by the river instead, many places in the centre may end up closing, which would be a disaster!

York, England

York is about halfway between London and Edinburgh and it's a fascinating place to visit. We left our car in an underground car park and explored the city on foot because there is very little [1]on-street parking in the centre. It's a very bike-friendly city and there are many cycle [2]lanes . There are also some car-free pedestrian [3]zones .

3.4 READING

Tiny houses • describing houses • idiomatic expressions

1 Read the text quickly and choose the best summary.

The text aims

1 to persuade people that tiny homes are the most environmentally-friendly accommodation. ☐
2 to inform readers about the reasons why people choose to live in tiny homes. ☑
3 to describe the potential advantages and disadvantages of living in a tiny home. ☐

Tiny houses

Humans have always traditionally lived in tiny homes, such as caves, huts and cabins. However, when homes became more permanent, bigger started to be seen as better. Property was in many ways a measure of wealth and success. In the last decade or so, however, people's priorities have begun to change and there is a growing tiny house movement. Tiny houses, as the name suggests, are very small homes and the reasons for choosing them are as diverse as the buildings themselves.

For some people, the choice is purely financial, as they either can't afford a bigger house or they want to remain debt-free. [1]D Most owners therefore do not need a mortgage or only need a small loan to build them, so they are able to spend their money on other things. For many young people this is a huge attraction. 'I'd just got my first job and money was tight,' says Lidia. 'Buying a tiny house was the best option for me since rents were so high.'

Tiny houses are also considerably cheaper to run than the average house, since energy bills are far lower. [2]A Although Amanda and Simon struggled to get rid of many of their possessions before moving to their tiny home, they found it had unexpected bonuses. 'Living more minimally gave us the financial freedom we sought and enabled us to prioritise better and set new personal goals. We grew as individuals,' they explain.

Others choose tiny living for environmental or well-being reasons and shrinking your home can have a huge impact on both. 'Our entire house was built using recycled materials,' Aleesha reveals, 'and contains fewer things to replace or repair. Our energy consumption has dropped by a staggering 98 percent. Because the house is small, we've found ourselves spending more time outdoors and are much fitter – physically and mentally.' [3]E Typical modern homes, in contrast, can make it tougher.

Having a permanent home that is mobile* can also be a big attraction. Tiny homes can be built on trailers*, offering the possibility of living in different places without moving house – your home goes with you. [4]B 'I'm retired and spend winter in the south and then head north for the summer. I don't have to maintain two homes and I meet so many fascinating people on the way,' says Marina.

A final advantage is that, compared to standard houses, tiny homes can be relatively easy to build. You can buy kits online or design your own. Thirteen-year-old Luke did just that – he planned and built his house with the money he earned from doing chores for neighbours and family. It cost $1,500 and is about 1.68 metres wide and three metres long. In the future, he plans to build a mobile tiny home to live in while he studies.

Tiny living might not be for everyone, but it has many attractions. You can live a happier life with more freedom, save money and know you're not doing it at the cost of the environment.

GLOSSARY

mobile (adj) – easy to move and use in different places; ruchomy trailer (n) – a vehicle used for carrying something heavy; przyczepa

2 Read the text again. Complete gaps 1–4 with sentences A–E. There is one extra sentence.

A The benefits don't stop there, either. Because they live in such a reduced space, people buy less since there is only room for the essentials (things that are important and necessary).
B This is appealing to people who don't want to settle down anywhere and it's also a great option for those who thrive on variety or who have to change location for work.
C The many advantages offered by tiny homes explain why people are increasingly looking into them as a potential solution to the housing crisis.
D Tiny houses, due to their size, require fewer resources to build and maintain and they can be built in far smaller spaces.
E Bearing this in mind, it is easy to see why tiny living could more readily contribute to a sustainable, healthy lifestyle.

3 Read the text again. Answer the questions in your notebook.

1 Why did people at some point in history begin to aspire to live in more spacious accommodation?
Because it was a sign of status/measure of wealth and success.
2 Why did Lidia opt to buy a small house rather than rent somewhere to live?
She didn't earn much money in her first job and renting a place was very expensive.
3 What was the main obstacle for Simon and Amanda when they decided to move to a small house?
Getting rid of their possessions/belongings.
4 How has Aleesha's lifestyle changed since moving to a tiny home? She spends more time outdoors than she used to.
5 What specific feature makes some small houses mobile? The fact that they can be built on trailers.
6 Why is the example of Luke given in the text?
To show that homes like that are very easy to build or design.

4 Complete the definitions with the words in bold in the text.

to a very small degree or amount	minimally
1 extremely great or surprising	staggering
2 money that you borrow from a bank in order to buy a house	mortgage
3 with a very limited amount of money	tight
4 becoming smaller	shrinking
5 put several things/problems in order and deal with the most important ones first	prioritise
6 much or a lot	considerably

5 Complete the sentences with the words in Exercise 4.

The number of young people who live at home has increased considerably. There are far more nowadays.
1 I'll have to prioritise today's tasks, otherwise I'll never get them all done.

The house where I was born

My grandmother grew up in a house that was practically falling down! I've seen photos and heard all about it. It was freezing in winter as there was no central heating and it was [1]draughty because there were gaps around all the windows where the wind came blowing in. The roof was in poor condition, so the rain came through, making the house very [2]damp . Her family spent most evenings sitting round the big open [3]fireplace , trying to keep warm. There was no [4]fitted kitchen, just some old cupboards and a sink and a fridge that made a terrible noise. It wasn't in such bad condition that it didn't have [5]running water, but the water never got particularly hot as the boiler didn't work too well. Of course, there was no such thing as an [6]en suite bathroom! The bedrooms were small and [7]cramped . When she was young, she didn't miss these luxuries because she loved being out in the hills and woods. Sometimes when I'm listening to the rain as I lie in my cosy bed in my [8]snug modern semi-detached house full of furniture, hi-tech equipment and gadgets, I think about my grandmother's house. I'm glad to live in town and not in an [9]inaccessible house in the middle of nowhere, sleeping on an old [10]canvas camp bed!

The Rise of Megacities

Until the mid-20th century, ___ people lived in rural areas, but now the majority of the world's population lives in urban areas. Cities have grown dramatically and [1] ___ of them have even become 'megacities', the name given to urban areas with more than 10 million inhabitants.

According to the United Nations, there are currently 33 megacities, the largest of which is Tokyo, Japan, with a population of 37 million. Unlike Tokyo, [2] ___ the megacities are in poor countries. There, people leave rural areas because there are [3] ___ opportunities for work or education, and [4] ___ hope of a good life.

When there is rapid population growth, poor countries face [5] ___ social, economic and environmental problems. Cities need [6] ___ clean water and electricity, as well as hospitals, schools, rubbish removal facilities and transport. But with [7] ___ money, it's almost impossible to keep up with the demands of a growing population.

This is why megacities are one of the world's greatest challenges. The question we need to ask is, 'Can our planet survive urban growth?'

The first months are difficult

Going to university is one of the most important events in any young person's life. You rent a room in a different city and, suddenly, you don't have to ask your parents for [1]permission to do anything anymore. You can go out every night if you want. With dozens of welcome parties for new and exchange students, the first months on campus are particularly busy.

During this time many young people realise that it's difficult to lead a [2]healthy lifestyle. Some can't believe that their favourite dish takes more than an hour to make, while [3]Others don't want to waste their time in the kitchen. Fast food becomes an attractive alternative and you end up eating it, even though you know it's not good for you.

Luckily, after a few months, things slow down and most students begin to focus on their coursework. If you don't start thinking about your exams in advance and do really badly, you might receive a letter [4]notifying you that you won't be able to return to the university next year.

Having fun and passing exams are [5]equally important in the first year of university. Still, it's useful to remember that you're less likely to be kicked out if you spend some time in the library.

Since the industrial revolution began in the late 18th century the number of city dwellers has grown and rural populations have shrunk. Although this suggests that life in the city may be superior in some ways, there are definitely pros and cons to metropolitan living.

(2)

Perhaps the strongest argument for living in cities is that there are greater employment opportunities than in the country. [a]Equally, salaries tend to be higher, meaning that city dwellers often have more disposable income. A [b]further benefit of city living is the numerous ways in which this income can be spent to enrich people's lives. For those who manage to achieve a healthy work-life balance, cities can provide a comparatively well-paid job which allows them to enjoy a variety of cultural and social experiences.

(3) (4)

One of the most [c]persuasive arguments against urban life is, ironically, the sense of isolation that living together with so many others can cause. Rural communities frequently enjoy a strong sense of togetherness, but urbanites often feel a lack of connection with others. It is impossible to form a relationship with all the people in a big city, so a common solution is to ignore the vast majority of them. This may also be related to another of the [d]minuses of city life, namely high crime rates.

(5)

All things [e]considered, despite the fact that cities can be lonely and dangerous places to live, I feel the benefits outweigh the drawbacks. [f]Personally, I enjoy living in the city and wouldn't want to live in the country while I am still young.

(6)

2 Match the following definitions with the underlined words in the essay.

1 city dwellers & urbanites people who live in cities
2 urban relating to the city rather than the countryside
3 rural relating to the countryside rather than the city
4 shrunk have become smaller

1 Even though / Despite life in the country can be quiet, there is usually a strong sense of community in smaller villages.
2 For those who love the outdoors, there is plenty to do in the countryside in spite of / although the lack of clubs, galleries and cinemas.
3 Although / Despite the air is clean and the noise minimal, there is little entertainment in the country.
4 Finally, country life allows for clean and healthy living close to nature despite / even though the distance from the amenities of the city.

8 Read the task below. Then complete the missing words in the essay. The first letters are given.

Many people feel city centres should be pedestrian zones to improve the quality of life for people living there. Write a 'for and against' essay (200–250 words). Describe the advantages and disadvantages of having car-free city centres.

The idea of banning cars in cities is gaining popularity. Already, cities such as Copenhagen, Milan, Oslo and Madrid either have car-free centres or are working towards this goal. Even [1]though there are several potential drawbacks to pedestrian city centres, there are also numerous benefits.
One of the strongest [2]arguments for pedestrian city centres is that they are far healthier and safer for everybody – the air is cleaner, noise pollution falls and there are fewer accidents. [3]Similarly, banning cars encourages people to walk or cycle around the centre, so they get fitter. Yet another benefit is that shops and restaurants there attract more business, since it is easier and faster for people to get around and they are not stuck in endless traffic jams.
[4]Despite clear advantages, there are also considerable disadvantages. The first drawback is that you need to create and maintain a reliable network of public transport that is cheap and efficient and this requires serious funding. [5]Likewise, building 'park and ride'* facilities outside a city centre is costly and only moves the traffic problem to the outskirts – which most residents have chosen precisely to avoid traffic issues. Another [6]minus is that older people, the disabled and families with young children might struggle without a car.
On [7]balance, there are pros and cons to having pedestrian city centres. [8]Personally, I feel that having some car-free zones which are bike and pedestrian-friendly are the best solution, but it is not practical or desirable to ban cars entirely.

Park and ride' schemes aim to reduce urban traffic. Drivers leave their cars in car parks on the outskirts of a town or city and travel into the centre on public transport.*

Mobile phones

If you are going to pay out for an expensive new phone, first [1]check up on the manufacturer's plans – they may be bringing out a new model soon. You should also [2]shop around, as prices vary between companies and your phone might be on special offer somewhere. Before you sign a contract for a new phone plan, [3]look out for any potential disadvantages, for example, do you have to stay with the same company for a year or longer? Could you get a cheaper deal if you [4]cut down on the number of messages you send? Finally, remember you can also look online for special offers. If you don't like the phone when it arrives, then [5]send it back immediately – the longer you wait, the more likely you will end up having to keep a phone you're not keen on.

FOCUS ON WORDS | Shopping collocations

4 Match the words in boxes A and B to make collocations. Then complete the definitions.

A: bargain, chain, ethical, impulse, local, ~~mass-produced~~, online, responsible

B: attitude, brands, prices, ~~products~~, purchases, shopping, store, values things that are made cheaply and in big quantities using machines mass-produced products

1 things that you buy without planning to impulse purchases
2 one of a group of shops owned by the same company chain store
3 buying things from websites online shopping
4 when the cost of something is less than usual, or very low bargain prices
5 morally correct beliefs about what is right and wrong ethical values
6 products made in a particular region or area local brands
7 when your approach to things is sensible and can be trusted responsible attitude

5 Complete the interview with the collocations in Exercise 4.

A: Can I ask you some questions about shopping?
B: Sure.
A: Firstly, do you think it's important to support brands that promote ethical values?
B: Definitely. That's why I always buy fair trade products – they're environmentally friendly.
A: What about [1]local brands? Are there any businesses from round here that sell products made in this area?
B: I don't know of any. We mostly have high-street shops, you know, the usual [2]chain stores. That's why I think [3]online shopping is so great. There are lots of websites where you can buy cool stuff.
A: But don't you think the Internet encourages [4]impulse purchases? I mean, you just have to click and that's it. It's so easy to buy things you weren't intending to.
B: I guess so. I mean, I've definitely bought things I hadn't meant to.
A: Where do you shop for [5]bargain prices?
B: I think you get the best deals online, too. I don't do much shopping in town. The only things you can get there are the [6]mass-produced products that everyone buys. If you want something more individual, then you have to shop on the Internet.
A: Would you say you have a [7]responsible attitude to shopping and buying things?
B: I'd like to think so. I don't shop just because I've got money to spend. I buy stuff that I need.

ECO SHOP

Home | Our story | Products | Promotion | Contact

OUR STORY

Eco Shop is for people who have a responsible attitude to the planet.

Everything we sell is organic, recycled and environmentally friendly. Shoppers love our ethical [1]values/products/goods! Buying from our organic range can help you cut [2]down on the damage you do to the planet. Helping people to reduce this is one of our aims.

We also sell arts and crafts made by people from our area because we believe in [3]supporting local producers. All these items are hand-made, they are not [4]mass-produced products created in their thousands.

We started our online shop in 2015 and it has been a huge success. We have a guaranteed returns policy – we believe you should be able to send something [5]back for up to 30 days after a purchase if you don't like it. You can also cancel an order up to six hours after it has been made. After all, who hasn't made an [6]impulse purchase and regretted it later?

Eco Shop prices are very competitive, so if you are on a limited [7]budget, ours is the website for you. We also understand you may wish to [8]shop around. If you find the same item cheaper on another website, we'll refund the difference! It hasn't happened yet because we usually have fantastic, [9]bargain prices!

We also offer luxury items – why not treat [10]yourself to some hand-made body lotion or soap or one of our fabulous organic cotton or silk shirts?

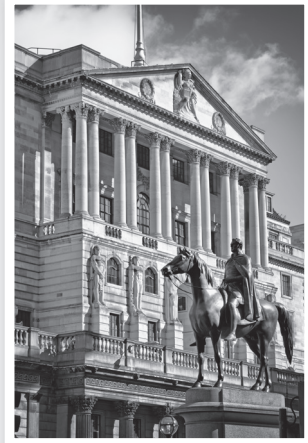
4.4 READING

Banknotes • making and spending money • being rich and poor

1 Read texts A–C quickly and choose the best title for each text.

1 Money to burn? B
2 Can I pay with plastic? C
3 Have you got change for £100 million? A



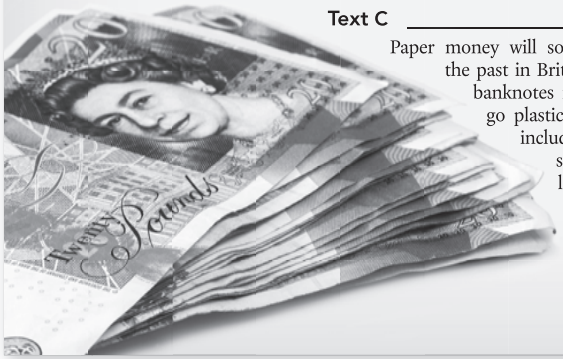
Text A

In Britain today, there are around three billion banknotes in circulation worth over 58 billion pounds. In 2013 alone, the Bank of England issued 760 million new banknotes and destroyed 845 million old ones. As well as the £5, £10, £20 and £50 notes commonly found in the nation's wallets and purses, there are just over 4,000 £1m and £100m notes – known as Giants and Titans – not in circulation, with a value of around £8bn. These are used internally by banks and are not legal tender*. Nevertheless, they are carefully locked away.

Text B

The average paper banknote in Britain lasts around 6 months before it becomes damaged or worn and must be removed from circulation. In the UK, old notes used to be burnt, but in a move to be greener, the majority are now shredded, compacted and then used with other organic materials to manufacture agricultural compost. Between 1988 and 1992 at the site where this shredding takes place, £600,000 worth of notes that were intended for destruction were stolen by three couples who worked there. The couples managed to sidestep security controls and remove the notes from the site by concealing them in their underwear.

Text C



Paper money will soon be a thing of the past in Britain as the Bank of England introduced plastic banknotes from 2016. Australia was the first country to go plastic in 1988, and more than 20 other countries including New Zealand, Mexico, and Canada have since switched. Plastic notes are highly durable*, lasting for around two years, or four times longer than the average paper note. Crucially*, plastic money is waterproof so it can survive washing machines, rainstorms and dips in the ocean. Although polymer notes are more expensive to produce, their durability makes them cheaper and more ecologically sound* over time.

2 Match statements 1–4 with texts A–C. One text has two matching statements.

1 More and more banks make their banknotes out of a new substance. C
2 Not all banknotes are available to the general public. A
3 Despite high production costs, new British banknotes will be more cost-efficient in the long run. C
4 The way banknotes are disposed of has changed. B

GLOSSARY

legal tender (collocation) – coins or banknotes that people can officially use to pay for things; środek płatniczy durable (adj) – staying in good condition for a long time, even if used a lot; trwały, wytrzymały crucial (adj) – extremely important because other things depend on it; kluczowy ecologically sound (collocation) – environmentally friendly; przyjazny dla środowiska

3 Read the texts again and answer the questions.

1 Which two texts mention specific amounts of money? A & B
2 Which two texts mention environmental factors related to banknotes? B & C
3 Which two texts mention the destruction of old banknotes? A & B
4 Which two texts mention issues related to the security of banknotes? A & B
5 Which two texts mention banks? A & C
6 Which two texts mention the average lifespan of paper banknotes in the UK? B & C
7 Which is the only text to mention the future? C

4 Underline the answers to the following questions in the texts.

1 In which country were plastic banknotes first used? Australia
2 How are Giants and Titans kept secure? they are carefully locked away
3 What makes plastic banknotes more environmentally friendly than paper ones? their durability
4 For how long is the average British banknote in circulation? 6 months
5 What do old banknotes in the UK eventually become? agricultural compost
6 What is the largest amount of money mentioned in the three texts? 58 billion pounds

5 Complete the definitions with the base forms of the verbs in bold in texts A–C.

to damage something so badly that it no longer exists, or cannot be used or repaired – destroy 1 to cut or tear something into small, thin pieces e.g. paper, meat or cabbage – shred
2 to hide something carefully – conceal
3 to change from doing or using one thing to doing or using another – switch

Dear Sir or Madam,

I am writing to make a f*ormal* c*omplaint* about an incident that [1]t*ook* pl*ace* earlier today at the Westgate Centre branch of your clothing store. I am extremely unhappy with the service I received.

I bought a top from the store last weekend, but when I got home, I discovered it had a hole in the sleeve that I had not noticed while I was trying it on. I had kept my receipt and so returned to the store this morning to exchange the top.

At the store, I [2]app*roached* one of the assistants (whose name was Lydia, according to her badge) and explained the situation. She looked at the hole and said there was no way it had been sold like that and [3]acc*used* me of making it myself! I tried to [4]rea*son* w*ith* her, but she would not listen. She said it was the customers' responsibility to check for damage before leaving the shop. To [5]m*ake* ma*tters* wo*rse* , she raised her voice and attracted the attention of several of the other customers in the store. In the end, I left the shop feeling absolutely [6]h*umiliated* , extremely annoyed and without a new top.

I trust you understand why I have [7]de*cided* to c*ontact* you and c*omplain* . I [8]a*sk* that you in*vestigate* the ma*tter* and that you replace my damaged top. It is [9]s*imply* unf*air* to tr*eat* paying customers in this way.

I [10]l*ook* fo*rward* to your re*ply/response* .

Yours faithfully,

Emma Jennings

You recently went to a sports centre with a friend to play tennis. While you were getting changed, you saw four adults making a mess in the changing room, but shortly after you started playing, a member of staff came up to you and your friend and claimed that you had done it. You and your friend were asked to leave. Write a letter of complaint of 200–250 words. In your letter explain what happened and say what you expect from the sports centre.

Dear Sir or Madam,

I am writing to draw your attention to an incident that took place at the Harwood Sports Centre last Sunday. My friend and I were treated extremely badly by staff and it was such a [1]humiliating experience that we decided to contact you and make a formal [2]complaint .

Last Sunday, we had booked a tennis court at the sports centre and had just started playing when one of the staff [3]approached us. Her name was Karen (according to the badge she wore) and she accused us of making a mess in the changing rooms. When we tried [4]to reason/reasoning with her and explain that we weren't responsible, she asked us to leave. To make matters worse, she [5]threatened to ban us from using the sports centre again.

The truth is, the changing rooms were already in a terrible state when we arrived. We noticed a group of four adults there who were dropping rubbish and generally making a mess. When we mentioned this, Karen simply laughed and refused to believe us or even to check the CCTV. In the end, we left the sports centre without being able to play and feeling very annoyed.

We ask that you [6]investigate the matter and refund the money that we spent booking a tennis court and travelling to and from the sports centre. It is extremely unfair [7]to discriminate against young people in this way.

I look forward to your [8]response .

Yours faithfully,

Simon Redman

Extract from Student's Book recording 2.34

P: Dr Atkins, what do you think the world of work (will) / is going to look like ten years from now?
DA: Well, it certainly won't look the same as now. Technology now enables us [a](to work) / working anywhere and so there's been a steady rise in people working from home and a sharp drop in the number of people commuting to work.
P: As technology takes over tasks that people [b]will do / (used to do), what kind of skills will be useful for people in the future?
DA: People will have to focus on the kind of skills that [c]must / (can't) be done by a machine or a robot such as [1]leadership and management jobs or caring for other humans.
P: So you don't think that dentists and teachers should worry about their jobs just yet.
DA: No, definitely not. The need for jobs in the medical and teaching [2]professions will remain constant. Many of the traditional jobs will still be necessary ten or twenty years from now – we'll always need lawyers, politicians, firefighters and so on. And we d / won't forget the [3]creative industries : we'll always need artists, writers and actors. I also think there will be a marked increase in jobs connected with alternative energy. […]
P: So which jobs do you think are at risk in the future?
DA: Um, I think there will be a gradual decline in jobs in retail – shop assistants e / can't be required in the days of online shopping. Any office jobs and factory jobs that [f]could have been / (can be) done by computers and robots will disappear.
P: Finally, can you name any [4]job titles that don't exist now and will in the future?
DA: I think we'll see jobs like body-part maker, robot mechanic and space [5]tourist guide . But I could be completely wrong!

On Sunday afternoon, food delivery rider Jim Adams, 18, was rushed to hospital with a suspected broken leg. He'd been struck by a car while riding his bike. Despite his injury, Jim was most concerned about how he would support himself while unable to work. Jim, like many young adults, is a gig worker and was delivering an order when the accident happened.

A 'gig' is a paid piece of work that people do, especially if they are self-employed. Unlike regular employees, gig workers do not have benefits such as paid sick leave* and a minimum wage*. They have no job security, so their workload, and therefore their pay, is unpredictable. This makes budgeting impossible and means that gig workers can be exploited – when there are bills to pay, any job for any fee will do.

You might think such work conditions would put people off, but it's estimated that almost 25 percent of American workers are now employed in the gig economy and this is expected to rise. It's difficult to wrap your head around such a statistic. So what's the attraction? Well, there are plenty of people like Jim – a university student – whose circumstances don't allow them to work normal hours. They're not happy about their lack of rights, but they have no choice but to do this kind of job. Equally, there are students who choose gig work because of the freedom it gives them to make their own decisions about when to wake up, when to work and how much work to take on. For them, gig work is a great solution.

So is gig work worth it for young people? Well, it's convenient for students trying to balance work and study. It also helps to develop self-discipline* and a work ethic* which will stand them in good stead later in life. But there's a danger that, over time, the gig economy will normalise casual work and employment benefits will then become a thing of the past. And if you're injured on the job, like Jim was, bad luck … help won't be at hand. You'll be on your own.

Text 2

The days of the paper round, once a rite of passage into work for thousands of young people in the UK, appear to be numbered. Newsagents across the country, once inundated with schoolchildren keen to supplement their weekly income by delivering newspapers to homes, are now being forced to cut back because they cannot recruit enough paper boys and girls.

Stefan Wojciechowski, a representative of UK newsagents said: 'Kids don't want to do paper rounds anymore because of increasing pocket money.' This means '[…] there is no longer the incentive to get up at the crack of dawn and [trudge] through rain, sleet and snow. […] It's a shame because not only is a paper round good exercise, it is also a very good way of bridging the gap between school and work. Youngsters get a sense of a good work ethic, which is good preparation for the future, […] but it's no good if they are just getting pocket money from their parents instead of earning independently.'

With its early morning starts in all weathers, back-breaking bags and risk of dog attacks, the paper round has long been seen as a character-building introduction to work for many youngsters. However, the lack of children prepared to take on the job, as well as competition from supermarkets and online media, means that many rounds are being phased out.

GLOSSARY

sick leave (n) – time that you take off work because you are sick; zwolnienie lekarskie minimum wage (n) – the lowest legal amount an employee can be paid; płaca minimalna self-discipline (n) – the ability to control yourself and to make yourself work hard; samodyscyplina work ethic (n) – a belief in the value of work; etyka zawodowa

3 Read Text 1 and Text 2 again and choose the correct answers A–D.

1 The nature of gig work means that
(A) workers can be taken advantage of.
B some jobs are more dangerous than others.
C it is suitable for all kinds of employees.
D employers are responsible for workers' benefits.
2 Which is true about gig work?
A More and more workers are turning to it as a source of income.
B It is a popular choice with students.
(C) Workers are in complete control of their workday.
D Work is always available whenever you need it.
3 There is a risk that due to the gig economy
A more casual positions will become available.
B people will choose not to work in regular jobs.
C some workers may need to stop studying.
(D) there will be a decline in workers' rights.
4 Young people are not delivering newspapers these days because
A they are too busy with school work.
(B) they are getting regular income from other sources.
C of the health and safety risks involved.
D of the harsh weather in the UK.
5 Both texts mention
A the negative impacts of working while still studying.
B why earning independently is necessary for young people.
(C) how young people can benefit from working while still studying.
D how young people's attitudes to work have changed.

4 Read the texts again. Complete the sentences with one, two or three words in each gap.

Hi Sara,

How are you? How's college? I'm about to do my final exams and then enter the job market! But how are you supposed to choose a career path at the age of 21? I don't fancy doing the same job for years, in fact I'd like to try a few different things. Maybe I'll look into [1]job-sharing or a position with [2]flexitime, so I'm not working 9–5 every day. Being a [3]part-timer could work too. That way I could spend some time doing my hobbies every day too.

What about you? Have you applied for any jobs yet?

Tim

Hi Tim,

I'm fine thanks, busy revising at the moment!

Have you thought about seeing a [4]counsellor to get some [5]career guidance? They should have useful advice about how to [6]thrive in different career fields. You could also become a [7]freelancer.

I know being self-employed sounds scary, but it could be just the solution and your living room could be your [8]workplace!

I found out yesterday I've got a job as a research assistant at college, so I'll be joining the [9]workforce all too soon!

King James School Students Speak Up!

This month's winning opinion piece comes from Sara Stokes in class 10E – well done to Sara!

These days, many school-leavers are unable to find jobs and at the same time, many employees are overworked, stressed and working increasingly long hours. Personally, I believe that a four-day week would be a great solution that would benefit everyone in this situation. To explain the reasons for my view, it is my intention to explore this issue in terms of work-life balance and employment.

When it comes to productivity, studies show that most people perform best when working between 25–30 hours a week. A four-day week would take advantage of this and this could also lead to employees using their time more efficiently and increasing their output. Undoubtedly, staff would be less stressed and probably have a better work-life balance. As a result, they are likely to be more motivated and creative, so I am of the opinion that both employees and employers would benefit.

Another important aspect of this issue is employment. If people worked only four days a week, companies would employ more staff. Young people could then be offered part-time work or job-sharing with experienced staff. Undeniably, this would reduce unemployment among young people and give them valuable work experience to improve their career prospects. Without doubt, companies would also benefit from fresh new talents.

Some people disagree, and argue that a shorter working week would mean people earning less as they would be unable to work more if they wanted to. However, these issues could be solved. Employees could have the option to work overtime, or salaries could be guaranteed, to ensure a good standard of living.

All things considered, I think introducing a four-day week would have tremendous advantages. I would prefer to earn less and have a far better work-life balance, also knowing that I was helping to reduce unemployment. For me, the outcome of working less would mean I was a happier, more enthusiastic and hard-working employee.

believe conclusion consider examine this issue in terms of no doubt ~~personally~~ result in while

Many people think schools don't do enough to prepare young people for the world of work. In your opinion, should schools teach more practical and critical thinking skills and give career guidance, or is it better for them to focus on improving students' academic performance?

Write an opinion essay on this topic analysing the advantages or disadvantages of schools teaching work skills and giving career guidance.

Many school-leavers struggle to get a job because businesses are reluctant to employ people they think have few useful skills and cannot think for themselves. Personally, I believe schools could do far more to prepare young people for the world of work, and that this should be one of the main purposes of education. To explain the reasons for this opinion, I will [1]consider the issue [2]in terms of the advantages of teaching work skills and giving career guidance.

When it comes to preparing for the workplace, there is [3]no doubt that learning practical and critical thinking skills is part of a good all-round education. Learning to prioritise tasks, cooperate in teams and work to a deadline are skills that students can equally well use with schoolwork. Teaching them at school could also [4]result in improved academic performance.

It is also important to [5]examine this issue with regard to career guidance. It is often the case that this advice is out-of-date, insufficient or non-existent and students would really benefit from learning more about how to evaluate and compare information on different careers and study paths.

[6]While some people say school standards have dropped in recent years, and using class time to prepare students for work takes valuable time away from studying subjects such as maths or languages, I [7]believe this time would be well-spent studying transferable life skills. They are just as useful in the classroom as in the workplace and beyond.

In [8]conclusion , I think learning practical and critical thinking skills at school and having better career guidance would be of enormous benefit to students, and not distract them from their learning. Personally, I have found studying these skills has increased my confidence and enabled me to make better-informed choices about my studies and career.

Amy: I wanted to be a journalist because I think it's important to give people authentic stories that don't distort* the truth so they can form their own opinions. I'm afraid many news agencies these days [1]misinform* the public deliberately and they most likely have an [2]agenda* when they do it. Sometimes, they even spread [3]fake* news or [4]tamper* with photos to support what they write. [5]Manipulating* the media is more common than you would imagine. I think journalists have a responsibility to tell the truth, although I also think readers have a responsibility not to believe everything.

Host: Some interesting points there, Amy. So, what can newsreaders do about these issues?

Amy: Well, when you read any news story, you shouldn't take it at [6]face* value. You should check the [7]accuracy* , [8]evaluate* the sources and, of course, double-check the [9]facts* yourself. Often when we read a news story, something bothers us about it, but we don't trust our [10]instincts/intuition* . We should! If a story doesn't quite add up, chances are it isn't entirely true.

6.4 READING

Is the news good for you?
- verbs and verb phrases
- photography

1 Read the article and choose the best description.

1 The text aims to persuade people to watch and read less news because it can have an impact on how you feel. ☐
2 The text aims to inform people about the potential negative effects of watching and reading the news and what you can do about this. ✓
3 The text aims to recommend the best way to read or watch the news so that you do not feel anxious or worried. ☐

Is the news good for you?

Keeping up with what is happening in the world is generally seen as an essential part of being a well-informed and educated citizen. Watching, listening to or reading the news can satisfy our curiosity, make us think, help us make choices and even avoid danger. Or at least that was the common view until recently. However, people are increasingly wondering if staying up to date with what is going on is good for us.

The frequency, speed and way we access news has completely changed over the past few decades. Whereas previously most newspapers were published daily and TV and radio news broadcasts were limited, now we are constantly bombarded with news from all sides: we have 24-hour news channels, apps to notify us about stories of interest and social media that expose us to news whether we want to see it or not. Online newspapers are updated many times a day, with 'breaking news' posts that follow events in real time.

The content of news reports is almost always negative. Throughout history, our survival has depended on noticing threats and avoiding danger, so the human brain is hard-wired to seek out information that is frightening or alarming, a concept known as 'negativity bias'*. We pay more attention to negative things because that kept us alive in the past and this is reflected in the news we consume.

In addition, because people now use smartphones to record events live, the news we see has become far more graphic and shocking.

Recent studies have shown that our news habits have disadvantages for our physical and emotional health. In one survey, over 50 percent of Americans reported that the news caused them stress and anxiety, often causing tiredness or poor sleep. Research by psychology expert Graham Davey has also proved that watching terrible or sad news on TV can worsen people's moods and make them worry more about their own lives. Clearly, being exposed to this ever-increasing bad news can make us feel less positive and affect our health.

However, there are ways to counteract* this negativity. It is recommended that you limit the number of times you check the news to once or twice a day and avoid looking at news apps before bed in an effort to reduce the amount of negativity you are exposed to. If you notice your mood has changed after hearing or reading the news, try doing activities that improve mood such as exercising, listening to music or watching a funny video clip to make yourself feel better.

Several websites, podcasts and apps, such as DailyGood, the Good News Network and Positive News magazine offer an antidote* to the huge number of bad-news stories in the mainstream news. The Good News Network, for example, has over 20,000 positive news stories in addition to podcasts, showing that there is no lack of good news, but the media simply do not report it. Positive News was established to develop journalism that focuses on progress and solutions. Switching to these news sources could not only make us feel more positive about the world and ourselves, it could simply make us healthier.

While it is true that staying aware and informed is not a bad thing, it is evident that our news habits can have long-term effects on our health. We should not forget that we have a choice, not only about how much news we consume, but equally importantly about the kind of news we want to see.

GLOSSARY

bias (n) – an opinion about whether a person, group or idea which makes you treat them unfairly or differently; tendencyjność counteract (v) – to reduce or prevent the bad effect of something by doing something that has the opposite effect; znosić, równoważyć antidote (n) – a substance that stops the effect of poison, something that helps improve the effects of something bad or negative; antidotum, odtrutka

2 Read the text again. Answer the questions in your notebook. Answer key – WB page 187

1 What aspect of the news media has recently started to be questioned?
2 In what ways is news delivery different from how it used to be?
3 What reason for negative bias in the news coverage is given in the article?
4 What ways of neutralising the harmful effects of the news are advocated by the author of the article?
5 Why were DailyGood, the Good News Network and Positive News magazine created?
6 What is the point the author of the article is making in the last paragraph?

3 Read the summary of the text and complete the gaps with one, two or threewords.

Following the news used to be seen as a sign of being a well-educated person. Nowadays, however, people are concerned that it could be [1]harmful/bad (for us). Today we are [2]bombarded with/exposed to far more news than in the past, even when we don't choose to be. Not only that, most stories are generally not good news. This is because humans have traditionally looked for danger and things that scare us in order to [3]survive/keep alive. In the modern world, this tendency has meant that newspapers and TV broadcasts tend to focus on negative events rather than positive ones. In addition, images and film clips in the news are [4]more shocking and visual than they used to be because people use phones to record events as they happen. The news can have serious effects on people's health, according to recent studies. To limit the negative effects of the news, you can reduce the number of times you read or watch it every day and avoid checking it before going to sleep. Mood-enhancing activities are also recommended, such as being [5]physically active or using music and amusing videos to cheer yourself up. Following positive news sources can also make people feel less negative and improve their health. We should remember that, while following the news is not necessarily bad in itself, we have control over [6]the amount and type of news – whether good or bad – that we read and watch.

1 Complete the statements with comment adverbials. The first letters are given.

Ob*viously*, freedom of speech applies to everyone including people whose views are generally disliked by the majority. (U)
1 Frankly* , I'm tired of hearing the same old arguments from pro-gun campaigners. (R)
2 Sadly* , the government chose to ignore nearly half a million protesters. (W)
3 Clearly* , there is still a lot of work to be done to change people's attitudes. (U)
4 Regrettably* , the company cares more about making money than it does about protecting the environment. (W)

2 Label the sentences in Exercise 1 with letters using the following categories:

U – where the speaker is saying something they feel can easily be noticed or understood.
R – where the speaker is saying what they really think about something.
W – where the speaker is saying something they wish wasn't true.

3 Put the words in order to complete statements 1–5, then match them with questions a–e.

1 that / emphasise / I'd / think
I think I'd emphasise that the vast majority of it is vandalism and has no artistic content at all.
2 obvious / one / is / disadvantage / that Well, one obvious disadvantage is that most people throw them away without reading.
3 important / I / quite / because / think
It's quite important, I think, because without the correct information, young people can't make sensible decisions.
4 other things / as / well / reducing their energy consumption, / include
As well as reducing their energy consumption, other things include avoiding wasting food and minimising car travel.
5 don't / a strong / about / have / opinion / I
To be honest, I don't have a strong opinion about that. This city has bigger problems to worry about than a few more shops.

a What would you say to those people who insist that graffiti is art? (1) b What are the drawbacks of handing out leaflets to highlight ethical issues? (2) c Don't you think it's terrible that they are building another shopping centre in the city? (5)
d How important is it to educate young people on the dangers of drugs? (3)
e What can the general public do to reduce their impact on the environment? (4)

4 Complete the dialogue with the words in the box.

advantage ~~argue~~ argued explain firmly obviously regrettably significant suppose

P: On today's 'My View' we are joined by Tom who believes that the UK voting age should be reduced from eighteen to sixteen. Tom, what would you say to those who might argue that the average sixteen-year-old is not wise enough to vote in a general election?
T: I think I'd [1]explain that in my view that is an unfair generalisation. It could be [2]argued that many of the people who are currently old enough to vote don't know enough to make an informed choice. [3]Regrettably , a significant number of voters make their decision based on what someone looks like or some other irrelevant detail.
P: And do you think a sixteen-year-old could make a more informed decision?
T: I [4]firmly believe they could. All UK teenagers attend citizenship classes now and they often know more about politics than older voters. [5]Obviously , young people are also affected by the decisions of policy makers. Remember that in the UK at the age of sixteen you can legally marry, work full time and join the armed forces.
P: And what other reasons are there in your opinion?
T: Well, I think one very [6]significant reason is that a sixteen-year-old who works full time has to pay taxes and therefore should have a say in how that money is spent. Another clear [7]advantage of lowering the age limit would be recognition that young people's opinions are important. I [8]suppose you could say that, at the moment, they simply feel completely excluded from politics.

6.7 USE OF ENGLISH

Compound nouns and adjectives

1 ★ Cross out the word which does not form a collocation with the word in bold.

	24-hour	service / journey / ~~anchor~~

7 ★★ Choose the correct answers A–D.

Can success be predicted?

Parents around the world __ about their children's future and would love to know [1]__ advance how well their daughter or son will do at school and later in life. Predicting a child's future is an almost impossible task, but for many years, the 'marshmallow test' used [2]__ considered one solution to this problem.

In the famous experiment, [3]__ was first conducted at Stanford University in the late 1960s, researchers gave small children one marshmallow and [4]__ to give them another one if they didn't eat it for fifteen minutes. Some years later, the authors of the study got in touch with the children again and found out that those who [5]__ their marshmallow were doing better at school and work.

However, a more recent study questions the findings of the experiment [6]__ at Stanford. It now seems that the 'marshmallow test' has little predictive value. In [7]__ cases, whether the child ate the marshmallow did not determine his or her future.

8 ★★ Complete the text with one word in each gap.

MEMORIES

Separating fact from fiction isn't always easy. I'm not talking about things like deciding what's true in news reports or stories, but something [1]much closer to home – our own memories. Our memories are [2]such a big part of the person we are that it's shocking to learn that some things that we remember vividly did not, [3]in fact, happen.

[4]Had my aunt not informed me otherwise, I would still believe that I personally witnessed our house on fire when I was about four. I [5]can still see the picture of the burning house in my mind, but I wasn't there! Apparently, I was on holiday with my aunt and uncle at the time. People had [6]told me so much about the fire that I had created my own memory of it. This has started me wondering how many more of our early memories are false. A scary thought! [7]Unless you check and cross-reference all those memories, who knows which ones the brain has made up itself?

9 ★★★ Complete the second sentence so that it has a similar meaning to the first one. Use between two and six words, including the word in capitals.

Teenagers used to watch television more often in the past.
WOULD
Teenagers would watch television more often in the past.

1 I don't share news articles if I'm not absolutely sure that they're true.
UNLESS
I don't share news articles unless I am absolutely sure that they're true.

2 It is very likely that people will discover the truth even if you try to keep it a secret.
BOUND
People are bound to discover the truth even if you try to keep it a secret.

3 This book sold well because its author is an Internet celebrity.

The man congratulated Sarah on winning the chess championship.

5 It was a mistake that the journalist didn't check the facts.
SHOULD
The journalist should have checked the facts.

6.8 WRITING

A review of a TV series

1 Complete the tips with the words in the box.

~~attract~~ characters director influences opinion plot recommendations summarise

A review

- In the introduction, use an interesting opening sentence to attract the reader's attention. Then give information such as the stars, [1]director and writer as well as details about the setting and obvious [2]influences on the show.
- In the main paragraphs, give more details about the [3]plot (the story) and the [4]characters (the people). Say what you liked and didn't like about it and present your [5]opinion using a variety of adjectives and modifiers.
- In the conclusion, [6]summarise your review and make any [7]recommendations .

2 Read the tips again and decide in which part of a review you would find the following sentences: the introduction (I), main paragraphs (MP) or conclusion (C).

In season one, the main character is murdered, and events are told in a series of flashbacks. MP

1 I would recommend this series to fans of mystery and drama for its clever plot. C
2 Although the show is average at best, the soundtrack is incredible. MP
3 Written by Eva Acorn, this show is influenced by films such as X-Men and Superman. I
4 All in all, the series offers a fresh, hilarious story about teenagers at high school. C
5 The performances by most of the cast are poor, with one exception. MP
6 The plot explores interesting themes such as poverty, education and friendship. MP
7 Prepare to be thrilled by this dark sci-fi drama. I
8 As far as I'm concerned, it's one of the best series around at the moment. I/C

3 Read the webpage and answer the questions.

4 Read the model review and put paragraphs A–D in the correct order.

[2] A The series tells the gripping story of Barry Allen, who becomes a 'metahuman' with the ability to move at super-human speed after being struck by lightning during a mysterious explosion. After his accident, Barry becomes 'the Flash' and dedicates his life to fighting crime. He travels back and forward in time as well as teaming up with other superheroes to fight villains and save those he loves. The Flash is now in its sixth season and the story remains far from [1]predictable .

[4] B In conclusion, The Flash is a highly original series that viewers will be talking about for years to come. From the [2]opening scene, it draws you in and you feel part of the story. I definitely [3]recommend it and look forward to next season's plot, which will no doubt be full of the usual [4]twists and turns that make the story so unforgettable.

[1] C Journey into an imaginary world with a crime-fighting superhero in the exciting drama series The Flash. This incredible show, developed by Greg Berlanti, Andrew Kreisberg and Geoff Johns, is heavily [5]influenced by comic book fiction. It combines action, mystery and science fiction to create a [6]well-reviewed show that, in my opinion, everyone should see.

[3] D The plot of The Flash [7]explores themes such as friendship, loyalty and time, particularly the consequences of trying to change the past or future. The story has terrifying and exciting moments that will have you sitting on the edge of your seat, but ultimately it is about human relationships.
The show doesn't depend heavily on special effects – the confident [8]performances of the cast are what make it successful. It is beautifully [9]shot and accompanied by an excellent soundtrack.

5 Read the model text in Exercise 4 again and complete it with the words in the box.

explores ~~gripping~~ influenced opening performances predictable recommend shot twists well-reviewed 6 Complete each sentence with an appropriate adjective. Use the clues in brackets to help you.

This show is hilarious (very funny) and will make you cry with laughter.

1 For me, the characters were unforgettable (impossible to forget) because they were so real.
2 Some critics said that the plot was far-fetched (hard to believe), but I actually thought it was quite realistic.
3 Be warned – this is a gripping (exciting) series that you won't want to stop watching.
4 There are no twists and turns in the plot, which is fairly predictable (easy to guess), but the series is beautifully shot.
5 The first episode takes a nostalgic (emotional about the past) look at life in a small town in the 1970s.
6 Some scenes in the series are absolutely terrifying (very frightening), so if you don't like horror films this is not for you.
7 Although the series was well-reviewed (liked by critics), I thought the special effects were low-quality and the acting was average at best.

7 Read the task and complete the review with the words in the box.

Glee

Enjoy a ride through high school and beyond with some incredible characters in Fox's musical series Glee. Series creators, Ryan Murphy, Brad Falchuk and Ian Brennan, have created a hilarious show about life for would-be music stars. As far as I'm [1]concerned , this well-reviewed comedy [2]drama is a must-watch series.

[3]Set in the fictional William McKinley High School, the story centres around teacher Will Schuester and his efforts to start and run a competition-winning choir, which school sports coach Sue Sylvester is determined to stop. The twists and turns of the [4]plot focus on the members of the choir and their problems with social issues, relationships and teamwork. It ran for six seasons, and from season four onwards it featured some stories about ex-choir members who had already left school.

Glee is a heart-warming series with a brilliant [5]soundtrack that mixes pop tunes with classic hits. The plot is a little far-fetched at times, but that's part of its charm, and it's definitely not predictable. It explores themes of friendship, ambition, fame and success for young people at high school and their struggles to find happiness after high school. The [6]cast give convincing performances and the musical routines are brilliantly put together.

To [7]conclude , Glee is an unforgettable series that is by turns funny and sad, and impossible to stop watching. From the opening [8]scenes , it becomes clear that this is a story that will make you think as well as laugh. I can't recommend it [9]enough for fans of music, drama and comedy and am sure it will still be popular in years to come.

6 Choose the correct options.

Is The Press Too Free?

Unless / (Imagine) the press was controlled more, would this be a good thing? Comment below!

• The press needs to be free! If it wasn't free, journalists 1 / did only be able to write certain stories. Recently, a newspaper published an article criticising the latest environmental policies. If they hadn't published it, I [2]knew / (wouldn't know) so much about the problem now.

• Freedom of the press is fine as long as they don't encourage violence or crime. After an article about graffiti appeared in the local paper, some teenagers here decided to try it. They wouldn't have done that [3]provided / (if) they hadn't read about it.

• The press should be free, but journalists should be reported if they break the law. Too many stories now are badly-researched and contain incorrect facts. If they were better written, more people [4](would read) / will read them!

• Definitely not! The public wouldn't get to know many things if we didn't have freedom of the press. [5](Had we) / We had not had it over the years, many things would have been covered up from the public.

April Fool!

There is a tradition in Britain of newspapers publishing silly stories on April Fool's Day (April 1) as a joke for people to spot. People can usually spot them because they are far-fetched, but these days, when fake news is everywhere, it can be hard to tell which stories have been published [1]deliberately as a joke, and which are actually meant to mislead the public. In recent years, eating food on buses and trains has gained [2]popularity, so in 2019 when a story appeared about the British Transport Police (BTP) banning people from eating strong-smelling food on trains and buses, with fines of up to £2,000 for this [3]offence, the reaction was mixed. Some people thought it was breaking news and immediately started complaining – they wanted to carry on eating mouth-watering snacks while travelling, even if fellow passengers didn't like it. Others had a more positive reaction and thought this showed the BTP had a clear [4]commitment to improving the quality of passenger services. Finally, there were those that trusted their instincts and realised that this 'news story' was a joke. If other people [5]had read the story more carefully and double-checked facts, they wouldn't have been fooled!

Stephen Hawking

On March 14, 2018, Stephen Hawking lost his long battle with motor neuron disease, and the world lost a scientist who had made an enormous contribution to our understanding of the universe.

Much has been written about Hawking. The scientific community [1]recognised his achievements at an early stage in his career. It was a surprisingly long career if you consider the disease that robbed him of speech and movement. For this reason, he [2]won the respect of people around the world for his extraordinary will to live, as well as his brilliant mind.

As a respected scientist, he was often asked for his views on many subjects. Concerning artificial intelligence, he [3]saw the potential and the benefits it could provide, but he was also worried that it could end the human race. Hawking [4]gained recognition for his work on black holes, which helped to prove the idea of a 'Big Bang' at the birth of the Universe. Interestingly, he was hoping Fred Hoyle, the scientist who had [5]coined the term 'Big Bang' in the 1940s, would be his PhD supervisor at the University of Cambridge in 1962, but this was not possible as Hoyle already had enough students under his supervision.

What surprises many people is the fact that Hawking was never [6]awarded a Nobel Prize. This is because theoretical scientific discoveries, like Hawking's, have to be established by data before they can be considered for a Nobel. It is impossible to see black holes with current telescopes.

As an icon of popular culture, Hawking [7]received many mentions in the press and also appeared on the TV series, such as The Big Bang Theory, The Simpsons and Star Trek: The Next Generation.

It wasn't known at the time how dangerous it could be and that high levels of it, particularly from X-rays, can kill.

$E = mc^2$ is possibly the most famous [5]equation in science. Many people recognise it, even though they may not know what it means. It's a central part of Einstein's theory of [6]relativity . It states that energy (E) is mass (m) multiplied by the speed of light (c) squared. In other words, it expresses the relationship between these things.

How fast something moves in a particular direction is known as its [7]velocity . In order to find it, you can do a [8]calculation . How driverless cars will change the world

A driverless car with a top speed of 60 mph has recently been revealed by a well-known tech firm. It may not look like it, but this machine and its successors are going to change your life. Today we explain how.

A No matter what we like to believe, humans are unfortunately no good at driving. The fact that 1.2 million people are killed every year on roads worldwide is a shocking and sad reminder of that. Unlike us, driverless cars will never drive drunk and will not be able to break the speed limit, take reckless* chances or race their mates away from traffic lights. They will never doze off*, lose concentration or send a text message from behind the wheel. Nor will they get angry, frustrated or competitive. In short, they will be a lot, lot safer than we are.

B Finding a place to park will no longer be our problem – our car will handle it for us. Once we arrive at our destination we will hop out at the front door and leave the car to park itself using its superior parking skills. Later, when we need it, we will be able to summon* it with our smartphone. No more parking tickets, no more multiple attempts at reverse parking and no more endlessly driving in circles looking for an empty parking space.

C Think how much of our time is wasted on driving. Those daily journeys to work or school soon add up to hundreds of hours a year. Sure, driving is occasionally enjoyable – the winding country road on a summer's day or the empty motorway late at night, for instance – but, unless you are a Formula 1 driver, the vast majority of the time you spend behind the wheel is likely to be tedious, and frustrating. Why not read a book, watch a film, or chat with family and friends and let the car drive itself instead?

D There are known to be approximately 7.5 billion people on our planet and it is estimated that well over a billion cars crowd our roads. For those who travel regularly on four wheels, it may sometimes seem that all of them are gathered in a never-ending traffic jam between where you are and where you need to be! Using sophisticated technology, driverless cars will be able to travel in convoys, centimetres apart, without the unnecessary braking that slows down traffic and creates jams.

E If we can solve congestion*, perhaps we won't need to continue digging up the country's green spaces to create huge eight-lane motorways which, in turn, encourage even more traffic. The impact of these huge roads on nature does not stop once their construction is complete, of course. Noise and light pollution seriously disturb animal populations and there is of course the danger to both animals and motorists of potential collisions. Not only could the reduction in congestion resulting from driverless cars save vast areas of our countryside, but also huge amounts of money. This money could then be spent on health, education and other more beneficial causes instead.

F One great plus of driverless cars is the freedom to travel that they will bring to those who cannot drive. It is unlikely that a driving licence will be required in order to operate a driverless car, so, theoretically, children could 'drive' themselves to karate practice, Sunday football or school, and Grandma could take herself to have her hair done on a Saturday morning! Provided that a trustworthy and secure system can be developed, the school run could become a thing of the past and parents could find themselves with an extra half hour of 'me-time' every morning.

The world's first large-scale test of driverless cars has already been carried out, but it will be some time before you can actually go to a car dealership and get your hands on one. There are many complex legal issues regarding their security, privacy and safety which need to be resolved first. However, it seems very likely that within our lifetime they will be a common and very welcome sight on our roads. In years to come, rather than saying 'I'm taking the car,' we may find ourselves saying 'The car is taking me!'

GLOSSARY

reckless (adj) – not caring or worrying about the possible dangerous results of your actions; lekkomyślny doze off (phr. v) – to fall asleep, especially when you did not intend to; przysypiać summon (v) – to order someone to come to a place; wzywać congestion (n) – overcrowding on the road caused by too much traffic; tłok na drogach, zator

2 Read the text again and choose the correct answers A–D.

1 When compared to current cars, the author suggests that driverless cars will
A be better for people's health.
B lead to fewer driving-related deaths.
C save their owners large amounts of money.
D be as easy to use as a mobile phone.

2 When it comes to parking, driverless cars will
A always attempt to reverse when parking.
B use smartphone technology to find parking spaces.
C be better at parking than human drivers.
D continue driving in circles until they are able to find a parking space.

3 How will driverless cars help reduce traffic congestion?
A There will be fewer vehicles on the roads.
B They will make better use of road space.
C By using a sophisticated method of detecting and avoiding traffic jams.
D They will travel faster than current cars.

4 The author suggests that driverless cars
A could indirectly reduce the destruction of green areas.
B will require the construction of new motorways.
C are potentially dangerous for animals living near large roads.
D may lead to increased levels of pollution.

5 According to the article, driverless cars
A will soon be a common sight on the roads.
B will only be available once relevant laws have been agreed on.
C are already being used in some countries.
D are currently available at certain car dealerships.

6 The author's attitude to driverless cars can be summarised as follows.
A The advantages of driverless cars outweigh the disadvantages.
B Driverless cars will take all the pleasure out of driving.
C The world will be a better place thanks to driverless cars.
D Driverless cars should be treated with caution.

3 Complete the collocations to do with driving with words from the article.

Insomnia – a cultural history

Medical historians think that insomnia is a relatively modern problem. Of course, they know that medieval Europeans woke in the night frequently, but they don't believe they were particularly worried about it. These days, we understand there to be around 100 million Europeans who suffer from some kind of sleep disorder. Psychologists consider stress to be the most common reason that people find it difficult to sleep. Additionally, we think that eating too late in the evening causes many cases of sleeplessness. Some experts also say that changes in our living environment or work schedule can cause insomnia.

5 ★★ Complete the text with the correct form of the words in the box. There are two extra words.

advise depend economy ~~invent~~ late practice see sure

Satellite Navigation is not a recent invention by any means, as the first portable navigation system became available in the Netherlands in 2004. However, since then the cost of purchasing one has decreased considerably and today it's possible to find a device at a very ¹*economical* price. It's no surprise that more and more drivers decide to follow the step-by-step instructions they hear, without having to check the map.

For me, the popularity of sat-nav systems is further proof that we are becoming too ²*dependent* on technology. In the past, most people were able to read maps, but ³*lately* , I think most people have lost this ability. What is even more worrying is the fact that some people seem to be losing their common sense too.

Every summer I read articles about people who got into trouble because they had blindly followed the ⁴*advice* of their sat-nav, for example, the tourists who drove their rental car into the ocean just because their device told them to drive ahead. Driving requires focus – you can't lose ⁵*sight* of where you're going. Road and traffic signs are just as important as your sat-nav.

Robots in the kitchen

It's very rare that a week can pass without some new technological (TECHNOLOGY) advance making the headlines, and ¹*lately* (LATE) a kitchen robot has been appearing in the news. At a technology fair last month, the world's first robo-chef was announced.

A top chef has been working with a robotics engineering company to ²*ensure* (SURE) that the machine can measure and add ingredients and cook a meal like an expert professional. In ³*reality* (REAL), the robo-chef is a pair of metal arms which have been programmed to copy a real chef's ⁴*movements* (MOVE) when mixing, stirring etc., so that it can cook perfect meals again and again.

An obvious ⁵*disadvantage* (ADVANTAGE) of the robo-chef is that, unlike a real person, it cannot taste the food it cooks! However, a good result might be a ⁶*reduction* (REDUCE) in the number of repetitive injuries that chefs can suffer from.

Will the robo-chef revolutionise cooking? As this branch of science progresses over the next decade, robots will ⁷*undeniably* (DENY) invade our kitchens to some extent. But, at the current cost of £10,000, today's robo-chef is ⁸*unlikely* (LIKE) to be found in the average household just yet.

7 ★★ Complete the second sentence so that it has a similar meaning to the first. Use the word in capitals.

Jake looked at the screen in shock and rubbed his eyes. 2

[a]It was late and he was in his room, playing his favourite football game. 7 He really shouldn't have been doing that – he needed to be up early the next day to attend a lecture. 'Never mind,' thought Jake, and kept playing.

He had just scored a goal when the game suddenly stopped. [b]What was worse, the screen had gone black. 3 'Well, that's annoying,' sighed Jake. He hoped the computer wasn't broken. Not being very good with technology, he wasn't sure what to do. As it was nearly 2 a.m., he decided to go to bed. 'I'll deal with it in the morning,' he thought. He put on his pyjamas and turned off the light. But, closing his eyes, he heard something. Voices? [c]Jake was terrified! 5 He was sure someone was in his room!

Now the voices were louder! [d]'Wake him up!' someone yelled. 6 'Throw water on him,' giggled another. 'What the …?' gasped Jake. He turned on the light and … froze! Standing in the room were the players from the game. 'What … what's happening?' Jake whispered. 'There's nothing wrong with your computer. Just restart it!' said one of them. 'We want to play!'

Was he dreaming? Was he going crazy? 'Um … sure, just a second,' replied Jake. He restarted the computer and loaded the game. 'OK, it's ready,' he said, looking up from the keyboard. But they were gone! [e]And there, on the screen, were the players! 4 [f]'I really need to stop gaming at night,' Jake said to himself and went to bed. 1

7 Read the story in Exercise 8 and put the events in the correct order.

A Robbie went in search of a place that he could explore. 3
B Robbie was bored because he had nothing to do. 1
C Robbie had a terrifying experience. 4
D Robbie was told about an interesting place. 2

8 Read the task and the story. Then add inverted commas, commas, full stops, question marks or exclamation marks where necessary in the second and third paragraphs.

Write a narrative of 200–250 words about a strange event. Write when and where the narrative takes place, and who the main characters are. Decide what happens and how the story ends.

'What a boring day!' sighed Robbie, sitting in the lobby of his hotel. He'd been looking forward to his holiday on the island, but it wasn't much fun there on his own. He'd already explored the place by jet pack the previous day. As he flew over the beaches and the villages, he live-streamed it to his sister back in the UK.

He picked up a brochure about a cave. 'You should visit it,' suggested the owner, who knew the island well. 'What is there to see?' asked Robbie. 'There are strange wall paintings and some writing in a language no one understands,' he replied. 'Wow!' said Robbie. Suddenly, he was interested. He was studying ancient languages at university and was excited by the idea of the mysterious writing. He decided to go the next day.

Early in the morning, Robbie set off. After hiking up a mountain, he eventually found the entrance to the cave. As he approached, he saw a young woman there. 'Hi. Have you been inside yet?' he asked her. 'Why are you here?' she snapped. Robbie was shocked. 'Err ... umm ... I just want to see the cave,' he said. 'Go away!' she yelled at him. 'This is my home and I have come back after many centuries,' she continued.

Centuries? What was she talking about? Robbie looked at her closely then and realised she had live snakes instead of hair! 'You're a monster!' he gasped. He turned and ran like the wind down the mountain. Robbie left the island that day, but sometimes he wonders what would have happened if he'd stayed.

THE FIVE GOLDEN RULES OF NETIQUETTE

Sharing isn't always caring
Ask your friends for permission before you post photos of them on social media. They may not like the way they look or come across.

A lasting impression
If you're sending a message or email to someone, think about how you come across. CAPITAL LETTERS or bold can look aggressive. Too many emojis and exclamation marks can look childish or silly. Check spelling and punctuation if it's a formal email.

Remember the human
Think before you post. Never post unkind comments on other people's photos and posts, including celebrities and other famous people. They're human too.

True or false?
Be careful not to share fake news. Check that something is factually correct and from a reputable source before you share it.

Don't believe the hype
If social media makes you feel that everyone's having more fun and a better lifestyle than you, remember that it's easy to give the impression that life is perfect by choosing photos cleverly. But it's not real life.

7 SPEAKING Discuss whether you agree with the rules of netiquette. Is there anything you would add or change?

9 Complete the text with the correct form of the words in brackets.

To spy or not to spy?

It's a question that most parents eventually (EVENTUAL) ask themselves when it comes to monitoring their kids' texts, emails or posts on social networking sites. Some parents are so concerned about their children's activities that they unplug the Internet router at a certain time in the evening to [1]regulate (REGULAR) screen time or demand access to their kids' messages and social media accounts. But does this approach have a [2]beneficial (BENEFIT) effect on the relationships between parents and their children?

School psychologists generally believe that restricting and monitoring technology isn't [3]harmful (HARM) to the parent-child relationship if there is a set of rules for everybody to follow. They agree that both parents and children should respect each other's [4]privacy (PRIVATE), but at the same time it might be a good idea to place a computer in a family area and occasionally talk about potential dangers connected with the Internet. Obviously, with rapid [5]technological (TECHNOLOGY) progress and children being incredibly savvy about it, adults need to keep up-to-date with any new gadgets or ways of communicating that the kids might want to use.

Parents definitely need to know what kids are doing and viewing online, but on the other hand, they should be discreet and trust that their kids know what's right and what's wrong.

8.1 VOCABULARY

Nature • environmental issues • landscapes • animals

SHOW WHAT YOU KNOW

1 Complete the text with the missing words. The first letters are given.

Every country aims to create economic growth because it brings more jobs and better living conditions for its population. However, this kind of development is often bad news for the environment. For example, when more factories are built, there is more employment, but air pollution from manufacturing leads to [1]global warming, a phenomenon that is increasing temperatures around the world. This [2]climate change causes problems for farmers because when it's hotter and there isn't enough rain, [3]water shortages mean animals have nothing to drink and food crops die. In addition, warmer temperatures destroy areas where animals live and we now have many [4]endangered species that could die out completely.

There needs to be a balance between economic growth and protecting the environment. Governments should invest in [5]renewable energy such as wind farms and make it affordable for homes and businesses to install [6]solar panels on roofs. Some countries make sure all homes have [7]recycling bins for their household waste, too. Glass, paper and aluminium can be reused, which is great for the environment.

FOCUS ON WORDS | Environmental issues

2 Match the two statements. Use the words in bold to help you.

Try to avoid buying single-use plastics. (f)

1 It's important that all of our waste is biodegradable. (d)
2 Contamination of the air by dangerous gases is a serious problem. (a)
3 People who don't believe in climate change think eco-warriors are wrong. (c)
4 Our actions are doing irreparable damage to the Earth. (e)
5 Removing just one species from the food chain destroys the whole system. (b) a That's why we need to find different forms of energy for our cars.

b So if smaller fish die, larger ones will starve, and so on.
c However, who else is fighting to protect the natural world?
d Otherwise, we can't get rid of it and it's with us forever.
e For instance, polar bears could die out if Arctic ice melts due to global warming.
f Instead, use glass, paper or aluminium containers that can be recycled.

3 Complete the text with the words in bold in Exercise 2.

One of the biggest threats to the quality of the natural environment is single-use plastic such as drinks bottles, bags, straws and packaging. Unlike paper packaging, plastic is not [1]biodegradable, so it stays on the ground and in the oceans for many, many years and causes [2]contamination of land and water.

When plastic is in the ocean, sea creatures mistake it for food, eat it and die. These deaths affect the [3]food chain in terrible ways as it means there is less for other animals to eat. We should produce less plastic and get rid of plastic waste more responsibly to stop the [4]irreparable damage that it causes. It isn't enough for us to depend on [5]eco-warriors to fight for the environment. Everyone has a duty to protect the planet.

To: Emily

From: Anna

Hi Emily,

We're having a great time. I didn't think I'd enjoy hiking, but I've changed my mind! We're staying in a village in the foothills of the mountains. It's far away from any [1]built-up area, so it's nice and quiet. Our accommodation is on a farm and it's such a pretty place.

On our first day, the farmer showed us around. First, he took us to the [2]orchard where we picked cherries from the trees. The following day, we had a picnic in a [3]meadow with soft grass and colourful wildflowers. After we ate, Andy and Lou decided to play football. Bad idea! The ball rolled into a grassy [4]ditch and when Andy went to get it, he slipped on the grass and hurt his foot. Luckily, it wasn't serious, but the next day he couldn't hike with us.

Do you like the photo I've attached? That's the view from my room. The [5]ploughed field belongs to the farmer. He got it ready yesterday and he's going to grow some vegetables there. Nearby you can see a [6]stream – the water is so clear that you can drink it!

Today we're going hiking again. There's a flat [7]plain not far from here and Andy won't have any problems walking there. So, I'd better get my boots on and join the others!

Bye for now,

Anna

6 Complete the biologist's notes with the words in the box. There are two extra words.

breeding grounds | extinction | hatch | ~~in captivity~~ | migration | natural habitat | on the loose | release into the wild | thriving populations

Common name:	Loggerhead Sea Turtle
Scientific name:	Caretta caretta
Lives for:	50+ years in the wild, 33+ years in captivity
Body length:	around 90 cm
Weight:	70–170 kg
[1]Natural habitat:	Oceans all around the world, except in the coldest seas
Diet:	Clams, crabs, mussels; also some softer foods including jellyfish, fish and seaweed
[2]Migration:	Every two or three years they may travel over 12,000 km
[3]Breeding grounds:	They return to the same beach where they were born to lay their eggs. It takes 46–80 days for the eggs to [4]hatch, depending on the temperature.
Threat of [5]extinction:	Numbers are declining and there are no [6]thriving populations. Considered to be an endangered species due to capture in fishing equipment, water pollution, plastic waste and destruction of beaches by development.

7 Choose the correct options.

Scientists release animals into the loose / wild if they believe that they can survive there.

1 Areas that are thriving / breeding grounds for animals should be protected.
2 When just a few members of a species are left, the only way to save them is to keep them in captivity / the wild, where they will be safe.
3 It's our fault that some species are facing migration / extinction and could disappear forever.
4 As soon as they hatch / release, baby loggerhead turtles head towards the sea.
5 A lion has escaped from the zoo and is in / on the loose in the city!
6 It's amazing how far some animals travel during their migration / population from one place to another.
7 The Amazon jungle is the wild / natural habitat of thousands of plant and animal species.
8 There used to be a breeding / thriving population of dodos on Mauritius, but the species died out.

Interview about intelligent animals • word building

1 Complete the interview with Dr Matthews with the appropriate form of the words in brackets.

Extracts from Student's Book recording 3.35

P: Welcome to Animal World, the series in which we examine animals' behaviour (BEHAVE) in their [1]natural (NATURE) habitats. This week, we're turning our attention to some of the smartest animals on the planet. Here to deliver today's three-minute lecture is wildlife expert and animal rights [2]campaigner (CAMPAIGN) Dr Roger Matthews. Thank you, Dr Matthews.

DM: Thank you. When you think of intelligent animals, no doubt chimpanzees come to mind. Chimpanzees share ninety-eight percent of the same genes as humans and they resemble humans in many ways. […] They experience adolescence and develop [3]powerful (POWER) mother and child bonds. They are also similar to humans in that they attack and kill rival gangs of chimpanzees when they want to extend their territory.

The notion of chimpanzees being aggressive is pretty [4]shocking (SHOCK), but it's even harder to imagine dolphins being anything other than affectionate, [5]playful (PLAY) and intelligent. Dolphins are undoubtedly [6]extremely (EXTREME) intelligent. They have large brains and a number of things in common with humans and chimpanzees. […] Also like humans, they are totally [7]dependent (DEPEND) on their parents during [8]childhood (CHILD). But they're also good at defending themselves and can be quite competitive, even [9]aggressive (AGGRESSION), particularly when they want to keep other males away from a female.

But I'd like to move nearer to home and consider farm animals. Which do you think are the least intelligent: cows maybe, or sheep? It's true that sheep have a reputation for being stupid because they [10]mindlessly (MIND) follow the crowd and frankly, they don't look very bright. However, scientific research shows that they've been seriously undervalued. […]

Wyraz mind występuje w wielu często używanych kolokacjach z czasownikami i przymiotnikami oraz w licznych przydatnych wyrażeniach, np.:

1 Population ☐
2 Extinction ✓
3 Large creatures ☐

A The Tasmanian devil is found on the island of Tasmania, but it once had thriving populations on the Australian mainland* too, where it was widespread. The devil's extinction there 3,000 years ago was likely due to increasingly dry conditions with little rain to support plant and animal life. The Tasmanian population survived because of the wetter conditions and also because the dingo – a native* Australian wild dog – was unable to reach the island and hunt the Tasmanian devil.

Early European settlers* considered Tasmanian devils a danger to their farm animals and, in 1830, a plan was introduced to remove them from the island. For over 100 years, devils were caught and killed, and their extinction was imminent. But the population recovered after a 1941 law began to protect them. For over fifty years, all was well, until a disease epidemic* had a severe impact on the population, causing it to shrink considerably. The Tasmanian devil is now an endangered species, and as the disease cannot be cured, there are serious concerns about its continued survival.

Earth News

B The world's largest bee, thought to be extinct, has been discovered by scientists in a group of Indonesian islands. Now, there is some hope for the survival of the species. However, it is threatened by deforestation – the region where the bees live lost seven percent of its trees between 2001 and 2017.

Part of the funding for the expedition* to find the bee was provided by Global Wildlife Conservation. In 2017, this organisation began a worldwide search for twenty-five species that have been 'lost' for at least a decade, including a pink-headed duck and a tree kangaroo.

Though it is an exciting discovery, scientists worry that there may be a new threat. In 2018, a sample of the bee was sold on eBay for $9,100. They are concerned that people may attempt to find the bees for profit. To protect them, the exact location of the discovery has not been revealed. The team plans to return to the island to do more research soon.

Prehistoric Giant Revealed

An enormous species of dinosaur, which weighed more than a Boeing 737, has been found by scientists, who claim the beast was so large it would have 'feared nothing'. Named Dreadnoughtus Schrani, after the dreadnought battleships of the early twentieth century, the herbivore would have done little other than eat in order to support its vast* body. Measurements of its fossilised bones suggest that the long-extinct creature measured twenty-six metres in length and weighed about sixty-five tonnes.

The ancient remains unearthed in Argentina represent by far the most complete skeleton ever recovered of a super-massive herbivore from a group known as the titanosaurs. Although partial skeletons of potentially larger cousins have previously been found, the find makes Dreadnoughtus the largest land animal for which a body size can be accurately estimated. Examination of the 77-million-year-old specimen* suggests it may not even have been fully grown at the time it died.

D The red squirrel has been almost entirely driven out of almost all of England and Wales after the introduction of the grey squirrel from North America in the nineteenth century. Environmentalists and nature lovers are calling for a nationwide reduction in the number of grey squirrels in order to prevent the total extinction of the native red. There are estimated to be just 15,000 reds left in England, compared to a massive 2.5 million grey squirrels. Although experts once believed that the aggressive grey squirrel was able to out-compete the gentler red in the battle for food and habitats, many are now convinced that the decisive factor in their disappearance was actually a viral-like infection carried by the greys and passed on to the reds. The virus is probably responsible for the decline of the red squirrel over a long period of time and now the race is on to see whether environmental groups and scientists can save what remains of the population.

Do chimps smile?

Being able to laugh and smile is important when it comes to communication between human beings and this ability is thought to [1]have developed more than five millions years ago. Smiling is a complicated procedure and involves [2]lots/plenty of facial movements. Humans can smile both silently and when we laugh, and this is one of the things [3]which/that set us apart from other animals. However, research now tells us that chimps and humans laugh and smile in a very similar way. Scientists [4]used to think that, although chimps laughed when they were playing, they didn't smile silently at [5]each other like we do. Recent studies analysed the facial impressions of forty-six different chimps from several wild colonies. The results showed very subtle changes in the chimps' facial movements, which compare to human silent smiles. [6]What this implies is that, like us, chimps use smiling as a communication tool. Scientific research continues [7]to provide us with evidence that chimps and humans have a lot more [8]in common than anyone had ever thought!

8.8 WRITING

A letter to an editor

1 Change the underlined words and phrases to make the introduction to a letter to an editor more formal. There may be more than one way to do this.

[1]Hi there,
[2]I'm [3]getting in touch after reading the article in your [4]paper last Thursday about the positive effects of tourism on a country's economy. I [5]want to tell you that tourism can do terrible damage to the environment and areas of natural beauty.

1 Dear Editor / Dear Sir or Madam
2 I am
3 contacting you/writing to you
4 newspaper
5 would like to point out

2 Match the advice on achieving a formal style to your corrections in Exercise 1.

Begin with a formal greeting. 1 a Avoid contractions. (e.g. can't, he's, should've, etc.) 2 b Avoid informal language. (e.g. thanks = thank you) 4 & 5
c Avoid overusing phrasal verbs and colloquial expressions. (e.g. carry on = continue) 3

3 Choose the correct options to complete the rest of the letter in Exercise 1.

Having recently spent / I have recently spent a week on holiday in a resort town, I have personally seen the effects of development for tourism. As [1]the / a result, more and more high-rise hotels have been built. In addition, roads, an airport, shops and restaurants support the increased demands for transport and services. The outcome [2]of / with such development is that beautiful landscapes and natural habitats have become irreparably damaged.

There is [3]no / without a doubt that tourist facilities consume massive amounts of water and electricity. At a time when global warming is making the planet hotter and drier, water resources should not be wasted, as this could [4]result / lead to shortages. Furthermore, burning fossil fuels to generate electricity contributes to global warming. Unless hotels and businesses use renewable energy, they add to this ever-growing problem.

Holidays are now [5]so / such an affordable that record numbers of people are travelling and the negative impacts of tourism can only become worse. To my mind, [6]in spite of / even though tourism has led to economic growth, it has also played a major role in the destruction of the environment and will continue to do so in the future.

Yours faithfully,

Dean Robertson

actually nevertheless that said whereas ~~while~~ yet

The Daily Sentinel Environment Section

We would like our readers' views on zoos.
- Do you think it is wrong to keep animals in zoos?
- Are there any good reasons to keep animals in captivity?

Send your letters to the editor.

Dear Sir or Madam,

I am writing to you in response to your request for views about zoos. While I understand that keeping animals in captivity can be cruel, I would like to point out that for many species, zoos [1]actually offer their only hope for survival.

Having been a volunteer at a zoo, I have personally seen how they work to protect endangered species. Animals in the wild face many dangers, [2]whereas wildlife in captivity is safe from threats that can lead to extinction. One of these is the loss of natural habitats. With nowhere to live or breed, species cannot survive. Another danger is disease, which can spread quickly and greatly reduce a population. Hunters are also a threat, [3]yet despite this, they continue to kill for profit in many places.

Zoos often play a very important role in saving a species from extinction. Experts in different fields can contribute to our knowledge of animal habits and behaviour and help zoos create breeding programmes. Whenever possible, bred animals are released back into the wild, where they are monitored. [4]That said, not all programmes are successful, but they are worth trying.

It may be considered wrong to keep animals in zoos, [5]nevertheless, it is undeniable that zoos provide a safe place for animals to live and breed. Perhaps more importantly, they give endangered species a chance to survive. To my mind, zoos have become increasingly necessary as natural habitats are destroyed and more species become extinct.

Yours faithfully,

Emma Dixon

BBC The Global Seed Vault

Before you watch

1 SPEAKING Look at the screenshots from the video and discuss the questions.

1 What is the Global Seed Vault?
A project to store and preserve all the world's seed varieties.
2 Where is it located and why?
Located in the Arctic mountains of Norway because it is very safe.
3 Why do we need it? What is it for?
To protect seed varieties from climate change.

While you watch

2 35 Watch the video and check your ideas in Exercise 1.

3 35 Complete the sentences with the numbers in the box. Then watch the video again and check your answers.

4000 12 130 -20 800,000 250 800

1 The average temperature inside the vault is -20 degrees Celsius.
2 Some seeds will survive for 4,000 years.
3 Most food comes from just 12 varieties of plants.
4 The Seed Vault is only 800 miles from the North Pole.
5 There are more than 800,000 plastic packets stored in the vault.
6 The Seed Vault is cut 250 metres deep into the permafrost.
7 The vault is 130 metres above sea level.

4 SPEAKING Discuss the questions about the video.

1 Why was the vault built in this remote, isolated and hostile terrain?
Because it is the safest place on Earth.
2 Why was the construction of the vault a major achievement for Norway?
Because it was a difficult project.
3 Why is the box of seeds carried by the scientists referred to as 'precious'?
Because it needs to be taken great care of.
4 Why would the vault survive if global warming melted all the ice caps?
Because it's 130 metres above sea level.
5 Why does the employee refer to the pharaohs and their pyramids?
Because they built them to last 4,000 years – same time that the seeds will survive.
6 Why does the video show images of drought, flooding and industrial-scale farming?
Because these are the threats to food.
7 Why is the Seed Vault considered to be a 'global insurance policy'?
Because it guarantees the survival of food.

5 Complete the gaps with the appropriate words in bold in Exercise 4. Then complete the sentences to make them true for you.

1 My most precious possession is …
2 A major achievement in my life is …
3 The most remote, hostile terrain I've ever experienced is …
4 The worst drought or flooding in my country was …
5 If all the ice caps melted, my country would …
6 I think the Global Seed Vault is …

6 SPEAKING Compare and discuss your sentences in Exercise 5.

After you watch

7 SPEAKING The Global Seed Vault is a project to store and preserve seeds 'just in case'. Discuss what else you think the world should store and preserve 'just in case'.

FOCUS VLOG About regrets

Is there anything you wish you had or hadn't done when you were younger?

How would you like your life to be different from what it is right now?

1 SPEAKING Complete the two sentences and compare with a partner. Do you share similar wishes and regrets?

When I was younger, I wish I had …

When I was younger, I wish I hadn't …

2 37 Watch the first part of the video (up to 01:51) and complete the first column of the table.
Answer key – WB page 187

	As a child …	Wishes he/she …
Lilee	did dancing	had done ice skating
Hannah
Nick
Shaelyn
Kat
Harriet

3 37 Complete as much of the second column of the table as you can from memory. Then watch the first part of the video (up to 01:51) again and check your answers. Did the answers match any of our ideas in Exercise 1?

4 37 Watch the rest of the video (01:52–03:09). Who do you think is happiest with their life? Who would like to change where they live?
Lilee, Kat and Harriet wouldn't change anything.
Lilee's probably the most enthusiastic.
Shaelyn would like to live in a warm place like Mexico.

5 37 Complete the quotes with appropriate prepositions. Then watch the second part of the video (01:52–03:09) again and check your answers.

1 Lilee: I've got some great friends that I've made along the way with my travels.
2 Hannah: I would like to have my friends from England living in Sydney so everyone is together.
3 Nick: I'm very happy with what I have and the people that I have in my life.
4 Shaelyn: I wish I lived in , say, Mexico because it has the sea and the surf.
5 Kat: I think that all my mistakes and choices I made, I made for a reason.
6 Harriet: I'm actually really happy with the way my life is now.

6 SPEAKING Whose answer do you agree with most? Compare with a partner.

VOCABULARY AND GRAMMAR

1 Choose the correct options to complete the text.

Dear Editor,

I am writing to express my concern about the air and water pollution and the natural ground / habitat / plain of the animals living in the area.

Firstly, it must be emphasised that factories continue to release high levels of dangerous gases into the atmosphere and the [1] extinction / migration / contamination is terrible. Once in the air, the gases react with water molecules and fall onto the ground in the form of acid rain. This rain can destroy farmers' crops and kill fruit trees in the [2] meadows / orchards / foothills. We must stop this before it causes [3] irreparable / reputable / undervalued damage.

Another serious problem is the [4] single-use / once-used / only-time plastic which has found its way into our river. This has killed many fish disrupting the food [5] species / connection / chain and it must stop!

I hope that all these problems can be solved promptly.

Yours faithfully,

Michael Preston

2 Complete the sentences with the phrases in the box.

breeding ground | built-up areas | extreme hunger | ploughed fields | thriving population | ~~water shortages~~

Due to the drought, there are serious water shortages in the area which have affected crops and animals.

1 The farmer spent all day in the sun preparing the land for growing crops and, by evening, the ploughed fields were ready.
2 The river water in this remote area is so clean that there is a thriving population of fish.
3 Most job opportunities are in cities and other built-up areas , so many people must live and work there.
4 So little food is grown in the area that the people suffer from extreme hunger and something must be done to help them.
5 There are strict laws to protect the breeding ground of the turtle so that it may continue to lay eggs there.

USE OF ENGLISH

7 Complete the text with the correct form of the words in brackets.

Watch out – a bear!

For years, Kate and I used to go camping by a lake not too far from where we lived. But last year, we both thought we should reconsider (CONSIDER) and go on a journey further afield. We chose to spend a fortnight in a tent in the Sequoia National Park, which is famous for its amazing trees and black bears.

When we arrived at the campsite, we were warned about an [1] unusually (USUAL) high number of black bears in the area. It was explained to us that the bears are [2] hypersensitive (SENSITIVE) to food smells and that we should hide food in the boot of our car or a metal box on the site. We were also told not to behave [3] irresponsibly (RESPONSIBLE) and to avoid certain paths. We didn't take the instructions that seriously, but we tried to follow the ranger's advice. For the next two weeks everything went smoothly, with no bears in sight. We felt safe and it seemed [4] improbable (PROBABLE) that we would come across any bears. We had a great time hiking and enjoying nature.

However, on the last night, we suddenly heard a bear roar right outside our tent. At first, I was so shocked that I was completely [5] incapable (CAPABLE) of moving or thinking. I wished I had paid more attention to the ranger's advice about what you're supposed to do in this situation. Then I remembered to throw a jumper in the air and make a lot of noise. A ranger heard the bear as well and he came to our rescue. It was the most terrifying experience ever.

8 Choose the correct answers A–D.

According to the National Weather Service, we can expect severe weather ___ , with a very dry and hot summer this year. Therefore, a number of warnings are being issued.
First of all, expect southern parts of the country to suffer serious [1] ___ because rainfall has been the lowest ever in that region. [2] ___ have we seen such dryness in recent decades. It will definitely have a substantial impact on the ecosystem and agriculture, [3] ___ in the affected region, but the rest of the country too. Experts are very concerned. [4] ___ worrying them in particular is that a large number of young animals may die because of possible starvation. Dry weather is also likely to contribute to a greater incidence of wildfires because they can easily spread to other areas. [5] ___ the emergency services can do now is to monitor those forests which are rarely visited and not very well-documented. People are requested to notify the police or fire brigades about any visible smoke.

background blood-red ~~childhood~~ coffee elderly frills garment jack master memory passionate second-hand soul star tea upbringing

I remember my childhood well. My parents were both musicians, so I don't think I had a standard [1]upbringing . I was raised by music. My earliest [2]memory is of my mother singing while I was eating my lunch. I wasn't the same as other kids my age. Their parents seemed [3]elderly and boring, while mine were glamorous musicians, who took me to gigs. Even their clothes were amazing. They were both from a poor [4]background and didn't have much money, so everything they wore was [5]second-hand . Nevertheless, they looked like pop stars. I remember when they came to school once to talk to the principal; my mother was dressed in a very smart, [6]blood-red dress and my dad was wearing a collarless shirt with [7]frills on the sleeves. Their music wasn't everyone's cup of [8]tea , but they were so talented. They could play anything, and my dad was a real [9]jack of all trades. I suppose I take after him in that respect, but I'm more the [10]master of none. My parents were always the life and [11]soul of the party, but they always had time for me as well. I think it's fair to say that my love for music grew out of these experiences. They taught me to be [12]passionate , something I didn't feel I was learning at school.

Stephen was finally home. He came in and shut the door [1]firmly behind him. Weird … it was not locked. His mum always complained about him not locking the door – this time it had [2]clearly been her that had forgotten. He went into the kitchen to get something to eat. He could hear his mother upstairs, but she was [3]unaware he had returned. 'She must be back from doing the shopping already,' he thought. He opened the fridge, but the shelves were practically empty. Weird. If she was still out doing the shopping, who was upstairs? 'It's only my vivid [4]imagination ,' he thought. 'Maybe I've watched too many movies?' She could have decided not to do the shopping today. Maybe she was just cleaning the wardrobe? Or doing that big clear-out she'd promised to do? But that was a lot of 'maybes' and he had a gut [5]feeling that it wasn't her. The question was: what should he do now? He could leave by the front door again, but that was too [6]risky . Whoever it is might hear him. 'I'm not so [7]daring ,' he thought. He eventually came to a decision. He took his phone and, trying to keep his voice steady, he called the police. Then he hid in the toilet. They arrived within minutes and caught the man trying to steal everything they owned. As they put him into the car, there was a look of [8]astonishment on his face. He couldn't believe they had caught him. When they drove off, Stephen thought that this had been one of those [9]hairy moments he would never forget.

She walked into her new house; it was a bit run-down, so there was a lot to do if she was going to turn it into a home. First of all, it was freezing; the high ceilings and old windows meant that it was quite draughty. Those windows also made her worry about damp, the walls did feel quite cold and a little wet. She'd definitely need new windows and perhaps a wood burner to heat the place up. That would give it the right atmosphere. For now, she would just have to do some cleaning. She'd brought a bucket full of cleaning solutions, but first she was going to give the house a good clear-out, as the previous owners had left a lot of their old clutter behind. She tested the taps, at least there was running water; nothing else seemed to work. The lock on the door was broken and the old solar panels the previous people had installed no longer seemed to create any electricity at all. 'Don't worry,' she thought to herself. 'By the time I'm finished with it, it will be absolutely spotless.'

Adjective: in a poor state, that needs fixing run-down
1 Adjective: the windows and doors are not of a high quality and allow a cold air to enter the house draughty
2 Noun: a heater that is fuelled by wood wood burner
3 Noun: liquids for cleaning the house cleaning solutions
4 Noun: a collection of untidy things clutter
5 Noun: water that comes from a tap running water
6 Noun: you put a key in this to keep a door shut lock
7 Noun: these are usually on the roof of a house and turn sunlight into electricity solar panels
8 Adjective: completely tidy and clean spotless

In the US, children usually start their education at the age of five when they join [1] kindergarten . Before this, they would be known as [2] preschoolers .
There are twelve grades in the US and they are divided into three schools: elementary school, middle school and high school. Students usually [3] graduate from high school when they are 17 or 18 years old. However, some students may choose to [4] drop out and start work before that point.

After graduating, many will apply to universities to continue their education. Unfortunately, as school [5] fees are quite high in the US, some people may not be able to receive a higher education. Students who cannot afford university may choose to apply for a [6] scholarship , but they will need to study hard and be a bit of a [7] swot if they hope to be accepted.

At university, students will choose a subject to [8] major in. This is the subject that they will write a [9] dissertation in. This large essay will serve as their final test and will take them much of their final year. Luckily, they are not alone and will have a [10] supervisor who can help them along the way. If they pass, they will receive a [11] degree and then it's time to find a job.

- If you get something you don't like as a present, [3] exchange (CHANGE) it for something you need.
- If you want to buy something extremely expensive, like the latest [4] limited (LIMIT) edition trainers, stop and consider if it's worth it. Is it [5] affordable (AFFORD)? That is: wouldn't it cost you too much?
- Avoid impulse purchases. Marketing specialists studying consumer [6] behaviour (BEHAVE) know that most of what we buy we don't really need. It's just a question of advertising it well.
- Be [7] economical (ECONOMY). Look for cheaper train tickets, offers, sales. Do you really need this coffee? Can't you drink one at home?
- If you see a deal in the supermarket, e.g. three for the price of two, ask yourself, does it make [8] financial (FINANCE) sense? You only needed one, so why pay for two?

Oh my goodness! What a pack of lies. I went on one of these Caribbean cruises with my family last year, and it was an absolute disaster.
They mentioned making new friends. Well, unfortunately, everyone on the cruise was incredibly rude, including the staff. I suppose if you enjoy your own [1]company, this might be the holiday for you. The [2]facilities on board were terrible, the pool was always dirty and the rooms were small and cramped.
The films they offered on board were ancient. When we got to our 'family' room, there were only three beds for four of us so my son had to sleep on a [3]camp bed they brought in.
It felt like being in a tent on a [4]campsite. We probably should have had a camping holiday; it would have been much cheaper!
And then we got to one of the 'ports', one of the 'picturesque' [5]destinations we had been promised. Well, it was a tiny dock on the [6]coast of some island I'd never heard of with a dirt [7]path that led up to a few little cafés and restaurants and nothing else.
So much for taking in the local culture! We tried to look up [8]directions to a nearby village, but there was no Wi-Fi on board, which did not make my 10-year-old son very happy.
My advice? Just stay at home and clean the house, it would be more relaxing than this!

Hi, I think I'm going to be late. I'm stuck in traffic.

Oh no! What's up? I've only just set [1]off, so I won't be on time, either.

There's been an accident [2]on the motorway.

What happened? John and I are just [3]at the roundabout in the city centre. He's meeting a friend, so agreed to drop me off on the way. Should we turn [4]around/back now?

We were [5]at the traffic lights waiting to get onto the motorway and a moped pulled [6]out in front of us and went through the lights. I think you should keep on going, they might have sorted it out by the time you get there.

That's crazy. Mopeds aren't supposed to go there. Did they crash?

Yeah, but it wasn't bad. Everyone is fine, but it stopped traffic until the police arrived. At least you're running late too.

Yes, I'll ring the restaurant and tell them we will be another half an hour.

Thanks. Can you ask if they have [7]on-street parking available there?

I know they don't, but there is some parking down the road. It's [8]within walking distance of the restaurant so I usually park there.

Perfect. OK, I'll see you when you get there. Don't forget, this is a fancy restaurant. I hope you've dressed up.

Don't worry. I've got my heels [9]in the boot. LOL! See you soon.

SUPERHERO SUCCESS

It's finally (come / gone) out and early [1](audiences / characters) are not disappointed. This is the most hotly anticipated blockbuster of the summer and let me tell you, it promises to be an absolute box-office [2](success / disaster). Watch out though, if you keep reading, [3](subtitles / spoilers) will follow. You've been warned.

The opening [4](scene / stage) sets the tone for the entire movie. Everyone's favourite hero suffers his greatest defeat yet, which causes him to retreat to his homeworld, where he must face the truth that he is not the most powerful being in the universe. The [5](genre / plot) revolves around this acceptance and his redemption. But don't worry, while this film is definitely [6](darker / blacker) and more character-driven than its prequel, there is plenty of action and numerous [7](twists and turns / passages), which make for quite a [8](gripping / predictable) tale. The real treat of this second instalment in the trilogy, however, is that the [9](villain / hero) is finally revealed and we are not disappointed. She will be a formidable enemy for the finale.

On top of amazing writing, acting and direction, this film also features an incredibly powerful [10](soundtrack / movie set). Set in the 90s, the music is heavily influenced by all of the [11](nostalgic / hilarious) classics, which really help to place us in that period.

This film is not to be missed. Go forth and watch!

FOCUS 3 GRAMMAR REVIEW

Strona bierna; konstrukcja have something done

Strona bierna

- Stronę bierną stosujemy, gdy bardziej interesuje nas sama czynność niż to, kto ją wykonuje:

  The presidential election will be held in July.
- Jeśli jednak chcemy wspomnieć o wykonawcy czynności, używamy by:

  The telephone was invented in 1876 by Alexander Graham Bell.
- Stronę bierną w poszczególnych czasach gramatycznych tworzymy za pomocą odpowiedniej formy czasownika to be oraz trzeciej formy czasownika głównego (past participle).

Present Simple	Coffee is grown and exported by over fifty developing countries.
Present Continuous	The report is still being examined*.*
Past Simple	When was the Willis Tower built*?*

Past Perfect	I found out that my application hadn't been accepted*.*
will	Over 1,000 companies will be affected by the new regulations.
be going to	You 're going to be informed about the results by email.

have something done

Konstrukcji have + dopełnienie + trzecia forma czasownika (past participle) używamy, gdy mówimy o czynnościach, które zostały dla kogoś wykonane przez inną osobę (najczęściej przez specjalistę lub fachowca):

After the burglary the Jacksons changed their locks. (zrobili to sami)

After the burglary the Jacksons had their locks changed*.* (zatrudnili specjalistę)

Present Simple	We have the office cleaned twice a week.
Present Continuous	Why are you having your windows replaced*?*
Past Simple	We had all the installations checked*.*
Past Continuous	Last year in June, my neighbours were having their house painted*.*
Present Perfect	Have you ever had your nails done*?*
will	When will you have your tyres changed*?*
be going to	I 'm going to have a burglar alarm installed*.*

Zwykle zamiast have możemy również użyć czasownika get:

We had the documents translated*. = We* got the documents translated*.*

Summative Practice Unit 1

2 Complete the text with the correct form of the verbs in brackets.

A lazy wolf lived in a jungle. There was a small lake near his house where other animals [1]came/would come (come) to drink fresh water. The wolf [2]was always sitting (always/sit) nearby, hoping [3]to get (get) fresh food easily. This really annoyed the animals, but there was no other pond. One day, the wolf found a dead bull. 'What good luck!' he thought. While he [4]was eating (eat) the bull, he [5]realised(realise) that another animal might pass by. The wolf fancied [6]eating (eat) the bull all by himself and because he refused [7]to share (share) his meal, he began [8]chewing/to chew (chew) on the meat more quickly.

Because he [9]was eating (eat) so fast, he didn't notice a small bone. This got stuck deep in his throat and was really painful. 'Ooooh, this hurts! What now?' thought the wolf. Luckily, he remembered that a crane lived nearby and so he [10]found (find) the crane and begged him to remove the bone. 'I [11]will give (give) you a present if you help me,' he promised.

The crane was a friendly creature and told the wolf [12]to open (open) his jaws wide. The crane reached into the wolf's mouth and with its long beak managed [13]to pull (pull) the bone free. The wolf was relieved, but when the crane asked for his present he responded: 'I don't remember [14]promising (promise) anything.'

'You said that if I removed the bone, you [15]would give (give) me a present,' said the crane with obvious disappointment.

The wolf, who [16]had already begun (already/begin) walking away, stopped [17]to say (say): 'You put your head into my mouth and are still alive. Is that not a present?'

The crane at that moment decided [18]not to help (not/help) any other creatures in the future.

Tea is consumed in [1]every country around the globe. But did you know that [2]most of it is drank in India?

Indian tea [3]was initially grown only for export purposes. In fact, very [4]little of it was actually consumed in India meaning that very [5]few locals enjoyed the results of their hard work. Once production increased and prices became affordable, however, a large [6]number of Indians too began drinking the tea which they [7]had been producing for a long time. And like the British, they served their teas with [8]a little milk and sugar – not a [9]great deal, but just enough to make the bitter liquid smoother to drink.

Over time, however, the Indians' natural inclination was to seek a brew [10]which was inspired by their own Eastern tastes. Masala chai was created and was brewed to be [11]much stronger and milkier than the tea [12]most of us are familiar with. As well as being so strong, it is also made with great amounts of sugar, [13]which results in a vastly thicker consistency.

Expert masala chai makers may even add a good [14]deal of ginger to the mix and then finish it off with crushed cardamoms, cinnamon or even chilli pepper for extra spice. There are now plenty of places over the whole of India [15]where this tasty brew [16]is served. Indeed, Indians and tourists [17]both enjoy this increasingly popular sweet and spicy tea.

Dog helps boy lost in mountains stay alive

A 14-year-old boy [1]who got lost in the Sierra Madre Oriental mountain range spent nearly two days surviving in the wilderness before rescuers [2]managed to locate him. Fortunately for Juan, a Labrador Retriever by the name of Max, a wandering dog he [3]had only met a short time before, refused [4]to leave him alone during his traumatic ordeal.

Juan Heriberto Trevino, from Galeana, Mexico, had become separated from his summer camp group [5]when/after he went in search of firewood. Although he had assured the camp leaders [6]that he would be careful, he accidentally slipped and fell down the mountainside.

After recovering from his fall, it took Juan only a [7]little/short time to realise that his new friend Max had followed him down into the ravine. As night time fell, the boy took cover under a tree and cuddled the dog to stay warm. Although he admitted [8]being/feeling pretty frightened at the time, the presence of the dog also convinced [9]him that he would eventually be safe.

When the pair was eventually located by a search party forty-four hours later, the authorities claimed the role of the dog had [10]been/proved vital in helping the boy survive the cold night temperatures.

How two apples explained the effects of bullying

When one teacher decided to tackle bullying in her school, very [1]few people would have imagined that she could present the physical and emotional damage it causes via a couple [2]of mouth-watering apples.

Rosie Dutton, from Tamworth, brought the juicy red apples into the classroom and the children quickly agreed [3]that they would be delicious to eat. What Rosie failed to tell them at this point, however, was that she [4]had dropped one of the apples on the floor and it was badly bruised.

When the teacher held the dropped apple up for all to see and described it as disgusting and nasty the children were confused. She then encouraged [5]them to pass the apple around the class and to abuse it, [6]which the majority of children began to do: Aren't you ugly? You taste horrible, [7]don't you? One girl, however, objected to [8]saying unkind things like her classmates.

Rosie then passed [9]the other apple around and the children in the class this time [10]were urged to show kindness and say compassionate things to the apple. Rosie then held up [11]both/each of the apples and recalled the positive and negative things the children had said. But both apples looked alike.

What Rosie did then was intended [12]to bring about a sharp moment of realisation to the class of young pupils.
She cut the apples open.

Rosie drew the children's attention to how the abused apple was all damaged inside. She explained: people [13]who/that are bullied feel terrible, but we often don't see the damage.
We wouldn't know how much pain we have caused the apple [14]unless we looked on the inside.

Coffee is good – but how good?

[1]Unless / (Suppose) / Provided you woke up in the morning to discover you were out of coffee. Would you immediately run to the shops?

Many people claim that coffee is the only thing [2]who / – / (that) gets their bodies working and their minds functioning every morning. For [3]another / the other / (others), it's a loyal friend essential in helping to make it through the day.

Fortunately, for those of us that can't get enough of this bitter-tasting bean, it has 4 / few / plenty beneficial effects on our health too. Back in 2006, for example, one research project [5]assured / (suggested) / urged that drinking just one cup of coffee a day could prevent a certain liver disease.

A later study revealed that people who drank between three and five cups of coffee a day greatly reduced the chances 6 / – / to developing Alzheimer's or dementia. Furthermore, neurological studies 7 / convince / warn that drinking coffee can also prevent depression.

If you prefer [8]to not drink / drinking / (not to drink) coffee, however, don't worry. Because, in fact, you [9]shouldn't / (don't have to) / mustn't even drink it to feel the effects. Scientists now believe that the smell of the hot drink itself has positive influence on brain activity.

So, [10]unless / (providing) / imagine you don't need to go to sleep anytime soon, I'd recommend grabbing a coffee right now!

4 Translate the Polish parts of the sentences.

1 If you hadn't hung around the park all afternoon, you would be watching the programme (oglądałbyś program) now instead of doing your homework.
2 If Stephen wasn't so shy, he may have won/might have won (być może wygrałby) the school talent show last week.
3 Sam didn't tell me he might not come (może nie przyjdzie) to dinner.

Solo yachtswoman missing

Air-sea rescuers, who [1] had been searching / were searching / (have been searching) for missing yachtswoman Mary Unwin, have finally managed [2]to have found / (to find) / to be found remains of a boat off the coast of Cornwall.

The wreckage, which is thought [3]of being / (to be) / it was Mary's yacht, [4](was found) / is found / found close to Sennen Cove.

Coastguards 5 / informed / assured that they were amazed to discover that the highly experienced yachtswoman [6](had decided) / had been deciding / was deciding to launch in what [7]was describing / was being described / (had been described) as 'treacherous' weather.

The police agree that Unwin [8]needn't have / (shouldn't have) / didn't have to set sail in such dangerous conditions. Indeed, the alarm [9]raised / (was raised) / has been raised barely twenty-six hours after Unwin's vessel 10 / was left / was leaving port.

Mary Unwin, 11 / – / that was sailing solo on a 200 km trip along the Atlantic coast, is still to be found. Official reports state that investigations [12]are carried on / (are being carried on) / were carried on and coastguards are 13 / insisting / suggesting sailors to be more responsible.

The harsh reality is that if Unwin [14]didn't launch / (hadn't launched) / wouldn't launch in such dangerous weather, she [15]couldn't be / won't be / (wouldn't be) missing now. In fact, coastguards advise anyone who [16]will have sailed / will have been sailing / (will be sailing) in the next few days to consider delaying their departure.

The low-fat plate

If you [1]fancy losing (fancy/lose) a little weight, but are like me and [2]can't stand being told (not/stand/tell) by weight loss experts to change your diet, what are you going to do? Well, inventors from Thailand [3]claim to have come up (claim/come up) with just the thing you and I need.

The AbsorbPlate, which [4]was invented/has been invented (invent) by an advertising agency in collaboration with the Thai government, [5]promises to remove (promise/remove) excessive grease from food – while you eat!

The people behind the unique plate [6]insist that meals can be reduced (insist/meals/can/reduce) by up to 30 calories simply by serving them on the AbsorbPlate. And while the inventors admit it won't remove all of the fat from your meal, they do boast that some of it at least [7]will have been removed (remove) by the time you finish eating.

How does it work? Quite simply in fact. The plate has hundreds of holes which collect fat from the food which is [8]being eaten/to be eaten (eat). It has been compared to the way in which a sponge or kitchen towel works.

Unfortunately, this unique product [9]is not expected to enter (not/expect/enter) the market any time soon. For now, its makers [10]urge us to limit (urge/we/limit) our fat intake in more traditional ways.

Small changes make a difference

Below are a number of small changes you [1] should / ought / better make in order to be more environmentally friendly.

We all want to contribute to saving the planet on [2] that / where / which we live, but this can often appear like too much hard work. Furthermore, one person's efforts [3] are often thought / often think / don't often think not to be important. It's exactly [4] that kind of / those kinds of / kind of these comments, I would argue, that prevent us from making a bigger positive impact. So, what can we do?

Recycling food waste

You [5] don't have to / can't / shouldn't live in the countryside to make compost. Composting, which means [6] to recycle / recycling / recycle food waste back into the ecosystem, is possible even if you don't have [7] little / much / few space in your garden.

Eco-friendly packaging

If you must buy products in packaging, [8] you check / you'll check / check the label and opt for those [9] made / who were made / which made from recyclable resources.

Take your own shopping bag

The Great Pacific Garbage Patch, also [10] knows / is known / known as the Pacific Trash Vortex, is a major threat to [11] a / – / the sea life. If more people had gone shopping with a reusable bag, we [12] wouldn't be / couldn't have been / won't be responsible for creating the world's largest floating rubbish dump.

1.1 Vocabulary

Google is an Internet search engine. It allows you to search all the websites on the Internet to find information using key words and phrases. It was started in 1998 by Larry Page and Sergey Brin, two American students who wanted to organise the world's information and make it easy to use. By 2000, Google was the world's largest search engine. It has approximately over one billion search requests every day and we now often use the verb 'to google' when we mean to look something up on the Internet.

1.2 Grammar

Gillian Lynne (1926–2018) was a legendary British ballet dancer, choreographer and a director. She was renowned for the choreography of such successful Broadway shows as Cats and The Phantom of the Opera. At the age of eighty-eight, in recognition of her lifetime artistic achievements, she received the honour of Dame Commander of the Order of the British Empire.

Ken Robinson (b. 1950) is a British author and speaker whose main area of interest is education in the arts and through the arts. His best-known books are Out of Our Minds: Learning to be Creative and The Element: How Finding Your Passion Changes Everything, in which he analyses the success of popular artists such as Paul McCartney, Meg Ryan or Gillian Lynne. Sir Ken Robinson advises different organisations and governments on using art in education. He is a charismatic speaker and often gives talks at TED conferences.

1.3 Listening

Socrates (circa 470–399 BC) was a Greek philosopher. His thoughts and ideas are known to us through the writings of his students (notably Plato), as he left no texts of his own. He is believed to be behind the so-called Socratic method of inquiry (described e.g. in Plato's Socratic Dialogues). Each problem would be analysed through a series of questions and answers. Socrates applied this technique to moral concepts (e.g. justice). He is also seen as the precursor of Stoicism.

1.4 Reading

As of 2020, Tim Berners-Lee (b. 1955) has been working, among other places, at the University of Oxford and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He has received many awards for his pioneering work, including that of Knight Commander of the Most Excellent Order of the British Empire (KBE).

1.5 Grammar

Prince William (The Duke of Cambridge) (b. 1982) is the elder son of Charles, Prince of Wales and grandchild to Queen Elizabeth II. He is second in line to the British throne.

Paul McCartney (b. 1945) is an ex-member of the pop group The Beatles, and since the band broke up in 1970, has pursued a solo musical career. He is also a keen environmentalist. His daughter, Stella McCartney, is a well-known fashion designer.

Diego Maradona (b. 1960) is a retired Argentinian footballer, considered by many one of the best footballers of all time, and known for his special dribbling technique. He started playing football as a child, but the height of his fame came in the 1980s. After retiring as a player, he started coaching football teams.

Bart Simpson is a fictional character in the satirical cartoon The Simpsons, which was first broadcast in 1989 and has been on air ever since. In the animation, Bart is ten years old, the eldest child of Homer and Marge, and a troublesome child.

Rafael 'Rafa' Nadal (b. 1986) is a prize-winning Spanish tennis player. He is considered one of the best tennis players in history and is often called the King of Clay because of his exceptional skills on clay courts. Among many other records he holds, Rafael Nadal is the only tennis player who has won a single Grand Slam tournament nine times. He is also the 2008 Olympic gold medallist in singles.

Leonardo da Vinci (1452–1519) was a versatile Italian artist, scientist and inventor, regarded as one of the most gifted and influential Renaissance men. He is mostly known for his paintings such as The Last Supper and the Mona Lisa, to name but a few. Leonardo da Vinci is famous for his engineering projects and visionary inventions, including flying machines.

Mahatma Gandhi (1869–1948) was the leader of Indian independence movement and one of the founders of the modern Indian state, often referred to as the 'father of the nation'. He is known for using non-violent methods to achieve his political goals. Gandhi was born in India, into a well-off family. He studied law in London and worked as a lawyer in South Africa, where he first involved himself in civil rights movements. He continued his work as an activist after returning to India in 1915. Gandhi was assassinated by a Hindu nationalist, only half a year after India gained independence from Britain.

Albert Einstein (1879–1955) was a theoretical physicist and philosopher of science. He is most famous for developing the theory of relativity. He was born in Germany and studied physics and mathematics in Zurich. He became a lecturer at Bern University first and then a full professor at the Charles Ferdinand University in Prague in 1911. He moved to America in 1933 and became an American citizen in 1940. He won the Nobel Prize in Physics in 1921. He wrote over 300 scientific papers and 150 non-scientific ones. He also had a love of music and played the piano and violin.

Winston Churchill (1874–1965) was a British politician and an artist. He was the UK Prime Minister during the last five years of World War II, playing a crucial role in the wartime world politics. He became prime minister again in 1951 and retired in April 1955 because of ill health. As well as being an influential politician, Winston Churchill was also a painter and a writer. In 1953 he was awarded the Nobel Prize in Literature.

Marie Curie (born Maria Skłodowska) (1867–1934) was a Polish-French chemist and physicist, known for her research on radioactivity and the discovery of two radioactive elements, polonium and radium. In 1891 Marie Curie left Poland for Paris to study at the Sorbonne, where she continued her scientific work throughout her life and became the first woman professor in the history of the university. She was also the first woman to win a Nobel Prize, and the first person with two Nobel Prizes in different disciplines, the first in physics (in 1903) and the other one in chemistry (in 1911). She was awarded the 1903 Nobel Prize together with her husband Pierre Curie and Henri Becquerel.

Barack Obama (b. 1961) became the forty-fourth US President and the first black president in 2008. He was re-elected for a second term as president in 2012. In 2009 he won the Nobel Peace Prize. He is known for reforming health care laws and for working to end US military involvement abroad.

1.8 Writing

GCSE (General Certificate of Secondary Education) exams are taken by pupils finishing their secondary education in England, Wales and Northern Ireland. The examinations include a number of subjects, such as English, Mathematics, Science, foreign languages and Humanities. They used to be graded A to G, but the new grading runs from 9 to 1, with 9 the highest grade.

Unit 2 Human nature

2.2 Grammar

Facebook is a social networking website founded in 2004 by Mark Zuckerberg. You can join for free and after you create your personal profile you can upload photos and videos and keep in touch with your contacts by posting messages on their wall (a virtual bulletin board) or sending private messages which are similar to emails. You can also post your status updates (a microblogging feature) and comment on your contacts' photos. There are now over 2.6 billion active members.

2.4 Reading

Following the success of Me Before You, Jojo Moyes (b. 1969) wrote several other novels, including two sequels to Me Before You: After You and Still Me. They feature the same protagonist, Louisa Clark, as in her bestseller. The film adaptation of Me Before You came out in 2016, and starred Emilia Clarke and Sam Claflin in the leading roles.

2.8 Writing

John Gray (b. 1951) is an American author and a personal relationship counsellor. He made his name as the author of the famous self-help book Men Are from Mars, Women Are from Venus, published in 1992. With millions of copies sold, the book is one of the best-selling non-fiction books in history. It aims at explaining problems in relationships between men and women through characteristic tendencies in each gender. Despite huge commercial success, Men Are from Mars, Women Are from Venus did not receive much recognition among academics, who often maintain that it is rather simplistic and largely stereotypical. All Gray's later books grew out of his bestseller and pivot around the same theme of relationships and personal growth.

Unit 3 Living spaces

3.1 Vocabulary

Norwich is a city located in Norfolk, around 160 kilometres north-east of London. Although it does still contain many old, medieval buildings, the city was heavily bombarded during World War II, and many areas were completely redeveloped between 1960 and 1970. It is one of the most popular tourist destinations in the UK, and has been listed among the 'Best Places To Live' in 2018.

Pontevedra is located in Galicia in Spain. The city centre was pedestrianised in 1999; motorised transport in these areas is only available for residents or services, and in 2010, the speed limit for motor vehicles was reduced to thirty kilometres per hour. It is estimated that most transport in the city centre is made on foot. Pontevedra is also considered one of the best cycling cities in the world. All these measures have made it possible to reduce the city's CO_2 fossil fuel emissions.

D = Daughter F = Father

D: Hi Dad, sorry I'm late, what are you looking at?
F: I'm reading a website called Degree courses you didn't know existed. You should read it.
D: Sounds like fun. Yeah, I've been thinking about what I should apply for at university.
F: Well, you've put so much effort into your end of school exams. You can look forward to dropping the subjects you don't like and focusing on something you love.
D: Is that how it was for you, Dad?
F: No, not really. You're much more gifted academically than I was … and self-disciplined!
D: You make me sound like a swot! I just like studying.
F: You are a swot compared with me. I struggled a lot at school. I just couldn't settle down in class – I was really disruptive. In fact, I nearly got expelled a few times.
D: No! You haven't told me this before!
F: No, but now that you're leaving school, I can tell you about all the times I got into trouble. But it was different back then. Our teachers were extremely strict. In fact, some of them were real bullies, and if you had a problem you couldn't talk to them – not like now. If you weren't a good student, the teachers just gave up on you.
D: So why weren't you a good student? You're really clever!
F: Ha ha ha, thank you. I didn't know then, but I was dyslexic. I still am, but I've learned how to deal with it and it's not a problem. But I fell behind at school and only scraped through my exams.
D: So how did you get such a good job?
F: Oh, that's another story. Right now we're supposed to be talking about you and the university course that's going to set you up for a great future! How about this one? A surfing degree in Plymouth – now that looks like fun!
D: Ha ha, surfing! Very funny …

M = Man W = Woman

M: What are you reading?
W: Oh, this? It's a book about people who become successful because they do what they love doing.
M: Oh, that sounds good. What sort of thing?
W: Well, I'm just reading about a famous ballet dancer called Gillian Lynne. When she was a little girl, her teachers at school complained that she didn't pay attention and was always fidgeting and disturbing her classmates. So her mother arranged for her to see a psychologist to find out what her problem was.
M: Oh right.
W: Anyway, the psychologist talked to the girl's mother, and then he put some music on the radio and left Gillian on her own in his office. He told the mother to watch Gillian through a window and as soon as they left the room, the little girl got up and started dancing.
M: Ah, that's so clever!
W: I know – the psychologist realised that Gillian didn't have a problem, she just had a gift for dancing.
M: So what did the mother do?
W: She sent her daughter to a dance school and Gillian ended up being a famous ballet dancer and choreographer.
M: Wow, that's a great story.

1.7 Focus Vlog, page 6

A = Aaron Han = Hannah Har = Harriet
Na = Natasha No = Nobuse V = Vlogger

P: Hello everyone and welcome back to my vlog. Now the other day I bumped into an old school friend and it brought back so many memories. Horrible school lunches, countless missed school buses and most importantly, just hours and hours spent purely on having fun, listening to music, gossiping and just hanging out doing nothing special together.
So today I'm going to be asking people about their teenage years and how their lives have changed since then.
What was your daily routine when you were younger and how does it compare to now?
Han: So when I was a teenager, I was at school – high school, obviously. So I would get up in the morning, have some breakfast. I'd walk to my friend's house, and then we'd walk to school. We'd have school obviously from nine to three and then I'd walk home. And then, yeah, just chill at home in the evenings. That was Monday to Friday. And then my routine on the weekends would be to see my friends in the city, catch up. And my routine now is I guess quite similar. I'm based in Sydney. I will go to work for eight thirty, again have some breakfast, do my work, go, um, have lunch, go for a little workout or a run, come home, do some yoga in the evenings, and the same again, catching up with friends on weekends.
A: Well, when I was a teenager, I would wake up very early, I would make myself breakfast, I would get ready, I would take the bus to school. Now since I'm living in France, I wake up a little bit later, um, I still actually do not eat breakfast any more, and I go to school around twelve. That's about my daily routine until about five o'clock. Come home, relax, possibly read a book, just kinda leisure activities.
Na: My daily routine is quite drastically different actually, um, so when I was a kid I'd get up at about six o'clock and 'cause I trained as a dancer I would get up and do my stretches in the morning. Then I would go off to school in London, have a full day of school, get on a train back home, go to dance classes until about nine o'clock at night and then I'd go to bed, so it was quite intense. And then today – I'll just tell you my day today. I got up at about eleven thirty – I had a lie-in – met a friend and I'm going to go to work at five o'clock. So, it's quite relaxing in comparison.

No: I used to go to school and after school I'd hang out with my friends, get some chicken and chips, and get home before five. And then I used to do homework, which was every day from six to seven, and go to sleep and start again. Nowadays, I just … I'm self-employed so now I just work through my own routine and whatever call sheet or time I get and, if not that I just go to the gym, work out, have some green tea, some daily exercises and stuff like that.

Har: When I was younger, I used to go to school, so my routine used to be a lot more structured – so getting up early, lessons, homework, dinner, things like that. Whereas now I don't have a routine as much as I used to.

P: What did you use to do when you were younger that you miss doing now?

Han: I miss athletics. I used to be part of an athletics club which, um, sadly I gave up. So that would be nice to get back into.

A: When I was a teenager, I used to drive around a lot. There wasn't much to do where I lived – I lived in the countryside. So we would drive around a lot and listen to music, and there was a lot of freedom, so we got to listen to loud music, discover a lot of things, drive in the countryside, so yeah I miss doing that.

Na: When I was younger, I used to see my friends a lot more 'cause we used to dance together. So I'd see them every single day. And now I very rarely see them. 'Cause of life … Life gets in the way.

No: I used to hang out with my friends and play football every day after school. But now because of age and work and life it's just now … just doesn't happen anymore, so, I guess that's what I miss doing.

Har: It's going to sound strange, but I actually miss doing homework and having an organised structure. Because at least when I was being made to do things, I actually got things done. Whereas now I'm just sort of very lazy.

P: So how about you guys? How was your life different when you were younger? And what do you miss about it?

S1 = Speaker 1 S2 = Speaker 2 S3 = Speaker 3 S4 = Speaker 4

S1: My earliest memory? I have a vague memory of the Christmas before I was three, but I have very vivid memories of my third birthday party, and I can remember other events very clearly from when I was three years old. Some people say I must have confused a memory with photos I've seen of the same events. But I've asked my mum about it and she agrees that my memories are accurate. For some of them, there's no photographic evidence or anything that could have jogged my memory, so I believe they're real.

S2: Most people in my family have rubbish memories, but my grandfather's amazing. He's not like other old people who are losing their memory and get confused – he's really switched on. He remembers dates and names and places. He can even recall in detail events that happened fifty years ago – and he's seventy-seven! I'm sixteen and I can't remember what I did yesterday! I wish I had his memory – it would help me a lot in my exams. I asked him how he manages to remember things so well, and he says it's because he drinks green tea! I think it's because he reads a lot and stays active. He walks every day – he's much fitter than I am.

S3: I've read that a lot of innocent people get convicted of crimes they didn't commit because a witness has identified them wrongly. That's terrible. Apparently, it's hard for most people to remember someone's face correctly, especially if you only see them for a few brief moments. I think I'd be really good at recognising criminals, and I'm sure I wouldn't choose the wrong person in an identity parade because I never forget a face. I only have to see someone once, and I can remember them in detail. I just wish I had an equally good memory for names.

S4: I saw a documentary last night about a boy who can't forget anything about his life in the past. He can tell you exactly what he was doing on a date and at a time in the past – and he can tell you details like what he was wearing, what he ate, what the weather was like. So you can say 'What did you do for your fifteenth birthday?' and he can remember everything about it. He's the only one in his family with a memory like that. In fact, they said he has a very rare condition – it has a name, but I can't remember it. I've got a memory like a sieve!

1.13 Exercise 2, page 8

This is fiction. Brain size and intelligence are unrelated. It has more to do with the strength of the neuron networks in your brain – the stronger they are the smarter you are.

This is fact, although some experts might say that it depends on how you define 'a thought'. Whatever the actual number, we humans clearly do a lot of thinking.

3

Correct. A brain doesn't get used up like the data storage on your smartphone. Brain power is enormous! You don't have to worry about running out of space in your lifetime.

Fact. When you are awake, the one hundred billion neurons in the brain make enough electricity to run a light bulb. Crazy!

5

This is a complete myth. The way the brain works is extremely complicated, but most of it is being used most of the time

Part one

What do Barack Obama, Prince William, Paul McCartney, Diego Maradona and Bart Simpson have in common? They're all left-handed. In fact, ten percent of the world's population is left-handed, and I'm one of them. I have no idea why I use my left hand or what causes someone to be left-handed, but according to studies, it's a combination of genes and the environment that make someone use one hand rather than the other.

In left-handed people, the right hemisphere of the brain is dominant. This means left-handers tend to be creative and visual thinkers. You would therefore expect to find more left-handers working in music, the arts and media in general. Dominance of the right hemisphere also enables left-handers to be better at 3D perception, so it's no surprise that a high proportion of left-handers decide to become architects.

Left-handers have good coordination too, which may explain why a greater number manage to pass their driving test first time. There is also a high percentage of lefties in the world of sport. Tennis champion Rafa Nadal is naturally right-handed, but he has chosen to play tennis with his left hand. He keeps winning, so it's a decision that seems to have worked out well for him.

Personally, I think it's absolutely vital. Actually, I'm having lessons at the moment and I intend to take my test next year. My family and I live on the outskirts of the city and it takes me ages to get to the centre on the bus for school, or to meet my friends. Driving into the city would be so much more convenient, so for this reason I feel it's really important that I learn.

S1: I was beginning to fall behind in Biology class, so I decided to go along to the local Science centre where they were advertising some free workshops. I'm really interested in Science, but the lessons in school are pretty dull, and the teacher doesn't seem very motivated, but dropping out's not an option. At the centre though, things are very different, much more hands-on, and the instructor is really supportive. He actually voted my last project as the best in the group, which makes me want to work even harder. And, the funny thing is, my marks at school have actually started to improve as a result.

S2: I'm really into science fiction and was curious about what a course on creative writing would involve. One thing I didn't expect was that the course would be so demanding, and I've already fallen behind a little. I'm not sure what the tutor will say if I don't catch up on the work that's due. I mean, it's free and we're all there voluntarily – even the tutor I believe – so I doubt I'll be asked to quit the course. I've never been the most hard-working person, and the other students in class strike me as being rather studious, so I know I can't put off doing the work indefinitely.

S3: I've always wanted to do a Drama course, so when the opportunity came up to do one nearby, I jumped at the chance. The tutor's great and the other students on the course all seem very self-motivated, which I guess is important on a free course such as this, otherwise you just wouldn't go, right? I plan to go on and study Drama at university and I dream of one day making a living out of being on stage. Naturally, I'm keen to soak up as much knowledge as I can in the hope that this will help me improve my acting skills.

S4: My high school grades in Art are fine, but I just wanted to try some new approaches and was looking for inspiration. I was a little worried initially as I've never been a very sociable person, but everybody at the art club struck me as being really open. The tutor came across as being very hard-working and focused – which I wasn't expecting as you hear about these volunteer teachers being a bit unmotivated. The next assignment, painting or sketching something about our earliest memory, is rather challenging, but I've got lots of ideas and I'm feeling really creative again!

1.25 Exercises 2 and 3, page 23

N = Neuroscientist P = Presenter

P: Welcome to Saturday Science. We are very fortunate to have with us in the studio today Ruby Niverton, who is a neuroscientist. Ruby, recently you've been involved in a study of the brain and, in particular, which part of the brain is used for different emotions.

N: Yes, that's right. We have collected a lot of data about the changes in the brain that are caused by strong feelings.

P: Now, we associate love with the heart, but you would say that love is a chemical reaction, wouldn't you?

N: Ha ha, yes, I probably would. In fact, love is a powerful neurological condition. When you fall for someone, it's similar to hunger or thirst, but more permanent.

P: Hmm. That's not a very romantic image.

N: Well, no, but it's fascinating. In fact, romantic love has all the characteristics of addiction. At the beginning, you're just attracted to somebody. Then you start going out with them and before you know it, you've fallen in love. You focus on the person, you obsessively think about them and you will take enormous risks to win this person that you're obsessed with. Also, like an addict, you need to see them more and more.

P: I see. So your study has found evidence for those feelings in the brain. Can you tell us a little bit about how you did that?

N: Well, we searched for people to put in a brain scanner – we wanted people who were madly in love. We wanted people who couldn't stop thinking about their sweetheart. Then we put them into the brain scanner and showed photographs of their sweetheart and photographs of people they didn't know. Then we could compare the activity in the brain.

P: And did you find what you were looking for?

N: Oh, yes. First, there's an area deep in the centre of the brain – it's a primitive part of the brain which developed sixty-five million years ago. It's at the base of the brain, which is associated with wanting and motivation. The more passionate the love, the more activity there was in that area. We also found activity in a second area of the brain that becomes active when people eat chocolate! Chocolate can be addictive, just like romantic love!

P: And what happens when someone is rejected? Does the activity in those areas of the brain stop?

N: Unfortunately for the broken-hearted, no. The obsession can get worse when you're rejected. We put people into the brain scanner just after their partner had split up with them, and we found that there was as much activity, or even more, than when they were in love.

P: Can I ask you a personal question?

N: Ha ha, you can ask!

P: All this science and looking at brains – has it put you off romantic love? I mean, can you fall in love or do you just keep thinking about what it's doing to your brain?

N: Oh no, not at all. Love is more powerful than that. I might try to resist, but it wouldn't work!

P: Hello everyone and welcome back to my vlog. Now, it's my first month of living on my own after moving out of my family home and it's been great. No one cares about how long I spend in the bathroom or how much mess I make. But it has made me realise how important my family is to me and how much of an impact they've had on my life. So today I'm going to be asking people about their families, and what they've learnt from them. Could you tell me about a family member or a friend you look up to?

L: I really look up to my mum because she's very independent and she was quite young when she had me, but she moved out of home and she handled everything really well and she brought me up all on her own. And I feel like I've turned out OK. So it really inspires me to be mature and responsible and make good decisions.

Has: I look up to my cousin who is a successful painter because he's following his dreams, and that inspires me to follow mine as well.

Han: My sister who's with me here today. She is my role model. She's very kind-hearted and honest and I, er, she's taught me a lot in life.

A: I look up to my great-grandmother. She was the first woman pilot in West Virginia. Um, she also was the first one to leave West Virginia out of the family and so it was her first time exploring the world and that was a really big deal but, er, she became secretary to two presidents and she had a very very, er, beneficial career for her. Um, so, um, yeah, today she retires in Florida and lives a very happy life on a river and, er, very educated – has two doctorates so, very intelligent, very … very, um, all around excellent woman.

S: I look up to my older brother who pursued football when he was younger. He moved from Canada to the UK and I'm doing the same now, pursuing acting in the UK and I can always phone him back home and he's always able to encourage me to keep going.

P: What have you learnt from a friend or family member that has helped you later in life?

L: My grandma is probably the one person who's really had an impact on me. She was a politician through the 70s and 80s when many women weren't in powerful positions and she always told me to stand up for what I believe in and to be who I want to be and not worry about what anyone else thought about it.

Has: I've learnt how to do laundry from my aunt, which has helped me a lot since I've moved out from home and now I live on my own.

Han: I would say my current roommate who I met almost two years ago. So she's like a new friend I'd say. Um, she's very good at being communicative and showing emotions, which I think is a very good and important factor in life. So that's what I've learnt from her.

A: My friend Alex told me that small leaks sink big ships. So what that basically means is guard well against the little things and don't let them don't let them sink you or your or your voyage or wherever you're going. And the same can be applied to finances as well. You know, buying small things here and there adds up very quick.

S: My grandfather taught me how to be independent, which has helped me since moving to the UK from Canada, to feel like I can stand on my own two feet and to feel like I can do anything even if I'm far away from my family.

P: Is there anyone you look up to? What have you learnt from them? Let me know in the comments.

OK, a memorable day out. Hmm, let's see. Right, so I'm going to tell you about a great day out I had at the local lake. This took place about a month ago, on a Saturday, and I had been working really hard studying after school in the evenings and at weekends. I hadn't been out for weeks and I felt like I really needed a break. So I called my friend Lisa and we decided we would take a picnic and go to the lake not far from our village. The weather wasn't great, but we went anyway and as soon as we got there, the sun came out. Initially, we were the only people there, but it's a popular spot and, as expected, other people soon started arriving. As we were sitting there on our blanket, another group of teenagers came and sat down right next to us. They were really friendly and we chatted for a bit, then someone got a bat and ball out. All of a sudden, the weather changed and, out of the blue, it started pouring with rain. We were going to go, and then someone said we might as well go for a swim as we were wet anyway.

Swimming in the rain was fantastic and fortunately, after it stopped raining, the sun came out again and we ended up staying all afternoon. Eventually, the evening came and it started to get cold so we headed home. Without a doubt, it was one of the best days I've had in ages and a welcome break from studying. We're planning to meet our new friends again as soon as we've finished our exams. Funnily enough, the best days are often the ones you don't really plan.

D: Oh yes, we study together, but he's just a casual acquaintance rather than a close friend.
L: OK. What's he like?
D: Um, I'd say he's a bit of a free spirit – he's very independent and sure of himself. But he's good company on a night out, very popular.
L: You mean he's loud?
D: No, not at all. He's supremely confident and highly intelligent. He was top of our course last year.
L: Wow. Does he have a lot of friends?
D: Yes, as I said, he's popular and really kind. Last year there was a girl in our year who was deeply depressed and he helped her a lot.
L: Oh, he sounds like a nice guy. Anything else you can tell me?
D: No, I'd say he's perfectly normal. Oh, and he plays the trumpet really well!

A = Adam P = Presenter

P: Good afternoon and welcome to today's show. Continuing our theme on family, today I'm talking to Adam Martins, a psychologist, expert on twins and a twin himself. Welcome to the studio.
A: Good afternoon.
P: Let's kick off by asking the question which I'm sure all the people at home are most keen to know. There's a common belief that twins share some sort of unexplained mental or spiritual connection. It's an intriguing idea, but is there any truth behind it?
A: Well, there have been many reported cases which suggest that twins – especially identical twins – share some kind of psychic connection, can feel each other's pain or sense when the other twin is in danger, for example. There are stories of twins who gave birth to baby daughters on the same day, at the exact same time, and even twins who were separated at birth, but reunited decades later to find that they both married spouses with the same first and surnames. Psychic powers have never been scientifically proven to exist, and psychic twins are no exception. However, as we move away from science toward anecdotal evidence, we find many intriguing parallels in the lives of twins.
P: You're a fraternal twin. Have you personally experienced something like this? If so, what happened and what was the reaction?
A: I can recall quite vividly when my sister and I were fifteen, our teacher asked us to draw a picture of a scene from a book. Although we were sitting on opposite sides of the room, we had somehow managed to draw very similar images. The teacher was so taken aback she had to get the teacher from next door and tell her what had happened.
P: Incredible. And is it difficult being a twin?
A: In many ways, it's no harder than being a regular sibling or an only child, but a number of twins do report a higher degree of competitiveness – a greater need to be the centre of attention. Twins that were dressed alike when younger or were encouraged to do similar things often feel the need to over-accentuate their differences in order to maintain a sense of themselves as individuals – which is by far the most common problem reported by twins. Unfortunately, such competition between twins often starts early with the major source of competition being for parental attention. Later in life, however, twins tend to develop different interests in order to avoid such competitive situations which can create friction between them.
P: How does a twin go about establishing a greater sense of self?
A: Some twins will often make concerted efforts to study different subjects, go to different universities, or study or work in different countries. Emotionally, it's not easy. But we can't escape our genes, and most research suggests that it is our DNA which is responsible for our psychological characteristics rather than the physical environment in which we find ourselves. Which brings us back to why many twins, even those that have been separated at birth, somehow find themselves attracted to similar professions, becoming obsessed by similar hobbies or simply find it impossible to be different from their brother or sister.
P: It's fascinating stuff, but I'm afraid we have to leave it there. Thank you for coming in today Adam. Tomorrow's topic in our series on the family looks at ways of coping with the generation gap …

P: Today on CITY LIFE we're discussing the pros and cons of banning cars in city centres. What do you think? Call on 0209 977 7999. We'd like to hear your views. Okay, our first caller is Ryan from Dublin in Ireland. Go ahead Ryan.
R: I live in the centre of Dublin, but I work in another city. Cars are banned from my street and so I can't park at home. This means that my daily commute is more difficult, but it's worth the sacrifice – I used to hear the constant noise of car engines and honking of horns from my top floor apartment overlooking one of the main streets, but now I love the peace and quiet.
P: Thank you, Ryan. Next up is Jack from London.

J: I agree with banning cars – it's definitely the right way to go. London is so polluted. They're talking about banning diesel cars by 2020. I think they should ban all cars. So long as there's a reliable network of buses and public transport, who needs cars?!
P: Thank you, Jack. Yes, public transport is important. Let's see what Sarah has to say.
S: I agree with banning cars in the city centre because it's safer for cyclists. But my problem is that I live in the suburbs, and my neighbourhood doesn't have cycle lanes, so it's not a safe environment for young people to get around by bicycle. Urban planners should ask themselves: would you let your child cycle here?
P: Good point Sarah. Councils have been focusing on the city centre and forgetting about the suburbs. What do you think Julia from Bath?
J: I don't think it's a good idea to ban cars everywhere. It's easy to build cycle lanes in cities where there are wide avenues, but my hometown of Bath is very picturesque and tourists flock here to visit the historic centre. The problem is that these ancient cobbled streets are too narrow for cycle lanes. We can never be a bike-friendly town. And I don't mind. I like my car.
P: Ah yes, the cobbled streets of Bath. Lovely. Well, that's all we have time for now. Thanks to our listeners …

P: Hi everybody. Welcome back to my vlog. Now I found my old diary from ten years ago and it's so funny to read my ideas on what I thought the future might hold for me. I'm definitely not the person I imagined myself to be back then, though some dreams haven't changed. I always saw myself in the Australian outback working from home rather than being stuck in London's traffic jams. But hey, it might still happen! So I'm curious about other people's dreams. It's time to ask some questions. Where do you think you'll be living five years from now?
Na: My mum owns a house in Walton-on-Thames that I plan on buying off her, so probably I will be living in Walton-on-Thames in her house in five years' time.
No: I'll probably be living in London with my family, but I would like to be living in Monaco 'cause it's another city, another country, it's nice with hot weather, and it's just a different environment compared to London.
K: Probably I'll be living in Vienna and hopefully I'll be still working freelance with projects abroad every couple of months so I can keep travelling.
Ni: In five years' time, I would quite like to be living in a house with myself, not with housemates, um, preferably with a studio so I can record my music and my guitars in there and a nice big living room.
H: I will be living in Sydney, New South Wales in Australia 'cause it's a lovely part of the world, lots of beaches and outdoor life.
Lu: In five years' time, I hope to be living in East London. It's one of my favourite places. It's where I work, so it'd be a lot easier. I wouldn't have to get up as early.
Li: Actually, I have no idea. I've only just arrived here in London and loving it so far. But, er, if it turns out that after a couple of years I don't really love the cold any more I might head home where it's much warmer or I might try somewhere in Europe. I've really got no idea.
P: What life goals will you have achieved by the time you turn fifty?
Na: I would like to think that I will have played a leading lady in the West End. Um, I would like to have been in a TV series or two. And maybe some voice work, voice reels and language tapes.
No: I will have had my own film production agency. I'll have travelled round the world doing what I love which is acting and modelling. I'll have started to raise my own family as well and I will have my own property and businesses as well.
K: Hopefully by the time I'm fifty, I will have published a book or been an established artist or at least published a movie and gone further in my career. Or just be happy – I guess that's a good goal as well.
Ni: By the time I'm fifty, in my life I will achieve at least one top ten album, a tour of the world, and to get my band Lofthouse just anywhere and everywhere I can.
H: I will have completed my yoga teacher training in India, and I will have my own studio, so I'll be teaching yoga.

Welcome to the Lifestyle Programme. Let's start with the shocking results of a recent survey: thirty-five percent of British people do not know any of their neighbours. Well, it's not a problem for residents of Springhill co-housing project in the southwest of England. Springhill is a new housing development of thirty-five homes in a typical residential area. Residents have their own self-contained flats or houses and gardens, but share a common house for communal meals. The co-housing idea comes from Denmark where it is well-established, and according to the latest government housing figures, tens of thousands of Danish people live in this way. There is growing interest around the world in the model as a provider of affordable, sustainable social housing. Building materials are natural or recycled.
Springhill is not only sustainable in building terms, but in human terms too, encouraging the daily social contact that we know is key to health and happiness. We're sure there'll be a hundred percent improvement in neighbourly relations at Springhill. And now for a look at a different kind of …

T: Oh, it's one of Dad's business magazines. Have you seen the plans for this Freedom Ship?
R: No, what is it?
T: Well, it's just a concept at the moment, but they're planning to build a huge ship that looks like a floating tower block with an airport on top.
R: That sounds a bit unstable if you ask me. Let's have a look. Oh, that's amazing. It looks like a multi-storey car park! I wouldn't like to be on it in bad weather. Are they really going to build it?

T: Only if it can be profitable, so if you ask me, I'd be surprised. They need billions of dollars to even start, so it may never happen. It says here that there are people with disposable income who want to invest in the project and use it as their second home, but I shouldn't think many people would want to live on it. They want to make it nearly two kilometres long – nearly two kilometres long! That doesn't sound possible!

R: Where will it dock?

T: According to this article, no ports will be big enough for it to enter, so it'll just be sailing around the world non-stop with 80,000 people on board.

R: Well, I won't be one of them! Come on, it's time to go.

Today I'm reporting from The House and Home show and I'm going to start with a question – where will you be living twenty years from now? Well, that's pretty obvious. You'll be living in a fully connected smart home! Smart homes and smart technology have now become reality, not the future. How do they benefit our lives? OK, a smart home can be rewired so household appliances such as fridges, light fixtures, security systems and thermostats can be controlled by the homeowner using a mobile device. One benefit is that the smart home can save energy costs – even when you're not at home. With the tap of a finger on your mobile phone, you can switch off lights, close windows and control the heating. With the smart home, you gain more hours in the day – when you're running low on milk, your fridge can order more, and it can be programmed to manage all your shopping. The fridge will even advise on recipes based on what you've got in stock. Domestic chores just got a lot easier! In the future, such homes will be available for everybody!

I = Interviewer MR = Martin Richards

I: Welcome to the Shopping Programme. In this episode, we're looking at the growing market in the UK for second-hand goods and the different places where you can buy and sell these pre-owned items. To get us started, we have a guest in the studio. Hello and welcome Martin Richards. Martin, you sell second-hand goods on the market, don't you? Can you tell us where you get them from?

MR: Yes, hello. Basically, I buy and sell the contents of luggage that is lost at airports and unclaimed by their owners.

I: There are thousands of bags and suitcases that go missing at airports, aren't there?

MR: Yes, absolutely. Twenty-six million checked bags go missing from international flights around the world every year. Heathrow is one of the busiest airports in the world with nearly two hundred thousand people passing through the airport each day. Unsurprisingly, forty-five thousand bags go missing every month.

I: Amazing! So how do you get hold of this unclaimed lost luggage and what do you do with it?

MR: Well, I certainly don't get them from the owners! I go to an auction house in London – they buy the lost property from Heathrow Airport, and sell it weekly to individuals like me. Then I have a stall on a market where I sell the clothes that come out of the lost suitcases.

I: So what kind of things do you get?

MR: Well, there's an element of chance when you buy a suitcase, as you can't look inside before you bid for it. The better the suitcase, the more likely you are to find designer clothes. But you could be very unlucky with a high-quality bag and just find dirty socks – that's the chance you take. Luckily, the auctioneers open the bags and throw away anything horrible like food that's gone off or wet stuff that's gone mouldy. When you buy suitcases, you just get clothes. They take out electrical goods and shoes and they sell those in separate lots.

I: If we could just go back to what you were saying before, it's really surprising how many bags get lost! Have you any idea how this happens?

MR: Apparently, the most common cause of lost luggage is when people check in their bags either too far in advance, or at the very last minute. Things can also get lost if passengers transfer to other flights. But you wouldn't believe what the most commonly lost thing is – children's buggies! That's what I find most shocking – I just don't understand how people can leave the airport carrying the child and not remember the buggy!

I: One last question, Martin. Do you feel a bit strange handling people's personal belongings?

MR: Um. That's a good question. The easy answer is no – I try to think about it as a job. But if I'm honest, I do often wonder who these people are, where they're from and where they were going. Once I found a wedding dress in one of the suitcases – I just hope they lost it on the way home.

I: Absolutely. I'm sure those suitcases could tell a few stories. Thank you, Martin. Now …

Weirders things sold at auction

A man thought that a jar contained a ghost and he was frightened of it, so he put it up for auction on eBay. After numerous bids, the jar sold for just around $55,000, but the buyer never paid for the item in the end.

In 2000, a man from North Carolina discovered the meaning of life and decided to sell it on eBay. Curiously, it was worth only $3.26.

A ten-year-old girl from England tried to sell her grandmother on eBay, describing the relative as 'annoying' but 'cuddly'. The auction site had to take down the offer as it appeared to be promoting human trafficking.

The toast was sold for $1,025 when Justin Timberlake left it behind after an interview with a New York radio station. The leftover breakfast was put for sale by a DJ and a nineteen-year-old fan placed the winning bid.

An Australian thought it was funny to put New Zealand up for sale on eBay. After six thousand hits and twenty-two bids, the price quickly climbed to A$3,000, until eBay managers pulled the auction from the website.

No royal tea-leaves have ever come up at auction, but a piece of The Queen's wedding cake from her marriage in 1947 fetched £500 at auction when it was put up for sale by a woman whose father attended the royal wedding.

2.23 Exercises 1 and 2, page 58

E = Ellie J = James

J: It's Bella's birthday tomorrow and I haven't got a present yet. Could you help me?
E: Well, well, well … A university student is seeking help from his little sister. That's new.
J: Stop that, please! Are you going to help me or not?
E: Fine. What's up?
J: As I was saying, I have no idea what to get Bella for her birthday. You're a girl. Any thoughts on that? Clothes, maybe?
E: You definitely shouldn't buy clothes unless you know the correct size. It's much too easy to get it wrong, too small or too large. Also, it might not be the right colour or style.
J: Oh, right, not clothes. How about jewellery? A nice ring?
E: A ring? You need to be careful with that because a ring tends to have special meaning.
J: Hm. A bracelet?
E: Yes, with a bracelet you needn't worry about seeming too serious. But it must be something really nice. Something she'll be proud to wear. How much do you want to spend?
J: I don't know – no more than twenty euros.
E: Right – you ought to forget jewellery. What's she into?
J: Music. I could get concert tickets.
E: That's good – but you ought to avoid buying them for too far ahead. You may split up and then it would be a waste of money.
J: Oh yeah. I know – perfume!
E: Do you know what she likes?
J: No.
E: Well, you ought to!
J: I could get her the same as Mum wears.
E: No! You mustn't do that! That's a really bad idea! Mums and young girls don't wear the same perfume.
J: Why? Mum's perfume's nice. Oh dear, this is more difficult than I thought. I wish I had more time. Should I get a voucher or is that boring?
E: It's boring. You'd better ask her friends for some ideas before the shops shut. They'll know exactly what she likes. Hurry …

2.25 Exercise 8, page 58

A

A: You look tired today.
B: I am. I didn't have a very good evening yesterday.
A: What happened?
B: I went to the cinema with my brother. The ticket cost a lot and the film was terrible and very long. So it was an expensive evening and we went to bed late.

B

A: Have you seen Katy's new haircut?
B: No, what's it like?
A: I don't think it suits her. I told her it made her nose look big. She was upset.

C

A: That new girl came to my brother's birthday party last week.
B: Oh, what's she like?
A: I'm not sure if she's shy or rude, but she didn't speak to anyone and she left really early.

2.26 Exercises 2 and 3, page 59

E = Emma O = Oscar

O: Oh, what a week! I'm exhausted. I'm glad it's Saturday.
E: Well, don't relax too much. We need to do some food shopping. We don't even have coffee.
O: Don't we? Well, you could have said something earlier. How am I supposed to function without coffee?
E: Er … well, you should've noticed yourself if it's so important to you. Anyway, there's a food market on West Street today. I say we get there early.
O: What, you mean leave the flat?
E: Well, how else do you suggest we do the shopping, Oscar?
O: Er … online? I really can't be bothered to go out, Emma. Going to the market is time consuming and takes effort, but shopping online is quick and convenient. Click, click, click and it's done. Miraculous! It's the only way of shopping that allows you to stay on the sofa … and therefore, it's clearly the best choice. Another reason is that, instead of carrying heavy bags half-way across town, someone will deliver everything to the door. What could be easier?
E: You are so lazy, Oscar! OK, when you compare the two, shopping online might require less effort, but I wouldn't choose it because you can't actually pick the fresh food yourself, can you? If you order online, they can send you all the old stuff. That's why I'd opt for the market. On top of that, it is actually good to leave the house and interact with other real people sometimes, you know?
O: Hmmm?
E: I mean, I prefer going to the market simply because it's a colourful and lively place to spend some time. Also, shopping online isn't the best choice if you consider the environment – all those delivery trucks speeding round the city. Plus, don't forget it's much more likely that the food at the market is locally grown and it's definitely the cheaper option.

O: OK, OK! I get the message. How about you go to the market and I stay here?

E: That's fine, Oscar. You can clean the kitchen and the bathroom while I do the shopping.

O: On second thoughts, I'll come with you and help carry the bags.

E: Oh, my hero!

2.27 Focus Vlog, page 61

K = Kat Li = Lilee Lu = Lucy P = Presenter Sa = Sam Sh = Shaelyn

P: Hi everyone. Me again. So I'm off to a bad start today. I'm running late – typical me. I left my wallet in my other bag and I didn't realise until I went to buy a ticket. Luckily a kind stranger lent me some money when I found out I'd left my phone at home too. So I want to know about your experiences with money. Do you carry cash or have you switched to a completely cash-free method? Do you usually pay with cash or card? What sort of things are you likely to pay for with cash?

Sa: I usually pay with card, but I'd mostly rather be paying with cash, I just find a hard time getting my hands on it. Usually it's hard to go to the ATM, make sure I always have it on me, make sure I have a sufficient amount. But if I am paying with cash, it's usually for something like the dry cleaners where it's usually cash only or picking up small items at the grocery store, small loaves, pieces of gum, packs of gum.

K: I tend to pay with cash 'cause I keep track of my money better that way, and I use cash for all the small things, um, like food, groceries, just every day necessities.

Li: I generally pay with my card because it's so much easier and quicker, but I like to get my nails done, and my nail lady only takes cash, so that's when I usually pay with cash.

Sh: Actually, I'm most likely to pay for everything with cash because I'm an old-fashioned girl and it helps me to manage my spending with cash because I can see exactly how much I have left. Whereas with card, all you have to do is tap and it's easy to overspend.

Lu: I normally pay with card because it's a lot easier and quicker, which isn't always the best thing, but if I were to pay for something with cash, the only thing I can really think that I use cash for now would be leaving a tip in a restaurant.

P: What ways of paying are likely to become popular in the future?

Sa: I would say probably contactless using a cellular device, um, just because it's the most convenient – people always have their phones on them and usually kind of having a back-up maybe a contactless card if your phone dies. I can't see it really progressing too much further from that as of right now unless technology advances significantly.

K: I think in the future we'll be more likely to move towards a digital currency whether that is a representation for our current currency or some other value system, but I personally hope that we will stick to cash.

Li: I think phone-pay will become really popular because it will be easy for people to leave the house and not have to take a bag or a wallet. All they need is their phone and they can tap away.

Sh: I think that e-wallets are more likely to become popular in the future because foreign travel is becoming more popular and it saves people the hassle of having to go for currency exchange and having to carry around loads of cash and all kinds of different cards. So it might be safer for people to travel around as well.

Lu: I pay for a lot of things on my phone, with the contactless on my phone. So I feel like maybe if they input that in other devices as well, that might become more popular, too.

P: So how do you guys pay for things? And how do you think you'll pay for things in the future? Let me know in the comments.

Focus Review 4

2.28 Exercise 7, page 67

A = Anne P = Presenter

P: I'm here in the studio with Anne Knight – a mystery shopper. It's very much a niche job and one that's full of secrecy. Can you tell me a little about your job and what it actually entails?

A: Sure. Basically, I'm assigned a number of different stores, in different locations and cities and asked to buy a certain something from a specific department or from a new product range. It could be in a chain of supermarkets, for example, a fast food restaurant or a large department store. I take extensive notes on the appearance and cleanliness of the store, the progression of the queue and the quality of customer service. I then have to write up detailed reports on the overall shopping experience. It's not as glamorous as most people think.

P: Companies are spending millions each year, there's an increasing need for mystery shoppers and salaries can be impressive I hear. Do your clients get good value for money?

A: I believe so. Retailers are becoming increasingly aware of the competition from online stores and profits are being threatened. They are responding to the fact that shoppers who are actually prepared to set foot inside a store need to be offered a higher quality of service – a more unique and enjoyable shopping experience than they get online. Attracting new customers is desirable through improved customer service, but central to the idea is keeping regular visitors coming back.

P: Does it work?

A: Oh, definitely. Once the report has been produced, clients might respond, for example, by employing more cashiers to work the tills, which results in queues moving faster. Or maybe shop floors are cleaner or reorganised to make them more shopper-friendly. In particular though, a few of the places I've visited have won awards for the good quality of service to their customers. I'm totally convinced that it is a result of my efforts and that what I'm doing benefits everyone who goes shopping – and that's most satisfying.

P: What else do you like about being a mystery shopper?

A: Occasionally, we get an exclusive assignment such as checking out a five-star restaurant, or doing a report on a store that's on a cruise ship. Companies really have to spend vast sums for such a service and the pay is very good, so understandably such jobs are quite rare – but it does add to the whole unpredictability of the work which is nice.

P: In many ways the perfect job.

A: Believe it or not, it's actually quite hard to enjoy a meal which costs a fortune in a plush restaurant because you can't sit there and take notes like you can in a store. Remembering lots of tiny details about the meal, the overall quality of the service and the food being served, as well as the much more personal interaction with the waiting staff – all of that can actually distract from the whole experience. And then having to go home or back to the hotel late at night to write reports on everything while it's still fresh. You really do need to remain focused and detail oriented. Hardly the perfect way to spend an evening.

P: So, it's not all just about free meals, is it? Thank you, Anne. Stay tuned because next up Michael Bridges will be …

Han = Hannah Har = Harriet K = Kat L = Lilee P = Presenter Sa = Sam Sh = Shaelyn

P: Hey everybody, I'm back. So my friend just called up to complain about a job interview she had the other day. She was really upset and nervous the whole time mainly because of the questions the interviewer had asked her. He wanted to know why she wasn't studying, why she'd changed jobs so frequently and what she planned to do in the next five years. So I want to know about other people's experiences. What questions they were asked and what they said.
Have you ever been to a job interview? What sort of questions did they ask you? And what did you reply?

Han: Yes, I've been to many job interviews. They asked why I wanted the job and I gave an answer of why I wanted to be in that certain industry. Another example would be what my strengths and weaknesses and I would give them answers like I'm a good team player …

Sa: When I was in High School, I applied for a job at a local camping store in my neighbourhood. They asked me mostly questions related to my interest in camping, my interests in the store, and what I thought I could bring to the table. Mostly I told them it was my first job so I was willing to work, like, as hard as I possibly could and that's what I could really bring to the table. I told them I'd been going to the store since I was very little, and I had a huge passion for camping and hiking.

K: Yes, I have been for a job interview and when I went they asked me whether I was willing to move for the job, whether I was willing to work on the weekends, whether I was willing to work overtime and also they asked me some strange questions … whether … like what my favourite food was and whether I was willing to walk up the stairs every day because their elevator was broken. I agreed with most things because I wanted the job.

Sh: Yes, I did have a job interview recently. Erm … the first question they asked me was how I would be able to help customers and I said I would always be there with a smile and that I would always be able to answer questions. Um, the second question that they asked me was why was I fit for the job and I said that I was very hard-working and responsible and the third question that they asked me was why I wanted to work for their company and I said that I wanted to work for them because they were ecologically friendly and consciously trying to make a difference in the world.

Har: I've been for a couple of job interviews. My most recent one was for a job in a café, where they were asking me about my previous experience working in foods, and with people, and things like that. Just to make sure that I was comfortable with the job and I'd had previous experience. So, I was just sort of telling them the things I did in my previous job, like how I served the food and the things that I'd learnt through that to get the job.

L: Yes, I have been for a few job interviews. My most recent one was as a nanny back in Australia and what did they ask me? The parents of the children is who I met with and they asked about my experience with kids and about my ability to drive and if I had a car, so I could help take their kids to and from school and that kind of thing and I answered by saying that I'd got lots of experience with kids from my big family and teaching at dance studios and I have a car and I have my license, so I just answered all their questions for them.

P: What about you guys? Do you have any job interview experiences? Will you share?

2.34 Exercises 2 and 3, page 71

DA = Dr Atkins P = Presenter

P: In today's programme, we're taking a look into the future of work. With us in the studio we have a specialist in future trends in the workplace – Dr Atkins. Dr Atkins, what do you think the world of work will look like ten years from now?

DA: Well, it certainly won't look the same as now. Technology now enables us to work anywhere and so there's been a steady rise in people working from home and a sharp drop in the number of people commuting to work.
P: As technology takes over tasks that people used to do, what kind of skills will be useful for people in the future?
DA: People will have to focus on the kind of skills that can't be done by a machine or a robot such as leadership and management jobs or caring for other humans.
P: So you don't think that dentists and teachers should worry about their jobs just yet.
DA: No, definitely not. The need for jobs in the medical and teaching professions will remain constant. Many of the traditional jobs will still be necessary ten or twenty years from now – we'll always need lawyers, politicians, fire fighters and so on. And we mustn't forget the creative industries: we'll always need artists, writers and actors. I also think there will be a marked increase in jobs connected with alternative energy.
P: What sort of jobs would they be?
DA: Well things like solar panel engineers or wind turbine technicians.
P: Right, I see. So which jobs do you think are at risk in the future?
DA: Um, I think there will be a gradual decline in jobs in retail – shop assistants aren't required in the days of online shopping. Any office jobs and factory jobs that can be done by computers and robots will disappear.
P: Finally, can you name any job titles that don't exist now and will in the future?
DA: I think we'll see jobs like body-part maker, robot mechanic and space tourist guide. But I could be completely wrong!

2.36 Exercises 6 and 7, page 71

A = Angie M = Mark P = Presenter J = Julie G = Geoffrey

P: Welcome back to our programme exploring the future of work. We asked four people their thoughts on their careers and where they saw them in the future. Our first speaker is Julie Robinson, a lawyer.
J: A career in law is challenging and potentially well-paid if you get a high-powered job in a top law firm. However, I believe there's been a sharp drop in law graduates recently because it's so expensive to study law at university for six years. Some law firms are even offering apprenticeships so that trainees can start work and earn a salary while they're training. Technology has definitely had an effect on our profession in that it's pushing people out of work. Some of the tedious tasks that lawyers used to do can now be done online. But our clients can rest assured that their cases will be handled by human staff rather than computers. On the whole, being a lawyer can be an extremely rewarding and lucrative career.
P: Our second speaker is Geoffrey Smith, a dentist.
G: My dental practice is always busy, and I can't see that changing in the future. As far as clients are concerned, I've noticed a marked increase in elderly patients who want to keep their teeth in good condition. Technology has changed the way I work and will probably continue to make my job easier. There have been great advances in the medication we use to manage pain, so my patients can relax a bit more. I know people hate coming to see me! I don't blame them, but I don't think they'd be any happier if I was replaced by a robot.
P: Our third speaker is Angie Walters, a shop assistant.
A: The supermarket where I work is always busy, so it's hard to believe my job is going to disappear. If you ask me, people want to see what they're buying – I do! But the experts say that there will be a gradual decline in supermarket sales, and so my job isn't secure. I'd hate to lose my job because I think I've got great interpersonal skills and I'm quite good at handling difficult customers. Some people think my job's monotonous, but I find this human contact with the customers very fulfilling. If we close down, I worry that some of my elderly customers will never go out and see anyone. That's not progress, is it?
P: Finally, our fourth speaker is Mark Pomroy, a wind turbine technician.
M: I'm working in the alternative energy industry. To work with wind turbines, you need to do a two-year course in applied sciences and this will teach you the basic technology. The skills you need are to be good with your hands, and it helps to have some experience in mechanics. In my free time, I enjoy taking car engines apart and putting them back together, so that helps. After studying the basics, I did an apprenticeship with a company and learnt on the job. My job's demanding, but I think it will be an important career in the near future.

D = Daniel H = Hannah N = Narrator

N: Friends Hannah and Daniel are working in Daniel's dad's bike shop during the summer holidays. Today they are responsible for opening the shop.
D: Right, here we are. Have you got the keys?
H: Yep.
D: Thanks … OK … er …
H: What's the matter?
D: I've no idea. I can't seem to open it.
H: What do you mean? Just put the key in and turn it.
D: Yes, thank you, Einstein. Every time I try to turn it, it gets stuck.
H: Well, what's up with it?
D: How should I know? Perhaps there's something wrong with the lock.
H: Well, have you tried turning it the other way?
D: The other way? I doubt that'll work, but let's see.
H: And?
D: No, that doesn't make any difference. Now what?
H: Let me try.
D: OK … Careful. Not too hard, it'll …
H: Whoops! It's broken off in the lock.
D: Hannah! Why on earth did you do that?
H: I didn't do it on purpose.
D: What are we supposed to do now?
H: Calm down. I think I might have left the toilet window open round the back. Perhaps if I climb through, I'll be able to open the door from the inside. At least then we can open the shop on time. We'll work out what to do about the lock later.

N: At the back of the shop.
H: Yes! It's open. Problem solved. Help me up.
D: OK, be careful. I'm not sure this is a good idea. It looks a bit small. Are you sure you'll fit?
H: Are you saying I'm fat?
D: What?
H: I'm joking, Daniel. OK, one … two … three … oooof … ah … ouch! Oh, I can't get my leg through.
D: Are you OK?
H: No! I can't move.
D: OK, this isn't going to work. Come back out.
H: OK … ah … ooof … ouch! Daniel, I can't …
D: What are you doing?
H: I'm stuck! What am I going to do now?
D: Well, you should have thought about that earlier. Oh no! That's it. My dad is going to kill us.

Unit 6 A matter of fact

2.46 Focus Vlog, page 86

E = Ellie H = Hassan K = Kat L = Luke
N = Nick P = Presenter S = Sam

P: Hi everyone. I'm a bit over-tired today. I had a movie-marathon with my best friends last night. We each had to pick one film. Can you guess what film I picked? That's right, I picked The Time Machine. I don't know why, but time travel just fascinates me. I always picture myself going back in time and meeting my hero Marylin Monroe. So I want to know about everyone else's experiences. Are they as excited about time travel as I am? Imagine you could travel back in time, which decade, century or era would you visit?
N: I would like to go back to the late 30s early 40s. I come from a small town in the North East that used to have a lot of airfields, so I would have quite liked to see, you know, Spitfires and Lancasters fly over and land on these airfields in my hometown.
K: If I could travel back in time, I would travel back to the early 60s because I would really like to see the age at which my grandmother was in her 20s and I'd really like to see how she dealt with similar problems that I'm dealing with right now.
S: I would probably go to, like, ancient Babylon or ancient Egypt. I just really like the desert setting. Kind of like, the Nile river, very fertile, and the deserts in the background.
H: I'd visit the Middle Ages … er … to see how people lived without technology 'cause we live in a time where we depend heavily on technology and the internet.
L: I think, um, probably the kind of Dickensian period actually. Um … in England. I think, um, Charles Dickens and the picture he's painted in his, er, his novels. Paints a very, kind of, interesting experience, kind of, the kind of differences between wealth and poverty and, kind of, the very different circumstances in which people lived um would be great to experience. In my head, kind of, England from the past at that time was pretty tough. Lots of, kind of dark, twisty, narrow buildings pathways in cities …
E: I like the sound of the 80s because of the music, um, and yeah, the 80s I think are a good decade for music, so that's probably what I would choose.
P: Suppose you could meet any famous person dead or alive. Who would you like to meet?
N: If I could meet anyone famous, it would be my guitar hero Mark Tremonti. I would love to ask him about how he started his career and what his path was through his music.
K: If I could meet any famous person at all, I would like to meet Salvador Dali, because I really appreciate his art … and I think it's incredible what he did in terms of changing modern art and I find it fascinating that he was always of the opinion that you could only do that once you have covered your basics and I think that's a good approach to everything in life.
S: I would probably meet Frank Sinatra, just because I'm a huge fan of his music and the 1950s and 1940s culture in America in general. I'd probably ask him about his days with the rat pack, music … everything about 1950s culture really.
H: I'd like to meet Rafael Nadal. He's a really famous tennis player. I do play tennis sometimes and he inspires me a lot actually … I'm a huge fan of his.
L: Out of the many, many people I think I'd go for Winston Churchill. Um, a particularly interesting period during the Second World War, in which he led the United Kingdom to victory over Germany … the United Kingdom and Europe, so I think to get inside his head and to ask him questions about that period would be absolutely fascinating. The challenges that he undertook and faced and also, you know, there's other stuff in the past that he's done, I think, I'd like to challenge him on as well.
E: I think I'd meet the jazz musician, Duke Ellington. Because I really look up to him. And I think his story and like life was really interesting. I'd want to know more about that – how he got to where he did and, yeah, I think he's really interesting.
P: How about you guys? What would be your dream destination and who would you like to meet? Let me know in the comments.

3.1 Exercise 2, page 87

Reports are coming in from London of a new mural by enigmatic street artist, Banksy. Banksy's real identity is unknown. Some people believe his real name is Robert Banks while others say that he's Robin Gunningham who was born in Bristol in 1973. Banksy has never confirmed or denied any of these reports and his identity remains a mystery even though his art is recognised worldwide. There is an unconfirmed rumour that he trained to be a butcher before becoming a street artist. His graffiti art became famous in the 1990s in Bristol and London, but he chose to remain anonymous at first to avoid being arrested for acts of vandalism. So far he has managed to protect his true identity and has remained out of reach of the authorities. When a new 'Banksy' appears in the street, he posts it on his website. This is how he authenticates his street art and confirms to the public that it is genuine and not a fake. His artworks can fetch hundreds of thousands of pounds at auction. It is unclear how much of this money goes to Banksy himself, though people say he is worth 20 million dollars.

3.2 Exercises 4 and 5, page 87

A = Alice R = Robert

A: What are you doing?
R: I'm trying to find some information on the Internet for my art project. I've got to do an essay about artists who raise ethical issues through their work.
A: Oh, that sounds interesting. I did a similar module on my degree. You should write about street artists like Banksy who make statements about society through graffiti.
R: I don't know much about him. Do you?
A: Quite a bit, yeah. I used to think he was American because he's done a lot of work in New York, but it turns out that he's actually British. He's been doing street art for twenty-five years, but I've no idea how old he was when he started. Actually, it's amazing how he's managed to stay so enigmatic, but apparently his friends are really loyal and committed to helping him remain anonymous. I don't know much about his background – nobody does – but I can tell you about his murals and his painting techniques if you like.
R: Yes, that would be good.
A: OK, he started off with traditional painting onto walls and then later he started using stencils and spray cans to speed up the painting process. When you want your identity to remain a secret, you don't want to hang around the streets too long doing something illegal! I mean, he is committing an offence.
R: Yeah, I suppose he is. Right, let me just finish writing that down. OK, so what's he trying to achieve with all this – what does he believe in?
A: Well, he's quite political – he calls himself an activist and he's against authority in general. He has strong beliefs about people and the way we live our lives. Some of his art draws our attention to the state of the environment and pollution, like this mural of a boy catching snowflakes in his mouth – only if you look closer, it's not snowflakes, but ash. He painted it on a garage in an industrial town in Wales.
R: Yikes. So what other issues is he most interested in?
A: He's anti-war, so some of his murals aim to raise awareness of the stupidity of war. Look, I'll show you on this website about him.
R: Ah, right. I like the one of the protestor who's about to throw a bouquet of flowers.
A: Yes, that's a good one and it's quite obvious what it's about – it stands for peaceful protest. Banksy also does a lot of paintings of children and animals. His most popular image is a girl with a red heart-shaped balloon.
R: Oh yes, I love that one. But it's a bit sad – the balloon is floating away from the little girl. I'm not sure what the underlying message is, but his art really makes you think, doesn't it?
A: Yes, that's right. The meaning isn't always obvious, but I know he's a strong believer in fairness and equality – that's why he's a good subject for your essay. This one has a clear message – he often uses his art to make statements about the treatment of animals.
R: It's so clever – you think the leopard is escaping from a cage, but then you realise it's a bar code. What does that mean?
A: I'm not sure, but as I said, it makes you think. That's his aim.

I firmly believe they do. During the 1980s, due to pressure from anti-fur campaigners, the number of fashion designers using fur fell sharply. Sadly, fur seems to be fashionable again these days, so I would say that campaigns and protests are more important than ever. Obviously, protesting is a good way to promote awareness, but I think it is important to make your point peacefully. The anti-fur movement has received criticism in the past for using violent or illegal protests and I also believe these do more harm than good. It could be argued that some of the more shocking images used in protests actually prevent some people from engaging with the movement. Frankly, I find some of the pictures extremely difficult to look at.

Well, one obvious advantage is their ability to deliver a message to huge groups of people. Clearly, a lot of the general public are interested in the lives and opinions of public figures and celebrities. When a celebrity supports the anti-fur movement, lots of people take notice. Regrettably, the opposite is also true. When celebrities are seen wearing fur products, it sends the message that fur is glamorous and desirable. If you ask me, there is nothing glamorous or desirable about killing animals for the sake of fashion.

I think I'd emphasise just how many animals have died to make their coat, or hat or whatever it is they are wearing. Often, people don't realise that to make a single coat from fox fur, for example, fifteen to twenty animals have to be killed. I'd like them to think about these poor creatures every time they put on their 'beautiful' coat. Can they really justify that much killing, just so they can wear fur? In my opinion, fur is beautiful, but only when it's on the animals to which it belongs. For those who really can't do without the 'fur look', there are synthetic products that look exactly the same as the real thing. Some protesters feel that even synthetic fur is wrong as it encourages the fashion to continue, but I don't feel particularly strongly about that.

DM = Dr Maggs P = Presenter

P: Welcome to the Amazing Minds podcast. Our guest this week is Dr James Maggs, professor of computer science at Risinghurst University. Thank you for joining us, Dr Maggs. Can you begin by telling us who you're going to talk about today?
DM: Well, before I tell you, let me ask you something – when do you think the first computer programme was written?
P: Um, that would be the mid-twentieth century? Alan Turing?
DM: Aha, you need to go back another 100 years to a woman that Alan Turing was inspired by. Her name is Ada Lovelace and she was a brilliant mathematician and a computer visionary.

P: Was she the woman who worked with Charles Babbage?
DM: That's right. She collaborated with Charles Babbage on a prototype for the first computer. At that time, it was known as the Analytical Engine. Charles Babbage is referred to as the father of the computer, but Lovelace is now credited with coming up with the first 'algorithm'.
P: How interesting. So Ada Lovelace was a hundred years ahead of her time.
DM: Absolutely. She saw the true potential of their invention and was the first to recognise that the machine was capable of doing anything, provided it was programmed correctly.
P: So Dr Maggs, considering that women didn't always have access to education in the nineteenth century, how did Ada Lovelace discover that she had an aptitude for this kind of work?
DM: Her father was Lord Byron, the Romantic poet. He left her mother soon after Ada was born, and Ada's mother was afraid she would follow the same literary path as her father. So she arranged for the best teachers to give her lessons in science and mathematics.
P: It worked.
DM: It did. And she's one of the few women who've won the respect of her fellow computer scientists for her contribution to science and technology. In fact, in 1980, the United States Department of Defense named a computer language after her.
P: Quite right. Thank you very much, Dr Maggs.
DM: You're very welcome.

P = Presenter Li = Lilee Lu = Luke Ni = Nick No = Nobuse S = Sam

P: Hi everybody. So I have a confession to make. I am absolutely awful when it comes to technology. I believe I can make a computer break down just by looking at it. But of course, I could not live without it, so today I'm going to be asking for people's views on technology.
What kind of technology would you like to be developed in the future?
Li: I think that while the electric cars have already been developed. I think if they became more popular and easily accessible that would be really cool and really great for the environment as well.
Lu: I think certainly my answer would be teleportation, like the one featured in Star Trek. Er, you know, where they beam you up and you dissolve into a million particles and just appear somewhere else instantly. Um, I think that looks a much easier way to travel than flying … experiencing airports and the delays at airports and 24 hours to get to the other side of the world.
S: Yes, mostly I'd like to see efficient solar batteries for solar energy systems just because we have very efficient ways of capturing energy, but not very efficient ways of storing it and that could solve lots of world energy crisis problems.
Ni: I would quite like to see how things like guitar and piano evolve over the next maybe ten, twenty years, and see how they go from being a physical to digital device and what kind of sounds we can get from those.
No: Virtual reality education could be developed as it'll be more engaging for the students. They won't have to travel out of their homes … and literally learn in their own homes in their own time as well and would just be more fun and more in tune with the modern-day student.
P: What technology should be provided free for everyone?
Li: I think that everyone should have access to electricity in their houses so they have light and heat because I think it is so important for you to be able to feel safe and comfortable in your own house and those are two things that you really need for that.
Lu: Anything medical … I mean I think we're very lucky – maybe too deep? – I think we're quite lucky in the UK because we have a free health service at the moment but, um, expensive technology to MRI scans, that sort of stuff, should be available free to everyone I think, really … so people can be well.
S: I would probably have to say universal access to the Internet just because there are so many possibilities that come with the Internet and so many, like, remote places in the world that can get an education and learn new information and global updates in a matter of seconds that they otherwise wouldn't be connected to so getting people access to free Internet cafés, or laptops that can connect to a cellular connection would be huge in the development of the world.
Ni: I think things like tablets should be available to everyone because, you know, they have so many uses to do with education and, you know, creativity, you know. We should be inspiring the younger generation to have these and to unlock their passions.
No: Online education should be provided for everyone. Not only for those who have money, but for those who don't have money. Put everyone on an equal playing field.
P: What about you guys? What technology would you like to see being invented? And what technology should be provided for free? Let me know in the comments.

J = Julie SA = Shop Assistant

SA: Good afternoon. Can I help you?
J: Oh yes, I'm looking for a new laptop. I've got a budget of £400. Do you have anything in that price range?
SA: Well, you won't be looking at a top-of-the-range model for that amount, but I'm happy to come up with a few options. Let's start here. This one's a basic laptop with four gigabytes of RAM and a terabyte of storage.
J: That sounds good.
SA: Well, compared with how computers used to be, it's not bad. If you just want to stick to word processing and social networking, it's a waste of money buying a more powerful computer. But if you want to go in for gaming and download films and music, you can get a computer with 8GB of RAM and an SSD hard drive for £450, that's just £50 more.

J: I do want to download films and music, but do I really need eight GB of RAM?
SA: Well, you need to think about the future. If you want to edit photos and videos, it's well worth spending a bit more. For just £50, you get double the RAM and SSD storage.
J: Hm, I'm not sure. I need to think it over.
SA: Of course. If it helps you to make a decision, I'll throw in a laptop bag with the more expensive model.

L = Luke K = Kate S = Sat-nav

S: At the roundabout, take the third exit. Take the exit.
L: Are you sure this is right?
K: Well the sat-nav seems to think it is. Why?
L: I thought we should be on the motorway by now. I'm going to go towards the motorway.
S: Turn around where possible.
K: The sat-nav didn't like that! I don't know why you insist on going on the motorway when the sat-nav was taking us another route?
S: Exit ahead.
K: Now it's trying to make us leave the motorway. I really don't think we should be on the motorway at all.
L: Have we got a map anywhere?
K: Why would we need a map? I think we should do what the sat-nav tells us to do.
S: After two hundred metres take the exit.
L: But I think it's wrong. Why don't we stop at the next service station and have a look at a map. Then we can figure out where to go.
K: OK, but I don't know why you bother to have the sat-nav on if you don't think it works.
L: It was you who talked me into using it! I hate sat-navs – they just wind me up.
K: You just don't like being told what to do.
L: Sorry?
K: Nothing.
S: Turn around where possible.

A report into street crime in the UK has revealed that moped robbery is on the rise. The number of offences has risen thirty times in five years. Offenders targeting phones and handbags, take advantage of people who are distracted by their phones. Many of the moped robberies are concentrated around train and tube stations where commuters and tourists often check their phones or look up directions.
Since these figures were brought out, people have been urged by the government not to use phones in the street, but to go into a shop or café when they need to check something on a phone. The Metropolitan Police say that they are bringing in new security measures to help tackle the problem.

M: Whoa! What's this? It looks a bit scary.
L: I'm not sure, to be honest.
S: Hi, and welcome to 'Mind-blowing Machines'. I'm Sam and I'm an 'Explainer' here at the exhibition. Would you like to know a little bit more about this incredible machine?
M: Er … sure. What is it?
S: It's actually a fully-automated remote surgical unit.
L: Er … I'm afraid you've lost me there. It's a what?
S: Well basically, it's a kind of robotic surgeon that can be controlled from anywhere in the world.
L: A robotic surgeon? Sounds like something from a nightmare! You'd never get me anywhere near that thing.
S: Ha, yes. Quite a few people say that, but it's perfectly safe. It's operated by a real human surgeon, of course. The two robotic arms here are actually steadier and provide a greater range of movement than the human hand. The machine makes it possible to provide expert surgical services to patients all around the world without the need to travel.
M: Are you saying that the surgeon doesn't actually have to be in the place where the operation takes place?
S: Yes, precisely. Using an ultra-fast telecommunications system, the machine would allow a surgeon here in London, for example, to perform an operation on a patient in Australia or Africa, or anywhere in the world, in fact.
M: That's amazing.
S: Mind-blowing, huh?

The entertainment industry is set to launch a new scheme in an effort to combat the high levels of Internet piracy. The project, backed by UK Internet service providers, will see people suspected of downloading illegal content alerted via 'educational' letters informing them of where they can download the same content through more official channels. Reports suggest that one in five British people engage in some form of copyright infringement, but many believe that the new measures are not severe enough to curb the growing number of Internet users downloading illegally.

M = Man W = Woman

W: What are you doing? I thought you were doing the washing up.
M: Later. I just thought I'd get half an hour in before we go out?
W: Seriously? So I have to do the washing up again? You play that silly computer game for hours every day. You'd be better off studying for your driving exam next month. Don't come crying to me if you fail.
M: Oh, it's just a little harmless fun and it helps me to relax.
W: Relax!? That's a joke. You get so wound up that you're miserable for ages afterwards. And with your high blood pressure…
M: Oh, come on. Don't exaggerate.
W: Look at last Wednesday when Anne and Bob came over? You could hardly be bothered to talk to them because you'd lost on that game.

B = Boy G = Girl

B: I don't know why I let myself get talked into buying this smartphone.

G: What's the problem? It's supposed to be a good phone. It has some pre-installed applications – you can see a complete list here. Just keep playing around with it.
B: But nothing seems to work. To connect to the Internet, you should go to settings and press connect. At least that's what you'd expect. But look, there's no connect option.
G: That's weird. It should be simple enough. Is the Wi-Fi option on?
B: It's hard to tell. When I try to check, the thing just reboots. Nothing does what it's supposed to do. I'll have to take it back to the shop.

Unit 8 Costing the earth

8.1 Vocabulary

3.28 Exercises 4 and 5, page 117

A plastics factory is the breeding ground for the familiar species, the plastic bottle. It hatches here in safety before being filled with water and going out into the big wide world. We first encounter our plastic bottle in its natural habitat, the supermarket.
Once the water has been consumed, the bottle is discarded and released into the wild. It encounters many predators on its journey to its final destination, a garbage patch the size of Texas in the heart of the Pacific Ocean.
As the bottle fights its way through the city, the eco-warrior is one of its most dangerous enemies and may one day be responsible for its extinction. Eco-warriors reject single-use plastics, claiming that plastic contamination is doing irreparable damage to the environment. After a narrow escape, our plastic bottle continues to make its way through the leafy neighbourhoods of the city.
You'd think our plastic bottle would be safe in the local park, but no – the litter-collecting park warden hunts the bottle and tries to catch it with his weapon. Our plastic bottle knows that the park warden will not stop until it's in captivity. Another dangerous enemy often encountered in the park is the child. They love to play with their prey, kicking it around the playground.
But our brave bottle is still on the loose, continuing its miraculous migration through built-up areas, down city streets and out into the orchards and meadows of the open countryside. The farmer is the next threat to the survival of our plastic bottle. Many of the species end up attached to a pole to scare off birds that come and eat the seeds on a freshly ploughed field, or stuck forever in a ditch. But not our bottle – it continues its journey.
In areas of natural beauty, the plastic bottle feels unwelcome. Fortunately, a gust of wind picks it up and drops it in a stream where the bottle floats on the surface. The stream flows out of the foothills and into the plain where it becomes a river. The river currents move it ever closer to the open sea where it will be reunited with millions of its own species who have, like our bottle, been set free to roam the Californian landscape. The sea is close now – it can feel it.
The bottle will now continue its journey across the ocean to the Great Pacific Garbage Patch, which has a thriving population of millions of tons of plastic waste. Our bottle will never disappear completely because it isn't biodegradable, but will live alongside other plastic waste before breaking into tiny pieces, entering marine life's food chain and completing the cycle of life.

B = Ben D = Dad E = Ellie M = Mum
B: Mum, where are we going on holiday this year? I wish we could go back to that campsite we went to last year.
E: And the year before, and the year before that, and the year before …
D: OK Ellie, we get the message!
E: Well, it's boring to go to the same place every year. If only we could go somewhere exciting for a change.
M: Like where?
E: I don't know – I just wish we could do something different, have an adventure.
D: Yes, I agree. I think it's time we did something cultural. I've had enough of lounging on sunbeds – let's go somewhere where we can learn something about the culture.
M: Well, I don't see what's wrong with sunbeds myself. I wish you all realised how much I look forward to doing nothing for two weeks! I've got a stressful job and I look after you lot too.
D: Look, we can do both – we can go somewhere where you can lie in the sun and we can go and explore the museums and churches …
E: Dad, that wasn't what I meant. I want to have an experience. If only we could go on safari or go trekking in the Himalayas or sail across the ocean.
M: Ha, sail across the ocean? Can I remind you that we haven't won the lottery recently!
B: Hm, I'd rather we went to the campsite we went to last year.
E: But Ben, we don't do anything there – we just go to the beach every day.
M: Fine by me.
D: No, Ellie's right. It's time we went outside our comfort zone. We should have a family adventure. I've always wanted to do white water rafting. Let's go to France. It'll be hot – Mum can sunbathe and we can have an adventure.
E: I'd rather go to the Himalayas.
D: We can go there when you become a millionaire! Here, let's google white water rafting in France.

3.33 Exercise 6, page 118

B = Ben D = Dad E = Ellie M = Mum
D: So what was the best part of the holiday for you?
E: Definitely not the sunburn. If only I'd worn more sunscreen.
D: Hm, yes, you really suffered, didn't you, Ellie?
B: Hahaha, you were so red. But the best part for me was when you fell out of the raft. I wish I hadn't forgotten my camera. It would have been a great photo!
E: I wish you'd fallen in too, Ben! Then you wouldn't think it was so funny. The water was freezing!
M: Ugh, it sounds awful. I'm so glad I stayed at the campsite – I just wish I'd known about the mosquitoes. I was bitten to death. But it's better than being frightened to death in the raft.

D: Yes, I must admit it was frightening, but we wanted to go outside our comfort zone, and we certainly did.

L = Lilee Han = Hannah Har = Harriet N = Nick P = Presenter S = Shaelyn

P: Hi everybody. I'm back. So my cousin has got an offer to work for an international company because he speaks four languages fluently. It really makes me wish I hadn't given up Spanish so carelessly when I thought it was a waste of time. But we live and learn and I may have to do something about that. So today I'm going to be asking people about their past decisions and if they're happy with their lives now.
Is there anything you wish you had or hadn't done when you were younger?

L: I actually really wish – it's a bit of a crazy one – but I always wanted to do ice-skating and, now that I'm in a colder country, ice-skating would come in handy but when I was little I never really said anything about it and never got into it. I did dancing instead.

Han: When I was younger I wish I had learnt a language and stuck with it so I could speak a different language now.

N: I wish I'd paid more attention in school. Um, a lot of my friends now have much better jobs than I do. Um, I was a bit of a trouble-maker in school, so I wish that I'd have paid more attention and just took that time to learn something new.

S: I wish I hadn't given up the theatre because I enjoyed it so much as a child. I loved playing with other people and spending time learning scripts and reading plays. And I wish I had continued so that I could enjoy it in my adult years as well.

K: I wish I had realised sooner what I wanted to do in life, and I wish that I had been less afraid to pursue it because of hardships.

Har: I wish I'd picked up a musical instrument earlier 'cause I really enjoy playing music now, but I think that if I'd have started when I was a child I would be a lot better than I am now.

P: How would you like your life to be different from what it is right now?

Lilee: I don't think there is anything I'd change. I'm having so much fun travelling and meeting people, and I've got some great friends that I've made along the way with my travels, and I don't think I would change anything of that … what I'm doing now to make it better.

Han: I would like to have my friends from England living in Sydney so everybody is together.

N: To be honest, I wouldn't change much. Um, maybe I'd have a better job that I enjoy a little bit more, but no, I'm very happy with what I have and the people that I have in my life.

S: I wish I lived in a place that was warm all year round, because London does get very cold in the winter. I wish I lived in, say, Mexico because it has the sea and the surf.

K: Honestly, I wouldn't want it to be different 'cause I think that all my mistakes and choices I made, I made for a reason.

Har: I am actually really happy with the way my life is now. I think … I'm currently doing … I'm in my degree, so a lot of things are currently changing, so I'm a bit wary to say that I would change anything just wait to see what happens, to be honest.

P: How about you guys? Do you have any regrets? Are you happy with your lives? Let me know in the comments.

3.35 Exercises 2 and 3, page 119

P = Presenter RM = Roger Mathews

P: Welcome to Animal World, the series in which we examine animals' behaviour in their natural habitats. This week, we're turning our attention to some of the smartest animals on the planet. Here to deliver today's three-minute lecture is wildlife expert and animal rights campaigner Dr Roger Matthews. Thank you, Dr Matthews.

RM: Thank you. When you think of intelligent animals, no doubt chimpanzees come to mind. Chimpanzees share ninety-eight percent of the same genes as humans and they resemble humans in many ways. They have complex emotions: they embrace, they kiss and hug each other, and they laugh when they're playing. They experience adolescence and develop powerful mother and child bonds. They are also similar to humans in that they attack and kill rival gangs of chimpanzees when they want to extend their territory.
The notion of chimpanzees being aggressive is pretty shocking, but it's even harder to imagine dolphins being anything other than affectionate, playful and intelligent. Dolphins are undoubtedly extremely intelligent. They have large brains and a number of things in common with humans and chimpanzees. They are highly social creatures and form stable communities. Also like humans, they are totally dependent on their parents during childhood. But they're also good at defending themselves and can be quite competitive, even aggressive, particularly when they want to keep other males away from a female.
But I'd like to move nearer to home and consider farm animals. Which do you think are the least intelligent: Cows maybe, or sheep? It's true that sheep have a reputation for being stupid because they mindlessly follow the crowd and frankly, they don't look very bright. However, scientific research shows that they've been seriously undervalued. Sheep are actually surprisingly intelligent, with impressive memory and recognition skills. The truth is that sheep are far smarter than we think, which proves that appearances can be deceptive.
Look at owls – we call them 'wise', but it's a common misconception. Owls are not very clever at all. Then there are dogs and cats. Cats seem to have strong personalities while some dogs can be rather silly. But in fact, dog's brains have been developing for centuries, while cats' brains have remained unchanged since they were first domesticated by the ancient Egyptians. This can be explained by one simple fact – dogs are more social than cats, and the more social the animal, the more developed the brain and therefore the smarter the animal.

If you think about it, dogs come when you call and are eager to please their owner. They're used as rescue dogs, police dogs, guide dogs. Cats, on the other hand, are loners. Cat-lovers may be annoyed to hear that. They think that dogs are people-pleasers who do tricks because they've been trained to come when you call their name, or to fetch the ball. Cats, on the other hand, are too independent to do tricks, they say, and they don't need the approval of humans like dogs do.
The truth of the matter is that everyone thinks their own pet is the smartest. I've got a goldfish and I'm sure he can tell the time.

P: Hahaha, thank you very much Dr Matthews for your fascinating lecture. In future, I won't judge an animal on what it looks like. Next week we're talking about elephants. But until then, goodbye.

Have you ever wondered what mysteries lie directly beneath your feet? Of course, there are your socks and shoes, and the floor, then possibly a cellar, then probably earth and rocks and then, perhaps an underground lake, or perhaps, something altogether more unexpected; something ancient and astonishingly beautiful.
In 2000, mineral miners from the town of Naica, in Northern Mexico made an astounding discovery beneath the ground. What they found took the idea of 'buried treasure' to a whole new level. During this presentation, I plan to tell you more about Cueva De Los Cristales, a truly incredible natural wonder.
We are all familiar with underground caves from films and documentaries, even if we have never actually been in one ourselves. You may be aware that caves can be very dangerous places, but also fascinating places. Most people don't realise, however, just how stunning they can actually be. When those Mexican miners drained the water from a system of underground caverns at the beginning of the new millennium, their discovery proved that caves can be among the most awe-inspiring environments on the planet.
Hiding and growing in the darkness for half a million years, the enormous crystals of Cueva De Los Cristales or Giant Crystal Cave – now on the screen, are some of the biggest ever discovered. The largest is twelve metres long, four metres in diameter and weighs fifty-five tons. Unfortunately, you won't be able to visit them any time soon as the caves are extremely hot. Temperatures of up to fifty-eight degrees Celsius mean that, without proper protection, it is impossible to remain underground there for more than ten minutes at a time.
As you can see in this picture, scientists exploring the caves in 2006 had to wear breathing equipment and specially designed suits to keep them cool.
It is believed that there are more undiscovered caverns at Naica, but exploring them would mean demolishing many of the crystals already uncovered. Instead, the plan is to finish doing research then re-flood the caves with water and seal them up again.
OK, that's all from me. Thank you for listening. I hope you found the presentation interesting. If anyone has any questions, please feel free to ask now.

Unit 1 Live and learn

1.1 Vocabulary

1 BBC: Learning a new skill, pages 4–5
C = Chris I = Instructor N = Narrator T = Tahoe
From Secrets of Superbrands: Fashion

C: I'm Chris van Tulleken. My brother and I have been studying the human body all of our adult lives.
N: In this programme, we'll uncover the latest understanding of how we learn across a lifetime.
C: I'm doing something, but I don't know what I'm doing.
I: Yeah.
N: How every experience we have transforms us from helpless baby to accomplished adult.
C: Today I'm going to try and do something that I've never done before, juggling, because I wanna find out how quickly I can pick up a new skill at the age of thirty-eight. And to up the ante, I've decided to pit myself against someone who's also never juggled before. But there's a catch. Because the young Tahoe here is a full three decades younger than I am. So, the question is, Tahoe, which one of us is gonna learn to juggle quicker?
T: Me!
C: We'll see.
I: So, the first thing you need to know about juggling, it's about the throwing.
N: Learning comes in three stages. The first is called the cognitive stage. It's where we watch and listen, and then start to practise.
I: I think Tahoe's gone straight for the both sides.
C: How are you ahead already? So, learning any new skill takes a lot of practice. At the moment, lots of different parts of my brain are having to communicate with each other and form a juggling network.
I: Cool. I think we're ready to move on to scarves now. What scarves does, it slows it down, gives you more time to understand the patterns.
N: Without this network in place, we feel uncoordinated and clumsy. That is, until we reach the second stage of learning, when the practice starts to make the task easier.
C: I'm at that stage of learning where I'm doing something, but I don't know what I'm doing.
I: Yeah, it goes diagonal, swap, swap, swap, swap … Excellent.
N: Our brains are creating and storing a network to use every time we juggle. Or try to!
I: So, the idea is in one week to get you juggling three balls.
T: OK, that sounds cool (?).
C: So, you think you're gonna get to three balls easily in a week, do you?
T: Yeah, of course I will.
C: You're very very confident, aren't you? OK, I have no idea if I can do that.
N: So, it's off home for a week of practice. We all recognise this stage as being the most painful and frustrating. One step forward, two steps back.
C: Hahaha.
N: But with enough hard work and determination, something magical can happen. With enough practice, that brain network should be in place.
T: Yay!
N: We've reached the third stage of learning, where the skill becomes automatic.
C: OK, so I'm on my way to meet Tahoe. I'm not a big one for excuses, but let's just say I haven't had quite as much practice as I should have. Tahoe! How you doin, man?
T: Good!
C: Give me your best shot.
T: OK.
C: Oh man! Well, I think… why don't we just say that you're better than me and leave it at that?
N: Although neither of them have reached the automatic stage, Tahoe did have an advantage from the beginning. The advantage is his age. Part of the reason why Tahoe finds it easier than Chris can be seen from these images. As we grow and learn new skills, something called white matter develops in our brains. It's the material that's the key to making a skill automatic. As we practise, the brain pathways used most often to perform the new skill slowly start to transform. Thanks to white matter, they become fixed and it's this process that creates that sense of everything clicking into place. The skill suddenly becomes automatic and because Tahoe's younger, he can produce more white matter. So, learning as you get older is harder but not impossible.

M = Mia N = Narrator W = Wenche

N: We're in London at St Thomas's hospital for a very special gathering of twins. Scientists love identical twins because they're perfect for examining how nature and nurture affect our lives. By studying both the similarities and differences between identical twins, scientists can begin to answer the big question – are we born, or are we made, the way we are? If twins have grown up in the same environment, it's difficult to know whether it's genes or experiences that have made them similar. It would be easier to check if they'd had different lives. Cases of twins growing up apart are rare, but they do exist.
Chinese twins Mia and Alexandra were adopted separately when they were babies. Mia and Alexandra are now six years old. Their lives couldn't be more different. Alexandra lives in a tiny village in Norway with her adoptive parents, Wenche [pronounced: venke] and Sigmund Hauglum [pronounced: sigmənd hauglə m]. Mia lives with her adoptive parents, Angela and Andy Hansen, on the other side of the world in Sacramento, one of the largest cities in California. Naturally they have very different upbringings. Mia already knows how to read, write and do arithmetic.

M: Six thousand five hundred fifty-two.

N: Alexandra, on the other hand, won't start school till next year.

W: We get up in the morning and have breakfast together. And after that, she's free to do what she wants to do.

M: 'Batter up' called the pitcher. The pitcher threw the ball.

N: Mia and Alexandra's parents only found out after the adoption that their daughters were twins. They promised to reunite the girls when the time was right.

W: We have plans to meet each other, and now it's really going to happen.

N: But will they get on, or will their separate upbringings have made them so different they can hardly relate to each other?
Alexandra, her parents and her sisters, Michelle and Marlena, have arrived in Sacramento after a thirty-hour journey from Norway.

And: Oh! Here they are!

Ang: OK, wait Mia!

M: Yay!

Ang: Can you open the door?

Ang: Hello!

Ang: Why don't you give her a hug… Come here… Hello.

M: Hi.

Ang: How are you?

AL: Fine.

Ang: Good. Why don't you take her hand and bring her inside? That didn't take long.

W: No.

N: Despite the language barrier, Mia and Alexandra have an immediate bond.

Ang: So, Alexandra loves the water?

W: Yes!

Ang: So does Mia. It's her favourite thing.

M: I'm going over there.

Ang: I was kind of worried that they might not be able to communicate, but they seem to have figured it out. It's just really amazing looking at Alexandra's expressions. It's like looking at Mia.

W: Yes, it's the same, yes, it's the same.

Ang: That look right there – that was Mia.
You wanna snow cone?

M & Al: Yes, please!

AN: Snow cone?

N: Watching the girls behave in such a similar way is raising big questions for Angela.

Ang: Well, seeing the way Mia and Alexandra interact together, and seeing how much genetics plays a role in who they are, makes me wonder how much control I really have as a parent.

Ang: They both have a little bit of an attitude and they're very strong-willed. And I'm not sure if any parenting style or techniques would really affect certain things that they do. They're gonna be the way they are no matter what. And so, it makes me realise I have to kinda step back as a parent and observe her for who she is, so that I can help her become who she wants to be. Maybe not so much who I might want her to be.

Unit 3 Living spaces

3.1 Vocabulary

9 BBC: Smog-free Mexico City, pages 36–37
An = Anita Ar = Areli N = Narrator

N: Mexico City is a huge metropolis, home to nearly twenty-two million people. As in most major cities, there's a real problem with pollution, and we're going to look at one way in which the city is tackling its traffic problems and making sure people have clean air to breathe. We're joining Anita Rani [pronounced: ranɪ*]* in the centre of the world's busiest city.

An: Monday morning rush-hour traffic in Mexico City, but it's not as bad as it normally is because the smog levels have been so high this week. In fact, the highest smog levels recorded in the last twenty years. It's all happening here. Oh, get it into gear, mate. And off he goes. The smog levels are so high that the authorities take measures to reduce the number of cars on the road, so even though this looks insane, it's not half as bad as it normally is.

N: Something is changing here. Take a walk around the streets nearby and you immediately notice that they're much quieter. This is Paseo de la Reforma, a wide avenue running diagonally across the heart of Mexico City. It's usually full of cars, but not today.

An: Hola, Areli.

Ar: Hola.

An: Lovely to meet you.

N: Areli Carreón is a cycling enthusiast and campaigner. She's also Mexico City's first-ever bike mayor.

An: I'm totally blown away by what's happening. Tell me, it's a Sunday morning.

Ar: Yes.

An: What is this? Is this a one-off event?

Ar: No, it happens every Sunday, and it's a close-down of a main street in Mexico City. This is Reforma, one of the most historical and most iconic streets in the city.

An: This is like shutting down the Champs-Élysées.

Ar: Yes. There's like 50,000 people and, as you can see, there's people from all walks of life here enjoying the city.

An: Somebody's listening to their music whilst they're cycling.

Ar: Yeah.

An: Oh, it's not just a little bit, he's got a massive ghetto blaster.

Ar: Look at that. Yeah!

N: By replacing cars with bicycles on Sundays, this massive megacity is doing something about pollution.

An: That's amazing. Look, he's got grandma on the front, baby on the back, maybe that's his grandson.

Ar: One of the things that I like the best is that it doesn't matter who you are, which is your walk of life. People get to be together, and enjoy, and have a conversation, and just be around.

An: Well, I feel like you're telling me to get on this bike. I feel like, subliminally, you're just like 'Anita, I've got you a bike. Get on it.'

Ar: Let's go!

An: Shall we? Yes. I feel like we should join everybody.

Ar: Let's go.

An: Whee-hee! Oh, it's great fun. It's such a brilliant way to see the city as well. What a great bit of progressive civic planning! Cause at the heart of every city are its people, so let the people take over the streets. On top of that, it's great fun.

Unit 4 Shopping around

4.1 Vocabulary

14 BBC: Young entrepreneurs, pages 52–53
A = Alexis G = Georgia H = Hillary N = Narrator

N: Running your own business is quite a challenge. Is it possible when you're very young? Let's meet two young women who prove that you don't have to be advanced in years to succeed as an entrepreneur. Hillary designed her app for children when she was just ten.

H: Best thing about being a CEO is that you don't have a boss.

N: Minor Mynas is an online educational platform that helps children of all ages to connect with other children their own age and build a global community. Through live interaction, children can engage in conversations and learn one another's language. Minor Mynas provides a safe place for children to communicate, chat and make friends across borders.

H: I definitely think it's easier for kids to get along than for adults. In the adults' world, there is a ton of things about race, gender and other stereotypes. But for kids, everyone is just a kid.

N: In Hong Kong there are a lot of opportunities to network and talk with other entrepreneurs. As it's quite a small city, there's a very close and supportive entrepreneur community, so it's easy to meet a lot of people and make connections.

A: I'm Alexis, and I'm Hillary's younger brother. If you think my sister might be a little bit annoying cause she is so smart sometimes, you're wrong. She's annoying all the time. She speaks in really weird English. She usually calls me like… really old English words. I have no idea what to say back at her cause I have no idea what it means. And it's very annoying.

H: I… I always had pretty big goals. My parents always taught me to think big. They told me that being creative is one of the most important things you can be. And that always led me to having huge ambitions.
Languages are a really, really good way to make a personal connection with someone. As Nelson Mandela once said: 'When you speak in your language, you're speaking to his brain. But if you're speaking in their language, you're speaking to their heart.'. I believe that this quote is really, really… profound, and I think it's true.

N: Cake-maker, Georgia, launched her own business at the age of twenty-three.

G: I got commissioned to make a cake for Cara Delevingne, the famous model, and it was actually my sister who said: 'You need to go on Instagram, build up a profile and get her to tag you.' I went from above hundred followers to six thousand that day, and I think that was the very start of my Instagram, and I already had that big boost.

N: Georgia uses natural ingredients to create sweet works of art. But being able to bake a perfect cake is not enough. This is her recipe for success.

G: You upload a photo, people like it, people see what're doing, and then react to it. And maybe someone can even get in touch and order that just by seeing it. So, the more I uploaded, the more interest I had of people, and then the more orders came in. And I'm also using Instagram as a portfolio of my work because it's so visual.
Instagram is something that you really have to keep up. If I haven't uploaded a photo, my followers might think: 'Oh, she's not as busy this week.'. So, I have to show that I'm busy making lots of cakes, showing people different options that I can do, rather than the same cake over again. So, it's not just simply make a cake, photograph it, put it on. There is a whole background that goes into one photo.

Unit 5 Off to work

5.1 Vocabulary

19 BBC: Feeling like a leader, pages 68–69

Some people think that the bigger you are, the easier it is to project leadership qualities. But appearing big can be achieved in ways that don't require you to be large in size. As social animals, we can make assumptions about a person from the way they look, and the way they behave. There are certain characteristics that we associate with leaders or what we might call dominant, or assertive people.
If you haven't got those leadership characteristics naturally, there are various ways to fake them.
So, for example, if you're going to a job interview, walk in with your shoulders back and your head held high. Make eye contact with people. If you look as if you own the place, people will think you do! It may be old-fashioned advice, but it works.
The way you present yourself has a really profound effect on the way you think about yourself, and the way you think about other things. If you dress formally, you feel more powerful, more capable of dealing with bigger issues.
Things like gestures are terribly important. If you use big gestures, you take up more room, and people get the idea that you're more powerful. So, when you see politicians talking or religious preachers, you'll notice that they use huge expansive hand gestures. And this gives the impression that these people are bigger than they actually are.
The interesting thing about this is that if you do all these things consistently, after a while you actually become more confident. Your brain starts to reflect your body's actions, and you feel naturally more like a leader. You no longer have to fake it.

Unit 6 A matter of fact

6.1 Vocabulary

25 BBC: Is social media killing creativity, pages 84–85
B = Becky D = Daisy K = Katie N = Narrator
T = Ty

N: Our phones. It seems we're dependent on them. They are a useful tool, a form of communication and connectivity. Yet, they can be distracting, and it's very easy to get addicted.

K: I'm certainly guilty of it myself. What with Instagram, Twitter and Facebook, I can't even count the amount of times a day I'm on social media. I mean, I've always got my phone in my hand, and sometimes I'm just scrolling through mindlessly without even realising it. This all comes at a time when studies and research are starting to reveal links between social media and mental illness. So, is it time to reconsider the way we use it?

N: Katie has come to the Barbican, a creative hub of the arts and culture in London, to meet with doctor Becky Inkster, a neuroscientist from Cambridge University.

K: So, do you think the amount of time we spend on social media could be a problem?

B: I think it could, but it's a complicated situation. So, for some people it might be a lot of time is bad, for some people a lot of time is good, so it really depends on the person. But, also it depends on what you're looking at. So, is this a low-quality content, and are you sort of just passively passing time and scrolling through infinite content? It may not be beneficial.

K: What are some of the ways that you and I can use social media in a better way?

B: There's lots of things that we can do, and I think being creative and discovering your identity is such an amazing opportunity for people. But I do think that people need to protect themselves, so be very careful with your privacy, use these tools properly, and educate yourself because you are the consumer, and you're the publisher of your own data.

N: Katie's meeting with Instagrammer, Ty, to ask her why she prefers her phone to a professional camera.

K: So, why do you specifically use your phone as a tool for taking photographs?

T: I think the phone is such a powerful tool nowadays, and it's so easy that is always with us. And it's not something I have to plan ahead to bring with me. It's always with me, and I'm by nature sort of a lazy person. I'm certainly just trying to fit around what I do day to day.

K: Would you say that having a creative hobby like photography is really beneficial to your health?

T: I think absolutely. I think just the simple act of sort of creating something, and also being able to focus on a project that has value to myself. In a way, it helps distract me from these kind of, sometimes, problems that just go over and over in our head.

K: So, it actually makes you more mindful in a way because you're looking at the world around you and paying attention to what's going on rather than sort of being, I suppose, transfixed in your phone, but not using it for something creative in a way that everybody else is.

T: Exactly.

N: Ty says that her creativity and her art are good for her well-being. Now Katie wants to find out if there's scientific evidence that creativity is really good for our health.

K: I'm meeting with doctor Daisy Fancourt from University College London who's exploring the links between creativity and well-being.
So, Daisy, is it true that creativity can actually be good for our health?

D: Yes, we've got so much research data now showing how it can affect both our mental and our physical health. So, from a mental health perspective, there's a lot of data showing how engaging with creative activities, whether that's dancing, singing, cookery, gardening, all of these things can help us to maintain good well-being in our day to day lives, but also actually provide really targeted support for people with mental health conditions. And we see lots of links from that through to our physical health as well.

K: Do you think we will reach a time where GPs will actually prescribe creative classes to people to help with their mental health?

D: We're already there, actually!

K: Are we?!

D: Yes, art on prescription is available on the NHS already.

K: And now, of course, we often talk about social media and phones being quite bad for our mental health. But a lot of people use their phones and their social media for their creative activities, so do you think that, actually, social media can be good for your creativity?

D: Well, I think social media has been fascinating with what it's done to creativity, 'cos in a way it's opened up so many new activities that we didn't have a few decades ago. So, for example, people creating animations on their computer and doing things like Instagram or Snapchat with photography.

N: So, there is no reason why we can't treat social media as a tool for creativity.

K: Social media can be a great platform to express and share our creativity. But we have to actually allow ourselves the time for our creative endeavours

Unit 7 It's not rocket science!

7.1 Vocabulary

29 BBC: Blowing in the wind, pages 100–101
D = Dallas N = Narrator W = Worker

D: If you want to harness enough wind energy to power a town or a city, you need to go where the wind is at its strongest. And that's normally over open water like this, simply because it's nice and flat, and you don't have the land getting in the way to slow it up.

N: That's why we're building in the sea. The largest offshore wind farm in the world is here in Britain. This is the London Array, twenty miles from the South East coast of England.

D: As I'm sure you can appreciate, getting these monsters out here presents a whole host of engineering challenges. Not least the wind itself, the thing they're actually designed to harness, makes the whole process of building them a complete nightmare!

N: The unpredictable weather conditions and constant threat of stormy weather makes this an extremely difficult construction site.

D: With everything constantly moving, the wind going and the waves going, you need somewhere solid to work from a solid base, and this is the solution.

N: A huge ship called Discovery. It can lift completely out of the water and stand on giant stilts to make a stable platform standing on the seabed. All of the different parts necessary to build the giant turbines are on board.

D: So, this chap over here is co-ordinating the whole thing, almost like a choreographer or a conductor. It's an incredibly skilled operation, but they make it look so easy. Be in awe of the skill of these guys.

N: On a calm day, they can install a whole turbine in twelve hours.

D: OK, we've got a bit of climbing to do today.

W: Once you're attached... take a good positive step off...

D: Yeah.

W: And up you go.

N: Dallas has to inspect the work a little closer.

D: Oh, man. It's stiff. Oh, wow! Look at this! You can really understand why we're here as you stick your head up through this hatch and you feel the wind. And it's just quite awe-inspiring seeing how enormous these turbine blades are. When you're on the shore, they look so elegant and fragile and, actually, they're just enormous. I'm glad it's not too windy today. That's all I can say.

N: Each of these turbines is an enormous 120 metres wide. That's the same as the London Eye.

D: Imagine 174 London Eyes, all spinning out here, all generating power for us to use. And each one of these turbines can power 3,000 houses... something like that, depending on whether you've left your power shower on. And then, you multiply all that by 174 and you get a true sense of the scale of all of this. This huge power station out here in the middle of the sea. That's pretty awesome.

Unit 8 Costing the earth

8.1 Vocabulary

35 BBC: The global seed vault, pages 116–117
D = Dallas N = Narrator W1 = Worker W2 = Worker 2

N: We are in the freezing cold Arctic mountains of the Svalbard Islands in Norway, only 800 miles from the North Pole. Here, there is a doorway that leads to what is supposed to be the safest place on earth. Scientists are on their way, approaching through this isolated and hostile terrain. They carry a precious box of seeds to be stored away and protected from the damaging effects of climate change. The opening of the Global Seed Vault was a major achievement for Norway. Construction of the vault required impressive engineering skills, cutting 250 metres deep into the permafrost. The average temperature of the vault is minus twenty degrees Celsius, cold enough to preserve the billions of seeds inside for future generations.

D: I've just come down the access tunnel that's cut into the mountain here. This place is 130 metres above sea level because if the worst happens and global warming melts all of the polar ice caps, this project will still be safe. OK, so this is the next stage…

N: The deeper inside the mountain we go, the more the temperature drops. The store is designed to survive any natural disaster.

W1: The seeds can last here for a very long time. It depends on what crop it is, but some of the crops may survive for more than 4,000 years.

D: Are you really imagining this place functioning, keeping the seeds safe for 4,000 years?

W1: Well, it's difficult to say. I'm sure that the pharaohs thought that their pyramids would last long and they did.

N: This is the last barrier to the store itself.

D: Samples of seeds used to be held in glass test tubes. Now they're kept in little plastic packets, and there are more than 800,000 of these in this vault.

N: Having copies of key seeds is essential for times like this when harvests are ruined by extreme weather conditions. Another threat is flooding which can damage national stores of seeds. This happened in the Philippines. And with industrial-scale farming, most food comes from just a dozen varieties of plants, so keeping copies of these seeds can help to guarantee supplies.

W2: It is for the survival of mankind in the future. I mean, we need the diversity, all the different kinds of plant material to get food for the future.

N: So, in these remote mountains, the Norwegian government has provided a global insurance policy. We have many environmental problems facing us such as climate change. In future, the seeds in this vault could help us to overcome disease, drought and other unforeseen challenges.

Instructions

Unit 1 Live and learn

1 FAQ
(1.1 Vocabulary)

Aim: To practise words related to education and character.
Interaction: Pairs.
Type of activity: Concept-checking questions.
Time: 10 minutes.
Materials: One set of 12 cards per pair.

In class: (1) Copy the worksheet and cut out the cards as indicated. (2) Tell students they're going to work in pairs. Give each pair one set of cards. Put the cards face down in a pile. (3) Students take turns to pick up one card at a time. They ask each other the questions. It is important that the questions are read out and not shown. There are only yes/no questions. Students have to justify their answers and get one point for each correct explanation. (4) Ask students about the result of their games.

2 Test yourselves
(1.2 Grammar)

Aim: To practise grammar from lesson 1.2.
Type of activity: Sentence correction.
Time: 10 minutes.
Materials: One worksheet per student (A or B).

In class: (1) Copy the worksheet for Student A and Student B. Cut the worksheet along the dotted line. (2) Divide students into pairs and hand out their worksheets. Instruct students not to show their worksheets to each other. (3) Tell students to read the instructions on the page and follow them for each activity. (4) Provide help if students have any questions or have trouble understanding the activities.

3 In love with my bike
(1.5 Grammar)

Aim: To practise verb patterns.
Interaction: Individual/Pairs.
Type of activity: Gap filling and information exchange.
Time: 12 minutes.
Materials: One worksheet per student.

In class: (1) Tell students they are going to work individually at first. Ask them to complete the gaps with the correct form of the verbs in brackets. (2) When everyone has finished, check the answers with the whole class. (3) Students answer the questions for themselves. (4) Then they interview their partner and take notes of their answers to find out what they have in common. (5) Ask students to report their findings, e.g. We both fancy riding our bikes today. (We may well go somewhere together.)

Answers:
1 learning 2 to ride 3 to wear 4 to listen 5 cycling 6 biking 7 ride 8 to lend 9 going 10 riding

4 Learning how to …
(1.6 Speaking)

Aim: To practise describing photos.
Interaction: Individual/Pairs.
Type of activity: Gap filling and guided speaking.
Time: 15 minutes.
Materials: One worksheet per student.

In class: (1) Tell students they are going to work individually. Hand out the worksheets, ask students to look at Photo 1 and complete its description with words from the box. Point out that there are two extra words. (2) Ask students to compare their answers in pairs and then check them with the whole class. (3) Tell students to look at Photo 2 and complete its description with their own ideas. (4) Ask students to compare their answers in pairs and then check them with the whole class.

Answers:
Photo 1: 1 really 2 chances 3 seems 4 be 5 obvious 6 hard 7 on 8 Clearly

Photo 2 (example): This is a photo of a science professor talking to some students. Based on what is written on the board, the students must have just attended a lecture on Maths or Physics. It looks to me as if the professor has just finished explaining something difficult and the students could be asking additional questions. It's hard to say which year the students are in, but judging by how self-confident the students feel, the chances are that they might be studying science for an MSc. I can't really tell but they could be talking to the professor about his lecture or their understanding of science.

5 Verb pairs
(1.7 Use of English)

Part 1
Aim: To practise formal and informal language.
Interaction: Individual.
Type of activity: Matching.
Time: 2–3 minutes.
Materials: One worksheet per student.

In class: (1) Tell students that they are going to work individually and hand out the worksheets. (2) Tell them to match verbs with similar meaning into pairs. (3) Then ask students to compare their answers in pairs. (4) Check the answers with the whole class.

Answers:
1 a 2 f 3 b 4 h 5 e 6 d 7 i 8 c 9 g

Part 2
Aim: To practise formal and informal language.
Interaction: Pairs.
Type of activity: Gap filling.
Time: 4–5 minutes.
Materials: One worksheet per student.

In class: (1) Ask students to work in pairs and complete the sentences with the verbs from Part 1. Point out they should decide whether they need a more/less formal word in each case. Remind them to look at the words before and after each gap (e.g. prepositions), and use the verbs in the correct form. (2) Once they have finished, check the answers with the whole class. In each case, ask students to give reasons for their choices. Explain that sometimes both options are possible, depending on the context.

Suggested answers:
1 telling (e.g. somebody telling their friend about their grandmother) 2 start (e.g. two friends talking) 3 need (e.g. a teacher talking to students) / are required (e.g. in school regulations) 4 take back (e.g. two friends talking) 5 tolerated (e.g. in an official speech) 6 request (e.g. on a university website) 7 have been omitted (e.g. in a scientific journal) 8 memorise (e.g. in a newspaper article) / learn by heart (e.g. in a class discussion) 9 thought about (e.g. two friends talking) / considered (e.g. a school councillor talking to a student)

6 A covering email
(1.8 Writing)

Aim: To practise correcting and completing a covering email, following a checklist.
Interaction: Individual, pairs.
Type of activity: Correcting and completing.
Time: 15 minutes.
Materials: One worksheet per student.

In class: (1) Tell students they are going to work individually at first and hand out the worksheet. (2) Tell them to read the writing task and the checklist. Then students read the sample writing text. (3) Ask the class to correct any mistakes in the email, such as incorrect style or other mistakes (lexical, grammar, spelling, etc.). Say that there are six mistakes. (4) Students work individually and then check the task in pairs. (5) Ask students to present their corrections and discuss them with the class. Hand out the corrected text and ask students if they have found all the mistakes.

Optionally, if students have difficulty finding all the mistakes, you can write on the board: one wrong adjective, one wrong verb, one wrong preposition, one incorrect spelling, one instance of incorrect register, one grammatical error.

7 Sentence translation
(1 Live and learn)

Aim: To practise translation from Polish to English.
Interaction: Individual.
Type of activity: Translation.
Time: 15 minutes.
Materials: One worksheet per student.

In class: (1) Copy the worksheet and cut off the bottom part (the answer key). (2) Tell students they are going to work individually and give each student a worksheet. (3) Ask them to read the word list at the end of Unit 1 and to go back to grammar sections 1.2 and 1.5. (4) Give students 10 minutes to translate the missing fragments of the sentences into English. (5) Give them the answer key to check their answers.

Unit 2 Human nature

8 My best mate
(2.1 Vocabulary)

Aim: To practise collocations related to personality.
Interaction: Pairs.
Type of activity: Jigsaw dictation and information exchange.
Time: 15 minutes.
Materials: One worksheet per student (A or B).

In class: (1) Divide students into pairs, Student A and Student B. Give each student their worksheet. Tell them not to look at each other's worksheets. Tell students they are going to read short texts people wrote about their best friends. (2) Students take turns to dictate the highlighted words or phrases to each other and fill in the gaps. (3) When a pair has finished, ask them to compare their texts. (4) Tell students to talk to each other and say who they would like to get to know and/or who they would like to make friends with and why.

Optional follow-up: Ask students to match the descriptions to the pictures. Any interpretation is correct as long as it can be justified.

9 Test yourselves
(2.2 Grammar)

Aim: To practise grammar from lesson 2.2.
Type of activity: Gap filling.
Time: 10 minutes.
Materials: One worksheet per student (A or B).

In class: (1) Copy the worksheet for Student A and Student B. Cut the worksheet along the dotted line. (2) Divide students into pairs and hand out their worksheets. Instruct students not to show their worksheets to each other. (3) Tell students to read the instructions on the page and follow them for each activity. (4) Provide help if students have any questions or have trouble understanding the activities.

10 To put or not to put a comma, that is the question
(2.5 Grammar)

Aim: To practise the use of commas in relative clauses.
Interaction: Individual.
Type of activity: Matching.
Time: 10 minutes.
Materials: One worksheet per student.

In class: (1) Tell students that they are going to work individually and hand out the worksheets. (2) Tell them to match sentence halves by writing letters next to the numbers at the bottom of the page. If a comma is needed, students draw a line between the sentence halves. The lines should go through the big comma in the middle. Set a time limit of 5 minutes. (3) Then ask students to compare their answers in pairs and check in which sentences they used a comma. (4) Check the answers with the whole class.

Optional follow-up: Students rewrite the sentences in which they misused commas or which they mismatched, changing the sentences so that they are true for them.

Answers:
Sentences with a comma: 1c My cousin has moved to New Zealand, where I'd love to go one day. 3k My parents always ask me how school was, which is very irritating. 4h My mum looks a lot like her sisters, who are twins and have the same eyes and hair as her. 6b My father often talks about his grandma Mary, whose life became an inspiration for him. 10d My grandpa died in 2005, when I was just four. 11f My immediate family live in Gdansk, which is the sixth largest city in Poland.

Sentences without a comma: 2e My grandma makes a cheesecake that tastes like nothing else in the world. 5i I couldn't make friends with people that never admit when they're wrong. 7a Uncle Rob is the kind of person you take an instant liking to. 8l I'm in touch with my whole extended family living abroad. 9g I've never been to the village my great-grandparents were born in. 12j I've got some black-and-white photos taken by my great-grandfather in the 1930s.

11 Tell me about a family celebration
(2.6 Speaking)

Part 1
Aim: To practise describing photos.
Interaction: Individual.
Type of activity: Gap filling.
Time: 2–3 minutes.
Materials: One worksheet per student.

In class: (1) Tell students they are going to work individually. Hand out the worksheets and ask students to fill in the gaps with the appropriate words. (2) Check the answers with the whole class.

Answers:
1 shows 2 obvious 3 clearly 4 about 5 though

Part 2
Aim: To practise answering questions related to a photo.
Interaction: Individual/Pairs.
Type of activity: Multiple choice, matching, gap filling and guided speaking.
Time: 10–12 minutes.
Materials: One worksheet per student.

In class: (1) Tell students they are going to work individually at first. Ask them to look at question 1 and at the picture in Part 1 again. (2) Students read the sample answer to the question and choose the correct words. Ask students to check their answers in pairs. (3) Students look at question 2, match the expressions and use them to complete the gaps in the sample answer. Check the answers with the whole class. (4) Students look at question 3 and fill in the gaps in the sample answer with the words from the box. There are two extra words. Check the answers with the whole class. (5) Ask students to prepare their own answers to questions 2 and 3 and share them in pairs.

Answers:
1: 1 To 2 Judging 3 excited 4 reason
2: 1 e 2 f 3 a 4 b 5 d 6 c

12 Just think of someone
(2.7 Use of English)

Aim: To practise collocations.
Interaction: Individual/Pairs.
Type of activity: Gap filling and information exchange.
Time: 10 minutes.
Materials: One worksheet per student.

In class: (1) Tell students that they are going to work individually at first and then hand out the worksheets. Tell them to take 3 minutes to fill in the gaps with the words from the box. (2) Check the answers with the whole class. (3) Ask students to choose five people from the 'Think of' list and write their names in the notes at the bottom of the page in a random order. Set a time limit of 1–2 minutes. (4) Tell students to work in pairs and to swap their worksheets. (5) Students ask each other questions to find out who the people in the notes are, e.g. Who's Adam?/How about Mr Nowak? Encourage students to give their answers from memory instead of reading them. Suggest asking follow-up questions, e.g. So which team is he bitterly disappointed with?/How do you know he has a vivid imagination? With weaker students, get them to ask yes/no questions, e.g. Is Magda a casual acquaintance that you'd like to get to know better?

Answers:
1 vivid 2 baby 3 roar 4 shares 5 tidy 6 set
7 healthy 8 painfully 9 bitterly 10 casual

13 An article
(2.8 Writing)

Aim: To practise correcting and completing an article, following a checklist.
Interaction: Individual/Pairs.
Type of activity: Correcting and completing.
Time: 15 minutes.
Materials: One worksheet per student.

In class: (1) Tell students they are going to work individually at first and hand out the worksheet. (2) Tell them to read the writing task and the checklist. Then students read the sample writing text. (3) Ask the class to correct any mistakes in the article, such as incorrect style or other mistakes (lexical, grammar, spelling, etc.). Say that there are six mistakes. (4) Students work individually and then check the task in pairs. (5) Ask students to present their corrections and discuss them with the class. Hand out the corrected text and ask students if they have found all the mistakes.

Optionally, if students have difficulty finding all the mistakes you can write on the board: one grammatical error, one wrong relative pronoun, one wrong verb, one wrong adjective, one instance of incorrect register, one wrong preposition.

14 Sentence translation
(2 Human nature)

Aim: To practise translation from Polish to English.
Interaction: Individual.
Type of activity: Translation.
Time: 15 minutes.
Materials: One worksheet per student.

In class: (1) Copy the worksheet and cut off the bottom part (the answer key). (2) Tell students they are going to work individually and give each student a worksheet. (3) Ask them to read the word list at the end of Unit 2 and to go back to grammar sections 2.2 and 2.5. (4) Give students 10 minutes to translate the missing fragments of the sentences into English. (5) Give them the answer key to check their answers.

Unit 3 Living spaces

15 A whistle-stop tour of European cities
(3.1 Vocabulary)

Aim: To practise words related to cities.
Interaction: Pairs.
Type of activity: Matching.
Time: 10 minutes.
Materials: One set of 24 cards per pair.

In class: (1) Copy the worksheet and cut up the cards as indicated. Mix up the city cards and then the description cards, but keep the two types of cards separate. (2) Tell students that they're going to work in pairs and hand out the cards. Place the description cards face down in a pile. Place the city cards face up. (3) Tell students that the cards contain some clues about the cities to be visited during a whistle-stop tour called A Dozen European Cities in Less Than a Fortnight. (4) Students take turns to pick up one card at a time and read it out loud. They match it to a city to work out the actual itinerary. They should discuss their choices if in doubt. (5) Check answers with the whole class. (6) Tell students to tell each other their itineraries and say which three cities they would like to visit most. You can expand the task by getting students to repeat the descriptions of the chosen cities from memory.

Optional follow-up: You may ask students what they think of this particular itinerary and whistle-stop tours in general.

16 Text a fortune-teller
(3.2 Grammar)

Aim: To practise future forms.
Interaction: Individual/Pairs.
Type of activity: Gap filling and evaluating.
Time: 10 minutes.
Materials: One worksheet per student (A or B).

In class: (1) Copy the worksheets for Students A and B and cut off the bottom parts (the instructions). (2) Divide students into pairs, Student A and Student B. Fold the worksheets along the dotted line and give them to Students A and Students B respectively, the question side up. Ask students not to unfold the worksheets or look at the other side. (3) Get students to complete the questions with one word in each gap. Set a time limit of 4 minutes. (4) Check the answers briefly with the whole class. (5) Ask students to turn over and swap the folded worksheets. (6) Hand out the previously cut off fragments to Students A and Students B respectively. Ask them to follow the instructions and to complete the answers section on the worksheet they got from the other student. Set a time limit of 1 minute. (7) Once they have finished, they swap worksheets again. (8) Students unfold the worksheets and read the answers to each other. They decide which answers seem (il)logical and evaluate how trustworthy the fortune telling service is.

Answers:
Student A: 1 be / time 2 have / been 3 be / time 4 have / been 5 time
Student B: 6 have / by 7 be / in 8 been / time 9 have / been 10 times

19 Check the door
(3.7 Use of English)

Aim: To practise determiners.
Interaction: Individual/Groups of ten.
Type of activity: Choosing the correct option and mingling.
Time: 15 minutes.
Materials: One worksheet per person.

In class: (1) Hand out the worksheets. Divide students into groups of ten. Assign a number from 1 to 10 to each student in the group and tell them to write their name on the corresponding door in the worksheet. Alternatively, you can write in the names yourself before handing out the worksheets. This might be a practical solution if you have an uneven number of students or if you want to assign one task to two weaker students. (2) Tell students that at first they are going to work individually. Ask them to circle or tick the correct form in each sentence. Set a time limit of 4 minutes. (3) Check the answers with the whole class. Students cross out the wrong options. (4) Ask students to read the sentence that is on their door. Tell students that they will have to check whether the statement is true. Students decide what question they are going to ask. Monitor their work and answer any queries. (5) Students mingle in their groups and ask each person the same question to verify the statement. (6) At the end of the activity, students report back to the class whether their sentences were true. They correct the untrue statements.

Answers:
1 every 2 both 3 Each 4 Every one of 5 All 6 whole 7 other 8 others 9 another 10 The others

Possible questions: 1 Do you tidy up your room every other day? / How often do you tidy up your room? 2 Do you think that both men and women should do their equal share of housework? 3 Do you sometimes do the washing yourself? 4 Do you hate (doing the) ironing? 5 Have you decorated your room yourself? 6 Would you like to have your whole room painted black? 7 Would you like to live in a hall of residence with other students? 8 Do you like the idea of sharing a fridge with others? 9 Do you want to study in another country/abroad? 10 Would you like to live on your own? /Do you want to continue living with your family?

Type of activity: Correcting and completing.
Time: 15 minutes.
Materials: One worksheet per student.

In class: (1) Tell students they are going to work individually at first and hand out the worksheet. (2) Tell them to read the writing task and the checklist. Then students read the sample writing text. (3) Ask the class to correct any mistakes in the essay, such as incorrect style or other mistakes (lexical, grammar, spelling, etc.). Say that there are six mistakes. (4) Students work individually and then check the task in pairs. (5) Ask students to present their corrections and discuss them with the class. Hand out the corrected text and ask students if they have found all the mistakes.

Optionally, if students have difficulty finding all the mistakes you can write on the board: one wrong quantifier, one wrong vocabulary item, one wrong subordinate conjunction, one wrong quantifier, one wrong future form, one structural error.

21 Sentence translation
(3 Living spaces)

Aim: To practise translation from Polish to English.
Interaction: Individual.
Type of activity: Translation.
Time: 15 minutes.
Materials: One worksheet per student.

In class: (1) Copy the worksheet and cut off the bottom part (the answer key). (2) Tell students they are going to work individually and give each student a worksheet. (3) Ask them to read the word list at the end of Unit 3 and to go back to grammar sections 3.2 and 3.5. (4) Give students 10 minutes to translate the missing fragments of the sentences into English. (5) Give them the answer key to check their answers.

Unit 4 Shopping around

22 Read the comments
(4.1 Vocabulary)

Aim: To practise vocabulary related to shopping.
Interaction: Pairs.
Type of activity: Information and opinion exchange.
Time: 15 minutes.
Materials: One worksheet per student (A or B).

In class: (1) Divide students into pairs, Student A and Student B. (2) Give Students their worksheets. (3) Explain that students should not look at each other's worksheets. (4) Students take turns to dictate the highlighted parts of the comments to each other. (5) Once they have finished, ask them to assess how relevant the comment related to a given item of clothing is. Tell students that they must repeat the comment out loud and avoid short responses such as I agree./I don't think so. You may want to demonstrate the assessment part, e.g. I think it's greatly/slightly exaggerated. I wouldn't say that this is a bargain price. It is a bit expensive even for a pair of branded trainers.

Follow-up: Get students to recap on which comments they found greatly exaggerated. Ask them if they had different opinions about any of the comments.

23 Hurried dominoes
(4.2 Grammar)

Aim: To practise question tags.
Interaction: Pairs.
Type of activity: Matching game.
Time: 10 minutes.
Materials: One set of 18 cards per pair.

In class: (1) Copy the worksheet and cut up the dominoes as indicated. (2) Tell students that they are going to play dominoes in pairs. They'll have to find matching sentences and question tags or reply questions. Give each pair one set of cards. Place all the dominoes face down except for one, which will serve as the beginning of the sequence. (3) Students pick up three dominoes each from the pile. (4) They take turns to put down a domino which completes the sentence with a correct question tag/reply question or the question tag/reply question with a correct sentence. (5) If a student doesn't have a suitable domino, they pick up one domino from the pile, or miss a turn when there are no dominoes left in the pile. (6) Walk around the class to monitor the game. (7) The first student to put down all the dominoes is the winner provided there are none left in the pile. (8) When all pairs have finished, ask students what their story is about.

Answers:
The complete sequence is a dialogue between two people who are in a hurry to go to a concert. The first sentence of the dialogue is I'm already late, aren't I?

24 Test yourselves
(4.5 Grammar)

Aim: To practise grammar from lesson 4.5.
Type of activity: Gap filling.
Time: 10 minutes.
Materials: One worksheet per student (A or B).

In class: (1) Copy the worksheet for Student A and Student B. Cut the worksheet along the dotted line. (2) Divide students into pairs and hand out their worksheets. Instruct students not to show their worksheets to each other. (3) Tell students to read the instructions on the page and follow them for each activity. (4) Provide help if students have any questions or have trouble understanding the activities.

(4.7 Use of English)

Aim: To practise modality structures.
Interaction: Individual/Pairs.
Type of activity: Gap filling and discussing.
Time: 15 minutes.
Materials: One worksheet per person.

In class: (1) Tell students that they are going to work individually at first. Hand out the worksheet and tell them to complete the sentences so that they mean the opposite of the sentences with a corresponding number. Students have to use 3 or 4 words to fill in the gaps, including the word in capitals in the correct form. Set a time limit of 5 minutes. (2) Check the answers with the whole class. (3) Tell students to read the statements again and tick the ones they agree with. (4) Get students to work in pairs and to compare their choices. When they find the topic they disagree on, they should try to convince each other to their point of view.

Interaction: Individual/Pairs.
Type of activity: Correcting and completing.
Time: 15 minutes.
Materials: One worksheet per student.

In class: (1) Tell students they are going to work individually at first and hand out the worksheet. (2) Tell them to read the writing task and the checklist. Then students read the sample writing text. (3) Ask the class to correct any mistakes in the email, such as incorrect style or other mistakes (lexical, grammar, spelling, etc.). Say that there are six mistakes. (4) Students work individually and then check the task in pairs. (5) Ask students to present their corrections and discuss them with the class. Hand out the corrected text and ask students if they have found all the mistakes.

Optionally, if students have difficulty finding all the mistakes you can write on the board: one structural error, four grammatical errors, one wrong adjective.

28 Sentence translation
(4 Shopping around)

Aim: To practise translation from Polish to English.
Interaction: Individual.
Type of activity: Translation.
Time: 15 minutes.
Materials: One worksheet per student.

In class: (1) Copy the worksheet and cut off the bottom part (the answer key). (2) Tell students they are going to work individually and give each student a worksheet. (3) Ask them to read the word list at the end of Unit 4 and to go back to grammar sections 4.2 and 4.5. (4) Give students 10 minutes to translate the missing fragments of the sentences into English. (5) Give them the answer key to check their answers.

Unit 5 Off to work

29 What the frogs said
(5.1 Vocabulary)

Aim: To practise vocabulary related to work.
Interaction: Individual/Pairs.
Type of activity: Gap filling and discussing.
Time: 15 minutes.
Materials: One worksheet per student.

In class: (1) Tell students that they are going to work individually and hand out the worksheet. (2) Ask students to read the sentences and complete them with words in the top section of the worksheet. Point out that there are two groups of words (A: nouns/adjectives and B: verbs), and students need to think which word they need in each gap. The word day needs to be used twice. Students' task is to find out what the frogs said (i.e. complete the sentences correctly). Set a time limit of 5 minutes. (3) Check the answers with the whole class. Ask students how many sentences they managed to complete. A sentence only counts if the answer is correct. (4) Ask students to work in pairs. Students take turns to read one sentence at a time and say whether they think it is true or false. Allow students to decide which sentences they want to discuss. You may suggest, however, that they should start with the sentences they made mistakes in or failed to complete within the allotted time.

Answers:
1 deadline 2 day, day 3 increase 4 put 5 mind 6 think 7 prospects 8 conscientiousness 9 enter 10 achieve 11 purposeful 12 overworked 13 single 14 map 15 get 16 reach

30 Who said it?
(5.2 Grammar)

Aim: To practise reported speech.
Interaction: Pairs.
Type of activity: Sentence completion and information exchange.
Time: 12 minutes.
Materials: One worksheet per student (A or B).

In class: (1) Tell students that they are going to work in pairs. They will have to match the six quotations to the famous people and check if the other student's answers are correct. (2) Ask students to complete the sentences using reported speech. Set a time limit of 6 minutes. (3) Students take turns to read their answers to each other. They award each other points: one for the right match and one for a grammatically correct answer. Students should correct their mistakes in the answers. (4) When everyone has finished, ask students about their scores.

Optional follow-up: Ask students which quotations were the easiest to guess and which were too vague to be associated with a particular person.

Answers:
Student A: see the worksheet for Student B.
Student B: see the worksheet for Student A.

31 Test yourselves
(5.5 Grammar)

Aim: To practise grammar from lesson 5.5.
Type of activity: Gap filling.
Time: 10 minutes.
Materials: One worksheet per student (A or B).

In class: (1) Copy the worksheet for Student A and Student B. Cut the worksheet along the dotted line. (2) Divide students into pairs and hand out their worksheets. Instruct students not to show their worksheets to each other. (3) Tell students to read the instructions on the page and follow them for each activity. (4) Provide help if students have any questions or have trouble understanding the activities.

32 Problem solving
(5.6 Speaking)

Part 1
Aim: To practise expressions used for talking about problems and solutions and expressing annoyance.
Interaction: Pairs.
Type of activity: Gap filling.
Time: 4–5 minutes.
Materials: One worksheet per student.

In class: (1) Tell students they are going to work in pairs. Hand out the worksheets and ask students to fill in the gaps with the words from the box. (2) Check the answers with the whole class.

Answers:
1 wrong 2 seem 3 tried 4 doubt 5 difference 6 supposed 7 know 8 should 9 matter 10 wish 11 knew 12 Perhaps 13 worth 14 suppose 15 solved

Part 2
Aim: To practise expressions used for talking about problems and solutions and expressing annoyance.
Interaction: Individuals/Pairs.
Type of activity: Gap filling and matching.
Time: 3–4 minutes.
Materials: One worksheet per student.

In class: (1) Ask students to complete the missing words. (2) Check the answers with the whole class. (3) Ask students to match the expressions in Part 2 to similar phrases in the dialogues in Part 1.

Answers:
Talking about a problem: What's up? = What's wrong / the matter? I haven't got a clue. = I wish I knew. I appear to have … = I seem to have …
Talking about a solution: It's worth a try. = It's worth a go.
Expressing annoyance: Why on earth didn't you …? = You should have …

33 Let's focus on phrasal verbs
(5.7 Use of English)

Aim: To practise phrasal verbs.
Interaction: Individual/Pairs.
Type of activity: Matching and drilling.
Time: 10 minutes.
Materials: One worksheet per person.

In class: (1) Tell students that they are going to work individually at first. Hand out the worksheet and tell students to match questions 1–14 with answers a–n and write the numbers in the boxes. Set a time limit of 5 minutes. (2) Check the answers with the whole class. (3) Tell students to work in pairs. Student A folds their worksheet in half lengthwise along the dotted line and looks at the answers. They have to say the phrasal verbs from memory and use them with the given collocations, e.g.: We look up to honest, successful and famous people. Student B looks at their unfolded page and checks the answers, prompting Student A if necessary. (4) Get students to swap the roles. This time Student B folds their worksheet in half, looks at the questions with the phrasal verbs and says the collocations from memory, e.g.: What can make up for bad service? An apology, a discount or a gift can make up for bad service.

Optional follow-up: Students write their own examples with the phrasal verbs they had difficulty remembering.

Answers:
1 d 2 j 3 l 4 c 5 m 6 g 7 f 8 e 9 k 10 h 11 i 12 b 13 n 14 a

34 An opinion essay
(5.8 Writing)

Aim: To practise correcting and completing an opinion essay, following a checklist.
Interaction: Individual/Pairs.
Type of activity: Correcting and completing.
Time: 15 minutes.
Materials: One worksheet per student.

In class: (1) Tell students they are going to work individually at first and hand out the worksheet. (2) Tell them to read the writing task and the checklist. Then students read the sample writing text. (3) Ask the class to correct any mistakes in the essay, such as incorrect style or other mistakes (lexical, grammar, spelling, etc.). Say that there are six mistakes. (4) Students work individually and then check the task in pairs. (5) Ask students to present their corrections and discuss them with the class. Hand out the corrected text and ask students if they have found all the mistakes.

Optionally, if students have difficulty finding all the mistakes you can write on the board: no stated opinion, two wrong vocabulary items, one wrong conjunction, one wrong verb, one wrong expression.

35 Sentence translation
(5 Off to work)

Aim: To practise translation from Polish to English.
Interaction: Individual.
Type of activity: Translation.
Time: 15 minutes.
Materials: One worksheet per student.

In class: (1) Copy the worksheet and cut off the bottom part (the answer key). (2) Tell students they are going to work individually and give each student a worksheet. (3) Ask them to read the word list at the end of Unit 5 and to go back to grammar sections 5.2 and 5.5. (4) Give students 10 minutes to translate the missing fragments of the sentences into English. (5) Give them the answer key to check their answers.

Unit 6 A matter of fact

36 Too true! Absolutely!
(6.1 Vocabulary)

Aim: To practise vocabulary related to the media, truth and falsehood.
Interaction: Pairs.
Type of activity: Memory game and discussion.
Time: 15 minutes.
Materials: One set of 24 cards per pair.

In class: (1) Copy the worksheet and cut up the cards as indicated. (2) Tell students that they are going to play a memory game in pairs. Give each pair of students one set of shuffled wide cards and one set of narrow cards. Tell students to put the cards face down in two columns according to width. The wide cards should be placed on the left. (3) Students take turns to turn over one wide and one narrow card at a time in order to find pairs of sentences with similar meanings. The sentence pairs are short conversations between two people sharing the same opinions. Explain that we say too true when we think something is true although we wish it wasn't. (4) If students find a matching pair, they remove it from the game as a trick. If not, they put the cards back in exactly the same place they were. Get students to read the cards out every time they turn them over, to reinforce the target vocabulary. (5) The game is over when all the matching pairs have been found. The student with the most tricks is the winner. (6) Ask students to talk to each other and say which of the opinions they disagree with.

Optional follow-up: You may ask students if they know people who tend to agree with everyone on everything.

37 Test yourselves
(6.2 Grammar)

Aim: To practise grammar from lesson 6.2.
Type of activity: Gap filling.
Time: 10 minutes.
Materials: One worksheet per student (A or B).

In class: (1) Copy the worksheet for Student A and Student B. Cut the worksheet along the dotted line. (2) Divide students into pairs and hand out their worksheets. Instruct students not to show their worksheets to each other. (3) Tell students to read the instructions on the page and follow them for each activity. (4) Provide help if students have any questions or have trouble understanding the activities.

38 Mix them well together
(6.5 Grammar)

Aim: To practise mixed conditionals.
Interaction: Individual/Class competition.
Type of activity: Writing sentences using prompts.
Time: 10 minutes.
Materials: One worksheet per person.

In class: (1) Tell students that they are going to work individually at first. Hand out the worksheet and tell them to write five mixed conditional sentences using the given prompts. Point out that the sentences must be both grammatically correct and logical. Give students an additional example by writing two sentences on the board: I'm watching a film (present). A friend recommended it to me (past). Tell students that they can be logically linked into one sentence: I'm watching the film because a friend recommended it to me, which can then be expressed as a mixed conditional: If a friend hadn't recommended the/this film to me, I wouldn't be watching it (now). Remind them that they only need to write a conditional sentence. You may point out that the task resembles Exercise 7 in Unit 6.5, SB. Set a time limit of 3–5 minutes. (2) Get students to compare their sentences in pairs. (3) Check the answers with the whole class. You may also award students points for correct answers, e.g. 1 point for every correct answer plus 2 bonus points for an original sentence that no one else in the class has written.

Optional follow-up: Students write more examples of mixed conditional sentences at home.

Example Answers:
1 I wouldn't be broke if I hadn't splashed out on new clothes. 2 I'd be sleepy if I'd gone to bed late. 3 I'd have bags under my eyes if I hadn't slept well last night. 4 I wouldn't be really busy if I hadn't failed the exam. 5 I'd be lying in the sun if I'd gone to Egypt. 6 I'd be in my forties now if I'd been born in 1979. 7 I'd have gone to the beach if it wasn't raining. 8 I wouldn't have stayed home if I was well. 9 I'd have saved up enough for the trip if I was careful with money. 10 I'd have rented a car if I could drive. 11 I'd have taken that job if I didn't have to go to school. 12 I wouldn't have gone there by bus if I enjoyed flying.

39 Expressing opinions
(6.6 Speaking)

Part 1
Aim: To practise beginning your answers, expressing opinions tentatively and expressing opinions with comment adverbials.
Interaction: Individual.
Type of activity: Gap filling.
Time: 3–4 minutes.
Materials: One worksheet per student.

In class: (1) Tell students they are going to work individually. Hand out the worksheets and ask students to fill in the gaps with the words from the box. (2) Check the answers with the whole class.

Answers:
1 Sadly 2 Of 3 vital 4 main 5 suppose 6 advantage 7 clearly 8 honest 9 opinion 10 well 11 particularly 12 firmly 13 argued 14 Frankly

Part 2
Aim: To practise beginning your answers, expressing opinions tentatively and expressing opinions with comment adverbials.
Interaction: Individual/Pairs.
Type of activity: Classifying.
Time: 5–6 minutes.
Materials: One worksheet per student.

In class: (1) Tell students they are going to work individually at first. Ask them to complete the grid with the phrases from Part 1. (2) Ask students to compare answers in pairs and then check it with the whole class.

Answers:
Beginning your answer: 2, 3, 4, 6, 10, 12
Expressing opinions tentatively: 5, 9, 11, 13
Expressing opinions with comment adverbials: 1, 7, 8, 14

40 What about you?
(6.7 Use of English)

Aim: To practise compound nouns and adjectives.
Interaction: Pairs.
Type of activity: Gap filling and interview.
Time: 10 minutes.
Materials: One worksheet per person.

In class: (1) Divide students into pairs, Student A and Student B, and give each student a worksheet. (2) Students complete the questions using the words in the box. (3) Check the answers with the class. (4) Students answer the questions for themselves. (5) Students interview their partner. (6) When everyone has finished, check the answers with the whole class.

Answers:
1 anchor 2 copy 3 checker 4 grey 5 blood 6 snow 7 company 8 checks 9 art 10 heartwarming 11 blow 12 foreign 13 sunburnt 14 weatherproof 15 hearted 16 commercial 17 bathroom 18 mouth 19 station

41 A review of a TV series or a film
(6.8 Writing)

Aim: To practise correcting and completing a review of a TV series or a film, following a checklist.
Interaction: Individual/Pairs.
Type of activity: Correcting and completing.
Time: 15 minutes.
Materials: One worksheet per student.

In class: (1) Tell students they are going to work individually at first and hand out the worksheet. (2) Tell them to read the writing task and the checklist. Then students read the sample writing text. (3) Ask the class to correct any mistakes in the review, such as incorrect style or other mistakes (lexical, grammar, spelling, etc.). Say that there are six mistakes. (4) Students work individually and then check the task in pairs. (5) Ask students to present their corrections and discuss them with the class. Hand out the corrected text and ask students if they have found all the mistakes.

Optionally, if students have difficulty finding all the mistakes you can write on the board: one incorrect compound form, one wrong adjective. one grammatical error/wrong tense, two wrong vocabulary items, no recommendation given.

42 Sentence translation
(6 A matter of fact)

Aim: To practise translation from Polish to English.
Interaction: Individual.
Type of activity: Translation.
Time: 15 minutes.
Materials: One worksheet per student.

In class: (1) Copy the worksheet and cut off the bottom part (the answer key). (2) Tell students they are going to work individually and give each student a worksheet. (3) Ask them to read the word list at the end of Unit 6 and to go back to grammar sections 6.2 and 6.5. (4) Give students 10 minutes to translate the missing fragments of the sentences into English. (5) Give them the answer key to check their answers.

Unit 7 It's not rocket science!

43 Science crossword
(7.1 Vocabulary)

Aim: To practise words related to science.
Interaction: Individual/Pairs.
Type of activity: Crossword and guessing game.
Time: 10 minutes.
Materials: One worksheet per student (A or B).

In class: (1) Divide students into pairs, Student A and Student B. (2) Give Students A and Students B their worksheets and ask them not to show them to each other. (3) Students work individually first and match the clues to the answers in their part of the crossword. Set a time limit of 2 minutes. (4) Write the correct sequence of clues for Students A and Students B on the board and get students to check their answers. (5) Students work in pairs. They take turns to read the definitions of the words they have in their crosswords so that the other student can complete the missing words. (5) When they have finished, tell students to compare their answers.

Answers:
Student A: 11, 4, 1, 13, 6, 3, 10, 8
Student B: 9, 12, 2, 15, 5, 16, 7, 14

44 Quick teen survey
(7.2 Grammar)

Aim: To practise advanced passive forms.
Interaction: Groups of 8–12.
Type of activity: Mingling and asking questions.
Time: 15 minutes.
Materials: One set of 12 cards per group of 8–12.

In class: (1) Divide students into groups of 8 to 12 students. (2) Give each student a work card. (3) Students read their work cards and decide what question they are going to ask. Monitor their work and clear up any doubts. (4) Students mingle in their groups and ask every single student to find how many people in their group give the anticipated answer. (5) At the end of the activity, students report the results of their survey back to the class.

Optional follow-up: Discuss the results. Since some of the points in the exercise seem controversial, the interpretation of the results may allow students to express their otherwise hidden views in public. Teenagers are not always able to make their voices heard after all.

Answers:
1 Do you like being praised? 2 Have you been reminded to study harder today? 3 Do you agree that students shouldn't be told what to wear to school? 4 Do you think you're being taught useless things at school? 5 Do you feel you're not being prepared well for life? 6 Do you feel tired of being made to read books you don't like? 7 Would you like to not be given any marks at school? 8 Do you understand why laptop computers can't be used by students in the classroom? 9 Do you often avoid answering the teacher's questions because you don't want to be laughed at? 10 Have you ever been caught browsing the net on your phone during a lesson? 11 Do you think you should have been given less homework last week? 12 Do you mind being asked to read something out loud in class?

45 Test yourselves
(7.5 Grammar)

Aim: To practise grammar from lesson 7.5.
Type of activity: Gap filling.
Time: 10 minutes.
Materials: One worksheet per student (A or B).

In class: (1) Copy the worksheet for Student A and Student B. Cut the worksheet along the dotted line. (2) Divide students into pairs and hand out their worksheets. Instruct students not to show their worksheets to each other. (3) Tell students to read the instructions on the page and follow them for each activity. (4) Provide help if students have any questions or have trouble understanding the activities.

46 How has technology developed?
(7.6 Speaking)

Part 1
Aim: To practise words related to technology.
Interaction: Individual/Pairs.
Type of activity: Matching and gap filling.
Time: 5–6 minutes.
Materials: One worksheet per student.

In class: (1) Tell students they are going to work individually at first. Hand out the worksheets and ask students to match the inventions with the reasons why they are important. (2) Tell students to compare answers in pairs. (3) Tell students to imagine they are preparing a school exhibition on how technology has developed. There are two mind maps on the worksheet with some ideas on how to organise the exhibition. Ask students to complete the gaps in the mind maps with the words from the box. (4) Check the exercise with the whole class.

Answers:
1 f 2 g 3 e 4 d 5 b 6 a 7 c

PRESENTATION: 1 posters 2 objects 3 displays
ATTRACTIONS: 4 gadgets 5 ticket 6 experiments 7 lecture

Part 2
Aim: To practise explaining points of view and justifying opinions.
Interaction: Individual/Pairs.
Type of activity: Gap filling and classifying.
Time: 5–6 minutes.
Materials: One worksheet per student.

In class: (1) Tell students to work individually at first and ask them to complete gaps a–n with the words from the box. (2) Check the exercise with the whole class. (3) Ask students to work in pairs and complete gaps 1–4 in the grid with the headings A–D. (5) Check the exercise again with the whole class.

Answers:
a with b follow c lost d mean e words f saying g correctly h exactly i much j meant k was l instead m How n should

1 B 2 D 3 A 4 C

47 Nought on the confusion scale
(7.7 Use of English)

Aim: To practise easily confused words.
Interaction: Individual/Pairs.
Type of activity: Gap filling and information exchange.
Time: 12–20 minutes.
Materials: One worksheet per student.

In class: (1) Fold the worksheets along the dotted line. (2) Tell students that they are going to work individually at first. Hand out the folded worksheet and ask students to choose the correct options in questions 1–12. Remind them not to unfold their sheets. Set a time limit of 4 minutes. (3) When everyone has finished, get students to place the numbers of the questions below the 'ruler', which is supposed to help them realise how clear the highlighted words are to them. Alternatively, students can write scale values next to the sentences. (4) Check the answers with the whole class. Ask students if they actually made any mistakes with the words they thought of as particularly confusing. (5) Ask students to read all the questions again in silence, paying special attention to those they made mistakes in. (6) Tell students to turn the folded page over and complete the same questions from memory. Set a time limit of 2 minutes. When they are ready, get them to unfold their worksheets and check the words against the first part. (7) The final stage depends on how much time you want to devote to the exercise. For example, you can tell students to work in pairs and ask each other only those questions that they made mistakes in (either in both parts or only in one of them). If students did not make any mistakes, they can ask each other the questions of their choice. Alternatively, students can work in pairs and take turns to answer all the questions.

Answers:
1 loose 2 present 3 alone 4 raise 5 advise 6 breath 7 lay 8 economical 9 affect 10 conscientious 11 late 12 compliment

48 A narrative
(7.8 Writing)

Aim: To practise correcting and completing a narrative, following a checklist.
Interaction: Individual/Pairs.
Type of activity: Correcting and completing.
Time: 15 minutes.
Materials: One worksheet per student.

In class: (1) Tell students they are going to work individually at first and hand out the worksheet. (2) Tell them to read the writing task and the checklist. Then students read the sample writing text. (3) Ask the class to correct any mistakes in the narrative, such as incorrect style or other mistakes (lexical, grammar, spelling, etc.). Say that there are six mistakes. (4) Students work individually and then check the task in pairs. (5) Ask students to present their corrections and discuss them with the class. Hand out the corrected text and ask students if they have found all the mistakes.

Optionally, if students have difficulty finding all the mistakes you can write on the board: one wrong preposition, one wrong verb, one grammatical error/wrong passive form, one wrong word form, one grammatical error/wrong tense, one sentence with missing punctuation.

49 Sentence translation
(7 It's not rocket science!)

Aim: To practise translation from Polish to English.
Interaction: Individual.
Type of activity: Translation.
Time: 15 minutes.
Materials: One worksheet per student.

In class: (1) Copy the worksheet and cut off the bottom part (the answer key). (2) Tell students they are going to work individually and give each student a worksheet. (3) Ask them to read the word list at the end of Unit 7 and to go back to grammar sections 7.2 and 7.5. (4) Give students 10 minutes to translate the missing fragments of the sentences into English. (5) Give them the answer key to check their answers.

Unit 8 Costing the earth

50 Rescue the turtle
(8.1 Vocabulary)

Aim: To practise vocabulary with environmental issues and landscapes.
Interaction: Pairs.
Type of activity: Board game.
Time: 15 minutes.
Materials: One board, one set of 16 questions.

In class: (1) Divide students into pairs. (2) Give each pair a worksheet and a set of questions. Put the questions face down in a pile. (3) Tell students their task is to rescue the turtle trapped in plastic waste. They can remove one piece of rubbish every time they give the correct answer to a question. Once they have removed all fourteen pieces of plastic, the turtle will be free. (4) Tell students they are going to work together, not against each other as cooperation is needed to solve environmental problems. Students take turns picking up one card at a time. One of the students reads the question and options A and B to the other student, who has to choose the right answer. If the answer is correct (the underlined option on the card), students remove one plastic item from the board by crossing it out. They can only remove the rubbish piece by piece. (5) The game is over when students have set the turtle free or when they have run out of questions, which means the turtle remains trapped. (6) Ask the class how many turtles they managed to save.

51 Vote for us
(8.2 Grammar)

Aim: To practise unreal past and regrets.
Interaction: Pairs/Groups.
Type of activity: Gap filling.
Time: 15 minutes.
Materials: One worksheet per pair (pair A and pair B).

In class: (1) Divide students into pairs, Pairs A and Pairs B. Give Pairs A their worksheet and Pairs B their worksheet. Ask them NOT to show them to each other. (2) Tell students they are going to write a political manifesto. Ask students to read the notes and complete the sentences accordingly. They have to write an extra sentence with their own ideas. Each pair should also think of the name for their party. Monitor students' work and answer any questions raised. Set a time limit of 8 minutes. (3) Get each Pair A to work with Pair B. The pairs read their manifestos to each other. 'The voters' ask questions to find out more about the party's programme. 'The party members' elaborate on the programme. (4) When they have finished, ask students if they would vote for the other party.

Optional follow-up: Ask students how politically-minded they are. Have they ever voted? If they have never been to the polls, do they think it would be easy for them to decide who to vote for?

Example answers:
Pair A: 1 … didn't belong to drivers. (belonged to pedestrians and cyclists.) 2 … people travelled free on public transport. 3 … parking prices hadn't gone down last year. 4 … there were cycle lanes everywhere. 5 … were properly protected. / … we made the wearing of helmets compulsory.

Pair B: 1 … were treated with the same respect as humans. 2 … we raised the tax on meat. 3 … a new zoo hadn't opened in the capital last year. 4 … children had free vegetarian meals at school. 5 … didn't buy dogs. / … people were paid for adopting dogs from animal shelters.

52 Test yourselves
(8.5 Grammar)

Aim: To practise grammar from lesson 8.5.
Type of activity: Gap filling.
Time: 10 minutes.
Materials: One worksheet per student (A or B).

In class: (1) Copy the worksheet for Student A and Student B. Cut the worksheet along the dotted line. (2) Divide students into pairs and hand out their worksheets. Instruct students not to show their worksheets to each other. (3) Tell students to read the instructions on the page and follow them for each activity. (4) Provide help if students have any questions or have trouble understanding the activities.

53 Different shades of green
(8.6 Speaking)

Part 1
Aim: To practise words related to the environment.
Interaction: Individual.
Type of activity: Gap filling.
Time: 2–3 minutes.
Materials: One worksheet per student.

In class: (1) Tell students they are going to work individually. Hand out the worksheets and ask students to complete the missing letters in the expressions. (2) Check the answers with the whole class.

Answers:
1 considered 2 wondering 3 aware 4 Perhaps 5 realise 6 know

Part 2
Aim: To practise presenting your opinion.
Interaction: Groups of 3.
Type of activity: Guided speaking.
Time: 10–12 minutes.
Materials: One worksheet per group.

In class: (1) Ask students to get in groups of 3 and to choose one picture A–C. Make sure each photo has been chosen by at least one group. (2) Tell students to look at the phrases and to note down ideas about the benefits of the environmental action as shown in the chosen photo. (3) Get each group to present their points of view and to defend their choices using the expressions from Part 1.

54 We're word builders! We're bricklayers!
(8.7 Use of English)

Aim: To practise word formation.
Interaction: Groups of 3.
Type of activity: Board game.
Time: 15 minutes.
Materials: One worksheet, dice and three coloured counters per group.

In class: (1) Divide students into groups of 3. (2) Give each group a worksheet and a dice. Each student places a different coloured counter (or a small object, e.g. a rubber, a paper clip, a pen top) on the START brick. (3) Students take turns to throw the dice. The one with the highest score starts – they throw again and move the counter forward the number of bricks shown on the dice. When they land on the brick, they must complete the sentence with the correct form of the root word in capitals. Draw their attention to the fact that apart from adding a prefix other changes may be necessary, e.g. RE+MARRY+ED=REMARRIED. If another student lands on the same brick, they have to answer the question in a full sentence. When a player lands on a brick with a prefix, they have to say a word with the prefix and use it in a meaningful sentence. If the other players agree that the answers are correct, the student stays on the brick and it is the next student's turn. If the answer is not correct, the student moves back to their previous position. There are three penalty bricks called Replay, which mean having to move back to the previous position. (4) Monitor the game and help to clear any doubts concerning the correctness of the answers.

Answers:
1 disallowed 2 misbehave 3 illogical 4 reconsider
5 illegal 6 overworking/overworked 7 renewable
8 irrelevant 9 disapprove 10 misjudged 11 rewrite
12 undoing 13 immature 14 outnumber
15 misinformed 16 unfairly 17 self-esteem
18 unsafe 19 underpaid 20 incapable 21 disabilities
22 understaffed 23 illiterate 24 irresponsible

55 A letter to an editor
(8.8 Writing)

Aim: To practise correcting and completing a letter to an editor, following a checklist.
Interaction: Individual/Pairs.
Type of activity: Correcting and completing.
Time: 15 minutes.
Materials: One worksheet per student.

In class: (1) Tell students they are going to work individually at first and hand out the worksheet. (2) Tell them to read the writing task and the checklist. Then students read the sample writing text. (3) Ask the class to correct any mistakes in the letter, such as incorrect style or other mistakes (lexical, grammar, spelling, etc.). Say that there are six mistakes. (4) Students work individually and then check the task in pairs. (5) Ask students to present their corrections and discuss them with the class. Hand out the corrected text and ask students if they have found all the mistakes.

Optionally, if students have difficulty finding all the mistakes you can write on the board: wrong greeting, lack of point of view, one incorrect emphatic structure, one incorrect inversion, two wrong vocabulary items.

56 Sentence translation
(8 Costing the earth)

Aim: To practise translation from Polish to English.
Interaction: Individual.
Type of activity: Translation.

Dear Mr Smith,

I am writing to you in response to your online advertisement seeking staff for the National Museum's gift shop. I wish apply for the position of temporary sales assistant.

I am a full-time university student, working in the summer to support myself while in higher education. In this regard, the temporary nature of the position is ideal. In addition, I am confident that I possess all of the necessary skills and experience to fulfil the job role.

In the past two years, I have gained considering practical experience of sales at a High Street fashion retailer and at a well-known bookstore chain. In both positions, I assisted a large volume of customers daily in finding or selecting items, and provided recomendations. I would also deal with customer complaints and bring them to a successful resolution. Furthermore, I have an excellent command for French and Spanish. My experience at these stores has taught me the value that passionate customer service can bring to a company's reputation and contribute to its continuing success.

I would be happy to give an interview at any time convenient to you and have attached my CV for your consideration. Please do not hesitate to contact me if you require any further information. I am available by phone or email. Thank you for your time. I look forward to hearing from you.

All the best,

Alice Williams

Dla wielu młodych ludzi czas i doświadczenia zdobywane w towarzystwie przyjaciół mogą być najcenniejszymi momentami w życiu. Należy jednak pamiętać, że nie wszystkie znajomości są dla nas dobre. Napisz artykuł o tym, jak ważna jest przyjaźń, ale i o tym, że niektórzy przyjaciele mogą mieć zły wpływ na swoich rówieśników. Wybrane artykuły zostaną opublikowane w najnowszym wydaniu magazynu poświęconego psychologii. Pisząc artykuł:

- pamiętaj o tym, gdzie zostanie on opublikowany i kim są jego czytelnicy,
- przedstaw swoje poglądy na temat roli przyjaźni i podaj przykłady sytuacji, w których przyjaciele mogą mieć na nas zły wpływ,
- zastosuj techniki, dzięki którym przyciągniesz uwagę czytelnika,
- użyj stylu formalnego lub neutralnego.

Wypowiedź powinna zawierać Od 200 do 250 słów i spełniać wszystkie wymogi typowe dla formy wskazanej w poleceniu.

Mój artykuł:

- jest opatrzony ciekawym tytułem, wymyślonym przeze mnie, z wykorzystaniem znanych mi technik,
- w pierwszym akapicie przedstawia temat artykułu w sposób przyciągający uwagę czytelnika,
- w głównym akapicie rozwija temat,
- w ostatnim akapicie zawiera mój osobisty pogląd i zostawia czytelnikowi pole do dalszych przemyśleń,
- jest napisany formalnym lub neutralnym językiem,
- nie zawiera błędów ortograficznych ani interpunkcyjnych,
- liczy co najmniej 200 słów,
- zawiera co najmniej jeden imiesłowowy równoważnik zdania, który wyraża przyczynę,
- został starannie i czytelnie napisany.

Peer Pressure: Are You At Risk?

The desire to belong is a basic human need. We all want to feel connected to people share our opinions and care about our welfare. That, basically, is what friendship is about. But what happens when a friend does not have your best interests at heart?

First, it is necessary to understand what friendship means to adolescents. Having been accepted by a group, they form an identity and a sense of who they are and this is a major reason why teens are desperate to fit in. Teenagers can be easily influenced because outsiders, which are seen as 'unwanted' or 'unlikeable', are rejected by the group.

Unfortunately, peer pressure often results in antisocial behaviour and can have terrible consequences. Even when a young person is reluctant to engage in bullying or failing the law, the desire to conform can be overwhelming. In such moments, the advice of a fair-headed friend is what every teen needs – as they say, 'a friend in need is a friend indeed'.

I reckon adolescents need to realise that falling down with their peers isn't the disaster they imagine it to be, and that self-esteem and standing up for themselves should be what defines them.

Wielu młodych ludzi decyduje się na wynajem własnego mieszkania w momencie rozpoczęcia edukacji uniwersyteckiej. Napisz rozprawkę, w której przedstawisz argumenty za samodzielnym mieszkaniem podczas studiów i przeciw takiemu rozwiązaniu.

- Pomyśl, jakie informacje ogólne lub dane faktograficzne możesz zawrzeć w rozprawce.
- Przygotuj listę argumentów za i przeciw, a potem wybierz te, które przedstawisz w rozprawce. Zdecyduj, które z nich rozwiniesz i jak.
- Zastanów się, jakie jest twoje zdanie na ten temat i gdzie wyrazisz je w rozprawce.
- Wybierz zdania z ćwiczeń 6 i 8 na stronie 47 w podręczniku, aby odpowiednio wykorzystać je w rozprawce.

Wypowiedź powinna zawierać od 200 do 250 słów i spełniać wszystkie wymogi typowe dla formy wskazanej w poleceniu.

Moja rozprawka za i przeciw:

- rozpoczyna się ogólnym stwierdzeniem lub informacją faktograficzną na dany temat,
- w pierwszym akapicie przedstawia zalety i wady danego zagadnienia,
- zawiera dodatkowe opinie i przykłady na poparcie obu aspektów,
- zawiera przynajmniej jedno zdanie wyrażające przyzwolenie ze spójnikami although, even though, despite lub in spite of,
- w ostatnim akapicie podsumowuje oba stanowiska uwzględnione w rozprawce i przedstawia osobisty pogląd na omawiany temat,
- nie zawiera form skróconych (np. I'm, aren't, that's),
- nie zawiera błędów ortograficznych ani interpunkcyjnych,
- liczy co najmniej 200 słów,
- została starannie i czytelnie napisana.

The decision about where to live while studying at university or college is important and a great number of thought goes into it. Many adolescents welcome the opportunity to fly the nest and experience true independence by renting their own flat. As with any other major life decision, this too has its pros and cons.

The most convincing argument for a private rental is that it allows students to become self-reliant and learn vital life skills. These include paying bills on time, keeping a job and budgeting. In time, these skills become another nature and prepare them for life as working adults. Another advantage to independence is privacy and not having to explain their comings and goings.

In spite these obvious advantages, there are also major drawbacks. Private rental accommodation within easy reach of universities is expensive and makes a little financial sense. Unless parents can cover rent and living expenses, students will have had to find work to support themselves. This means they will have much less time to dedicate to their studies, which could have a negative impact on their academic progress.

Dear Sir/Madam,

I just arrived at the station on the 3.40 train from Highvale and was making my way to the exit when a station employee approached me. To my astonishment, he accused me of having sprayed graffiti on a train there the week before. When I attempted to reason with him, he forcibly led me to an office and went through my private belongings. I could not have vandalised the train as I was away on holiday with my family at the time and told him so. He was about to call the police when I insisted he speak with my parents to establish my innocence. Having done so, he should apologise, but didn't.

The incident was particularly upsetting because I was treated like a common criminal, in full view of other passengers. Furthermore, I am shocked that a station employee allows to treat a member of the public in this way. It was so humiliating experience that I decided to contact you to complain.

I demand that you investigate the matter and take appropriate measures to prevent such an incident from ever happening again. I look forward to your response.

Yours faithfully,

Angela Mellors

5.8 Writing

Niektóre zawody cieszą się większym uznaniem społecznym niż inne. Przykładowo: chirurdzy są bardziej doceniani niż pielęgniarki, które otaczają opieką najbardziej potrzebujących obywateli. Czy sądzisz, że to sprawiedliwe? Czy oba zawody powinny być traktowane w ten sam sposób? Napisz rozprawkę na temat, jak społeczeństwo postrzega zawody o wyższym i niższym statusie. W rozprawce:

- na początku opisz, jakie aspekty omówisz, i przedstaw swoją opinię,
- podaj przykłady na poparcie swojego poglądu i przedstaw argumenty popierające stanowisko przeciwne,
- dodaj podsumowanie.

Wypowiedź powinna zawierać od 200 do 250 słów i spełniać wszystkie wymogi typowe dla formy wskazanej w poleceniu.

Moja rozprawka z opinią:

- rozpoczyna się akapitem, w którym przedstawiam temat i moją własną opinię oraz wyjaśniam, jakie aspekty omówię w rozprawce,
- w dalszych akapitach opisuje różne stanowiska, rozwija moją opinię i popiera je przykładami,
- uwzględnia przeciwne stanowisko wraz z wyjaśnieniem, dlaczego się z nim nie zgadzam,
- zawiera spójniki i słownictwo, za pomocą których wyrażono pewność i następstwa zdarzeń,
- kończy się podsumowaniem mojego stanowiska i zawiera zdanie końcowe,
- jest napisana językiem formalnym,
- nie zawiera błędów ortograficznych ani interpunkcyjnych,
- liczy co najmniej 200 słów,
- została starannie i czytelnie napisana.

Why do some professions enjoy higher status than others? Surgeons and nurses cannot function without each other, yet surgeons are more highly regarded. This essay will look at this question from the opinion of equal commitment and education.

While it comes to health, surgeons save lives, but nurses provide care and comfort in what is often a thankless role. Like surgeons, nurses have a commitment to preventing disease and promoting well-being. I am of the opinion that nurses should have the same status for the same commitment.

Another important aspect of this issue is education. Undeniable, surgeons require many years of university education. However, nurses also undergo years of training requiring focus and dedication. Without doubt, nurses make sacrifices to get their goals and therefore deserve equal respect.

Some people disagree, and argue that surgeons have more responsibility, and as a result, greater stress. However, a day in, a day out, nurses work through epidemics, comfort patients at the end of life and deliver bad news. Is this not equally stressful?

In conclusion, I believe nurses deserve the same respect as surgeons. The fact that they do not says much about our society and how it is guided by stereotypes.

Napisz recenzję serialu, który widziałeś/ widziałaś wielokrotnie, ale który ciągle ci się podoba.

- Napisz ciekawe zdanie rozpoczynające i przedstaw ogólną opinię na temat serialu.
- Zwięźle opisz fabułę serialu, tak aby nie zdradzić wszystkich wątków, oraz wyjaśnij, dlaczego serial tak ci się podoba.
- W zakończeniu uwzględnij rekomendację dla czytelnika.

Wypowiedź powinna zawierać od 200 do 250 słów i spełniać wszystkie wymogi typowe dla formy wskazanej w poleceniu.

Moja recenzja serialu:

- rozpoczyna się ciekawym zdaniem, które przyciąga uwagę czytelnika, zawiera tytuł serialu i moją ogólną opinię o nim,
- w głównym akapicie przedstawia fabułę serialu i jego bohaterów, a także powody, dla których serial mi się podoba,

- została starannie i czytelnie napisana.

Follow the thrilling adventure about a magical ring in director Peter Jackson's cinematic masterpiece, Lord of the Rings. The three-films series, a superb adaptation of J.R.R. Tolkien's classic epic, is a visual spectacle that thrills me time and again.

The series tells the gripped story of Frodo Baggins, who must destroy a ring in order to save civilisation from evil. The ring, which has been lost for centuries, is being sought by dark and powerful forces. Bilbo and his band of trusty companions risked their lives to accomplish the terrifying mission to destroy the ring in the fires of Mount Doom. The suspense and rising tension always leave me on the edge of my seat.

The films are absolute phenomenal in terms of visual special effects. Even though the series was released in 2001–2003, the computer-generated imagery, particularly the high-quality action scenes, is still excellent by today's technological standards. This is enhanced by the breathtaking landscapes of New Zealand where the story is set. The series is a feast for the eyes and one I never tire of watching.

All and all, Lord of the Rings embodies everything you could possibly want in a fantasy film. It is an outstanding production which manages a perfect balance between plot and action. I'm sure I will continue to enjoy it for many years to come.

At six o'clock in the morning on a hot and humid day in August, Dr Alice King stood in front of a thick metal door. 'Open Sesame!' she commanded, and the door to her hi-tech laboratory slid open, allowing her to enter the cool, dark space. Alice liked the peace and quiet of the early morning, when she could concentrate without interruptions from the research team she collaborated on.

There was a more important reason for her early starts though. She was working on a top-secret project to develop the world's first intelligent fridge. If successful, she would make the recognition she deserved. With this happy thought, she unwrapped a chocolate bar and began planning her day. As she was doing this, a loud bang startled her. 'What the …?' snapped Alice. She hated been disturbed while working.

Getting up to investigate, she heard a voice say, 'Put it down!'. 'Who's there?' yelled Alice, but there was no respond. 'Put it down!' There it was again. Alice was getting scared now. The voice was coming from the back of the lab. She walked there very quietly, but there was no one, just the experimental fridge she has developed. 'Put the chocolate bar down! You're eating too much junk food!' 'I don't believe it!' gasped Alice.

The fridge was talking to her! You … you can talk she whispered in a weak voice. 'Of course! I can sing and recite Shakespeare too,' said the fridge. Alice giggled. She might not have won a Nobel Prize, but she would make people's lives easier and more enjoyable.

Dear Mr or Mrs,

I am writing to you to express my views on young people and environmental issues.

Teenagers in various countries have started going on strikes and protesting outside their country's parliament about the need for immediate action on climate change. What did they do was to get young people involved. They have inspired thousands of others to take to the streets demanding that their leaders deal with the problem.

Having been inspired by them, students at my school formed an action group. Not only we lobbied our school for solar panels and rainwater tanks, but also for a ban on single-use plastic. The renewed energy provided by the panels is already saving on electricity. The water collected is used to maintain the green areas and for cleaning. As a consequence, the school's carbon emissions have been reduced.

Adolescents are not responsible for the state of the world; even they are becoming more involved in saving it. Our willingness to pressure governments, raise awareness and tackle man-made threats is proof that we care and will do all that we can to protect the only home we have, the Earth.

Yours faithfully,

Jack Smith

Dear ~~Mr or Mrs~~ Sir or Madam [1],

I am writing to you to express my views on young people and environmental issues. Although some adolescents seem to care little about the environment, I would like to point out that there are many others who are doing admirable work to protect it. [2]

Teenagers in various countries have started going on strikes and protesting outside their country's parliament about the need for immediate action on climate change. ~~What did they do~~ What they did [3] was to get young people involved. They have inspired thousands of others to take to the streets demanding that their leaders deal with the problem.

This form of entertainment originated in Japan, where people generally enjoy picking [2]_____ a microphone and singing after work or at parties. However, in recent years, it has gained in popularity around the world.

So, why did karaoke become so popular in the first place? Because it gives people [3]_____ unique chance to sing well-known songs without the lead vocal, but with the lyrics displayed on a screen. The changing colours indicate which words you should be singing at any particular time.

Whenever I am invited to a party, I always ask the host [4]_____ they're planning entertainment known as a 'karaoke session'. Whenever the answer is 'yes', I make sure to be there. I know I can't sing, but I can't resist the temptation to do it!

ZADANIE 4

HOW FAR CAN YOU THROW YOUR MOBILE?

If you have ever felt a desire to dispose of your mobile phone, you should try it [1]_____ the Mobile Phone Throwing World Championships, held annually in Finland. You can present yourself individually or try your luck with two other people.

Depending on the category you're in, there are different rules and you are judged [2]_____ on distance or general performance. One of the most important things to remember is that you must [3]_____ step over the throwing area and the phone must land within the throwing area. Otherwise, the jury may disqualify the throw or the contestant.

The competition is described as a modern Finnish sport [4]_____ philosophy, according to the organisers, is spiritual freedom from being available all the time. I guess that with our constant need to use a mobile phone, it's a good idea to 'throw it away' from time to time.

SCIENCE MUSEUM

I've always been [1]_____ science, especially space exploration. So when I heard that a new science museum had been opened by a group of astronauts, I didn't hesitate and I visited its webpage to check what kind of exhibitions had been put together. Their description sounded [2]_____ fantastic that I booked a ticket straightaway to make sure I would not spend any precious time queuing at the ticket office.

Having got to the museum, I rushed to the department of space exploration. To my mind, it was the best place to be and I could finally experience what the job of a real astronaut is [3]_____. Then, in the section about the Earth, I saw a film about Iceland and I even watched an indoor geyser erupt.

I [4]_____ no doubt that such exhibitions make people realise how powerful our planet is and in effect it helps them respect our globe. I'm sure I'll be back there soon.

ZADANIE 2

CANINE INTELLIGENCE

Research on canine intelligence has proved that dogs are brighter than was previously thought. Not [1]_____ are they brilliant at reading human expressions and body language, but also at interpreting them. Apparently, they are much better at it even than chimpanzees, which are [2]_____ closest relatives. In fact, some dogs are able to understand up to 250 words, signs or signals.

Scientists believe that [3]_____ was taming and domesticating dogs that have helped these special abilities to evolve. For example, it has been proved that dogs can be trained to perform complex tasks. Tests have shown that they can also count up to five. The most intelligent breeds [4]_____ said to be Border Collies and retrievers, whereas hounds and terriers – the least. They just bark at everything.

ZADANIE 3

IDENTITY THEFT

If somebody asked you to name the most valuable treasure you possess, [1]_____ would you say it was? Most would probably mention some personal belongings, but it's our personal information which should be most treasured and, therefore, securely protected.

The problem of identity theft is not a completely new phenomenon but [2]_____ now it hasn't been widely discussed or even fully explained. Indeed, people have pretended to be other people throughout the centuries but now it is possible to collect our data in a much [3]_____ efficient way. One reason why criminals can get hold of our personal information is the fact that people tend to be quite careless about their personal data. Some throw out bank statements and official letters with their normal rubbish. To make [4]_____ worse, some use websites which are not protected properly or share information about themselves online.

ZADANIE 4

A CLOSE CALL

The night before the worst day of my life [1]_____ had been terrible wind and heavy rain so I knew we would be busy removing debris and fallen branches or need to pump the water out of people's basements. [2]_____ I didn't expect though was that it would be me who would have to be rescued on that shift.

Early in the morning, my team was called to check a building that seemed to have moved because of the rain. The building looked quite safe from the outside and we went inside to [3]_____ a better look. And then the building started collapsing around me. I remember falling and when I woke up I realised that I was trapped. Waiting for help seemed an eternity, but when I heard familiar voices and saw dim lights, my face lit up with happiness [4]_____ my body was aching all over.

HAGGLING

Markets [1]_____ in ancient times wherever people needed to sell the goods they produced. For many centuries the main way of trading was by barter, which meant exchanging goods. Nowadays such practices are rather [2]_____ since people prefer to pay for their purchases with money.

In many corners of the world people are still expected to haggle before completing a purchase. The customer and the seller will agree on a price, but only after what can often be a heated debate. I can remember [3]_____ a whole day negotiating the price for a single carpet in Istanbul, but it was worth it: the original price had been over £600, and I got it for a mere £200!

Obviously, you should be aware that market traditions vary in different countries, and in some places haggling is an important part of the process of buying an item, while in others it would be [4]_____ not to even attempt it.

PERFORMING NOW AND THEN

As a child I remember [1]_____ to try out my performing skills, first for the benefit of my parents and grandparents, later for a larger audience. When I got to Year 5 or 6 of primary school, we were taken to see different forms of entertainment such as theatre, opera, ballet and even circus. We looked forward to these outings with great excitement. [2]_____ the performances, we would discuss what we liked and disliked about them for hours on end. Those kinds of activities helped us develop our imagination and [3]_____, which then allowed some to become actors or performers.

But nowadays we live in the age of television and computers – they produce an endless stream of entertainment which is always available. The ever-present TV set or computer also mean that [4]_____ rarely see artists performing live, so the pleasure of witnessing something very special is gone.
